2016 Aetna Pharmacy Drug Guide

Three Tier Open Aetna Premier Plus Plan

www.aetna.com

Do you have questions?

Call the toll-free number on your member ID card. Or visit www.aetna.com/formulary for the most up-to-date information.

Dear Member:

We are pleased to provide you with a copy of our 2016 Aetna Pharmacy drug guide that includes information about your pharmacy benefits plan. Take this guide with you when you see your doctor if you want to talk about what medicines are covered under your plan and what they may cost.

Many commonly prescribed drugs are listed in this guide.

Note: this is not a complete list of drugs covered under your plan. We list only the most commonly prescribed medicines as thousands of drugs are covered by your plan.

Want to learn more your plan's drug coverage? Just visit www.aetna.com and log in to Aetna Navigator®, your secure member website. Then take these simple steps:

1. Select "Aetna Pharmacy" at the top of the page.
2. In the "Coverage & Benefits" section, select "Pharmacy". Then, "View your pharmacy plan details."

What pharmacy benefits plan do I have?

You are enrolled in the Aetna Three Tier Open Premier Plus formulary plan.

Here's what that means to you:

Think of tier as a level. Three Tier means you could pay three different amounts, depending on the drug you take.

A formulary is a list of generic and brand-name drugs that your plan covers. An open formulary means your plan covers most prescription drugs. But it may not cover some others.

What can I expect to pay?

With this health benefits and health insurance plan, the amount you pay depends on the drug your doctor prescribes. It's either a flat fee or a percent of the prescription's price. Each drug your plan covers falls under a different level or tier. The lower the tier, the lower the price. The higher the tier, the higher the price.

What you pay falls into one of these tiers or levels:

Tier One: You pay the lowest cost for drugs in this level. Your plan may include an additional benefit where some Tier 1 drugs would be provided at an even lower cost to you. These are considered Value Drugs/Tier 1a and include generics and some over-the-counter brand and generic products. These would be available at the lowest cost share indicated in your plan materials.

Tier Two: You pay a slightly higher cost for drugs in this level.

Tier Three: You pay the highest cost for drugs in this level.

To find your exact costs

Check your Plan Design and Benefits summary in your enrollment kit.

Your pharmacy benefits plan may include a program that encourages you to choose a generic drug over a brand-name drug to help reduce what you pay. This means that if you fill a brand-name drug when a generic is available, that in addition to your standard copay or coinsurance, you must also pay the difference in cost between the brand-name and generic drug.

For a summary of your pharmacy benefits plan, including out-of-pocket costs, visit www.aetna.com and log in to Aetna Navigator. Or call the toll-free number on your member ID card.

Where can I find more formulary information?

You and your doctor can search for a drug, find out if it's covered and see what tier it's in. You can also see if there are alternatives that cost less. Tell your doctor that you pay more for tier three drugs so he or she can consider this when writing a prescription.

Visit www.aetna.com/formulary. You arrive at a page that says "Find a Medication." This is where you can learn more about the types of drug coverage reviews required for your medicine(s); things like precertification, step therapy or quantity limits. You will arrive at a menu page where you can view various drug lists, including your Aetna Pharmacy drug guide and more.

How is the formulary developed?

Aetna's Pharmacy and Therapeutics (P&T) Committee meets regularly to review new drugs and new information about drugs that are already on the market. It reviews available information concerning safety, effectiveness and current use in therapy. The P&T Committee reviews scientific evidence, including relevant findings of federal government agencies, pharmaceutical manufacturers, medical professional associations, national commissions and peer-reviewed journals.

Our P&T Committee includes licensed pharmacists and doctors, including those who are currently in practice and others who are Aetna employees. All committee members must tell us if they are in a situation that can create a conflict of interest or if they have a financial stake that might affect their decisions.

Once the P&T Committee completes its clinical review, we also consider overall value (including cost and manufacturer rebate arrangements) and other factors before adding or removing a drug from the formulary. The Aetna Pharmacy drug guide shows you recent changes to the guide. For example, it could show what drugs started requiring coverage reviews like precertification, step therapy or quantity limits. Or which drugs no longer do. The P&T Committee can make recommendations to change the tier level of a drug or to place it on our Formulary Exclusions List, designating it as a drug that is no longer covered.

Why is the formulary subject to change?

We may add or remove drugs for certain reasons. We might also move a drug from one coverage tier to another.

Here are some reasons why:

- As brand-name drugs lose their patents and generic versions become available, the brand-name may be covered at a higher out-of-pocket cost while the generic may be covered at a lower out-of-pocket cost.
- The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approves many new drugs throughout the year.
- Drugs can be withdrawn from the market or may become available without a prescription. Over-the-counter (OTC) drugs are not generally covered under a prescription plan, unless required by law.

Our website, www.aetna.com/formulary, reflects the most up-to-date formulary information – so please visit it often.

Why do some drugs require prior authorization or precertification?

This drug coverage review encourages appropriate and cost-effective use of prescription drugs by allowing coverage only when certain conditions are met.

Reasons for precertification include:

- Compliance with dosing guidelines
- Avoiding duplicate therapies
- Helping health care providers check that a drug is being used based on generally accepted medical criteria

The precertification program is based on current medical findings, FDA-approved manufacturer labeling information, and cost and manufacturer rebate arrangements.

If your plan requires precertification, you will find a list of drugs that are subject to precertification with this guide. Please keep in mind that:

- Your doctor must contact Aetna to request approval of coverage for these drugs.
- If we approve the request, we will notify your doctor. The drug will then be covered at the applicable out-of-pocket cost under your plan. You will also be notified of approvals where the state requires notification to members.

If the request is denied, you and your doctor will be notified. You can still purchase the drug, but for the full price.

Why do some drugs have quantity limits?

This drug coverage review limits coverage of quantities for certain drugs. These limits help your doctor and pharmacist check that your prescribed drug is used correctly and safely.

We use medical guidelines and FDA-approved recommendations from drug makers to set these coverage limits. The quantity limit program includes:

- Dose Efficiency Edits – Limit coverage of prescriptions to one dose per day for drugs that are approved for once-daily dosing.
- Maximum Daily Dose – A message is sent to the pharmacy if a prescription is less than the minimum or higher than the maximum allowed dose.
- Quantity Limits Over Time – Limit coverage of prescriptions to a specific number of units in a defined amount of time.

What is step therapy?

This drug coverage review promotes the appropriate use of equally effective but lower-cost drugs first. These lower-cost drugs are FDA-approved and treat the same condition as the corresponding step therapy drugs.

What is therapeutic duplication?

Therapeutic duplication means that two or more drugs of the same type are prescribed at the same time. This can occur when two doctors prescribe similar drugs or when your doctor switches from one drug to another drug in the same class without cancelling the first prescription.

It is rare that you should ever need two drugs from the same class to treat a medical condition. Since serious side effects may occur, we help bring such duplications to your pharmacist's and doctor's attention.

If you have a medical need for a drug that requires precertification, quantity limits or step therapy, your doctor can ask for a medical exception. The list of drugs requiring precertification, quantity limits or step therapy is subject to change. Find the most up-to-date information at www.aetna.com/formulary.

You may be able to save with generic drugs

Generic drugs are approved by FDA and proven to be just as safe and effective as brand-name drugs. They contain the same active ingredients in the same amounts as the brand-name drugs. The difference is that generics may be a different color, shape or size.

When appropriate, your doctor may decide to prescribe, or allow substitution with, a generic drug. Please talk to your doctor to find out if a generic is right for you.

Saving on prescriptions

Here are some other tips to pay less out of pocket for your prescription drugs:

- Ask your doctor to consider prescribing drugs that are on the Pharmacy Drug (formulary) Guide.
- Ask your doctor to consider prescribing generic drugs instead of brand-name drugs.
- Check to see if your plan includes our mail-order pharmacy service. Depending upon your plan, mail order may save you money. See Aetna Rx Home Delivery in this guide for details.
- Remind your doctor to check your plan to make sure you get maximum coverage.

Please note that if your prescription drug benefits plan changes, the information herein may no longer apply.

A copayment is a flat fee. Coinsurance is a percentage of the rate that Aetna negotiates with the plan sponsor for covered prescriptions except as required by law to be otherwise. Some drugs on the Preferred Drug List are subject to manufacturer rebates. Coinsurance is calculated before any rebates are subtracted. That means it may be possible for your cost of a preferred drug to be higher than your cost of a non-preferred drug.

Health benefits and health insurance plans are offered, administered and/or underwritten by Aetna Health Inc., Aetna Health Insurance Company of New York, Aetna Health Insurance Company and/or Aetna Life Insurance Company (Aetna). In Florida, by Aetna Health Inc. and/or Aetna Life Insurance Company. In Maryland, by Aetna Health Inc., 151 Farmington Avenue, Hartford, CT 06156. Each insurer has sole financial responsibility for its own products. Aetna Pharmacy Management refers to an internal business unit of Aetna Health Management, LLC. Aetna Specialty Pharmacy refers to Aetna Specialty Pharmacy, LLC, a subsidiary of Aetna Inc., which is a licensed pharmacy that operates through specialty pharmacy prescription fulfillment.

Not all health services are covered. See plan documents for a complete description of benefits, exclusions, limitations and conditions of coverage. Plan features and availability may vary by location and are subject to change.

Aetna receives rebates from drug manufacturers that may be taken into account in determining Aetna's Pharmacy Drug (formulary) Guide. Rebates do not reduce the amount a member pays the pharmacy for covered prescriptions. Information is subject to change. For more information about Aetna plans, refer to www.aetna.com.

The drugs on the Pharmacy Drug (formulary) Guide, Formulary Exclusions, Precertification, Quantity Limit and Step Therapy Lists are subject to change. The quantity limits and step therapy drug coverage review programs are not available in all service areas. For example, step therapy programs do not apply to fully-insured members in Indiana. Step therapy does not apply to fully-insured members in New Jersey. However, these programs are available to self-funded plans.

In accordance with state law, commercial fully-insured members in Louisiana and Texas (except Federal Employee Health Benefit Plan members) who are receiving coverage for medications that are added or removed from the Pharmacy Drug (formulary) Guide, Precertification, Quantity Limits or Step-Therapy Lists during the plan year will continue to have those medications covered at the same benefit level until their plan's renewal date. In Texas, precertification approval is known as "pre-service utilization review." It is not "verification" as defined by Texas law.

In accordance with state law, fully-insured Commercial California HMO members (except Federal Employee Health Benefit Plan members) who are receiving coverage for medications that are added to the Precertification or Step-therapy Lists will continue to have those medications covered, for as long as the treating physician continues prescribing them, provided that the drug is appropriately prescribed and is considered safe and effective for treating the enrollee's medical condition. In accordance with state law, fully-insured Commercial Connecticut PPO members (except Federal Employee Health Benefit Plan members) who are receiving coverage for medications that are added to the Precertification or Step-therapy Lists will continue to have those medications covered for as long as the treating physician prescribes them, provided the drug is medically necessary and more medically beneficial than other covered drugs. Nothing in this section shall preclude the prescribing provider from prescribing another drug covered by the plan that is medically appropriate for the enrollee, nor shall anything in this section be construed to prohibit generic drug substitutions.

Response to Section 6.156.15 Grievance and Appeal Procedure

Proposers must provide a description of the grievance and appeal procedure to be conducted on behalf of the City's health plan. Label this information Response to Section 6.15 and include in Tab VII of the proposal.

We process claims and administer benefits in accordance with applicable ERISA requirements. Where provided for by contract and subject to a fee, we provide mandatory Level I and Level II appeals and write the letter to the member to communicate the upheld or overturned decision (Option 4).

We will act as claim fiduciary on Level I and Level II appeals, as well as the External Review option, if applicable. We will defend any lawsuit originating during or after completion of the first two levels of appeal. After all levels of appeal and the External Review option, if applicable, are exhausted, there is a Voluntary Appeal process available through the customer. The customer becomes responsible for defense of any lawsuit originating from the Voluntary Process.

Appeal procedure

We provide a nationally standardized process for resolving member complaints and appeals to enhance our ability to handle complaints and appeals in a consistent and timely fashion.

Some states have requirements that are different from federal requirements. State requirements supersede only when they are more advantageous to the member (e.g., more aggressive turnaround times for response). Aetna's law department will support the business area in the interpretation of applicable law.

Grievance or complaints

Our Customer Service Representatives (CSRs) respond to most member inquiries at the point of contact. If the issue cannot be resolved during the call, the CSR forwards the complaint to the Customer Resolution Team (CRT) for handling, and, if needed, to the appropriate business area for investigation and response. Members who are not satisfied with the response may file an oral or written complaint and/or appeal.

Response to Section 6.15

A complaint is defined as any oral or written expression of dissatisfaction/concern, other than an appeal, by a member or a member's authorized representative regarding services provided by Aetna, a network health care professional or a vendor.

This includes but is not limited to complaints related to:

- Potential quality of care by a participating health care professional
- Quality of administrative service provided by a participating health care professional
- Quality of administrative service provided by Aetna
- Use of their protected health information

Timing

The resolution timeframe for complaints is 30 days or 5 calendar days for expedited complaints.

Appeals

A Level I appeal is defined as a verbal or written request by a member, or a member's authorized representative, requesting a change in an initial determination decision.

This includes but is not limited to requests related to the following:

- Certification of health services (e.g., precertification, emergency services)
- Claim payment
- Plan interpretation
- Benefit determinations
- Eligibility

To start the appeals process, the member or provider/representative acting on behalf of the member submits a verbal or written request asking for a change in the initial determination decision.

Response to Section 6.15Timing

The member or authorized representative has 180 days after receipt of a coverage decision to file an appeal.

A written notice stating the result of the review will be forwarded to the member within the following timeframes:

- Expedited appeals – 36 hours
- Pre-service appeals – 15 hours
- Post service appeal – 30 days

Appeal denial notice

If an appeal is denied, written notice includes:

- a. A statement of the reviewer's understanding of the pertinent facts of the appeal (description of the health care service/claim).
- b. Evidence or documentation used for the basis of the decision in clear terms.
- c. An explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the determination, applying the terms of the plan to the member's medical circumstances.
- d. The specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion that was relied upon in making an adverse determination.
- e. A statement that a copy of the rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion will be provided free of charge to the member upon request.
- f. The specific plan provisions on which an adverse benefit determination is based.
- g. A list of the titles and qualifications of the individuals participating in the review of the appeal (those individuals involved in the decision making process). Specific names are available upon request.
- h. A statement that the member is entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant to the member's appeal.

Response to Section 6.15

- i. A description of the next review level, if applicable, including time frames and how to file.
- j. The following or similar statement (including consumer assistance contact information): "If you do not agree with the final determination on review, you have the right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA.

Other resources to help you: Need help understanding this notice or our decision? Call us free of charge at the 1-800 number on your medical ID card. There are also other resources available to help you. Most plans are now subject to health care reform law. Call us or ask your employer if your plan is subject to the law. If it is, you can also contact the Employee Benefits Security Administration at 1-866-444-EBSA (3272). For questions about your appeal rights, this notice, or for assistance, you can contact the Employee Benefits Security Administration at 1-866-444-EBSA (3272) for help, if your health plan is provided by your employer. [Insert, if applicable in your state: Additionally, a consumer assistance program may be able to assist you at [insert contact information.]]"

- k. The availability of external review and how to request it, if applicable.
- l. The following statement:

Self-funded: "You and your plan may have other voluntary alternative dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your Plan Administrator or your local U.S. Department of Labor Office."

If the member or authorized representative is not satisfied with the outcome of the Level I appeal decision, they may submit an oral or written request, within 60 days of receipt of a Level I decision, for further appeal review. For clinical appeals, the second level review is performed by a practitioner who typically treats the condition, performs the procedure, or provides the treatment under review and was neither involved in the original denial of coverage determination or Level I appeal.

If a Level II appeal is denied, the written notice includes all specific reasons for the denial, including the clinical rationale, reference to applicable plan provisions, medical and dental information reviews, and any other applicable appeal procedures that may be available.

Response to Section 6.15Tracking grievances, complaints and appeals

The Complaints and Appeals Tracking System (CATS) was developed to support our national process. The goals of this system are administrative consistency, centralized data collection, business accountability, a consistent workflow process and generation of standard reports. CATS stores the necessary data relating to a complaint or appeal for tracking, resolution and reporting purposes. This centralized data collection enables us to increase customer service, customer satisfaction and promotes regulatory compliance.

CATS provides a single system to capture, track, route and resolve all member, provider and customer complaints and appeals. The application is web based and allows for paperless routing of appropriate documents.

External Review

In compliance with health care reform, Aetna will be able to support and administer an external review process for self-funded group health plans that follows the federal process outlined in the DOL technical release 2010-01. This requirement is only applicable to nongrandfathered plans. Aetna administers this process for our self-funded customers upon request as an extension of their ASC agreement and in compliance with the internal appeal process requirements as outlined in the Affordable Care Act.

Under the Federal guidelines, the member has four months from the date of receipt of a notice of an adverse benefit determination or final internal adverse benefit determination to request an external review. Upon receipt of a request for external review, Aetna performs a preliminary review to determine whether i.) the member was covered by the plan on the date the services were requested or provided, ii) the adverse determination does not relate to the member's failure to meet the requirements for eligibility under the terms of the group health plan, iii) the member has exhausted the plan's internal appeal process (unless not required under the interim final regulations); and iv) the member has provided all the information and forms required to process the external review.

Response to Section 6.15

The plan must issue notification in writing to the member if complete but ineligible with notification to include the reason for its ineligibility and contact information for the Employee Benefits Security Administration (toll-free number 866-444-3272). If not complete, the notification must describe the information needed to make the request complete and must allow the member to perfect the request within the four-month filing period or within the 48 hour period following the receipt of the notification, whichever is later.

The Independent Review Organization (IRO) must provide written notice of the final external review decision within 45 days after the IRO receives the request for the external review and must deliver the notice of final external review decision to the member and the plan. If the IRO overturns the decision the health plan is required to immediately provide coverage or payment or authorize services as applicable. The decision of the independent reviewer is binding on Aetna and the customer. Members are not charged a professional fee for the review.

An expedited process is available when the determination involves a medical condition for which the timeframe for completion of an expedited internal appeal would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the member or would jeopardize the member's ability to regain maximum function and the member or provider on behalf of the member has filed a request for an expedited internal appeal.

We have contracted with the following URAC accredited IROs: IMEDECS and MCMC, LLC and AMR.

Aetna Annual Report,
Financial Report to Shareholders

Mark T. Bertolini
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

To our shareholders:

2015 was a landmark year for Aetna. We delivered excellent financial results, announced our agreement to acquire Humana for $37 billion and invested in our most important resource by improving wages and benefits for thousands of employees. Aetna made real progress toward building a healthier world, one person and one community at a time.

In total, we generated annual operating revenue of more than $60 billion, with year-over-year operating earnings per share growth of 15 percent. Our Government business continues to be a key growth engine for our company. Within our Medicare business, we saw membership increases of more than 13 percent from 2014 due to growth in both our Medicare Advantage and Medicare Supplement products. The sustained growth in our Medicare businesses speaks directly to our top tier Star Ratings and continued investments in programs that our customers value. Our Medicaid business also performed very well and grew by more than 175,000 members.

Expanding collaborative relationships with doctors, health care systems, and other health care professionals also continues to be a focus for our company. We believe these relationships will continue to improve health outcomes, lower costs, and build a better health care system. We now have 73 accountable care arrangements, and over the past year, we increased the medical spend running through value-based contracts from 28 percent to 37 percent. We will continue to invest in strong relationships with providers to help build healthier communities throughout the world.

In 2015, Aetna also established our organization as a corporate leader in social responsibility. We increased Aetna's minimum base wage to $16 per hour, affecting approximately 5,700 employees, and we introduced an enhanced medical benefits program that lowers out-of-pocket healthcare expenses for qualifying employees. This investment has already generated lower employee turnover and increased engagement. Our success this year proves that we can continue to do well by doing good.

We are excited by our proposed acquisition of Humana. In Humana, we have found our ideal partner to accelerate our efforts to help transform the healthcare system. Not only are our companies highly complementary, combining Aetna's strength in commercial products with Humana's strength in Medicare Advantage, but we are also united by a common culture and purpose. After the close of the transaction, we will be able to offer consumers a broader choice of products, access to higher quality and more affordable care, and a better overall experience. We continue to work diligently on planning for the Humana integration, and we are excited about the value that the combination will create for consumers and shareholders.

As we continue our work to build a healthier world, we believe that Aetna has never been better positioned to enable more healthy days for our members. We appreciate your support and continued investment in Aetna.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations ("MD&A")

OVERVIEW

We are one of the nation's leading diversified health care benefits companies, serving an estimated 46.5 million people with information and resources to help them, in consultation with their health care professionals, make better informed decisions about their health care. We offer a broad range of traditional, voluntary and consumer-directed health insurance products and related services, including medical, pharmacy, dental, behavioral health, group life and disability plans, medical management capabilities, Medicaid health care management services, Medicare Advantage and Medicare supplement plans, workers' compensation administrative services and health information technology products and services, such as Accountable Care Solutions ("ACS"). Our customers include employer groups, individuals, college students, part-time and hourly workers, health plans, health care providers ("providers"), governmental units, government-sponsored plans, labor groups and expatriates. Our operations are conducted in three business segments: Health Care, Group Insurance and Large Case Pensions.

The following MD&A provides a review of our financial condition at December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 and operating results for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013. We acquired Coventry Health Care, Inc. ("Coventry") on May 7, 2013 (the "Coventry Acquisition Date"). Coventry's results are recorded within our Health Care segment on and after the Coventry Acquisition Date for the year ended December 31, 2013 and for each of the years in the two year period ended December 31, 2015. The Coventry acquisition significantly impacts the comparability of our results for both 2015 and 2014 to 2013, as only approximately eight months of Coventry's results were included in 2013. This Overview should be read in conjunction with the entire MD&A, which contains detailed information that is important to understanding our operating results and financial condition, the consolidated financial statements and other data presented in this Annual Report. This Overview is qualified in its entirety by the full MD&A.

Summarized Results

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Total revenue	$ 60,336.5	$ 58,003.2	$ 47,294.6
Net income attributable to Aetna	2,390.2	2,040.8	1,913.6
Operating earnings ⁽¹⁾	2,717.1	2,404.6	2,241.1
Total medical membership (in thousands)	23,487	23,548	22,190
Cash flows from operations	3,866.1	3,372.8	2,278.7

We analyze our operating results based on operating earnings, which excludes from net income attributable to Aetna net realized capital gains and losses, amortization of other acquired intangible assets as well as other items, if any, that, neither relate to the ordinary course of our business nor reflect our underlying business performance. Operating earnings for the past three years were primarily generated from our Health Care segment.

Operating earnings increased in 2015 compared to 2014, primarily as a result of higher underwriting margins (calculated as premiums less health care costs) and higher fees and other revenue in our Health Care segment, partially offset by an increase in general and administrative expenses. Operating earnings in 2014 were higher than 2013 primarily due to the full-year effect of the inclusion of results from the May 2013 acquisition of Coventry, as well as higher underwriting margins in our Health Care segment and higher underwriting margins (calculated as premiums less current and future benefits) in our Group Insurance segment, partially offset by an increase in general and administrative expenses.

Total revenue increased during 2015 compared to 2014, primarily due to membership growth in our Government business as well as higher Health Care premium yields, partially offset by membership losses in our group Commercial Insured products. Total revenue increased in 2014 compared to 2013 primarily as a result of membership growth in our Health Care segment and the effects of pricing actions designed to recover the fees and taxes mandated by the ACA (as defined below), as well as higher Health Care premiums from the May 2013 acquisition of Coventry.

Total medical membership at December 31, 2015 remained relatively flat compared to December 31, 2014, primarily reflecting declines in our Commercial Insured products substantially offset by growth in our Medicare and Medicaid products. Refer to “Health Care - Membership” on page 10 for further information.

During the past three years our cash flows supported both new and ongoing initiatives.

We generated substantial cash flows in the past three years, which we used to support our ordinary course operating activities; support our growth strategies, including partially funding the Coventry acquisition, funding other acquisitions, and investing in our Government and Healthagen[®] (including Consumer) businesses; repurchase our common stock; repurchase our long-term debt; and increase our shareholder dividend. During 2015, 2014 and 2013, we repurchased 3 million, 16 million and 23 million shares of our common stock, respectively, at a cost of $296 million, $1.2 billion and $1.4 billion, respectively, under share repurchase programs authorized by Aetna’s Board of Directors (our “Board”). Prior to the closing of our proposed acquisition of Humana Inc. (“Humana”), our ability to repurchase shares of our common stock will be limited. We expect to suspend our share repurchase programs for approximately six months following the closing of our proposed acquisition of Humana. Refer to Note 16 beginning on page 135 for additional information on share repurchases.

Refer to “Liquidity and Capital” resources beginning on page 16 for additional information on our primary sources and uses of cash flows.

Proposed Acquisition of Humana

On July 2, 2015, we entered into a definitive agreement (as it may be amended, the “Merger Agreement”) to acquire Humana Inc. (the “Proposed Acquisition”) in a transaction valued at approximately $37 billion, based on the closing price of Aetna common shares on July 2, 2015, including the assumption of Humana debt and Humana cash and cash equivalents. Under the terms of the Merger Agreement, Humana stockholders will receive $125.00 in cash and 0.8375 Aetna common shares for each Humana share. We expect to finance the cash portion of the purchase price through a combination of cash on hand and by issuing approximately $16.2 billion of new debt, including senior notes, term loans and commercial paper. We made customary representations, warranties and covenants in the Merger Agreement, including, among others, a covenant, subject to certain exceptions, to conduct our business in the ordinary course between the execution of the Merger Agreement and the closing of the transaction.

On October 19, 2015, Aetna and Humana each obtained the approval of their respective shareholders necessary for the Proposed Acquisition.

We continue to work with the U.S. Department of Justice to obtain clearance for the Proposed Acquisition, and as of February 15, 2016, we had obtained ten of the twenty state change of control regulatory approvals necessary to close the transaction. The Proposed Acquisition is currently projected to close in the second half of 2016 and remains subject to customary closing conditions, including expiration of the federal Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976 (the “HSR Act”) waiting period and approvals of state departments of insurance and other regulators, and therefore has not been reflected in this Annual Report on Form 10-K unless expressly stated otherwise.

Refer to Notes 3 and 15 on pages 99 and 131, respectively, and “Forward-Looking Information/Risk Factors” beginning on page 42 for additional information on the Proposed Acquisition.

Health Care Reform

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (as amended, collectively, “Health Care Reform” or the “ACA”) has changed and will continue to make broad-based changes to the U.S. health care system. We expect Health Care Reform and changes to Health Care Reform to continue to significantly impact our business operations and financial results, including our pricing, our medical benefit ratios (“MBRs”) and the geographies in which our products are available. Health Care Reform presents us with business opportunities, but also with financial and regulatory challenges. Most of the key components of Health Care Reform were phased in during or prior to 2014, including public health insurance exchanges (“Public Exchanges”), required minimum MLRs in Commercial and Medicare products, the individual coverage mandate, guaranteed issue, rating limits in individual and small group products, significant new industry-wide fees, assessments and taxes, enhanced premium rate review and disclosure processes, reduced Medicare Advantage payment rates to insurers, and linking Medicare Advantage payments to a plan’s CMS quality performance ratings or “star ratings.” The effects of these changes are reflected in our financial results. Certain components of Health Care Reform will continue to be phased in until 2020. It is reasonably possible that Health Care Reform and/or changes to Health Care Reform, in the aggregate, could have a significant adverse effect on our business operations and financial results.

On June 25, 2015, the U.S. Supreme Court issued a ruling that upheld the availability of federal tax credits and subsidies to individuals who purchase health insurance through Public Exchanges established by the federal government.

During 2015, we paid our $856 million portion of the ACA’s non tax-deductible health insurer fee (the “HIF”), an $185 million portion of our estimated 2015 ACA reinsurance contribution and the remaining $60 million portion of our 2014 ACA reinsurance contribution. During 2014, we paid our $605 million portion of the HIF and a $298 million portion of our estimated 2014 ACA reinsurance contribution. In the aggregate, we expect our portion of the total fees, assessments and taxes imposed by Health Care Reform in 2016 to be approximately $1 billion. Refer to Notes 2, 5 and 9 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on pages 88, 101 and 109, respectively, for additional information on the HIF and the ACA’s reinsurance program.

Ongoing legislative and regulatory changes to Health Care Reform, other pending efforts in the U.S. Congress to amend or restrict funding for various aspects of Health Care Reform (including risk corridors), the 2016 presidential election, pending litigation challenging aspects of the law and federal budget negotiations continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of Health Care Reform. Examples of these legislative and regulatory changes include: the December 2015 suspension of the HIF for 2017 and two year delay of the “Cadillac” tax on high-cost employer-sponsored health coverage; the October 2015 Protecting Affordable Coverage for Employees Act (“PACE”), which leaves groups with 51 to 100 employees within the large group category for each state unless the state exercises its option to include these groups within the small group category; and the October 2015 HHS announcement that Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables for the 2014 program year would only be funded at 12.6%. The pending litigation includes the House of Representatives’ challenge to HHS’s ability to make payments under the ACA’s cost sharing reduction (“Cost Sharing Subsidy”) program without an explicit appropriation.

As described above, the availability of funding for the ACA’s temporary risk corridor program is an example of this uncertainty. In May 2014, CMS published a final rule on Public Exchanges. The final rule provides that payments to health plans under the ACA’s risk corridor program will no longer be limited to the aggregate amount of the risk corridor collections received by HHS over the duration of the risk corridor program. However, it is possible that payments to health plans under the risk corridor program will require additional appropriation legislation to be passed by the U.S. Congress. In each of December 2014 and December 2015, legislation was enacted that prohibits HHS’s use of certain funds to pay HHS’s potential obligation under the ACA’s risk corridor program. In October 2015, HHS announced that 2014 Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables would be funded at 12.6% to the extent HHS fully collects risk corridor payables. As a result, we continue to believe that receipt of any payment from HHS for the 2015 program year and receipt of such payments in excess of the 12.6% prorated amount for the 2014 program year are uncertain. At December 31, 2015, we had a $2 million receivable for the remaining 2014 program year prorated amount that had not been collected from HHS and no receivable for the 2015 program year. In addition, these limited risk corridor payments may create instability in the marketplace for individual Commercial products in 2016 and going forward by, among other things, causing health plans to change or stop offering their Public Exchange products. 2016 is the last program year for the ACA's risk corridor program. Refer to Notes 2 and 9 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on pages 88 and 109, respectively, for additional information on our Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables.

We cannot predict whether pending or future federal or state legislation or court proceedings, including future U.S. Congressional appropriations, will change various aspects of the health care and related benefits system or Health Care Reform or state level health care reform or the impact those changes will have on our business operations and/or financial results, but the effects could be materially adverse.

For additional information on Health Care Reform, refer to "Regulatory Environment" beginning on page 26. For a discussion of certain factors that may cause our actual results to differ from currently anticipated results in connection with Health Care Reform, refer to "Forward-Looking Information/Risk Factors" beginning on page 42.

Medicare Update

On April 6, 2015, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services ("CMS") issued its Final Notice detailing final 2016 Medicare Advantage benchmark payment rates (the "Final Notice"). We project that the benchmark rates in the Final Notice will increase funding for our Medicare Advantage business by 1% in 2016 compared to 2015.

Health Care Reform ties a portion of each Medicare Advantage plan's reimbursement to the plan's "star ratings." Since 2015, plans must have a star rating of four or higher (out of five) to qualify for quality bonus payments. CMS released our 2016 star ratings in October 2015. Our 2016 star ratings will be used to determine which of our Medicare Advantage plans have ratings of four stars or higher and qualify for bonus payments in 2017. Our enrollment weighted average 2016 star rating was 4.2, and our enrollment weighted-average 2015 and 2014 star ratings were both 4.0. Based on our membership at December 31, 2015, 85% of our Medicare Advantage members were in plans with 2016 star ratings of at least 4.0 stars, compared to 84% of our Medicare Advantage members being in plans with 2015 star ratings of at least 4.0 stars based on our membership at December 31, 2014.

Outlook for 2016

We expect to continue to face significant business challenges in 2016, most notably in our ACA compliant products. Our Public Exchange products continue to be challenged by a lack of overall stability in the risk pool, particularly with respect to members who purchase products during special election periods; a lack of predictability and full transparency in the risk adjustment program; and proposed regulations on network adequacy and standardization of benefits that would limit our and other insurers' ability to offer affordable, innovative Public Exchange products.

Despite these challenges, we project that our operating earnings in 2016 will be higher than in 2015 due to projected improved operating margins in our ACA compliant products (including our ACA compliant small group and individual products), net productivity gains in excess of inflationary costs, appropriately positioning our infrastructure consistent with projected reduced membership levels and continued operating revenue growth, as our membership mix is projected to shift towards higher revenue, higher MBR Government products. We also project that these opportunities will be partially offset by the following pressures on 2016 operating earnings: the full year 2016 impact of the rate reset that occurred in July 2015 under our Kentucky Medicaid contract; the impact of projected medical administrative services contract customer losses on our Group Insurance segment; and the impact of the 2017 suspension of the ACA HIF on our revenues and medical benefit ratios as this change begins to be reflected in reduced premiums for 2016 medical customer renewals that have member months in 2017.

Uncertainties that could favorably impact our 2016 operating earnings relative to our projections include: the potential for favorable development of prior period health care cost estimates; and the potential for our current reconciliation estimates to develop favorably when we complete final reconciliations with respect to certain programs related to our ACA-compliant products in 2016. Additional risks to our ability to achieve our projection of increased operating earnings in 2016 include: the ever present risk that medical cost trends could increase by more than we have projected; the potential for unfavorable development of prior period health care cost estimates, the risk that risk-adjusted revenue in our ACA-compliant products may be lower than we currently project, and the risk that our medical membership may be lower than we currently project.

Our primary business goals for 2016 are to improve our operating earnings and to close and begin a successful integration of the Proposed Acquisition.

Except as specifically noted, the projected information in this annual report does not include or reflect any benefit or impact from or any transaction or other costs associated with the Proposed Acquisition. The closing of the Proposed Acquisition will significantly affect the comparability of our results following the closing with our results in pre-closing periods.

Refer to “Forward-Looking Information/Risk Factors” beginning on page 42 for information regarding other important factors that may cause our actual results to differ from those currently projected in “Outlook for 2016” and/or otherwise materially affect us.

Segment Results and Use of Non-GAAP Measures in this Document

The following discussion of operating results is presented based on our reportable segments in accordance with the accounting guidance for segment reporting and is consistent with our segment disclosure included in Note 20 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 143. Our operations are conducted in three business segments: Health Care, Group Insurance and Large Case Pensions. Our Corporate Financing segment is not a business segment; it is added to our business segments to reconcile our segment reporting to our consolidated results. The Corporate Financing segment includes interest expense on our outstanding debt and the financing components of our pension and other postretirement employee benefit plans (“OPEB”) expense (the service cost and prior service cost components of this expense are allocated to our business segments).

Our discussion of operating results is based on operating earnings. Operating earnings exclude from net income attributable to Aetna reported in accordance with GAAP, net realized capital gains or losses, amortization of other acquired intangible assets and other items, if any, that neither relate to the ordinary course of our business nor reflect our underlying business performance. Although the excluded items may recur, we believe excluding them from net income attributable to Aetna to arrive at operating earnings provides a more useful comparison of our underlying business performance from period to period. Net realized capital gains and losses arise from various types of transactions, primarily in the course of managing a portfolio of assets that support the payment of liabilities. Amortization of other acquired intangible assets relates to our acquisition activities, including Coventry, the InterGlobal Group (“InterGlobal”) and bswift LLC (“bswift”). These transactions and amortization do not directly relate to the underwriting or servicing of products for our customers and are not directly related to the core performance of our business operations. Operating earnings is the measure reported to our Chief Executive Officer for purposes of assessing financial performance and making operating decisions, such as the allocation of resources among our business segments. In each business segment discussion in this MD&A, we provide a table that reconciles operating earnings to net income attributable to Aetna. Each table details the net realized capital gains or losses, amortization of other acquired intangible assets and any other items excluded from net income attributable to Aetna, and the footnotes to each table describe the nature of each other item and the reason we believe it is appropriate to exclude that item from net income attributable to Aetna. Non-GAAP financial measures we disclose, such as operating earnings, should not be considered a substitute for, or superior to, financial measures determined or calculated in accordance with GAAP.

HEALTH CARE

Health Care consists of medical, pharmacy benefit management services, dental, behavioral health and vision plans offered on both an Insured basis (where we assume all or a majority of the risk for medical and dental care costs) and an employer-funded basis (where the plan sponsor under an administrative services contract (“ASC”) assumes all or a majority of this risk) and emerging businesses products and services, such as Accountable Care Solutions, that complement and enhance our medical products. We also offer Medicare and Medicaid products and services and other medical products, such as medical management and data analytics services, medical stop loss insurance, workers’ compensation administrative services and products that provide access to our provider networks in select geographies. We separately track premiums and health care costs for Government businesses (which represents our combined Medicare and Medicaid products). All other medical, dental and other Health Care products are referred to as Commercial.

Net income attributable to Aetna for Health Care	$ 2,426.8	$ 2,193.4	$ 1,912.5

Operating earnings for Health Care	$ 2,711.8	$ 2,376.5	$ 2,267.4

⁽¹⁾ Operating earnings excludes net realized capital gains and losses, amortization of other acquired intangible assets and the other items described in the reconciliation in Note 20 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 145. Of the total transaction, integration-related and restructuring costs described in the reconciliation in Note 20 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 145, $157.3 million ($223.2 million pretax), $134.2 million ($200.7 million pretax) and $219.0 million ($310.5 million pretax) were recorded in the Health Care segment in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Operating earnings in 2015 increased compared to 2014.

In 2015, operating earnings increased by $335 million compared to 2014, primarily as a result of higher underwriting margins in our Government business and higher fees and other revenue, partially offset by an increase in general and administrative expenses. In 2014, operating earnings increased by $109 million compared to 2013, primarily due to the May 2013 acquisition of Coventry, as well as higher underwriting margins in both our Government and Commercial businesses, partially offset by an increase in general and administrative expenses. Refer to our discussions of Commercial and Government results and general and administrative expenses below for additional information.

We calculate our medical benefit ratio (“MBR”) by dividing health care costs by health care premiums. Our MBRs by product for the last three years were:

Commercial	80.3%	80.2%	80.1%
Government	81.4%	84.9%	87.5%
Total Health Care	80.8%	82.2%	82.9%

Refer to our discussion of Commercial and Government results below for an explanation of the changes in our premiums and MBRs. In addition, the calculation of Health Care Costs Payable is a critical accounting estimate (refer to “Critical Accounting Estimates - Health Care Costs Payable” beginning on page 20 for additional information).

Commercial operating results for 2015 reflect a decrease in membership and a stable MBR from 2014.

Commercial premiums were $145 million higher in 2015 than 2014, primarily as a result of higher premium yields partially offset by membership losses in our group Commercial Insured products and an increase in net ACA risk adjustment payables recorded in 2015. Commercial premiums were approximately $4.1 billion higher in 2014 than 2013, primarily as a result of higher membership in our Commercial Insured business, the effects of pricing actions designed to recover fees and taxes mandated by the ACA and higher premium rates, as well as the full-year impact of the May 2013 acquisition of Coventry.

Our Commercial MBRs increased 10 basis points over the prior year in both 2015 and 2014. The increase in our Commercial MBR in 2015 compared to 2014 is primarily due to performance in our ACA compliant products substantially offset by improved performance in our group Commercial products. Our Commercial MBR increased in 2014 compared to 2013, primarily due to costs associated with new hepatitis C treatments, the performance of our individual business, which reflects the impact of programs mandated by the ACA in 2014, and performance in the smaller middle-market business, substantially offset by higher premiums driven in part by pricing actions designed to recover fees and taxes mandated by the ACA.

Government operating results for 2015 reflect improved underwriting margins and an increase in membership from 2014.

Government premiums were approximately $1.9 billion higher in 2015 than 2014 primarily due to membership growth in both our Medicare and Medicaid Insured products. Government premiums were approximately $5.8 billion higher in 2014 compared to 2013 primarily as a result of membership growth in both our Medicare and Medicaid Insured products, as well as the full-year impact of the May 2013 acquisition of Coventry.

Our Government MBRs improved 350 and 260 basis points over the prior year in 2015 and 2014, respectively. The improvement in our Government MBR in 2015 compared with 2014 is primarily a result of actions impacting revenue and medical costs designed to solve for the gap between Medicare premiums and medical costs and other expenses and improved performance in our Medicaid business. The improvement in our Government MBR in 2014 compared with 2013 is primarily due to actions impacting revenue and medical costs designed to solve for the gap between Medicare premiums and medical costs and other expenses, including the HIF, as well as increased favorable development of prior-years' health care cost estimates in 2014.

Fees and Other Revenue

Health Care fees and other revenue for 2015 increased $470 million compared to 2014 primarily as a result of higher average fee yields, the favorable impact of $110 million pretax of net litigation-related proceeds and growth in our Commercial ASC membership. Health Care fees and other revenue for 2014 increased $689 million compared to 2013 due primarily to higher average fee yields and growth in our Commercial ASC membership, as well as the inclusion of Coventry's service businesses for the full year.

General and Administrative Expenses

General and administrative expenses increased by $965 million during 2015 compared to 2014 due primarily to higher employee-related costs, increased investment spend to support our growth initiatives and 2014 results including the favorable impact of releasing a litigation-related reserve. Refer to Note 19 beginning on page 138 for additional information on the release of the litigation-related reserve. General and administrative expenses increased by approximately $1.7 billion during 2014 compared to 2013 due primarily to the inclusion of fees mandated by the ACA in 2014, the inclusion of Coventry's general and administrative expenses for the full year and increased investment spend to support our growth initiatives, partially offset by continued execution of our expense initiatives, including execution on our Coventry-related cost synergies, and the favorable impact of releasing a litigation-related reserve during 2014.

Income taxes

Our effective tax rate was 44 percent, 42 percent and 36 percent in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The increase in 2015 compared to 2014 primarily reflects a higher 2015 non-tax deductible HIF, partially offset by lower estimated state taxes. The increase in 2014 compared to 2013 reflects the impact of the ACA, including the non-deductibility of the HIF beginning in 2014.

Membership

Health Care's membership at December 31, 2015 and 2014 was as follows:

(Thousands)	2015			2014

⁽²⁾ Represents members in consumer-directed health plans who also are included in Commercial medical membership above.

⁽³⁾ Dental ASC membership at December 31, 2014 has been revised to reflect a reduction of 1 million Dental ASC members, as applicable. Medicaid ASC members did not have a Dental ASC product at such date. This revision did not affect our financial statements.

Total medical membership at December 31, 2015 remained relatively flat compared to December 31, 2014, primarily reflecting declines in our Commercial Insured products substantially offset by growth in our Medicare and Medicaid products.

Total dental membership at December 31, 2015 increased slightly compared to December 31, 2014 primarily reflecting growth in our Insured Dental products.

Total pharmacy benefit management services membership declined slightly at December 31, 2015 compared to December 31, 2014 primarily reflecting declines in our Commercial and Medicare prescription drug program ("PDP") stand-alone products partially offset by growth in our Medicaid and Medicare Advantage PDP products.

GROUP INSURANCE

Group Insurance primarily includes group life insurance and group disability products. Group life insurance products are offered on an Insured basis. Group disability products are offered to employers on both an Insured and an ASC basis. Group Insurance also includes long-term care products that were offered primarily on an Insured basis. We no longer solicit or accept new long-term care customers.

Operating earnings for 2015 declined by $35 million compared to 2014, primarily due to lower underwriting margins in our long-term care and life products as well as lower net investment income, partially offset by higher underwriting margins in our disability products. Operating earnings for 2014 increased by $40 million compared to 2013, primarily due to higher underwriting margins, reflecting improved experience in both our life and disability products, partially offset by lower net investment income.

We calculate our group benefit ratio by dividing current and future benefits by total premiums. Our group benefit ratios for the last three years were:

Group benefit ratio	85.9%	85.2%	93.5%

The 70 basis point increase in our group benefit ratio in 2015 over the prior year is primarily due to lower underwriting margins in our long-term care and life products partially offset by higher underwriting margins in our disability products. The 830 basis point improvement in our group benefit ratio in 2014 over the prior year is primarily due to higher underwriting margins, reflecting improved experience in both our life and disability products.

LARGE CASE PENSIONS

Large Case Pensions manages a variety of retirement products (including pension and annuity products) primarily for tax-qualified pension plans. These products provide a variety of funding and benefit payment distribution options and other services. The Large Case Pensions segment includes certain discontinued products.

(Millions)	2015		2014		2013
Net income attributable to Aetna for Large Case Pensions	$	8.1	$	21.7	$	68.8
Net realized capital losses (gains), net of tax		8.9		(1.0)		8.3
Reduction of reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products, net of tax		—		—		(55.9)
Operating earnings for Large Case Pensions	$	17.0	$	20.7	$	21.2

⁽¹⁾ Operating earnings excludes net realized capital gains and losses, amortization of other acquired intangible assets and the other items described in the reconciliation in Note 20 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 145.

Total revenue decreased by $107 million in 2015 compared to 2014, primarily as a result of lower net investment income in 2015 and the discontinuance of certain services under an existing customer contract during 2014, which resulted in a corresponding reduction in current and future benefits during 2015. Total revenue decreased by $151 million in 2014 compared to 2013, primarily as a result of group annuity contract conversion premium in 2013 and the discontinuance of certain services under an existing customer contract during 2014, which resulted in a corresponding reduction in total benefits and expenses during 2014.

Discontinued Products

Prior to 1993, we sold single-premium annuities (“SPAs”) and guaranteed investment contracts (“GICs”), primarily to employer sponsored pension plans. In 1993, we discontinued selling these products to Large Case Pensions customers, and now we refer to these products as discontinued products.

We discontinued selling these products because they were generating losses for us, and we projected that they would continue to generate losses over their life (which is currently greater than 30 years for SPAs); so we established a reserve for anticipated future losses at the time of discontinuance. At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, our remaining GIC liability was not material. We provide additional information on the reserve for anticipated future losses, including key assumptions and other important information, in Note 21 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 146.

The operating summary for Large Case Pensions above includes revenues and expenses related to our discontinued products, with the exception of net realized capital gains and losses which are recorded as part of current and future benefits. Since we established a reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products, as long as our expected future losses remain consistent with prior projections, the results of our discontinued products are applied against the reserve and do not impact net income attributable to Aetna. If actual or expected future losses are greater than we currently estimate, we may increase the reserve, which could adversely impact net income attributable to Aetna. If actual or expected future losses are less than we currently estimate, we may decrease the reserve, which could favorably impact net income attributable to Aetna. In those cases, we disclose such adjustment separately in the operating summary. Management reviews the adequacy of the discontinued products reserve quarterly. As a result of this review, $55.9 million ($86.0 million pretax) of the reserve was released in 2013. This reserve release was primarily due to favorable investment performance as well as favorable retirement experience compared to assumptions we previously made in estimating the reserve. The current reserve reflects management’s best estimate of anticipated future losses, and is included in future policy benefits on our balance sheet.

Refer to Note 21 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 146 for additional information on the activity in the reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products during 2015, 2014 and 2013.

INVESTMENTS

Our investment portfolio supported the following products at December 31, 2015 and 2014:

(Millions)	2015	2014
Experience-rated products ⁽¹⁾	$ 1,156.7	$ 1,492.4
Discontinued products ⁽¹⁾	3,059.1	3,425.2
Remaining products	20,463.8	19,871.5

⁽¹⁾ Investment risks associated with our experience-rated and discontinued products generally do not impact our operating results.

The risks associated with investments supporting experience-rated pension and annuity products in our Large Case Pensions business are assumed by the contract holders and not by us (subject to, among other things, certain minimum guarantees). Assets supporting experience-rated products may be subject to contract holder or participant withdrawals. Experience-rated contract holder and participant-directed withdrawals for the last three years were as follows:

Scheduled contract maturities and benefit payments ⁽¹⁾	$ 77.9	$ 145.4	$ 237.1
Contract holder withdrawals other than scheduled contract maturities and benefit payments ⁽²⁾	206.9	7.6	35.4
Participant-directed withdrawals ⁽²⁾	2.1	4.1	4.0

⁽²⁾ At December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, $377.4 million, $565.4 million and $556.9 million, respectively, of experience-rated pension contracts allowed for unscheduled contract holder withdrawals, subject to timing restrictions and formula-based market value adjustments. Further, at December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, $42.2 million, $77.4 million and $77.9 million, respectively, of experience-rated pension contracts supported by our general account assets could be withdrawn or transferred to other plan investment options at the direction of plan participants, without market value adjustment, subject to plan, contractual and income tax provisions.

Debt and Equity Securities

The debt securities in our investment portfolio had an average credit quality rating of A at both December 31, 2015 and 2014, with approximately $5.0 billion and $4.6 billion rated AAA at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. The debt securities that were rated below investment grade (that is, having a credit quality rating below BBB-/Baa3) were $1.4 billion at both December 31, 2015 and 2014 (of which 13% and 14% at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, supported our experience-rated and discontinued products).

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, we held $956 million and $811 million, respectively, of municipal debt securities that were guaranteed by third parties, representing 4% and 3%, respectively, of our total investments. These securities had an average credit quality rating of AA and AA- at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, with the guarantee. These securities had an average credit quality rating of A and A- at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, without the guarantee. We do not have any significant concentration of investments with third party guarantors (either direct or indirect).

At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, less than 1% of our investment portfolio was comprised of investments that were either European sovereign, agency, or local government debt of countries which, in our judgment based on an analysis of market-yields, are experiencing economic, fiscal or political strains such that the likelihood of default may be higher than if those factors did not exist.

Additionally, at both December 31, 2015 and 2014, less than 7% of our investment portfolio was comprised of investments that have exposure to the oil and gas industry, with more than half that amount comprised of investment grade rated debt securities. These exposures are experiencing varied degrees of financial strains in the current depressed oil and gas price environment, and the likelihood of our portfolio incurring realized capital losses on these exposures may increase if such depressed prices persist and/or decline further.

We generally classify our debt and equity securities as available for sale, and carry them at fair value on our balance sheet. At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, 1% of our debt and equity securities were valued using inputs that reflect our own assumptions (categorized as Level 3 inputs in accordance with GAAP). Refer to Note 11 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 111 for additional information on the methodologies and key assumptions we use to determine the fair value of investments.

Refer to Note 8 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 103 for details related to:

- Our investment portfolio balances at December 31, 2015 and 2014;
- Gross unrealized capital gains and losses by major security type;
- Debt securities with unrealized capital losses (including the amounts related to experience-rated and discontinued products);

- Our net realized capital gains and losses; and
- Our mortgage loan portfolio.

We regularly review our debt securities to determine if a decline in fair value below the carrying value is other-than-temporary. If we determine a decline in fair value is other-than-temporary, we will write down the carrying value of the security. The amount of the credit-related impairment is included in our operating results, and the non-credit component is included in other comprehensive income unless we intend to sell the security or it is more likely than not that we will be required to sell the debt security prior to its anticipated recovery of its amortized cost basis. Accounting for other-than-temporary impairment (“OTTI”) of our debt securities is considered a critical accounting estimate. Refer to “Critical Accounting Estimates - Other-Than-Temporary Impairment of Debt Securities” on page 25 for additional information.

Risk Management and Market-Sensitive Instruments

We manage interest rate risk by seeking to maintain a tight match between the durations of our assets and liabilities when appropriate. We manage credit risk by seeking to maintain high average credit quality ratings and diversified sector exposure within our debt securities portfolio. In connection with our investment and risk management objectives, we also use derivative financial instruments whose market value is at least partially determined by, among other things, levels of or changes in interest rates (short-term or long-term), duration, prepayment rates, equity markets or credit ratings/spreads. Our use of these derivatives is generally limited to hedging risk and has principally consisted of using interest rate swaps, treasury rate locks, forward contracts, futures contracts, warrants, put options and credit default swaps. These instruments, viewed separately, subject us to varying degrees of interest rate, equity price and credit risk. However, when used for hedging, we expect these instruments to reduce overall risk.

We regularly evaluate our risk from market-sensitive instruments by examining, among other things, levels of or changes in interest rates (short-term or long-term), duration, prepayment rates, equity markets or credit ratings/spreads. We also regularly evaluate the appropriateness of investments relative to our management-approved investment guidelines (and operate within those guidelines) and the business objectives of our portfolios.

On a quarterly basis, we review the impact of hypothetical net losses in our investment portfolio on our consolidated near-term financial position, operating results and cash flows assuming the occurrence of certain reasonably possible changes in near-term market rates and prices. Interest rate changes (whether resulting from changes in treasury yields or credit spreads or other factors) represent the most material risk exposure category for us. We have estimated the impact on the fair value of our market sensitive instruments based on the net present value of cash flows using a representative set of likely future interest rate scenarios. The assumptions used were as follows: an immediate increase of 100 basis points in interest rates (which we believe represents a moderately adverse scenario and is approximately equal to the historical annual volatility of interest rate movements for our intermediate-term available-for-sale debt securities) and an immediate decrease of 15% in prices for domestic equity securities.

Assuming an immediate 100 basis point increase in interest rates and immediate decrease of 15% in the prices for domestic equity securities, the theoretical decline in the fair values of our market sensitive instruments at December 31, 2015 is as follows:

- The fair value of our long-term debt would decline by $413 million ($636 million pretax). Changes in the fair value of our long-term debt do not impact our financial position or operating results.
- The theoretical reduction in the fair value of our investment securities partially offset by the theoretical reduction in the fair value of our interest rate sensitive liabilities would result in a net decline in fair value of $291 million ($447 million pretax) related to our non-experience-rated products. Reductions in the fair value of our investment securities would be reflected as an unrealized loss in equity, as we classify these securities as available for sale. We do not record our liabilities at fair value.

Based on our overall exposure to interest rate risk and equity price risk, we believe that these changes in market rates and prices would not materially affect our consolidated near-term financial position, operating results or cash flows as of December 31, 2015.

We also face certain operational risks, including risks related to information security, including cybersecurity. We have experienced a variety of cyber attacks, and we expect to continue to experience cyber attacks going forward. Among other things, we have experienced automated attempts to gain access to our public facing networks, brute force, SYN flood and distributed denial of service attacks, attempted virus infections, mass reconnaissance attempts, malware or injection attempts, phishing, PHP injection and cross-site scripting. We are dedicating and will continue to dedicate significant resources and incur significant expenses to maintain and update on an ongoing basis our systems and processes that are designed to mitigate the information security risks we face and protect the security of our computer systems, software, networks and other technology assets against attempts by unauthorized parties to obtain access to confidential information, destroy data, disrupt or degrade service, sabotage systems or cause other damage. The impact of the cyber attacks we have experienced through December 31, 2015 has not been material to our operations or results of operations. Our Board and Audit Committee are regularly informed regarding our information security policies, practices and status.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Cash Flows

We meet our operating cash requirements by maintaining liquidity in our investment portfolio, using overall cash flows from premiums, fees and other revenue, deposits and income received on investments, issuing commercial paper and entering into repurchase agreements from time to time. We monitor the duration of our investment portfolio of highly marketable debt securities and mortgage loans, and execute purchases and sales of these investments with the objective of having adequate funds available to satisfy our maturing liabilities. Overall cash flows are used primarily for claim and benefit payments, operating expenses, share and debt repurchases, repayment of debt, acquisitions, contract withdrawals and shareholder dividends. We have committed short-term borrowing capacity of $2.0 billion through a revolving credit facility agreement that expires in March 2020.

Presented below is a condensed statement of cash flows for each of the last three years. On May 7, 2013, we completed the acquisition of Coventry, which is reflected in our cash flows for the full-year in both 2015 and 2014 and on and after the Coventry Acquisition Date for 2013. We present net cash flows used for operating activities and net cash flows provided by investing activities separately for our Large Case Pensions segment because changes in the insurance reserves for the Large Case Pensions segment (which are reported as cash used for operating activities) are funded from the sale of investments (which are reported as cash provided by investing activities). Refer to the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows on page 86 for additional information.

Cash flows from operating activities
Health Care and Group Insurance	$ 4,388.0	$ 3,601.3	$ 2,625.0
Large Case Pensions	(521.9)	(228.5)	(346.3)
Net cash provided by operating activities	3,866.1	3,372.8	2,278.7
Cash flows from investing activities
Health Care and Group Insurance	(1,663.4)	(2,453.1)	(2,261.4)
Large Case Pensions	635.9	323.4	341.6
Net cash used for investing activities	(1,027.5)	(2,129.7)	(1,919.8)
Net cash used for financing activities	(1,734.7)	(1,235.0)	(1,525.8)
Net increase (decrease) in cash and cash equivalents	$ 1,103.9	$ 8.1	$ (1,166.9)

Cash Flow Analysis

Cash flows provided by operating activities for Health Care and Group Insurance were approximately $4.4 billion, $3.6 billion and $2.6 billion in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The increase during 2015 compared to 2014 is primarily attributable to improved operating performance and the receipt of our Health Care Reform reinsurance recoverables related to 2014, partially offset by the payment of our Health Care Reform risk adjustment payable related to 2014 and an increase in the amount we paid for the HIF in September 2015. The increase during 2014 compared to 2013 is primarily attributable to the effect of growth in our Insured membership and the inclusion of results from the Coventry acquisition for the full-year in 2014, partially offset by the payment of both our portion of the HIF and a portion of our estimated 2014 ACA reinsurance contribution in 2014.

Cash flows used for investing activities were approximately $1.0 billion, $2.1 billion and $1.9 billion for 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The decrease in cash used for investing activities in 2015 compared to 2014 is primarily attributable to lower net purchases of investments and a decline in cash used for acquisitions in 2015. The increase in cash used for investing activities in 2014 compared to 2013 was primarily a result of an increase in net purchases of investments in 2014 compared to net proceeds from the sales of investments in 2013, which was partially offset by a decline in cash used for acquisitions, as we completed the acquisition of Coventry during 2013. Refer to Note 3 and 7 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on pages 99 and 102, respectively, for additional information.

Cash flows used for financing activities in 2015 and 2014 primarily reflect the repayment of debt, share repurchases and dividend payments. During 2014, our cash flows used for financing activities also reflect the issuance of debt. Cash flows used for financing activities in 2013 primarily reflect share repurchases and dividend payments. Refer to Note 15 and 16 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on pages 131 and 135, respectively, for additional information about debt issuances and repayments, share repurchases and dividend payments.

Long-Term Debt; Revolving Credit Facility; Bridge Credit Agreement; and Term Loan Agreement

In support of our capital management goals, during 2015 we repaid maturing long-term debt and extended the maturity date of our revolving credit facility (the "Facility"). Additionally, in July 2015 and in connection with the Proposed Acquisition, we entered into a $13.0 billion 364-day senior unsecured bridge credit agreement (the "Bridge Credit Agreement") and a $3.2 billion three-year term loan credit agreement (the "Term Loan Agreement"). In addition, in July 2015, we amended the Facility to increase the commitments available from $2.0 billion to $3.0 billion upon our request and the satisfaction of certain conditions, including the completion of the transactions contemplated by the Merger Agreement and the termination of Humana's existing credit agreement dated as of July 9, 2013. Refer to Note 15 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 131 for additional information on these transactions.

Cash Flow Hedges

We have entered into various interest rate swaps and treasury rate locks that are designated as cash flow hedges against interest rate exposure related to the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt to be primarily used to finance a portion of the purchase price of the Proposed Acquisition. Refer to Note 15 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 131 for additional information on these transactions.

Other Liquidity Information

From time to time, we use short-term commercial paper borrowings, repurchase agreements and cash advances from the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston ("FHLBB") to address timing differences between cash receipts and disbursements. At December 31, 2015, we did not have any commercial paper outstanding or outstanding advances from the FHLBB. At December 31, 2014, we had $500 million of commercial paper outstanding with a weighted-average interest rate of .30% and no outstanding advances from the FHLBB. The maximum amount of commercial paper borrowings outstanding during 2015 was approximately $1.3 billion. Refer to Notes 2 and 11 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on pages 88 and 111, respectively, for additional information about our repurchase agreements.

Our debt to capital ratio (calculated as the sum of all short- and long-term debt outstanding ("total debt") divided by the sum of total Aetna shareholders' equity plus total debt) was 33% and 37% at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. At the completion of the Proposed Acquisition, we currently project our debt to capital ratio will be approximately 46% as we expect to issue approximately $16.2 billion of new debt, including senior notes, term loans and commercial paper, to partially finance the cash portion of the purchase price. Following the announcement of the Proposed Acquisition in July 2015, each of Standard & Poor's Ratings Services ("Standard & Poor's"), A.M. Best, Fitch Ratings ("Fitch") and Moody's Investors Service ("Moody's") placed certain of our debt, financial strength and other credit ratings under review for a possible downgrade. We currently project that our debt to capital ratio will decrease below 40% over the 24 months following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition. We continually monitor existing and alternative financing sources to support our capital and liquidity needs, including, but not limited to, debt issuance, preferred or common stock issuance, reinsurance and pledging or selling of assets.

Interest expense was $364 million, $329 million and $334 million for 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The increase in interest expense during 2015 compared to 2014 reflects the impact of the Bridge Credit Agreement and Term Loan Credit Agreement. The decrease in interest expense during 2014 compared to 2013 reflects interest expense savings from debt refinancings, partially offset by the full-year impact of Coventry's debt that we assumed.

We are a member of the FHLBB, and as a member we have the ability to obtain cash advances, subject to certain minimum collateral requirements. Refer to Note 15 of Condensed Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements on page 131 for information on our FHLBB membership and, cash advances and cash advance capacity at year end.

Our current funding strategy for our tax-qualified noncontributory defined benefit pension plan (the "Aetna Pension Plan") is to contribute an amount at least equal to the minimum funding requirement as determined under applicable law with consideration of factors such as the maximum tax deductibility of such amounts. Refer to Note 12 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 118 for additional information regarding our current funding strategy for the Aetna Pension Plan.

Refer to Note 2 beginning on page 88 for additional information on fees mandated by the ACA and "Overview-Health Care Reform" beginning on page 4 for additional information.

Contractual Obligations

The following table summarizes certain estimated future obligations by period under our various contractual obligations at December 31, 2015. The table below does not include future payments of claims to health care providers or pharmacies because certain terms of these payments are not determinable at December 31, 2015 (for example, the timing and volume of future services provided under fee-for-service arrangements and future membership levels for capitated arrangements). We believe that funds from future operating cash flows, together with cash, investments and other funds available under the Facility, the Bridge Credit Agreement, the Term Loan Agreement; from the FHLBB; and from public or private financing sources, will be sufficient to meet our existing commitments as well as our liquidity needs associated with future operations, including our strategic growth initiatives.

(Millions)	2016	2017-2018	2019-2020	Thereafter	Total
Long-term debt obligations, including interest	$ 327.6	$ 1,732.2	$ 1,686.2	$ 8,452.0	$ 12,198.0
Operating lease obligations	142.1	206.2	100.1	86.8	535.2
Purchase obligations	262.5	240.1	117.8	2.0	622.4
Other liabilities reflected on our balance sheet: ⁽¹⁾
Future policy benefits ⁽²⁾	671.8	1,270.2	1,000.0	3,998.0	6,940.0
Unpaid claims ⁽²⁾	772.3	533.0	356.5	766.1	2,427.9
Policyholders' funds ⁽²⁾⁽³⁾	715.5	71.4	86.9	457.3	1,331.1
Other liabilities ⁽⁴⁾	4,853.2	168.0	84.4	205.9	5,311.5
Total	$ 7,745.0	$ 4,221.1	$ 3,431.9	$ 13,968.1	$ 29,366.1

- ⁽¹⁾ Payments of other long-term liabilities exclude Separate Accounts liabilities of approximately $4.0 billion because these liabilities are supported by assets that are legally segregated and are not subject to claims that arise out of our business.
- ⁽²⁾ Total payments of future policy benefits, unpaid claims and policyholders' funds include $524.1 million, $35.3 million and $148.2 million, respectively, of reserves for contracts subject to reinsurance. We expect the assuming reinsurance carrier to fund these obligations and have reflected these amounts as reinsurance recoverable assets on our consolidated balance sheet.
- ⁽³⁾ Customer funds associated with group life and health contracts of approximately $1.8 billion have been excluded from the table above because such funds may be used primarily at the customer's discretion to offset future premiums and/or for refunds, and the timing of the related cash flows cannot be determined. Additionally, net unrealized capital gains on debt and equity securities supporting experience-rated products of $35.1 million, before tax, have been excluded from the table above.
- ⁽⁴⁾ Other liabilities in the table above include general expense accruals and other related payables and exclude the following:
- Employee-related benefit obligations of $589.6 million, including our pension and other postretirement and post-employment benefit obligations and certain deferred compensation arrangements. These liabilities do not necessarily represent future cash payments we will be required to make, or such payment patterns cannot be determined. However, other long-term liabilities include expected benefit payments of $341.7 million over the next ten years for our non-qualified supplemental pension plan and our postretirement benefit plans, which we primarily fund when paid by the plans.
 - Deferred gains of $51.0 million which will be recognized in our earnings in the future in accordance with GAAP.
 - Net unrealized capital gains of $158.3 million, before tax, supporting discontinued products.
 - Non-controlling interests supporting our discontinued products of $70.4 million consisting of third party interests in our investment holdings. This amount does not represent future cash payments we will be required to make.
 - Other payables of $50.4 million.

Restrictions on Certain Payments

In addition to general state law restrictions on payments of dividends and other distributions to shareholders applicable to all corporations, health maintenance organizations ("HMOs") and insurance companies are subject to further regulations that, among other things, may require those companies to maintain certain levels of equity (referred to as surplus) and restrict the amount of dividends and other distributions that may be paid to their equity holders. These regulations are not directly applicable to Aetna as a holding company, since Aetna is not an HMO or an insurance company. The additional regulations applicable to our HMO and insurance company subsidiaries are not expected to affect our ability to service our debt, meet our other financing obligations or pay dividends, or the ability of any of our subsidiaries to service other financing obligations. Under applicable regulatory requirements, at December 31, 2015, the amount of dividends that may be paid by our insurance and HMO subsidiaries without prior approval by regulatory authorities was approximately $1.9 billion in the aggregate.

We maintain capital levels in our operating subsidiaries at or above targeted and/or required capital levels and dividend amounts in excess of these levels to meet our liquidity requirements, including the payment of interest on debt and shareholder dividends. In addition, at our discretion, we use these funds for other purposes such as funding share and debt repurchase programs, investments in new businesses and other purposes we consider advisable.

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, we held investments of $690 and $778 million, respectively, that are not accounted for as Separate Accounts assets but are legally segregated and are not subject to claims that arise out of our business. Refer to Note 8 beginning on page 103 for additional information on investments related to the 2012 conversion of an existing group annuity contract from a participating to a non-participating contract.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

We do not have any guarantees or other off-balance sheet arrangements that we believe, based on historical experience and current business plans, are reasonably likely to have a material impact on our current or future operating results, financial position or cash flows (other than the guarantees described in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 138) at December 31, 2015. In addition, refer to Note 8 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 103 for additional detail of our variable interest entities at December 31, 2015.

Solvency Regulation

The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (the “NAIC”) utilizes risk-based capital (“RBC”) standards for insurance companies that are designed to identify weakly-capitalized companies by comparing each company’s adjusted surplus to its required surplus (the “RBC Ratio”). The RBC Ratio is designed to reflect the risk profile of insurance companies. Within certain ratio ranges, regulators have increasing authority to take action as the RBC Ratio decreases. There are four levels of regulatory action, ranging from requiring an insurer to submit a comprehensive financial plan for increasing its RBC to the state insurance commissioner to requiring the state insurance commissioner to place the insurer under regulatory control. At December 31, 2015, the RBC Ratio of each of our primary insurance subsidiaries was above the level that would require regulatory action. The RBC framework described above for insurers has been extended by the NAIC to health organizations, including HMOs. Although not all states had adopted these rules at December 31, 2015, at that date, each of our active HMOs had a surplus that exceeded either the applicable state net worth requirements or, where adopted, the levels that would require regulatory action under the NAIC’s RBC rules. External rating agencies use their own RBC standards when they determine a company’s rating.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

We prepare our consolidated financial statements in accordance with GAAP. The application of GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect our consolidated financial statements and related notes. The accounting estimates described below are those we consider critical in preparing our consolidated financial statements. We use information available to us at the time the estimates are made; however, as described below, these estimates could change materially if different information or assumptions were used. Also, these estimates may not ultimately reflect the actual amounts that occur.

Health Care Costs Payable

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, 92% and 95%, respectively, of health care costs payable are estimates of the ultimate cost of claims that have been incurred but not yet reported to us and of those which have been reported to us but not yet paid (collectively “IBNR”). The remainder of health care costs payable is primarily comprised of pharmacy and capitation payables and accruals for state assessments. We develop our estimate of IBNR using actuarial principles and assumptions that consider numerous factors. Of those factors, we consider the analysis of historical and projected claim payment patterns (including claims submission and processing patterns) and the assumed health care cost trend rate (the year-over-year change in per member per month health care costs) to be the most critical assumptions. In developing our estimate of IBNR, we consistently apply these actuarial principles and assumptions each period, with consideration to the variability of related factors.

We analyze historical claim payment patterns by comparing claim incurred dates (i.e., the date services were provided) to claim payment dates to estimate “completion factors.” We estimate completion factors by aggregating claim data based on the month of service and month of claim payment and estimating the percentage of claims incurred for a given month that are complete by each month thereafter. For any given month, substantially all claims are paid within six months of the date of service, but it can take up to 48 months or longer before all of the claims are completely resolved and paid. These historically-derived completion factors are then applied to claims paid through the financial statement date to estimate the ultimate claim cost for a given month's incurred claim activity. The difference between the estimated ultimate claim cost and the claims paid through the financial statement date represents our estimate of claims remaining to be paid as of the financial statement date and is included in our health care costs payable. We use completion factors predominantly to estimate reserves for claims with claim incurred dates greater than three months prior to the financial statement date. The completion factors we use reflect judgments and possible adjustments based on data such as claim inventory levels, claim submission and processing patterns and, to a lesser extent, other factors such as changes in health care cost trend rates, changes in membership and changes in product mix. If claims are submitted or processed on a faster (slower) pace than prior periods, the actual claims may be more (less) complete than originally estimated using our completion factors, which may result in reserves that are higher (lower) than the ultimate cost of claims.

Because claims incurred within three months prior to the financial statement date are less mature, we use a combination of historically-derived completion factors and the assumed health care cost trend rate to estimate the ultimate cost of claims incurred for these months. We place a greater emphasis on the assumed health care cost trend rate for the most recent claim incurred dates as these months may be influenced by seasonal patterns and changes in membership and product mix.

Our health care cost trend rate is affected by changes in per member utilization of medical services as well as changes in the unit cost of such services. Many factors influence the health care cost trend rate, including our ability to manage health care costs through product design, negotiation of favorable provider contracts and medical management programs, as well as the mix of our business. The health status of our members, aging of the population and other demographic characteristics, advances in medical technology and other factors continue to contribute to rising per member utilization and unit costs. Changes in health care practices, inflation, new technologies, increases in the cost of prescription drugs (including specialty pharmacy drugs), direct-to-consumer marketing by pharmaceutical companies, clusters of high-cost cases, claim intensity, changes in the regulatory environment, health care provider or member fraud and numerous other factors also contribute to the cost of health care and our health care cost trend rate.

For each reporting period, we use an extensive degree of judgment in the process of estimating our health care costs payable. As a result, considerable variability and uncertainty is inherent in such estimates; and the adequacy of such estimates is highly sensitive to changes in assumed completion factors and the assumed health care cost trend rates. For each reporting period we recognize our best estimate of health care costs payable considering the potential volatility in assumed completion factors and health care cost trend rates, as well as other factors. We believe our estimate of health care costs payable is reasonable and adequate to cover our obligations at December 31, 2015; however, actual claim payments may differ from our estimates. A worsening (or improvement) of our health care cost trend rates or changes in completion factors from those that we assumed in estimating health care costs payable at December 31, 2015 would cause these estimates to change in the near term, and such a change could be material.

Each quarter, we re-examine previously established health care costs payable estimates based on actual claim payments for prior periods and other changes in facts and circumstances. Given the extensive degree of judgment in this estimate, it is possible that our estimates of health care costs payable could develop either favorably (that is, our actual health care costs for the period were less than we estimated) or unfavorably. The changes in our estimate of health care costs payable may relate to a prior quarter, prior year or earlier periods. As reported in the rollforward of our health care costs payable in Note 6 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements on page 102, our prior year estimates of health care costs payable decreased by $841 million, $581 million, and $449 million in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. These reductions were offset by estimated current year health care costs when we established our estimate of current period health care costs payable. Our reserving practice is to consistently recognize the actuarial best estimate of our ultimate liability for health care costs payable.

During 2015 and 2014 we observed an increase in our completion factors relative to those assumed at the prior year end. After considering the claims paid in 2015 and 2014 with dates of service prior to the fourth quarter of the previous year, we observed the assumed weighted average completion factors were 140 and 60 basis points higher, respectively, than previously estimated, resulting in a reduction of $282 million and $145 million in 2015 and in 2014, respectively, in health care costs payable that related to the prior year. We have considered the pattern of changes in our completion factors when determining the completion factors used in our estimates of IBNR at December 31, 2015. However, based on our historical claim experience, it is reasonably possible that our estimated weighted average completion factor may vary by approximately plus or minus 17 basis points from our assumed rates, which could impact health care costs payable by approximately plus or minus $181 million pretax.

Also during 2015 and 2014, we observed that our health care cost trend rates for claims with claim incurred dates of three months or less before the financial statement date were lower than previously estimated. Specifically, after considering the claims paid in 2015 and 2014 with claim incurred dates for the fourth quarter of the previous year, we observed health care cost trend rates that were 6.5% and 4.9%, respectively, lower than previously estimated, resulting in a reduction of $559 million in 2015 and $436 million in 2014 in health care costs payable that related to the prior year.

We consider historical health care cost trend rates together with our knowledge of recent events that may impact current trends when developing our estimates of current health care cost trend rates. When establishing our reserves at December 31, 2015, we increased our assumed health care cost trend rates for the most recent three months by 6% from health care cost trend rates recently observed. However, based on our historical claim experience, it is reasonably possible that our estimated health care cost trend rates may vary by plus or minus 3.5% from our assumed rates, which could impact health care costs payable by plus or minus $287 million pretax.

Health care costs payable as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 consisted of the following products:

(Millions)		2015		2014
Commercial	$	3,251.9	$	3,100.8
Government		3,053.8		2,520.3
Total health care costs payable	$	6,305.7	$	5,621.1

Other Insurance Liabilities

We establish insurance liabilities other than health care costs payable for benefit claims primarily related to our Group Insurance segment. We refer to these liabilities as other insurance liabilities. These liabilities primarily relate to our life, disability and long-term care products.

Life and Disability

The liabilities for our life and disability products reflect benefit claims that have been reported to us but not yet paid, estimates of claims that have been incurred but not yet reported to us, and future policy benefits earned under insurance contracts. We develop these reserves and the related benefit expenses using actuarial principles and assumptions that consider, among other things, discount, resolution and mortality rates. Completion factors are also evaluated when estimating our reserves for claims incurred but not yet reported for life products. We also consider the benefit payments from the U.S. Social Security Administration for which our disability members may be eligible and which may offset our liability for disability claims (this is known as the Social Security offset). Each period, we estimate these factors, to the extent relevant, based primarily on historical data, and use these estimates to determine the assumptions underlying our reserve calculations. Given the extensive degree of judgment and uncertainty used in developing these estimates, it is possible that our estimates could develop either favorably or unfavorably.

The discount rate is the interest rate at which future benefit cash flows are discounted to determine the present value of those cash flows. The discount rate we select is a critical estimate, because higher discount rates result in lower reserves. We determine the discount rate based on the current and estimated future yield of the asset portfolio supporting our life and disability reserves. If the discount rate we select in estimating our reserves is lower (higher) than our actual future portfolio returns, our reserves may be higher (lower) than necessary. The discount rates we selected for life insurance waiver of premiums and long-term disability reserves at December 31, 2015 were consistent with the rates used at December 31, 2014 and 2013. Based on our historical experience, it is reasonably possible that the assumed discount rates for our life and disability reserves may vary by plus or minus 50 basis points from year to year. A 50 basis point decrease in the discount rates selected for both our life insurance waiver of premium and disability reserves would have increased current and future life and disability benefit costs by $39 million pretax for 2015.

For disability claims and a portion of our life claims, we must estimate the timing of benefit payments, which takes into consideration the maximum benefit period and the probabilities of recovery (i.e., recovery rate) or death (i.e., mortality rate) of the member. Benefit payments may also be affected by a change in employment status of a disabled member, for example, if the member returns to work on a part-time basis. Estimating the recovery and mortality rates of our members is complex. Our actuaries evaluate our current and historical claim patterns, the timing and amount of any Social Security offset (for disability only), as well as other factors including the relative ages of covered members and the duration of each member's disability when developing these assumptions. For disability reserves, if our actual recovery and mortality rates are lower (higher) than our estimates, our reserves will be lower (higher) than required to cover future disability benefit payments. For certain life insurance premium waiver reserves, if the actual recovery rates are lower (higher) than our estimates or the actual mortality rates are higher (lower) than our estimates, our reserves will be lower (higher) than required to cover future life benefit payments. We use standard industry tables and our historical claim experience to develop our estimated recovery and mortality rates. Claim reserves for our disability and life products are sensitive to these assumptions. Our historical experience has been that our recovery or mortality rates for our life and disability reserves vary by less than ten percent during the course of a year. A ten percent less (more) favorable assumption for our recovery or mortality rates would have increased (decreased) current and future life and disability benefit costs by $62 million pretax for 2015. When establishing our reserves at December 31, 2015, we set our estimates of recovery and mortality rates based on recent experience.

We estimate our reserve for claims incurred but not yet reported to us for life products largely based on completion factors. The completion factors we use are based on our historical experience and reflect judgments and possible adjustments based on data such as claim inventory levels, claim payment patterns, changes in business volume and other factors. If claims are submitted or processed on a faster (slower) pace than historical periods, the actual claims may be more (less) complete than originally estimated using our completion factors, which may result in reserves that are higher (lower) than required to cover future life benefit payments. At December 31, 2015, we held $264 million in reserves for life claims incurred but not yet reported to us.

Long-term Care

We established reserves for future policy benefits for the long-term care products we issued based on the present value of estimated future benefit payments less the present value of estimated future net premiums. In establishing this reserve, we evaluated assumptions about mortality, morbidity, lapse rates and the rate at which new claims would be submitted to us. We estimated the future policy benefits reserve for long-term care products using these assumptions and actuarial principles. For long-term care insurance contracts, we use our original assumptions throughout the life of the policy and do not subsequently modify them unless we deem the reserves to be inadequate. A portion of our reserves for long-term care products also reflect our estimates relating to future payments to members currently receiving benefits. These reserves are estimated primarily using recovery and mortality rates, as described above.

Premium Deficiency Reserves on our Health Care and Group Insurance products

We recognize a premium deficiency loss when it is probable that expected future health care costs or expected future policy benefit costs will exceed our existing reserves plus anticipated future premiums and reinsurance recoveries. Anticipated investment income is considered in the calculation of expected losses for certain contracts. Any such reserves established would normally cover expected losses until the next policy renewal dates for the related policies. We did not have any premium deficiency reserves for our Health Care or Group Insurance business at December 31, 2015 or 2014.

Large Case Pensions Discontinued Products Reserve

We discontinued certain Large Case Pensions products in 1993 and established a reserve to cover losses expected during the run-off period. Since 1993, we have made several adjustments resulting in a reduction to this reserve that have increased net income attributable to Aetna. These adjustments occurred primarily because our investment experience as well as our mortality and retirement experience have been better than the experience we projected at the time we discontinued the products. There was no adjustment of this reserve in 2015 or 2014. In 2013, $86 million pretax, of the reserve was released as a result of favorable investment performance as well as favorable retirement experience compared to assumptions we previously made in estimating the reserve. There can be no assurance that adjustments to the discontinued products reserve will occur in the future. Future adjustments could positively or negatively impact net income attributable to Aetna.

Recoverability of Goodwill and Other Acquired Intangible Assets

We have made acquisitions that included a significant amount of goodwill and other intangible assets. When we complete an acquisition, we apply the acquisition method of accounting, which among other things, requires the recognition of goodwill (which represents the excess cost of the acquisition over the fair value of net assets acquired and identified intangible assets). Goodwill is subject to an annual (or under certain circumstances more frequent) impairment test based on its estimated fair value. Other intangible assets that meet certain criteria are amortized over their useful lives, except for the valuation of business acquired which amortizes in proportion to estimated premiums over the expected life of the acquired contracts, and are also subject to a periodic impairment test. For these impairment evaluations, we use an implied fair value approach, which uses a discounted cash flow analysis and other valuation methodologies. These impairment evaluations use many assumptions and estimates in determining an impairment loss, including certain assumptions and estimates related to future earnings. If we do not achieve our earnings objectives, the assumptions and estimates underlying these impairment evaluations could be adversely affected, which could result in an asset impairment charge that would negatively impact our operating results. There were no impairment losses recognized in any of the three years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 or 2013.

Measurement of Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Employee Benefit Plans

We sponsor defined benefit pension plans (“pension plans”) and OPEB plans for our employees and retirees. Effective December 31, 2010, our employees no longer earn future pension service credits in the Aetna Pension Plan, although the Aetna Pension Plan will continue to operate and account balances will continue to earn annual interest credits. Employees covered by our non-qualified supplemental pension plan stopped accruing benefits effective January 1, 2007, although interest credits continue to be credited on these cash balance accounts.

Major assumptions used in the accounting for our pension plans include the expected return on plan assets, if applicable, mortality rates and the discount rate. We select our assumptions based on our information and market indicators, and we evaluate our assumptions at each annual measurement date (December 31, for each year presented). A change in any of our assumptions would have an effect on our pension and OPEB plan costs. A discussion of our assumptions used to determine the expected return on plan assets and mortality rates can be found in Note 12 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 118.

The discount rates we used in accounting for our pension and OPEB plans were calculated using a yield curve as of our annual measurement date. Each yield curve consisted of a series of individual discount rates, with each discount rate corresponding to a single point in time, based on high-quality bonds (that is, bonds with an average rating of AA based on ratings from Standard & Poor’s and Fitch, and the equivalent ratings from Moody’s). We project the benefits expected to be paid from each plan at each point in the future based on each participant’s current service (but reflecting expected future pay increases). These projected benefit payments are then discounted to the measurement date using the corresponding rate from the yield curve. A lower discount rate increases the present value of benefit obligations. In 2015, we increased our weighted average discount rate to 4.50% for our pension plans from the 4.12% used at the measurement date in 2014. In 2015, we increased our weighted average discount rate on OPEB plans to 4.39% from the 4.02% used at the measurement date in 2014. A one-percentage point decrease in the assumed discount rate would decrease our annual pension costs by $5 million after-tax and would have a negligible effect on our annual OPEB costs.

At December 31, 2015, our pension and OPEB plans had aggregate pretax accumulated actuarial losses of approximately $2.5 billion. Accumulated actuarial losses are primarily due to lower interest rates and improving mortality trends that have increased the present value of future plan obligations and investments losses in 2008. The accumulated actuarial loss is amortized over the weighted-average expected life of pension plan participants (estimated to be up to 29 years at December 31, 2015 for the pension plans) and the expected life of OPEB plan participants (estimated to be up to 17 years at December 31, 2015) to the extent the loss is outside of a corridor established in accordance with GAAP. The corridor is established based on the greater of 10% of the plan assets or 10% of the projected benefit obligation. At December 31, 2015, approximately $1.8 billion of the actuarial loss was outside of the corridor, which will result in amortization of $41 million after-tax in our 2016 pension and OPEB expense.

The expected return on plan assets and discount rate assumptions discussed above impacted the reported net periodic benefit costs and benefit obligations of our pension and OPEB plans, but did not impact the required contributions to these plans, if any. Refer to Note 12 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 118 for additional information on our defined benefit pension and other postretirement employee benefit plans, including our current funding strategy.

Other-Than-Temporary Impairment of Debt Securities

We regularly review our debt securities to determine whether a decline in fair value below the carrying value is other than temporary. If a decline in fair value is considered other than temporary, the cost basis or carrying amount of the debt security is written down. The write-down is then bifurcated into its credit and non-credit related components. The amount of the credit-related component is included in our operating results, and the amount of the non-credit related component is included in other comprehensive income, unless we intend to sell the security or it is more likely than not that we will be required to sell the security prior to its anticipated recovery of its amortized cost basis. We analyze all facts and circumstances we believe are relevant for each investment when performing this analysis, in accordance with applicable accounting guidance promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC").

Among the factors we consider in evaluating whether a decline is other-than-temporary are whether the decline in fair value results from a change in the quality of the debt security itself, whether the decline results from a downward movement in the market as a whole, and the prospects for realizing the carrying value of the debt security based on the investment's current and short-term prospects for recovery. For unrealized losses determined to be the result of market conditions (for example, increasing interest rates and volatility due to conditions in the overall market) or industry-related events, we determine whether we intend to sell the debt security or if it is more likely than not that we will be required to sell the debt security before recovery of its amortized cost basis. If either case is true, we recognize an other-than-temporary impairment, and the cost basis/carrying amount of the debt security is written down to fair value.

Debt securities in an unrealized loss position for which we believe we will not recover the amortized cost due to the quality of the debt security or the creditworthiness of the issuer are categorized as credit-related OTTI.

The risks inherent in assessing the impairment of a debt security include the risk that market factors may differ from our projections and the risk that facts and circumstances factored into our assessment may change with the passage of time. Unexpected changes to market factors and circumstances that were not present in past reporting periods are among the factors that may result in a current period decision to sell debt securities that were not impaired in prior reporting periods.

Revenue Recognition and Allowance for Estimated Terminations and Uncollectible Accounts

Our revenue is principally derived from premiums and fees billed to customers in the Health Care and Group Insurance businesses. In Health Care, revenue is recognized based on customer billings, which reflect contracted rates per employee and the number of covered employees recorded in our records at the time the billings are prepared. Billings are generally sent monthly for coverage during the following month. In Group Insurance, premium for group life and disability products is recognized as revenue, net of allowances for uncollectible accounts, over the term of coverage. Amounts received before the period of coverage begins are recorded as unearned premiums.

Health Care billings may be subsequently adjusted to reflect enrollment changes due to terminations or other factors. These adjustments are known as retroactivity adjustments. In each period, we estimate the amount of future retroactivity and adjust the recorded revenue accordingly. In each period, we also estimate the amount of uncollectible receivables and establish an allowance for uncollectible amounts. We base such estimates on historical trends, premiums billed, the amount of contract renewal activity during the period and other relevant information. As information regarding actual retroactivity and uncollectible amounts becomes known, we refine our estimates and record any required adjustments to revenues in the period they arise. A significant difference in the actual level of retroactivity or uncollectible amounts compared to our estimated levels would have a significant effect on our operating results.

Additionally, premium revenue subject to the minimum MLR rebate requirements of Health Care Reform is recorded net of the estimated minimum MLR rebates for the current calendar year. We estimate the minimum MLR rebates by projecting MLRs for certain markets, as defined by Health Care Reform, for each state in which each of our insurance entities operate. The claims and premiums used in estimating such rebates are modified for certain adjustments allowed by Health Care Reform and include a statistical credibility adjustment for those states with a number of members that is not statistically credible.

Furthermore, premium revenue subject to Health Care Reform's permanent risk adjustment program transfers funds from qualified individual and small group insurance plans with below average risk scores to plans with above average risk scores. Based on the risk of our qualified plan members relative to the average risk of members of other qualified plans in comparable markets, we estimate our ultimate risk adjustment receivable or payable for the current calendar year and reflect the pro-rata year-to-date impact as an adjustment to our premium revenue. In this analysis, we consider the estimate of the average risk of members of other qualified plans in comparable markets the most critical assumption. We estimate this assumption using management's best estimates, which are based on various data sources, including but not limited to market risk data compiled by third party sources as well as pricing and other regulatory inputs. Refer to Note 2 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 88 for additional information on each of Health Care Reform's risk adjustment, risk corridor and reinsurance programs.

NEW ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

Refer to Note 2 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements, beginning on page 88, for a discussion of recently issued accounting standards.

REGULATORY ENVIRONMENT

General

Our operations are subject to comprehensive United States federal, state and local and comparable multiple levels of international regulation in the jurisdictions in which we do business. The laws and rules governing our business and interpretations of those laws and rules continue to expand and become more restrictive each year and are subject to frequent change. Health Care Reform has made and will continue to make extensive changes to the U.S. health care system and significantly increases the regulation of our business. There also continues to be a heightened level of review and/or audit by federal, state and international regulators of the health and related benefits industry's business and reporting practices.

We must obtain and maintain regulatory approvals to price, market and administer many of our products. Supervisory agencies, including CMS, the Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight ("CCIIO") and the Department of Labor ("DOL"), as well as state health, insurance, managed care and Medicaid departments and state boards of pharmacy have broad authority to take one or more of the following actions:

- Grant, suspend and revoke our licenses to transact business;

- Suspend or exclude us from participation in government programs;
- Suspend or limit our authority to market products;
- Regulate many aspects of the products and services we offer, including the pricing and underwriting of many of our products and services;
- Audit us and our performance of our contracts, which can, among other things, affect our Medicare Advantage plans' and Medicare Part D Prescription Drug plans' ("PDPs") star ratings;
- Assess damages, fines and/or penalties;
- Terminate our contract with the government agency and/or withhold payments from the government agency to us;
- Impose retroactive adjustments to premiums and require us to pay refunds to the government, customers and/or members;
- Restrict our ability to conduct acquisitions or dispositions;
- Require us to maintain minimum capital levels in our companies and monitor our solvency and reserve adequacy;
- Regulate our investment activities on the basis of quality, diversification and other quantitative criteria; and/or
- Exclude our plans from participating in Public Exchanges if they are deemed to have a history of "unreasonable" premium rate increases or fail to meet other criteria set by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS") or the applicable state.

Our operations, current and past business practices, current and past contracts, and accounts and other books and records are subject to routine, regular and special investigations, audits, examinations and reviews by, and from time to time we receive subpoenas and other requests for information from, federal, state and international supervisory and enforcement agencies, attorneys general and other state, federal and international governmental authorities and legislators. See "Audits and Investigations" beginning on page 38 for additional information on these matters.

Health Care Reform, enacted in March 2010, has changed and will continue to make broad-based changes to the U.S. health care system. We expect Health Care Reform and changes to Health Care Reform to continue to significantly impact our business operations and financial results, including our pricing, our MBRs and the geographies in which our products are available. Health Care Reform presents us with business opportunities, but also with financial and regulatory challenges. Most of the key components of Health Care Reform were phased in during or prior to 2014, including Public Exchanges, required minimum MLRs in Commercial and Medicare products, the individual coverage mandate, guaranteed issue, rating limits in individual and small group products, significant new industry-wide fees, assessments and taxes, enhanced premium rate review and disclosure processes, reduced Medicare Advantage payment rates to insurers, and linking Medicare Advantage payments to a plan's CMS quality performance ratings or "star ratings." The effects of these changes are reflected in our financial results. Certain components of Health Care Reform will continue to be phased in until 2020.

We are dedicating and will continue to be required to dedicate significant resources and incur significant expenses during 2016 to implement and comply with Health Care Reform and changes to Health Care Reform as well as state level health care reform. While most of the significant aspects of Health Care Reform became effective during or prior to 2014, significant parts of Health Care Reform, including aspects of Public Exchanges, nondiscrimination requirements, reinsurance, risk corridor and risk adjustment, continue to evolve through the promulgation of regulations and guidance at the federal level. It is likely that further changes will be made to Health Care Reform at the federal and/or state level as issues arise and its practical effects become clearer. Growing state and federal budgetary pressures make it more likely that any changes will be adverse to us. As a result, many of the specific aspects and impacts of Health Care Reform will not be known for several years, and given the inherent difficulty of foreseeing how individuals and businesses will respond to the choices afforded them by Health Care Reform, we cannot predict the full effect Health Care Reform will have on us or the impact of future changes to Health Care Reform. It is reasonably possible that Health Care Reform or changes to Health Care Reform, in the aggregate, could have a significant adverse effect on our business operations and financial results.

Ongoing legislative and regulatory changes to Health Care Reform, other pending efforts in the U.S. Congress to amend or restrict funding for various aspects of Health Care Reform (including risk corridors), the 2016 presidential election, pending litigation challenging aspects of the law and federal budget negotiations continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of Health Care Reform. Examples of these legislative and regulatory changes include: the December 2015 suspension of the HIF for 2017 and two year delay of the “Cadillac” tax on high-cost employer-sponsored health coverage; the October 2015 PACE, which leaves groups with 51 to 100 employees within the large group category for each state unless the state exercises its option to include these groups within the small group category; and the October 2015 HHS announcement that Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables for the 2014 program year would only be funded at 12.6%. The pending litigation includes the House of Representatives’ challenge to HHS’s ability to make payments under the ACA’s Cost Sharing Subsidy program without an explicit appropriation.

As described above, the availability of funding for the ACA’s temporary risk corridor program is an example of this uncertainty. In May 2014, CMS published a final rule on Public Exchanges. The final rule provides that payments to health plans under the ACA’s risk corridor program will no longer be limited to the aggregate amount of the risk corridor collections received by HHS over the duration of the risk corridor program. However, it is possible that payments to health plans under the risk corridor program will require additional appropriation legislation to be passed by the U.S. Congress. In each of December 2014 and December 2015, legislation was enacted that prohibits HHS’s use of certain funds to pay HHS’s potential obligation under the ACA’s risk corridor program. In October 2015, HHS announced that 2014 Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables would be funded at 12.6% to the extent HHS fully collects risk corridor payables. As a result, we continue to believe that receipt of any risk corridor payment from HHS for the 2015 program year and receipt of such payments in excess of the 12.6% prorated amount for the 2014 program year are uncertain. At December 31, 2015, we had a $2 million receivable for the remaining 2014 program year prorated amount that had not been collected from HHS and no receivable for the 2015 program year. In addition, these limited risk corridor payments may create instability in the marketplace for individual Commercial products in 2016 and going forward by, among other things, causing health plans to change or stop offering their Public Exchange products. 2016 is the last program year for the ACA’s risk corridor program.

The federal and state governments also continue to enact and seriously consider many other broad-based legislative and regulatory proposals that have had a material impact on or could materially impact various aspects of the health care and related benefits system. We cannot predict whether pending or future federal or state legislation or court proceedings, including future U.S. Congressional appropriations, will change various aspects of the health care and related benefits system or Health Care Reform or the impact those changes will have on our business operations or financial results, but the effects could be materially adverse.

The expansion of health care coverage contemplated by Health Care Reform is being funded in part by significant fees, assessments and taxes on us and other health insurers, health plans and other market participants and individuals which began in 2014, as well as reductions to the reimbursements we and other health plans are paid by the federal government for our Medicare members, among other sources. Most of the significant provisions of Health Care Reform became effective prior to December 31, 2014. While not all-inclusive, the following are some of the key provisions of Health Care Reform (assuming it continues to be implemented in its current form) that become effective on or after January 1, 2016. We continue to evaluate these provisions and the related regulations and regulatory guidance to determine the impact that they will have on our business operations and financial results:

- Closure of the gap in coverage for Medicare Part D prescription drug coverage (the so-called “donut hole”) which began to close in 2010 and will incrementally close until the coverage gap is eliminated in 2020.
- Continuing reductions to Medicare Advantage payment rates for payments to us (we and other plans will ultimately receive a range of 95% of Medicare fee-for-service rates in high cost areas to 115% of Medicare fee-for-service rates in low cost areas) over a two- to six-year period which began in 2012 based on regionally-adjusted benchmarks and the linking of Medicare Advantage payments to a plan’s CMS quality performance ratings or “star ratings.” These payment reductions and/or any inability on our part to achieve and maintain acceptable star ratings could have a material adverse effect on our Medicare business and/or the geographies in which our Medicare products are available.

- The imposition on us and other health insurers, health plans and other market participants of significant fees, assessments and taxes, including an annual non-tax deductible industry-wide $11.3 billion HIF in 2016, which will be zero in 2017, $14.3 billion in 2018 and increase annually thereafter, and industry-wide reinsurance assessments of $5 billion in 2016. We project that our share of the 2016 Health Care Reform fees, assessments and taxes will be approximately $1 billion, which includes our share of the HIF, which we project will be approximately $855 million. We may not be able to recover all of these fees, assessments and taxes in our pricing or otherwise solve for them.
- A non-tax deductible 40% excise tax on employer-sponsored health care benefits above a certain threshold beginning in 2020.

Health Care Reform also specifies minimum MLRs for our Commercial and Medicare Insured products, specifies required Commercial benefit designs, limits Commercial individual and small group rating and pricing practices, encourages additional competition (including potential incentives for new market entrants) and significantly increases federal and state oversight of health plans, including regulations and processes that could delay or limit our ability to appropriately increase our health plan premium rates. This in turn could adversely affect our ability to continue to participate in certain product lines and/or geographies we serve today. The application of Health Care Reform's minimum MLR and rating standards to our student health products may have an adverse effect on our ability to sell these products in the future.

In addition, Health Care Reform ties a portion of Medicare Advantage plans' reimbursement to the achievement of favorable CMS quality performance measures ("star ratings"). Since 2015, only Medicare Advantage plans with an overall star rating of four or more stars (out of five stars) are eligible for a quality bonus in their basic premium rates. As a result, our Medicare Advantage plans' operating results in 2016 and going forward will be significantly affected by their star ratings. For additional information on CMS's stars program and our related performance, see "Medicare" beginning on page 34.

For additional discussion of certain risk factors that may cause our actual results to differ from currently anticipated results in connection with federal and state health care reform, refer to "Forward-Looking Information/Risk Factors" beginning on page 42.

In 2015, state legislatures focused on state budget deficits and taxes, as well as required changes to small group and other products (including capping member cost sharing or co-payments or otherwise limiting members' financial responsibility for health care or other covered services they utilize), provider network composition requirements, pharmacy benefit and drug coverage requirements, Health Care Reform, and Public Exchange implementation. At the state level, 46 U.S. states and the District of Columbia will hold regular legislative sessions in 2016. We expect additional state level legislation and regulatory activity that impacts our businesses to be enacted in 2016, including additional Health Care Reform-related and budget-related activity, including Medicaid funding in anticipation of reduced federal funding for Medicaid expansion members beginning in 2017. In addition, independent of federal efforts, we expect many states to continue to consider legislation or regulations that affect privately-financed health insurance arrangements and/or public programs, including imposing requirements on the composition of our provider networks, requiring changes to health benefit product structure, mandating specific benefit coverages, and enhancing consumer transparency on cost and quality of care. For example, regulators or legislatures in a number of states have implemented or are considering limits on premium rate increases, either by enforcing existing legal requirements more stringently or proposing different regulatory standards or procedures for reviewing proposed premium rate changes; and imposing taxes on insurers and other health plans to finance Public Exchanges, Medicaid and other state programs.

We cannot predict what provisions legislation or regulation will contain in any state or what effect legislation or regulation will have on our business operations or financial results, but the effect could be materially adverse.

Health Care Regulation

General

Federal, state, local and foreign governments have adopted comprehensive laws and regulations that govern our business activities in various ways. These laws and regulations, including Health Care Reform, restrict how we conduct our business and result in additional burdens and costs to us.

In addition to the expanded regulation created by Health Care Reform discussed above, significant areas of governmental regulation include premium rates and rating methodologies, underwriting rules and procedures, required benefits, sales and marketing activities, health care provider rates of payment, restrictions on health plans' ability to limit providers' participation in their networks and/or remove providers from their networks, pharmacy and pharmacy benefit management operations and financial position (including reserves and minimum capital or risk based capital requirements). These laws and regulations are different in each jurisdiction and vary from product to product.

Each health insurer and HMO must file periodic financial and operating reports with the states in which it does business. In addition, health insurers and HMOs are subject to state examination and periodic license renewal. Applicable laws also restrict the ability of our regulated subsidiaries to pay dividends, and certain dividends require prior regulatory approval. In addition, some of our business and related activities may be subject to preferred provider organization ("PPO"), managed care organization, utilization review or third-party administrator-related licensure requirements and regulations. These licensure requirements and regulations differ from state to state, but may contain health care provider network, contracting, product and rate, financial and reporting requirements. There also are laws and regulations that set specific standards for our delivery of services, payment of claims, fraud prevention, protection of consumer health information, payment for covered benefits and services and escheatment of funds to states. Our pharmacy benefit management ("PBM") services suppliers, including Caremark PCS Health, L.L.C. (and its predecessors, collectively "CVS"), also are subject to extensive federal and state regulation, including many of the items described above.

Pricing and Underwriting Restrictions

Pricing and underwriting regulation by states limits our underwriting and rating practices and those of other health insurers, particularly for small employer groups and individuals. Beginning in 2014, as a result of Health Care Reform, health insurers cannot vary small group or individual premium rates based on individual members' characteristics except for geography and limited variation for age and tobacco use. Beginning in 2016, states have the ability to expand the small group rating category to cover groups of up to 100 employees. Pricing and underwriting laws and regulations vary by state. In general, they apply to certain customer segments and limit our ability to set prices for new or renewal business, or both, based on specific characteristics of the group or the group's prior claim experience. In some states, these laws and regulations restrict our ability to price for the risk we assume and/or reflect reasonable costs in our pricing.

Health Care Reform expanded the premium rate review process by, among other things, requiring our rates to be reviewed for "reasonableness" at either the state or the federal level. HHS established a federal premium rate review process that generally applies to proposed premium rate increases equal to or exceeding 10% (or a state specified threshold). HHS's rate review process imposes additional public disclosure requirements as well as additional review on filings requesting premium rate increases equal to or exceeding this "reasonableness" threshold. These combined state and federal review requirements may prevent, further delay or otherwise affect our ability to price for the risk we assume, which could adversely affect our medical benefit ratios and results of operations, particularly during periods of increased utilization of medical services and/or medical cost trend or when such utilization and/or trend exceeds our projections.

Health Care Reform also specifies minimum MLRs of 85% for large group commercial products, 80% for individual and small group commercial products and 85% for Medicare Advantage and Medicare Part D plans. Because Health Care Reform is structured as a "floor" for many of its requirements, states have the latitude to enact more stringent rules governing its various restrictions. For commercial products, states may adopt higher minimum MLR requirements, use more stringent definitions of "medical loss ratio," incorporate minimum MLR requirements into prospective premium rate filings, require prior approval of premium rates, or impose other requirements related to minimum MLR. For example, Texas has expanded from 50 to 100 the maximum size of “small groups” that are subject to its minimum MLR requirements, and New York, New Jersey and California all have established state-specific minimum MLR requirements. Many states also apply a minimum Medicaid MLR requirement to us and other Medicaid managed care organizations. State-specific minimum MLR requirements and similar actions further limit the level of margin we can earn in our Insured business while leaving us exposed to medical costs that are higher than those reflected in our pricing.

In addition, we requested significant increases in our premium rates in our individual and small group Health Care businesses for 2015 and 2016 and expect to continue to request significant increases in those rates for 2017 and beyond in order to adequately price for projected medical cost trends, the expanded coverages and rating limits required by Health Care Reform and the significant assessments, fees and taxes imposed by Health Care Reform. These significant increases heighten the risks of adverse public and regulatory action and adverse selection and the likelihood that our requested premium rate increases will be denied, reduced or delayed, which could lead to operating margin compression.

Many of these laws and regulations also limit the differentials in premium rates insurers and other carriers may charge between new and renewal business, and/or between groups or individuals based on differing characteristics. They may also require that carriers disclose to customers the basis on which the carrier establishes new business and renewal premium rates and limit the ability of a carrier to terminate customers’ coverage. In addition, HHS’ rules on rates impose additional public disclosure requirements on any rate filings that exceed the “reasonableness” threshold and require additional review of those rates.

In addition, a number of states provide for a voluntary reinsurance mechanism to spread small group risk among participating insurers and other carriers. In a small number of states, participation in this pooling mechanism is mandatory for all small group carriers. In general, we have elected not to participate in voluntary pools. However, even in the voluntary pool states, we may be subject to certain supplemental assessments related to the state’s small group experience.

HIPAA Administrative Simplification, GLBA and Other Privacy, Security and Confidentiality Requirements

Federal, state and international privacy and security requirements change periodically because of legislation, regulations and judicial or administrative interpretation. The regulations under the administrative simplification provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (“HIPAA”), as further modified by the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (“ARRA”) and Health Care Reform, also impose a number of additional obligations on issuers of health insurance coverage and health benefit plan sponsors.

HIPAA’s administrative simplification requirements apply to self-funded group health plans, health insurers and HMOs, health care clearinghouses and health care providers who transmit health information electronically (“Covered Entities”). Regulations adopted to implement administrative simplification also require that “business associates” acting for or on behalf of these Covered Entities be contractually obligated to meet HIPAA standards. The administrative simplification regulations establish significant criminal penalties and civil sanctions for noncompliance.

The HIPAA privacy regulations adopted by HHS establish limits on the use and disclosure of medical records and other individually identifiable health information (protected health information or “PHI”) by Covered Entities. Further, ARRA requires us and other Covered Entities to report any breaches of PHI to impacted individuals and to HHS and to notify the media in any states where 500 or more people are impacted by the unauthorized release or use of or access to PHI. Business associates (e.g., entities that provide services to health plans, such as electronic claims clearinghouses, print and fulfillment vendors, consultants, and us for the administrative services we provide to our ASC customers) must also comply with certain HIPAA provisions. In addition, ARRA establishes greater civil and criminal penalties for Covered Entities and business associates who fail to comply with HIPAA’s provisions and gives new enforcement rights to state attorneys general. Additional regulations under HIPAA remain pending. We will continue to assess the impact of these regulations on our business as they are issued.

The HIPAA privacy regulations do not preempt more stringent state laws and regulations that may apply to us and other Covered Entities, including laws that place stricter controls on the release of information relating to specific diseases or conditions and requirements to notify members of unauthorized release or use of or access to PHI. Complying with additional state requirements requires us to make additional investments beyond those we have made to comply with the HIPAA regulations. HHS also has adopted security regulations designed to protect member health information from unauthorized use or disclosure. HHS has begun to audit health plans, providers and other parties to enforce HIPAA compliance, including with respect to data security.

The HIPAA privacy regulations provide patients with rights to understand and control how their health information is used. States also have adopted regulations to implement provisions of the Financial Modernization Act of 1999 (also known as Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (“GLBA”)) which generally require insurers to provide customers with notice regarding how their non-public personal health and financial information is used and the opportunity to “opt out” of certain disclosures before the insurer shares such information with a non-affiliated third party. The GLBA regulations apply to health, life and disability insurance. Like HIPAA, GLBA sets a “floor” standard, allowing states to adopt more stringent requirements governing privacy protection.

In December 2015 the Cybersecurity Information Sharing Act of 2015 (“CISA”) was enacted. CISA encourages organizations to share cyber threat indicators with the federal government and, among other things, directs HHS to develop a set of voluntary cybersecurity best practices for organizations in the health care industry. In addition, states have begun to enact more comprehensive privacy laws and regulations addressing consumer rights to data protection or transparency. The widely-reported large scale U.S. commercial data breaches during 2014 and 2015 increase the likelihood that additional data security legislation will be considered in 2016. These legislative and regulatory developments will impact the design and operation of our businesses, including the consumer business we are creating, our privacy and security strategy and our web-based and mobile assets.

Other Legislative Initiatives and Regulatory Initiatives

In addition to the Health Care Reform, HIPAA and ARRA measures discussed above, the U.S. federal and state governments, as well as governments in other countries where we do business, continue to enact and seriously consider many other broad-based legislative and regulatory proposals that have had a material impact on or could materially impact various aspects of the health care and related benefits system. For example:

- Under the Budget Control Act of 2011 (the “BCA”) and the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 (the “ATRA”) automatic across-the-board budget cuts (also known as “sequestration”) began in March 2013, including Medicare spending cuts of not more than 2% of total program costs per year through 2024. We project that CMS’s Medicare Advantage benchmark payment rates for 2016 will increase funding for our Medicare Advantage businesses by 1% in 2016 compared to 2015. This 2016 rate increase only partially offsets the challenge we face from the impact of the increasing cost of medical care and the HIF. Significant uncertainty remains as to whether and how the Congress will proceed with actions that create additional federal revenue and/or with entitlement reform. We cannot predict future Medicare funding levels or the impact that future federal budget actions or entitlement program reform, if it occurs, will have on our business, operations or operating results, but the effects could be materially adverse, particularly on our Medicare and/or Medicaid revenues, medical benefit ratios and operating results.
- A number of states have enacted or introduced legislation or regulations requiring life insurers to take additional steps to identify unreported deceased policyholders and make other changes to their claim payment and related escheat practices. For additional information on these life insurance matters, refer to “Life and Disability Insurance” beginning on page 40.

Other significant legislative and/or regulatory measures which are or recently have been under consideration include the following:

- Restricting our ability to limit providers’ participation in our networks and/or remove providers from our networks by imposing network adequacy requirements or otherwise (including in our Medicare, Public Exchange and other Commercial products).
- Requiring standardized Public Exchange products.

- Imposing assessments on (or to be collected by) health plans or health carriers, which may or may not be passed onto their customers. These assessments may include assessments for insolvency, the uninsured, uncompensated care, Medicaid funding or defraying health care provider medical malpractice insurance costs.
- Reducing federal and/or state government funding of government-sponsored health programs in which we participate, including Medicare and Medicaid programs.
- Restricting or mandating health plan or life insurer claim processing, review, payment and/or related procedures.
- Mandating coverage for additional conditions and/or specified procedures, drugs or devices (for example, high cost pharmaceuticals, experimental pharmaceuticals and oral chemotherapy regimens).
- Imposing requirements and restrictions on the administration of pharmacy benefits, including restricting or eliminating the use of formularies for prescription drugs; restricting our ability to require members to obtain drugs through a mail order or specialty pharmacy; restricting our ability to place certain specialty or other drugs in the higher cost tiers of our pharmacy formularies; restricting our ability to make changes to drug formularies and/or our clinical programs; limiting or eliminating rebates on pharmaceuticals; restricting our ability to configure our pharmacy networks; and restricting or eliminating the use of certain drug pricing methodologies.
- Regulating electronic connectivity.
- Mandating or regulating the disclosure of health care provider fee schedules and other data about our payments to providers.
- Mandating or regulating disclosure of health care provider outcome and/or efficiency information.
- Prescribing or limiting members' financial responsibility for health care or other covered services they utilize.
- Assessing the medical device status of health information technology ("HIT") products and/or solutions, mobile consumer wellness tools and clinical decision support tools, which may require compliance with U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") requirements in relation to some of these products, solutions and/or tools.
- Imposing payment levels for services rendered to our members by health care providers who do not have contracts with us.
- Restricting the ability of employers and/or health plans to establish or impose member financial responsibility.
- Imposing additional requirements on the processing of claims for disability benefits.
- Amending or supplementing the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA") to impose greater requirements on the administration of employer-funded benefit plans or limit the scope of current ERISA pre-emption, which would among other things expose us and other health plans to expanded liability for punitive and other extra-contractual damages and additional state regulation.

Some of the changes, if enacted, could provide us with business opportunities. However, it is uncertain whether we can counter the potential adverse effects of such potential legislation or regulation, including whether we can recoup, through higher premium rates, expanded membership or other measures, the increased costs of mandated coverage or benefits, assessments or other increased costs, including the cost of modifying our systems to implement any enacted legislation or regulations.

Our business also may be affected by other legislation and regulations. The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the "Financial Reform Act") was signed into law in July 2010. The Financial Reform Act creates incentives for whistleblowers to speak directly to the government rather than utilizing internal compliance programs, reduces the burden of proof under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 (the "FCPA") and creates a Federal Insurance Office ("FIO") within the U.S. Department of the Treasury (the "Treasury") with powers that include information-gathering and subpoena authority. Although the FIO does not have authority over health insurance, it may have authority over other parts of our business, primarily life insurance. In December 2013, the FIO released a Financial Reform Act mandated report to Congress on how to modernize and improve the system of insurance regulation in the United States. The report includes recommendations for reforms to the existing state-based regulatory regime as well as proposed elements of additional federal involvement in insurance regulation. We cannot predict whether future legislative or regulatory action will result from this report.

Health savings accounts, health reimbursement arrangements and flexible spending accounts and certain of the tax, fee and subsidy provisions of Health Care Reform are also regulated by the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”).

We also may be adversely impacted by court and regulatory decisions that expand or revise the interpretations of existing statutes and regulations or impose medical malpractice or bad faith liability. Federal and state courts continue to consider cases addressing group and individual life insurance payment practices and the pre-emptive effect of ERISA on state laws.

The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974

The provision of services to certain employee benefit plans, including certain Health Care, Group Insurance and Large Case Pensions benefit plans, is subject to ERISA, a complex set of laws and regulations subject to interpretation and enforcement by the IRS and the U.S. Department of Labor (the “DOL”). ERISA regulates certain aspects of the relationships between us and employers who maintain employee benefit plans subject to ERISA. Some of our administrative services and other activities may also be subject to regulation under ERISA. ERISA generally preempts all state and local laws that relate to employee benefit plans, but the extent of the pre-emption continues to be reviewed by courts.

Some of our Large Case Pensions and Group Insurance products and services are also subject to potential issues raised by certain judicial interpretations relating to ERISA. Under those interpretations, together with DOL regulations, we may have ERISA fiduciary duties with respect to certain general account assets held under contracts that are not guaranteed benefit policies. As a result, certain transactions related to those assets are subject to conflict of interest and other restrictions, and we must provide certain disclosures to policyholders annually. We must comply with these restrictions or face substantial penalties.

Federal Employees Health Benefits (“FEHB”) Program

Our subsidiaries contract with the Office of Personnel Management (the “OPM”) to provide managed health care services under the FEHB program in their service areas. These contracts with the OPM and applicable government regulations establish premium rating arrangements for this program. OPM regulations require that community-rated FEHB plans meet a FEHB program-specific MLR by plan code and market. Managing to these rules is complicated by the simultaneous application of the minimum MLR standards and associated premium rebate requirements of Health Care Reform. We also manage certain FEHB plans on a “cost-plus” basis. The OPM conducts periodic audits of its contractors to, among other things, verify that plans meet their applicable FEHB program-specific MLR and the premiums established under its insured contracts and costs allocated pursuant to its cost-based contracts are in compliance with the requirements of the applicable FEHB program. The OPM may seek premium refunds or institute other sanctions against us if we fail to comply with the FEHB program requirements.

Medicare

We continue to expand the Medicare markets we serve and Medicare products we offer. We expect to further expand our Medicare business in 2016 and are seeking to substantially grow our Medicare business over the next several years, including through the Proposed Acquisition and growth in our Medicare Supplement products, which products are regulated at the state level. The organic expansion of the Medicare markets we serve and Medicare products we offer, the completion of the Proposed Acquisition, and the Medicare-related provisions of Health Care Reform significantly increase our exposure to funding and regulation of, and changes in government policy with respect to and/or funding or regulation of, the various Medicare programs in which we participate, including changes in the amounts payable to us under those programs and/or new reforms or surcharges on existing programs. For example, sequestration began in 2013 and resulted in an automatic reduction in Medicare reimbursements to health plans of not more than 2% of total program costs per year through 2024. In addition, Health Care Reform contains further significant reductions in the reimbursements we receive for our Medicare Advantage members, including freezing 2011 rates based on 2010 levels, with additional reductions in future years based on regionally adjusted benchmarks. Since the 2014 contract year, Health Care Reform also has required minimum MLRs for Medicare Advantage and Medicare Part D plans of 85%.

We project that CMS's Medicare Advantage benchmark payment rates for 2016 will increase funding for our Medicare Advantage business by 1% in 2016 compared to 2015. This 2016 rate increase only partially offsets the challenge we face from the impact of the increasing cost of medical care and the HIF.

Our Medicare Advantage and PDP products are regulated by CMS. The regulations and contractual requirements applicable to us and other participants in Medicare programs are complex, expensive to comply with and subject to change. For example, in the second quarter of 2014, CMS issued a final rule implementing the ACA requirements that Medicare Advantage and PDP plans report and refund to CMS overpayments that those plans receive from CMS. The precise interpretation, impact and legality of this rule are not clear and are subject to pending litigation. In that same rule, CMS also changed in some respects how we can pay pharmacies in 2016 that impacts our Medicare Advantage and PDP products. We have invested significant resources to comply with Medicare standards, and our Medicare compliance efforts will continue to require significant resources. CMS may seek premium and other refunds, prohibit us from continuing to market and/or enroll members in or refuse to passively enroll members in one or more of our Medicare or Medicare-Medicaid demonstration (historically known as "dual eligible") plans, exclude us from participating in one or more Medicare or dual eligible programs and/or institute other sanctions against us if we fail to comply with CMS regulations or our Medicare contractual requirements.

CMS regularly audits our performance to determine our compliance with CMS's regulations and our contracts with CMS and to assess the quality of services we provide to Medicare beneficiaries. For example, CMS currently conducts risk adjustment data validation ("RADV") audits of a subset of Medicare Advantage contracts for each contract year. In December 2015, CMS released a request for information ("RFI") for a significant expansion of the RADV audit program. As described in the RFI, CMS would use third party auditors to attain its ultimate goal of subjecting all Medicare Advantage contracts to either a comprehensive or a targeted RADV audit for each contract year. Refer to "CMS Actions" in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements for information on certain pending CMS audits.

A portion of each Medicare Advantage plan's reimbursement is tied to the plan's "star ratings." The star rating system considers a variety of measures adopted by CMS, including quality of preventative services, chronic illness management and overall customer satisfaction. Our star ratings and past performance scores are adversely affected by compliance issues that arise in our Medicare business, such as our distribution of inaccurate information regarding which pharmacies were part of our Medicare network and related $1 million civil monetary penalty in 2015.

Since 2015, Medicare Advantage plans must have an overall star rating of four stars or higher (out of five stars) to qualify for a quality bonus in their basic premium rates. CMS released our 2016 star ratings in October 2015. Our 2016 star ratings will be used to determine which of our Medicare Advantage plans have ratings of four stars or higher and qualify for bonus payments in 2017. Our enrollment weighted average 2016 star rating was 4.2. Based on our membership at December 31, 2015, 85% of our Medicare Advantage members were in plans with 2016 star ratings of at least 4.0 stars. CMS will release updated stars ratings in October 2016 that will be used to determine the portion of our Medicare Advantage membership that will reside in plans with ratings of four stars or higher and qualify for bonus payments in 2018. In 2016 and going forward, our Medicare Advantage plans' operating results will continue to be significantly affected by their star ratings. Despite our recent success in improving our star ratings and other quality measures for 2016 and the continuation of our improvement efforts, there can be no assurances that we will be successful in maintaining or improving our star ratings in future years. Accordingly, our plans may not be eligible for full level quality bonuses, which could adversely affect the benefits such plans can offer, reduce membership and/or reduce profit margins.

We cannot predict future Medicare funding levels or the impact that future federal budget actions or entitlement program reform, if it occurs, will have on our business, operations or operating results, but the effects could be materially adverse, particularly on our Medicare and/or Medicaid revenues, medical benefit ratios and operating results. For example, the Federal government may seek to impose restrictions on the configuration of pharmacy or other provider networks for Medicare Advantage and/or PDP plans, or otherwise restrict the ability of these plans to alter benefits, negotiate prices or establish other terms to improve affordability or maintain viability of products. We currently believe that the payments we receive and will receive in the near term are adequate to justify our continued participation in the Medicare program, although there are economic and political pressures to continue to reduce spending on the program, and this outlook could change.

Going forward, we expect CMS and the U.S. Congress to continue to closely scrutinize each component of the Medicare program (including Medicare Advantage and PDP benefits and provider network access and adequacy), modify the terms and requirements of the program and possibly seek to limit private insurers' role. It is not possible to predict the outcome of this Congressional or regulatory activity, either of which could adversely affect us.

Medicaid

We are seeking to substantially grow our Medicaid and dual eligible businesses over the next several years. As a result, we also are increasing our exposure to changes in government policy with respect to and/or regulation of the various Medicaid and dual eligible programs in which we participate, including changes in the amounts payable to us under those programs.

The impact of Medicaid expansion under Health Care Reform is uncertain. States may opt out of the elements of Health Care Reform requiring expansion of Medicaid coverage without losing their current federal Medicaid funding, and administrations and/or legislatures in over a dozen states have indicated that they may not support the implementation of Medicaid expansion under Health Care Reform. Twenty-five states and the District of Columbia have expanded Medicaid coverage, and six states are using alternative Medicaid expansion mechanisms that are subject to further CMS approval. In addition, the election of new governors and/or state legislatures may impact states' previous decisions regarding Medicaid expansion. Starting in 2017, federal funding for expanded Medicaid coverage will decrease, which may cause states to re-evaluate their Medicaid expansions. That re-evaluation may adversely affect Medicaid payment rates, our revenues and our Medicaid membership in those states.

The economic aspects of the Medicaid and dual eligible business vary from state to state and are subject to frequent change. Medicaid premiums are paid by each state and differ from state to state. The federal government and certain states are also considering proposals and legislation for Medicaid and dual eligible program reforms or redesigns, including further program, population and/or geographic expansions of risk-based managed care, changes to benefits, reimbursement, or payment levels, eligibility criteria, provider network adequacy requirements (including requiring the inclusion of specified high cost providers in our networks) and program structure. In some states, current Medicaid and dual eligible funding and premium revenue may not be adequate for us to continue program participation due to state and federal budgetary constraints and continuing efforts to reduce health care costs. In addition, our Medicaid and dual eligible contracts with states (or sponsors of Medicaid managed care plans) are subject to cancellation by the state (or the sponsors of the managed care plans) after a short notice period without cause (for example, when a state discontinues a managed care program) or in the event of insufficient state funding.

Our Medicaid and dual eligible products also are regulated by CMS and state Medicaid agencies, which have the right to audit our performance to determine compliance with CMS contracts and regulations. Our Medicaid products, dual eligible products and Children's Health Insurance Program ("CHIP") contracts also are subject to federal and state regulations and oversight by state Medicaid agencies regarding the services we provide to Medicaid enrollees, payment for those services, network requirements (including mandatory inclusion of specified high-cost providers), and other aspects of these programs, and by external review organizations which audit Medicaid plans on behalf of the state Medicaid agencies. The laws, regulations and contractual requirements applicable to us and other participants in Medicaid and dual eligible programs, including requirements that we submit encounter data to the applicable state agency, are extensive, complex and subject to change. We have invested significant resources to comply with these standards, and our Medicaid and dual eligible program compliance efforts will continue to require significant resources. CMS and/or state Medicaid agencies may fine us, withhold payments to us, seek premium and other refunds, terminate our existing contracts, elect not to award us new contracts or renew our existing contracts, prohibit us from continuing to market and/or enroll members in or refuse to auto assign members to one or more of our Medicaid or dual eligible products, exclude us from participating in one or more Medicaid or dual eligible programs and/or institute other sanctions against us if we fail to comply with CMS or state regulations or our contractual requirements.

We cannot predict whether pending or future federal or state legislation or court proceedings will change various aspects of the Medicaid program, nor can we predict the impact those changes will have on our business operations or financial results, but the effects could be materially adverse.

HMO, Insurance Holding Company and Other State Laws

A number of states, including Pennsylvania and Connecticut, regulate affiliated groups of insurers and HMOs such as the Company under holding company statutes. These laws may, among other things, require us and our subsidiaries to maintain certain levels of equity. We expect the states in which our insurance and HMO subsidiaries are licensed to continue to expand their regulation of the corporate governance and internal control activities of our insurance companies and HMOs.

The states of domicile of our regulated subsidiaries have statutory risk-based capital, or “RBC”, requirements for health and other insurance companies and HMOs based on the RBC Model Act. These RBC requirements are intended to assess the capital adequacy of life and health insurers and HMOs, taking into account the risk characteristics of a company’s investments and products. The RBC Model Act sets forth the formula for calculating RBC requirements, which are designed to take into account asset risks, insurance risks, interest rate risks and other relevant risks with respect to an individual company’s business. In general, under these laws, an insurance company or HMO must submit a report of its RBC level to the insurance department or insurance commissioner of its state of domicile for each calendar year. At December 31, 2015, the RBC level of each of our insurance and HMO subsidiaries was above the level that would require regulatory action.

In addition, changes to regulations or the interpretation of those regulations due to regulators’ increasing concerns regarding insurance company and/or HMO solvency due, among other things, to the current adverse and uncertain economic environment, could negatively impact our business in various ways, including through increases in solvency fund assessments, requirements that the Company hold greater levels of capital and/or delays in approving dividends from regulated subsidiaries.

For information regarding restrictions on certain payments of dividends or other distributions by our HMO and insurance company subsidiaries, refer to Note 17 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements on page 136.

The holding company laws for the states of domicile of Aetna and certain of its subsidiaries also restrict the ability of any person to obtain control of an insurance company or HMO without prior regulatory approval. Under those statutes, without such approval (or an exemption), no person may acquire any voting security of an insurance holding company (such as our parent company, Aetna Inc.) that controls an insurance company or HMO, or merge with such a holding company, if as a result of such transaction such person would control the insurance holding company. Control is generally defined as the direct or indirect power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person and is presumed to exist if a person directly or indirectly owns or controls 10% or more of the voting securities of another person.

Our workers’ compensation business includes the comparison of medical claims data against the applicable state’s fee schedule pricing, including applicable regulations and clinical guidelines. State fee schedules, which typically represent the maximum reimbursement for medical services provided to the injured worker, differ by state and change as state laws and regulations are passed and/or amended. Our workers’ compensation business also includes PBM and care management services, both of which are regulated at the state level. Our workers’ compensation customers include insurance carriers and TPA’s who also are regulated at the state level. The laws and regulations applicable to us and other participants in the workers’ compensation business are extensive, complex and subject to change. We have invested significant resources to comply with these standards, and our workers’ compensation compliance efforts will continue to require significant resources. We may be subject to significant fines, penalties and litigation if we fail to comply with those laws and regulations.

Audits and Investigations

We typically have been, are currently and may in the future be involved in various governmental investigations, audits, examinations, reviews, subpoenas and other requests for information, the intensity and scope of which continue to increase. These include routine, regular and special investigations, audits, examinations and reviews by, as well as subpoenas and other requests for information from, CMS, HHS, various state insurance and health care regulatory authorities, state attorneys general and offices of inspector general, the CCIIO, the Office of the Inspector General (the “OIG”), the OPM, the DOL, the Treasury, the FDA, committees, subcommittees and members of the U.S. Congress, the U.S. Department of Justice (the “DOJ”), the U.S. Federal Trade Commission (the “FTC”), the Office of Foreign Assets Control (“OFAC”) of the Treasury, U.S. attorneys and other state, federal and international governmental authorities. For example, certain of our Medicare Advantage plans are currently under audit for, among other things, compliance with coding and other requirements under the Medicare risk adjustment model; our Commercial business is currently under audit by both state and federal regulators related to the ACA’s minimum MLR requirements; and our Commercial business is subject to audits related to the ACA’s risk adjustment and reinsurance data since those programs were implemented in 2014. HHS also has begun to audit health plans, providers and other parties to enforce HIPAA compliance, including with respect to data security. Such government actions may, among other things, prevent or delay us from implementing planned premium rate increases and have resulted and may result in restrictions on our business, changes to or clarifications of our business practices, retroactive adjustments to premiums, refunds to members or the government, withholding of premium payments to us by government agencies, payments under insurance policies prior to those payments being due under the terms of the policy, assessments of damages, civil or criminal fines or penalties (including under the federal false claims act (the “False Claims Act”)), or other sanctions, including the possible suspension or loss of licensure and/or suspension or exclusion from participation in government programs.

A significant number of states are investigating life insurers’ claims payment and related escheat practices. For additional information on these life insurance matters, refer to “Life and Disability Insurance” beginning on page 40.

Refer to “Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings” in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 139 for more information regarding pending audits and investigations.

Federal and State Reporting

We are subject to extensive financial and business reporting requirements, including penalties for inaccuracies and/or omissions, at both the state and federal level. Health Care Reform significantly expanded these reporting requirements and added additional penalties for inaccuracies and omissions. Our ability to comply with certain of these requirements depends on receipt of information from third parties that may not be readily available or reliably provided in all instances. We are and will continue to be required to modify our information systems, dedicate significant resources and incur significant expenses to comply with these requirements. However, we cannot eliminate the risks of unavailability of or errors in our reports.

Fraud, Waste and Abuse Laws

Federal and state governments have made investigating and prosecuting health care fraud, waste and abuse a priority. Fraud, waste and abuse prohibitions encompass a wide range of activities, including kickbacks or other inducements for referral of members or for the coverage of products (such as prescription drugs) by a plan, billing for unnecessary medical services by a health care provider, improper marketing, and violations of patient privacy rights. Companies involved in public health care programs such as Medicare and/or Medicaid are required to maintain compliance programs to detect and deter fraud, waste and abuse, and are often the subject of fraud, waste and abuse investigations and audits. The regulations and contractual requirements applicable to us and other participants in these public-sector programs are complex and subject to change. Although our compliance program is designed to meet all statutory and regulatory requirements, our policies and procedures are frequently under review and subject to updates, and our training and education programs continue to evolve. We have invested significant resources to comply with Medicare and Medicaid program standards. Ongoing vigorous law enforcement and the highly technical regulatory scheme mean that our compliance efforts in this area will continue to require significant resources.

Federal and State Laws and Regulations Governing Submission of Information and Claims to Agencies

We are subject to federal and state laws and regulations that apply to the submission of information and claims to various government agencies. For example, the False Claims Act provides, in part, that the federal government may bring a lawsuit against any person or entity who the government believes has knowingly presented, or caused to be presented, a false or fraudulent request for payment from the federal government, or who has made a false statement or used a false record to get a claim approved. There also is False Claims Act liability for knowingly or improperly avoiding repayment of an overpayment received from the government and/or failing to promptly report and return any such overpayment. The federal government, whistleblowers and some courts have taken the position that claims presented in violation of other statutes, such as the federal anti-kickback statute, may be considered a violation of the False Claims Act. In addition, Health Care Reform may have expanded the jurisdiction of, and our exposure to, the False Claims Act to products sold on Public Exchanges. Violations of the False Claims Act are punishable by treble damages and penalties of up to a specified dollar amount per false claim. In addition, a special provision under the False Claims Act allows a private person (for example, a “whistleblower” such as a disgruntled current or former competitor, member or employee) to bring an action under the False Claims Act on behalf of the government alleging that a company has defrauded the federal government and permits the private person to share in any settlement of, or judgment entered in, the lawsuit.

A number of states, including states in which we operate, have adopted their own false claims acts and whistleblower provisions that are similar to the False Claims Act. From time to time, companies in the health and related benefits industry, including ours, may be subject to actions under the False Claims Act or similar state laws.

Product Design and Administration and Sales Practices

State and/or federal regulatory scrutiny of health care benefit and life insurance product design and administration and marketing and advertising practices, including the filing of insurance policy forms, the adequacy of provider networks, the accuracy of provider directories, and the adequacy of disclosure regarding products and their administration, is increasing as are the penalties being imposed for inappropriate practices. Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible products and products offering more limited benefits, such as some of our student health plans, in particular continue to attract increased regulatory scrutiny.

Guaranty Fund Assessments/Solvency Protection

Under guaranty fund laws existing in all states, insurers doing business in those states can be assessed (up to prescribed limits) for certain obligations of insolvent insurance companies to policyholders and claimants. The health insurance guaranty associations in which we participate that operate under these laws respond to insolvencies of long-term care insurers as well as health insurers. Our assessments generally are based on a formula relating to our premiums in the state compared to the premiums of other insurers. Certain states allow assessments to be recovered as offsets to premium taxes. Some states have similar laws relating to HMOs and/or other payors such as not-for-profit consumer governed health plans established under Health Care Reform. Refer to “Guaranty Fund Assessments, Market Stabilization and Other Non-Voluntary Risk Sharing Pools” in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 138 for more information on the pending rehabilitation of Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and one of its subsidiaries (collectively, “Penn Treaty”) and certain assessments to which our HMOs are subject. It is reasonably possible that during 2016 we may record a liability and expense relating to Penn Treaty and/or other insolvencies which could have a material adverse effect on our operating results, financial position and cash flows. While we have historically recovered more than half of guaranty fund assessments through statutorily permitted premium tax offsets, significant increases in assessments could lead to legislative and/or regulatory actions that may limit future offsets.

Regulation of Pharmacy Operations

CVS has provided certain PBM services to us and certain of our customers and members since January 1, 2011. As amended, our PBM agreement with CVS has a term ending in December 2022, although we have certain termination rights beginning in January 2020. Express Scripts also provides certain PBM services to certain of our customers and members under an agreement with a term ending in 2016 for a portion of our Commercial and Medicaid members. Express Scripts also provided PBM services to a portion of our Medicare members in 2015.

Notwithstanding our contracting with our PBM services suppliers, we remain responsible to regulators and members for the delivery of PBM services. In addition, we continue to operate two mail order pharmacy facilities and one specialty pharmacy facility (our “Pharmacies”) and utilize certain pharmacies of our PBM services suppliers. Our Pharmacies dispense pharmaceuticals throughout the U.S. and are participating providers in Medicare, Medicare Part D and various Medicaid programs. The pharmacy practice is generally regulated at the state level by state boards of pharmacy. Our Pharmacies are required to be licensed in the state where they are located, as well as the states that require registration or licensure of mail order pharmacies with the state’s board of pharmacy or similar regulatory body. Our Pharmacies also must register with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and individual state controlled substance authorities in order to dispense controlled substances and must comply with applicable Medicare, Medicaid and other provider rules and regulations, including the False Claims Act, state false claims acts and federal and state anti-kickback laws. Our PBM services suppliers’ owned and contracted pharmacies are subject to these same licensing requirements and other laws and regulations. The loss or suspension of any such licenses or registrations could have a material adverse effect on our ability to meet our contractual obligations to our customers, which could, in turn, have a material adverse effect on our pharmacy business and/or operating results.

Regulation of Pharmacy Benefit Management Operations

Our PBM services are regulated directly and indirectly at the federal and state levels, including being subject to the False Claims Act and state false claims acts and federal and state anti-kickback laws. These laws and regulations govern, and proposed legislation and regulations may govern, critical PBM practices, including disclosure, receipt and retention of rebates and other payments received from pharmaceutical manufacturers; use of, administration of, and/or changes to drug formularies, maximum allowable cost list pricing, average wholesale prices and/or clinical programs; disclosure of data to third parties; drug utilization management practices; the level of duty a PBM owes its customers; configuration of pharmacy networks; the operations of our Pharmacies (including audits of our Pharmacies); disclosure of negotiated provider reimbursement rates; disclosure of fees associated with administrative service agreements and patient care programs that are attributable to members’ drug utilization; and registration or licensing of PBMs. Failure by us or one of our PBM services suppliers to comply with these laws or regulations could result in material fines and/or sanctions and could have a material adverse effect on our operating results.

Life and Disability Insurance

Our life and disability insurance operations are subject to extensive regulation. Changes in these regulations, such as expanding the definition of disability or mandating changes to claim payment, determination and/or settlement practices, could have a material adverse impact on our life insurance and/or disability insurance operations and/or operating results. Since 2011, legislation has been enacted or introduced in a number of states requiring life insurers to take additional steps to identify unreported deceased policy holders, and make other changes to their claim payment and related escheat practices, including consultation of certain databases. A significant number of states are investigating life insurers’ claims payment and related escheat practices, and these investigations have resulted in significant charges to earnings by other life insurers in connection with related settlement agreements. We have received requests for information from a number of states, and certain of our subsidiaries are being audited, with respect to our life insurance claim payment and related escheat practices. In the fourth quarter of 2013, we made changes to our life insurance claim payment practices (including related escheatment practices) based on evolving industry practices and regulatory expectations and interpretations, including expanding our existing use of the Social Security Administration’s Death Master File to identify additional potentially unclaimed death benefits and locate applicable beneficiaries. As a result of these changes, in the fourth quarter of 2013, we increased our estimated liability for unpaid life insurance claims with respect to insureds who passed away on or before December 31, 2013, and recorded in current and future benefits a charge of $35.7 million ($55.0 million pretax). Given the judicial, legislative and regulatory uncertainty with respect to life insurance claim payment and related escheat practices, it is reasonably possible that we may incur additional liability related to those practices, whether as a result of further changes in our business practices, litigation, government actions or otherwise, which could adversely affect our operating results and cash flows.

Consumer Protection Laws

Our consumer business which began serving members on January 1, 2016 and certain of our other businesses participate in direct-to-consumer activities, and we increasingly offer mobile and web-based solutions to our members and to other consumers. We are therefore subject to federal and state regulations applicable to electronic communications and to other general consumer protection laws and regulations. In particular, the FTC is aggressively exercising its enforcement authority in the areas of consumer privacy and data security with a focus on web-based, mobile products and “big data.” As a result of the widely-reported large scale U.S. commercial data breaches during 2014 and 2015, the FTC and state regulators have increased their enforcement activity in these regimes. These enforcement developments will impact the design, management and operation of our businesses, including our consumer business, our privacy and security strategy and our web-based and mobile assets.

International Regulation

We expect to continue to expand our Health Care operations in foreign countries through both organic growth and acquisitions. We currently have insurance licenses in several foreign jurisdictions and do business directly or through local affiliations in numerous countries around the world. These international operations are subject to different, and sometimes more stringent, legal and regulatory requirements, which vary widely by jurisdiction, including anti-corruption laws; economic sanctions laws; various privacy, insurance, tax, tariff and trade laws and regulations; corporate governance, privacy, data protection, data mining, data transfer, labor and employment, intellectual property, consumer protection and investment laws and regulations; discriminatory licensing procedures; compulsory cessions of reinsurance; required localization of records and funds; higher premium and income taxes; limitations on dividends and repatriation of capital; and requirements for local participation in an insurer’s ownership. In addition, the expansion of our operations into foreign countries increases our exposure to the anti-bribery, anti-corruption and anti-money laundering provisions of U.S. law, including the FCPA, and corresponding foreign laws, including the U.K. Bribery Act 2010 (the “UK Bribery Act”).

The FCPA prohibits offering, promising or authorizing others to give anything of value to a foreign government official to obtain or retain business or otherwise secure a business advantage. We also are subject to applicable anti-corruption laws of the jurisdictions in which we operate. In many countries outside the U.S., health care professionals are employed by the government. Therefore, our dealings with them are subject to regulation under the FCPA. Violations of the FCPA and other anti-corruption laws may result in severe criminal and civil sanctions as well as other penalties, and the SEC and the DOJ have increased their enforcement activities with respect to the FCPA. The UK Bribery Act is an anti-corruption law that is broader in scope than the FCPA and applies to all companies with a nexus to the United Kingdom. Disclosures of FCPA violations may be shared with the UK authorities, thus potentially exposing companies to liability and potential penalties in multiple jurisdictions. We have internal control policies and procedures and conduct training and compliance programs for our employees to deter prohibited practices. However, if our employees or agents fail to comply with applicable laws governing our international operations, we may face investigations, prosecutions and other legal proceedings and actions which could result in civil penalties, administrative remedies and criminal sanctions. See “As we expand our international operations, we will increasingly face political, legal and compliance, operational, regulatory, economic and other risks that we do not face or are more significant than in our domestic operations. Our exposure to these risks is expected to increase” beginning on page 78 for a discussion of the risks related to operating globally.

Anti-Money Laundering Regulations

Certain of our lines of business are subject to Treasury anti-money laundering regulations. Those lines of business have implemented anti-money laundering policies designed to insure their compliance with the regulations. We also may be subject to anti-money laundering laws in non-U.S. jurisdictions where we operate.

Office of Foreign Assets Control

We also are subject to regulation by OFAC. OFAC administers and enforces economic and trade sanctions based on U.S. foreign policy and national security goals against targeted foreign countries and regimes, terrorists, international narcotics traffickers, those engaged in activities related to the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, and other threats to the national security, foreign policy or economy of the United States. In addition, we may be subject to similar regulations in the non-U.S. jurisdictions in which we operate.

FORWARD-LOOKING INFORMATION/RISK FACTORS

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (the “1995 Act”) provides a “safe harbor” for forward-looking statements, so long as (1) those statements are identified as forward-looking, and (2) the statements are accompanied by meaningful cautionary statements that identify important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those discussed in the statement. We want to take advantage of these safe harbor provisions.

Certain information contained in this MD&A and elsewhere in the Annual Report and our Annual Report on Form 10-K is forward-looking within the meaning of the 1995 Act or SEC rules. This information includes, but is not limited to: the “Outlook for 2016” on page 5, “Risk Management and Market-Sensitive Instruments” beginning on page 15 and “Regulatory Environment” beginning on page 26 of the Annual Report and this “Forward-Looking Information/Risk Factors” section. In addition, throughout this MD&A and elsewhere, we use the following words, or variations or negatives of these words and similar expressions, when we intend to identify forward-looking statements:

Forward-looking statements rely on a number of estimates, assumptions and projections concerning future events, and are subject to a number of significant uncertainties and other factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those statements. Many of these uncertainties and other factors are outside our control. Certain of these uncertainties and other factors are described under “Risk Factors” below. You should not put undue reliance on forward-looking statements. Any forward-looking statement speaks only as of the date of this report, and we disclaim any intention or obligation to update or revise forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events, uncertainties or otherwise.

Risk Factors

You should carefully consider each of the following risks and uncertainties and all of the other information set forth in this MD&A or elsewhere in our Annual Report or our Annual Report on Form 10-K. These risks and uncertainties and other factors may affect forward-looking statements, including those we make in this MD&A or elsewhere, such as in news releases or investor or analyst calls, meetings or presentations. The risks and uncertainties described below are not the only ones we face. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to us or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also adversely affect our business. Any of these risks or uncertainties could cause our actual results to differ materially from our expectations and the expected results discussed in our forward-looking statements. You should not consider past results to be an indication of future performance.

If any of the following risks or uncertainties develops into actual events or if the circumstances described in the risks or uncertainties occur or continue to occur, these events or circumstances could have a material adverse effect on our business, cash flows, financial position or operating results. In that case, the trading price of our common stock could decline materially, among other effects on us.

Achievement of our strategic plan, talent management and alignment of talent to our business needs and risks to our reputation present overarching risks to our enterprise in 2016.

We expect to face significant business challenges and uncertainties in 2016. Achievement of our 2016 strategic plan, talent management and alignment of talent to our business needs and risks to our reputation present overarching risks to our enterprise in 2016. There can be no assurance regarding our ability to achieve our strategic plan, manage and align our talent or avoid harm to our reputation. In addition, the Proposed Acquisition presents us with significant challenges, and there can be no assurance that U.S. government fiscal policy, the implementation of Health Care Reform or additional changes to the U.S. health care system will not adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial position or operating results. For additional background on these risks, see:

- “Our strategy may not be an effective response to the changing dynamics in the health and related benefits industry, or we may not be able to implement our strategy and related strategic projects, including the Proposed Acquisition, effectively”, beginning on page 43;
- “We are dependent on our ability to recruit, retain and develop a very large and diverse workforce. We must transform our culture in order to successfully grow our business”, beginning on page 44;
- “Our reputation is one of our most important assets; negative public perception of the health and related benefits industry, or of the industry’s or our practices, can adversely affect our operating results”, beginning on page 44;
- “Outlook for 2016”, beginning on page 5;
- “Certain Risks Related to the Proposed Acquisition of Humana”, beginning on page 45;
- “Regulatory Environment - General”, beginning on page 26;
- “We are subject to potential changes in public policy (in respect of Health Care Reform or otherwise) that can adversely affect the markets for our products and services and our business, operations and financial results”, beginning on page 51;
- “Certain aspects of Health Care Reform have yet to take full effect, are unclear, or are subject to change, making their practical effects difficult to predict. Our business and operating results may be materially and adversely affected by Health Care Reform and/or changes to Health Care Reform even if we correctly predict its effects”, beginning on page 52; and
- “Programs funded by the U.S. federal government account for a substantial portion of our revenue and operating earnings. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the portion of our revenues that is funded by the U.S. federal government will increase significantly. A delay by Congress in raising the federal government’s debt ceiling could lead to a delay, reduction, suspension or cancellation of federal government spending and a significant increase in interest rates that could, in turn, have a material adverse effect on our businesses, operating results and cash flows”, beginning on page 62.

While we consider the foregoing to be the overarching risks we face in 2016, they are not the only material risks we face. We face numerous other challenges, as described elsewhere in this Annual Report, including below in this “Forward-Looking Information and Risk Factors” discussion, and other unanticipated risks may develop.

Our strategy may not be an effective response to the changing dynamics in the health and related benefits industry, or we may not be able to implement our strategy and related strategic projects, including the Proposed Acquisition, effectively.

Our strategy includes effectively investing our capital and human resources in appropriate strategic projects, current operations and acquisitions to respond to changing dynamics in the health and related benefits industry, including the shift toward the direct-to-consumer marketing and operating model contemplated by Public Exchanges and Private Exchanges (collectively, “Insurance Exchanges”), the declining number of commercially insured people and the potential shift to a defined contribution model for health benefits. Our strategic projects include, among other things: the Proposed Acquisition; significant investments in human and technology resources to grow our Healthagen[®] business, develop, operate and expand our consumer business, and compete effectively in a direct-to-consumer marketplace; transforming our business model through consumer engagement, joint ventures, ACOs and collaborative provider networks; participating in Insurance Exchanges; optimizing our business platforms; managing certain significant technology projects; further improving relations with health care providers; negotiating contract changes with customers and providers; and implementing other business process improvements.

Implementing our strategic initiatives will require significant investments of capital and human resources. Among other things, we will need to simultaneously acquire and develop new personnel (including Humana personnel following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition), products and systems to serve existing and new customers with existing and new products, our consumer business, which began serving members on January 1, 2016, and enhance our existing customer service, information technology, control and compliance processes and systems. The future performance of our businesses will depend in large part on our ability to design and implement our strategic initiatives, some of which will occur over several years. If these initiatives, including the Proposed Acquisition, do not achieve their objectives, our operating results could be adversely affected.

Our strategy may not be an effective response to the changing dynamics in the health and related benefits industry, and we may fail to recognize and position ourselves to capitalize upon market opportunities. We may not have sufficient advance notice and resources to develop and effectively implement an alternative strategy. Competitors who develop a superior strategy, or more effectively implement their strategy, may develop capabilities, competitive advantages and competitive positions that are difficult to match or overcome.

We are dependent on our ability to recruit, retain and develop a very large and diverse workforce. We must transform our culture in order to successfully grow our business.

Our products and services and our operations require a large number of employees, a significant number of employees have joined us in recent years as a result of our acquisitions and our entry into new businesses, and our employee population is expected to more than double upon the closing of the Proposed Acquisition. Our success is dependent on our ability to transform our culture, engage our employees and inspire our employees to be open to change, to innovate and to maintain consumer-focus when delivering services to our customers. Our business would be adversely affected if we fail to adequately plan for succession of our executives and senior management; or if we fail to effectively recruit, integrate, retain and develop key talent and/or align our talent with our business needs, in light of the current rapidly changing environment. While we have succession plans in place and we have employment arrangements with a limited number of key executives, these do not guarantee that the services of these or suitable successor executives will continue to be available to us. In addition, as we expand internationally, we face the challenge of recruiting, integrating, educating, managing, retaining and developing a more culturally diverse workforce.

Our reputation is one of our most important assets; negative public perception of the health and related benefits industry, or of the industry's or our practices, can adversely affect our operating results.

The health and related benefits industry regularly is subject to negative publicity, including as a result of the ongoing public debate over Health Care Reform, proposed transactions in our industry (including the Proposed Acquisition) and actual or perceived shortfalls regarding the industry's or our own products and/or business practices (including social media activities). This risk will increase further as we continue to implement significant increases in premium rates to price for the expanded benefits required by, and the fees, assessments and taxes imposed by, Health Care Reform and any acceleration in medical cost inflation. This risk may be increased as states and the federal government implement and continue to debate Health Care Reform, as we continue to offer products (including products for people who are eligible for Medicaid or dually eligible for Medicare and Medicaid) beyond those in our core Commercial business and as our business model becomes more focused on consumers and direct-to-consumer sales, including as a result of us developing and operating our consumer business and competing for sales on Insurance Exchanges. Negative publicity of the health and related benefits industry in general, or Aetna or its key vendors in particular, can further increase our costs of doing business and adversely affect our operating results and our stock price by:

- Adversely affecting the Aetna brand;
- Adversely affecting our ability to market and sell our products and/or services and/or retain our existing customers and members;
- Requiring us to change our products and/or services; and/or
- Increasing the regulatory and legislative requirements with which we must comply.

Certain Risks Related to the Proposed Acquisition of Humana

In order to complete the Proposed Acquisition, Aetna and Humana must obtain certain governmental authorizations, and if such authorizations are not granted or are granted with conditions that become applicable to the parties, completion of the Proposed Acquisition may be jeopardized or the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Acquisition could be reduced.

Completion of the Proposed Acquisition is conditioned upon the expiration or early termination of the waiting period relating to the Proposed Acquisition under the HSR Act and certain other applicable laws or regulations and the governmental authorizations required to complete the Proposed Acquisition (the “Required Governmental Authorizations”) having been obtained and being in full force and effect. Although Aetna and Humana have agreed in the Merger Agreement to use their reasonable best efforts, subject to certain limitations, to make certain governmental filings or obtain the Required Governmental Authorizations, as the case may be, there can be no assurance that the relevant waiting periods will expire or authorizations will be obtained. In addition, the governmental authorities with or from which these authorizations are required have broad discretion in administering the governing regulations, and may take into account various facts and circumstances in their consideration of the Proposed Acquisition, including other pending transactions in the managed care industry. As a condition to authorization of the Proposed Acquisition or related transactions, these governmental authorities may impose requirements, limitations or costs, require divestitures or place restrictions on the conduct of Aetna’s business after completion of the Proposed Acquisition, such as requiring substantial payments by Aetna and/or Humana, imposing limitations on premium rates and/or rate increases and/or requiring Aetna’s and/or Humana’s subsidiaries to retain more capital than their competitors. Under the terms of the Merger Agreement, Aetna is not required, and Humana is not permitted without the consent of Aetna, to take any actions or agree to any terms or conditions in connection with (i) the expiration or early termination of the waiting period relating to the Proposed Acquisition under the HSR Act, (ii) any other antitrust law or (iii) the Required Governmental Authorizations, in each case if such action, term or condition would have, or would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a material adverse effect on the financial position, business or earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization of Aetna or Humana and its subsidiaries taken as a whole. However, notwithstanding the provisions of the Merger Agreement, either Aetna or Humana could become subject to terms or conditions in connection with such waiting periods, laws or other authorizations (whether because such term or condition does not rise to the specified level of materiality or we otherwise consent to its imposition) the imposition of which could adversely affect our ability to integrate Humana’s operations with our operations, reduce the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Acquisition or otherwise materially and adversely affect our business and results of operations after completion of the Proposed Acquisition.

Failure to complete the Proposed Acquisition could negatively impact the stock price and the future business and financial results of Aetna.

If the Proposed Acquisition is not completed for any reason, the ongoing business of Aetna may be adversely affected and, without realizing any of the benefits of having completed the Proposed Acquisition, Aetna would be subject to a number of risks, including the following:

- We may experience negative reactions from the financial markets, including negative impacts on our stock and bond prices, and from our customers, providers, vendors, regulators and employees;
- We may be required to pay Humana a termination fee of either $1.691 billion or $1 billion if the Merger Agreement is terminated under certain circumstances;
- We will be required to pay certain transaction expenses and other costs relating to the Proposed Acquisition, whether or not the Proposed Acquisition is completed;
- The Merger Agreement places certain restrictions on the conduct of our business prior to completion of the Proposed Acquisition. Such restrictions, the waiver of which is subject to the consent of Humana (in most cases, not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed), may prevent us from making certain acquisitions, taking certain other specified actions or otherwise pursuing business opportunities during the pendency of the Proposed Acquisition that we would have made, taken or pursued if these restrictions were not in place; and

- Matters relating to the Proposed Acquisition (including integration planning) will require substantial commitments of time and resources by our management, which would otherwise have been devoted to day-to-day operations and other opportunities that may have been beneficial to us as an independent company.

There can be no assurance that the risks described above will not materialize. If any of those risks materialize, they may materially and adversely affect Aetna's businesses, financial position, financial results and stock or bond prices.

In addition, Aetna could be subject to litigation related to any failure to complete the Proposed Acquisition or related to any enforcement proceeding to specifically enforce us to perform our obligations under the Merger Agreement. If the Proposed Acquisition is not completed, these risks may materialize and may materially and adversely affect Aetna's businesses, financial position, financial results and stock or bond prices.

After completion of the Proposed Acquisition, we may fail to realize the anticipated benefits and cost savings of the Proposed Acquisition, which could adversely affect the value of our common shares.

The success of the transactions contemplated by the Proposed Acquisition will depend, in part, on our ability to realize the anticipated benefits and cost savings from combining the businesses of Aetna and Humana. Our ability to realize these anticipated benefits and cost savings is subject to certain risks including:

- Our ability to successfully combine the businesses of Aetna and Humana, including with respect to systems and technology integration;
- whether the combined businesses will perform as expected;
- the possibility that we paid more for Humana than the value we will derive from the transaction;
- the reduction of our cash available for operations and other uses and the incurrence of indebtedness to finance the completion of the Proposed Acquisition; and
- the assumption of known and unknown liabilities of Humana.

If we are not able to successfully combine the businesses of Aetna and Humana within the anticipated time frame, or at all, the anticipated cost savings and other benefits of the Proposed Acquisition may not be realized fully or at all or may take longer to realize than expected, the combined businesses may not perform as expected, and the value of our common shares may be adversely affected.

Aetna and Humana have operated and, until completion of the Proposed Acquisition, will continue to operate, independently, and there can be no assurances that their businesses can be integrated successfully. It is possible that the integration process could result in the loss of key Aetna or Humana employees, the disruption of either or both company's ongoing businesses or in unexpected integration issues, higher than expected integration costs and an overall post-completion integration process that takes longer than originally anticipated. Specifically, issues that must be addressed in integrating the operations of Humana and Aetna in order to realize the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Acquisition so the combined business performs as expected include, among other things:

- combining the companies' sales, claims and call operations, network administration and corporate functions;
- integrating the companies' technologies, products and services;
- identifying and eliminating redundant and underperforming operations and assets;
- harmonizing the companies' operating practices, employee development and compensation programs, internal controls and other policies, procedures and processes;
- addressing possible differences in business backgrounds, corporate cultures and management philosophies;
- consolidating the companies' corporate, administrative and information technology infrastructure;
- coordinating sales, distribution and marketing efforts;
- managing the movement of certain businesses and positions to different locations;
- maintaining existing agreements with customers, providers and vendors and avoiding delays in entering into new agreements with prospective customers, providers and vendors;

- coordinating geographically dispersed organizations; and
- consolidating offices of Humana and Aetna that are currently in or near the same location.

In addition, at times, the attention of certain members of either or both company's management and resources may be focused on completion of the Proposed Acquisition and the integration of the businesses of the two companies and diverted from day-to-day business operations, which may disrupt each company's ongoing business and the business of the combined company.

Aetna and Humana may have difficulty attracting, motivating and retaining executives and other key employees in light of the Proposed Acquisition.

Uncertainty about the effect of the Proposed Acquisition on Aetna and Humana employees may have an adverse effect on each of Aetna and Humana separately and consequently the combined business. This uncertainty may impair Aetna's and Humana's ability to attract, retain and motivate key personnel until the Proposed Acquisition is completed. Employee retention may be particularly challenging during the pendency of the Proposed Acquisition, as employees of Aetna and Humana may experience uncertainty about their future roles with the combined business. Additionally, Humana's officers and employees may hold shares of Humana common stock, as well as Humana stock options, Humana restricted stock units ("Humana RSUs") and Humana performance stock units ("Humana PSUs") that are subject to accelerated vesting on a change in control, and, if the Proposed Acquisition is completed, these officers and employees may be entitled to the consideration payable under the Merger Agreement in respect of such shares of Humana common stock, Humana RSUs, Humana PSUs and cash in respect of Humana stock options. These payouts could also make retention of these officers and employees more difficult. Additionally, pursuant to employment and/or change in control severance agreements with Humana, certain key employees of Humana are entitled to receive severance payments upon a termination without cause or a resignation for "good reason" following completion of the Proposed Acquisition. Under these agreements, a key Humana employee potentially could resign from his or her employment following specified circumstances set forth in his or her employment or change in control severance agreement, including an adverse change in his or her title, authority or responsibilities, compensation and benefits or primary office location. Furthermore, if key employees of Aetna or Humana depart or are at risk of departing, including because of issues relating to the uncertainty and difficulty of integration, financial security or a desire not to become employees of the combined business, we may have to incur significant costs in retaining such individuals or in identifying, hiring and retaining replacements for departing employees, and our ability to realize the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Acquisition may be adversely affected.

Aetna's and Humana's business relationships may be subject to disruption due to uncertainty associated with the Proposed Acquisition.

Parties with which Aetna or Humana does business may experience uncertainty associated with the Proposed Acquisition, including with respect to current or future business relationships with us, Humana or the combined business. Aetna's and Humana's business relationships may be subject to disruption as customers, providers, vendors and others may attempt to negotiate changes in existing business relationships or consider entering into business relationships with parties other than Aetna, Humana or the combined business. These disruptions could have a material and adverse effect on the businesses, financial position, results of operations or prospects of the combined business, including a material and adverse effect on our ability to realize the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Acquisition. The risk and adverse effect of such disruptions could be exacerbated by a delay in completion of the Proposed Acquisition or termination of the Merger Agreement.

The Merger Agreement contains provisions that will make it more difficult for us to pursue alternatives to the Proposed Acquisition.

The Merger Agreement contains provisions that make it more difficult for Aetna to sell its business. These provisions include a general prohibition on us soliciting any acquisition proposal. Further, Humana generally has a right to match any acquisition proposal that may be made.

While we believe these provisions are reasonable and not preclusive of other offers, these restrictions might discourage a third party that has an interest in acquiring all or a significant part of Aetna from considering or proposing that acquisition. Furthermore, the termination fees described in the immediately following paragraph below may result in a potential competing acquirer proposing to pay a lower per-share price to acquire Aetna than it might otherwise have proposed to pay because of the added expense of the termination fee that may become payable by Aetna in certain circumstances.

Lawsuits have been filed and other lawsuits may be filed against Humana, Aetna and their respective boards of directors challenging the Proposed Acquisition. An adverse ruling in any such lawsuit may prevent the Proposed Acquisition from being completed.

Beginning on July 9, 2015, three putative state court class action complaints have been filed by purported Humana stockholders (collectively, the “Humana Complaints”) challenging the Proposed Acquisition, two in Kentucky and one in Delaware (collectively, the “Humana Merger Litigation”). The Humana Complaints generally allege, among other things, that the individual members of Humana’s board of directors breached their fiduciary duties owed to Humana’s stockholders by entering into the Merger Agreement, approving the Proposed Acquisition, and failing to take steps to maximize the value of Humana to its stockholders, and that Aetna and certain of its subsidiaries and, in the case of the Delaware complaint, Humana aided and abetted such breaches of fiduciary duties. Among other remedies, the Humana Complaints seek equitable relief rescinding the Merger Agreement and enjoining the defendants from completing the Proposed Acquisition as well as costs and attorneys’ fees.

On October 9, 2015, Humana and the other defendants named in the Humana Complaints signed a memorandum of understanding (the “MOU”) to settle the Humana Merger Litigation. Subject to court approval and further definitive documentation in a stipulation of settlement that will be subject to customary conditions, the MOU resolved the claims brought in the Humana Merger Litigation. There can be no assurance that the parties to the Humana Merger Litigation ultimately will enter into a stipulation of settlement or that a court will approve such settlement even if the parties were to enter into such stipulation. In such event, the proposed settlement contemplated by the MOU may be terminated. Following the signing of the MOU, the plaintiffs withdrew the Delaware state court complaint.

On September 3, 2015, a purported Aetna shareholder filed a putative class action and derivative complaint challenging the Proposed Acquisition in Pennsylvania state court (the “Aetna Complaint”). The Aetna Complaint generally alleged, among other things, that Aetna’s board of directors (the “Aetna Board”) breached its fiduciary duties by negotiating and entering into the Merger Agreement because the Proposed Acquisition overvalued Humana, the negotiation process leading to the Proposed Acquisition was flawed, the Proposed Acquisition represented an effort by the Aetna Board to avoid being acquired by another company, Aetna senior management preferred a transaction with Humana to a transaction with that other company given concerns over their post-transaction continued employment, and Aetna’s registration statement in connection with the Proposed Acquisition omitted certain material information. The Aetna Complaint generally sought, among other things, declaratory and injunctive relief, preliminary injunctive relief prohibiting or delaying the defendants from consummating the Proposed Acquisition, other forms of equitable relief and unspecified amounts of damages. In addition, the Aetna Board has received demands from two purported Aetna shareholders (including the named plaintiff in the Aetna Complaint) to investigate and remedy potential or alleged breaches of fiduciary duties in connection with the Proposed Acquisition.

In response to these demands, and the subsequently filed Aetna Complaint, the Aetna Board, in accordance with Pennsylvania law and procedure, appointed a special litigation committee (the “SLC”), consisting of Edward J. Ludwig (Chairperson), Roger N. Farah, Ellen M. Hancock and Richard J. Harrington, to, among other things, investigate and evaluate such demands and the Aetna Complaint. The SLC retained independent counsel to assist and advise it in connection with its investigation and evaluation. On October 4, 2015, the SLC and its counsel issued a 120-page report that reflected, among other things, the SLC’s determination that pursuing the allegations in the shareholder demands and in the Aetna Complaint was not in the best interests of Aetna or its shareholders and a recommendation that Aetna pursue dismissal of the Aetna Complaint and not pursue any of the claims in the demands. The recommendation of the SLC was adopted unanimously by the non-management members of the Aetna Board, and a motion to dismiss the Aetna Complaint was filed on October 7, 2015. The Aetna Complaint was withdrawn by the plaintiff, and the Pennsylvania state court approved the dismissal of the Aetna Complaint on December 4, 2015.

Additional lawsuits arising out of or relating to the Merger Agreement and/or the Proposed Acquisition may be filed in the future.

One of the conditions to completion of the Proposed Acquisition is the absence of any applicable law (including any order) being in effect that prohibits completion of the Proposed Acquisition. Accordingly, if a plaintiff is successful in obtaining an order prohibiting completion of the Proposed Acquisition, then such order may prevent the Proposed Acquisition from being completed, or from being completed within the expected timeframe.

Our indebtedness following completion of the Proposed Acquisition will be substantially greater than our indebtedness on a stand-alone basis and greater than the combined indebtedness of Aetna and Humana existing prior to the transaction. This increased level of indebtedness could adversely affect us, including by decreasing our business flexibility, and will increase our borrowing costs. Downgrades in our ratings could adversely affect our businesses, cash flows, financial position and operating results.

In order to complete the Proposed Acquisition, we expect to incur acquisition-related debt financing of approximately $16.2 billion and assume Humana's existing indebtedness of approximately $3.8 billion. Our substantially increased indebtedness and higher debt-to-equity ratio following completion of the Proposed Acquisition in comparison to that of Aetna prior to the Proposed Acquisition will have the effect, among other things, of reducing our flexibility to respond to changing business and economic conditions and will increase our borrowing costs. In addition, the amount of cash required to service our increased indebtedness levels and thus the demands on our cash resources will be greater than the amount of cash flows required to service the indebtedness of Aetna or Humana individually prior to the Proposed Acquisition. The increased levels of indebtedness could also reduce funds available for our investments in product development as well as capital expenditures, share repurchases and other activities and may create competitive disadvantages for us relative to other companies with lower debt levels.

In addition, our credit ratings impact the cost and availability of future borrowings, and accordingly our cost of capital. Our ratings reflect each rating organization's opinion of our financial strength, operating performance and ability to meet our debt obligations or obligations to our insureds. Each of the ratings organizations reviews our ratings periodically, and there can be no assurance that our current ratings will be maintained in the future. Following the announcement of the Proposed Acquisition in July 2015, each of Standard & Poor's, A.M. Best, Fitch and Moody's placed certain of our debt, financial strength and other credit ratings under review for a possible downgrade. Downgrades in our ratings could adversely affect our businesses, cash flows, financial position and operating results.

We will incur significant transaction and integration-related costs in connection with the Proposed Acquisition.

We expect to incur a number of non-recurring costs associated with the Proposed Acquisition and combining the operations of the two companies. We will incur significant transaction costs related to the Proposed Acquisition. We also will incur significant integration-related fees and costs related to formulating and implementing integration plans, including facilities and systems consolidation costs and employment-related costs. We continue to assess the magnitude of these costs, and additional unanticipated costs may be incurred in the Proposed Acquisition and the integration of the two companies' businesses. Although we expect that the elimination of duplicative costs, as well as the realization of other efficiencies related to the integration of the businesses, should allow us to offset integration-related costs over time, this net benefit may not be achieved in the near term, or at all.

The Proposed Acquisition may not be accretive, and may be dilutive, to our operating earnings per share, which may negatively affect the market price of our common shares.

The Proposed Acquisition may not be accretive, and may be dilutive, to our operating earnings per share. Our projections relating to the impact of the Proposed Acquisition on our operating earnings per share are based on preliminary estimates that may materially change. In addition, future events and conditions could decrease or delay any projected accretion or could result in dilution, including the timing of the closing of the Proposed Acquisition, adverse changes in market conditions, additional transaction and integration-related costs and other factors such as the failure to realize some or all of the anticipated benefits of the Proposed Acquisition. Any dilution of, or decrease or delay of any accretion to, our operating earnings per share could cause the price of our common shares to decline or grow at a reduced rate.

Following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition, our exposure to the funding, regulatory and other risks associated with Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligibles products will increase significantly.

Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the proportion of our total Health Care revenues, membership and medical costs that are derived from Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligibles products will increase significantly. As a result our exposure to the funding, regulatory and other risks associated with these products also will increase significantly. For additional information on these risks, see:

- “Legislative and regulatory changes could create significant challenges to our Medicare Advantage and PDP revenues and operating results, and proposed changes to these programs could create significant additional challenges. Starting in 2017, federal funding for Medicaid expansion will decrease. The inclusion of these assessments, fees and taxes in our premiums also could adversely affect our ability to grow and/or maintain our medical membership”, beginning on page 55;
- “Our business activities are highly regulated. Our Medicare, Medicaid, specialty and mail order pharmacy, Public Exchange and certain other products are subject to particularly extensive and complex regulations. If we fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations, we could be subject to significant adverse regulatory actions or suffer reputational harm which may have a material adverse effect on our business. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, our exposure to these risks will increase significantly. Compliance with future laws, regulations and/or judicial decisions may reduce our profitability and limit our growth”, beginning on page 55;

We generally rely on health care providers to appropriately code claim submissions and document their medical records. - “If our service providers fail to meet their contractual obligations to us or to comply with applicable laws or regulations, we may be exposed to reputational harm, litigation or regulatory action. This risk is particularly high in our Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible programs”, beginning on page 62;

Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the portion of our revenues that is funded by the U.S. federal government will increase significantly. A delay by Congress in raising the federal government’s debt ceiling could lead to a delay, reduction, suspension or cancellation of federal government spending and a significant increase in interest rates that could, in turn, have a material adverse effect on our businesses, operating results and cash flows”, beginning on page 62; and*
- “The U.S. federal government and our other government customers may reduce funding for health care or other programs, cancel or decline to renew contracts with us, or may make changes that adversely affect the number of persons eligible for certain programs, the services provided to enrollees in such programs, our premiums and our administrative and health care and other benefit costs. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the portion of our revenues and health care costs that are derived from the U.S. federal government and other government customers will increase significantly”, beginning on page 66.

Risks relating to Humana.

Following completion of the Proposed Acquisition, Aetna will be subject to the risks described in Part I, Item 1A in Humana's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2015, filed with the SEC on February 18, 2016, incorporated by reference into this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Health Care Reform and Other Legal and Regulatory Risks

We are subject to potential changes in public policy (in respect of Health Care Reform or otherwise) that can adversely affect the markets for our products and services and our business, operations and financial results.

The political environment in which we operate remains uncertain. It is reasonably possible that our business operations and financial results could be materially adversely affected by public policy changes at the state or federal level, which include Health Care Reform but also extend to many other public policy initiatives. Such changes may present us with new financial and other challenges and may, for example, cause membership in our health plans to decrease or make doing business in particular states less attractive. If we fail to adequately respond to such changes, including by implementing effective operational and strategic initiatives, or do not do so as effectively as our competitors, our business, operations and financial results may be materially adversely affected.

In addition to Health Care Reform and changes to Health Care Reform, we expect the federal and state governments to continue to enact and seriously consider many broad-based legislative and regulatory proposals that will or could materially impact various aspects of the health care and related benefits system and our business, including additional health care reforms such as mandating lower out of pocket costs for members who are prescribed high cost drugs. The federal and many state governments are also considering changes in the interpretation, enforcement and/or application of existing laws and regulations. At the state level, 46 U.S. states and the District of Columbia will hold regular legislative sessions in 2016. In 2015, state legislatures focused on state budget deficits and taxes, as well as required changes to small group and other products (including capping member cost sharing or co-payments or otherwise limiting members’ financial responsibility for health care or other covered services they utilize), provider network composition requirements, pharmacy benefit and drug coverage requirements, Health Care Reform and Public Exchange implementation. We expect state legislatures to focus on these issues again in 2016.

We cannot predict the enactment or content of new legislation and regulations or changes to existing laws or regulations or their enforcement, interpretation or application, or the effect they will have on our business operations or financial results, which could be materially adverse. Even if we could predict such matters, it is not possible to eliminate the adverse impact of public policy changes that would fundamentally change the dynamics of our industry. Examples of such change include: the federal or one or more state governments fundamentally restructuring or reducing the funding available for Medicare, Medicaid, or dual eligible programs, changing the tax treatment of health or related benefits, or significantly altering Health Care Reform, such as eliminating or further reducing funding for Health Care Reform's risk corridors. The likelihood of adverse changes is increasing due to state and federal budgetary pressures, and our business and operating results could be materially and adversely affected by such changes, even if we correctly predict their occurrence. For more information on these matters, refer to "Regulatory Environment" beginning on page 26.

Certain aspects of Health Care Reform have yet to take full effect, are unclear, or are subject to change, making their practical effects difficult to predict. Our business and operating results may be materially and adversely affected by Health Care Reform and/or changes to Health Care Reform even if we correctly predict its effects.

Although Health Care Reform was enacted in 2010, certain components will continue to be phased in until 2020. Ongoing legislative and regulatory changes to Health Care Reform, other pending efforts in the U.S. Congress to amend or restrict funding for various aspects of Health Care Reform (including risk corridors), the 2016 presidential election, pending litigation challenging aspects of the law and federal budget negotiations continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of Health Care Reform. Examples of these legislative and regulatory changes include: the December 2015 suspension of the HIF for 2017 and two year delay of the "Cadillac" tax on high-cost employer-sponsored health coverage; the October 2015 PACE, which leaves groups with 51 to 100 employees within the large group category for each state unless the state exercises its option to include these groups within the small group category; and the October 2015 HHS announcement that Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables for the 2014 program year would only be funded at 12.6%.

We expect the 2017 suspension of the HIF to adversely affect our 2016 operating earnings, revenues and medical benefit ratios as this change begins to be reflected in reduced premiums for 2016 medical customer renewals that have member months in 2017. In addition, there is some uncertainty whether we will be able to include all of our portion of the industry-wide $14.3 billion 2018 HIF in our premium rates beginning with 2017 medical customer renewals that have member months in 2018, particularly following the HIF suspension for 2017.

The pending litigation challenging Health Care Reform includes the House of Representatives' challenge to HHS's ability to make payments under the ACA's Cost Sharing Subsidy program without an explicit appropriation. The time frame for conclusion, final outcome and ultimate impact of this litigation are uncertain. A final ruling that adversely impacts the Cost Sharing Subsidy program could cause significant adverse selection in individual Public Exchange products and instability in the individual Public Exchange marketplace and could have a material adverse effect on our business, cash flows, financial condition and operating results as well as hinder our ability to offer Public Exchange products.

While the most significant Health Care Reform related changes occurred during or prior to 2014, key components of Health Care Reform will be phased in through 2020. In addition, significant parts of Health Care Reform, including aspects of Public Exchanges, non-discrimination requirements, reinsurance, risk corridor and risk adjustment, continue to evolve through the promulgation of regulations and guidance at the federal level. It is likely that further changes will be made to Health Care Reform at the federal and/or state level as issues arise and its practical effects become clearer. Growing state and federal budgetary pressures make it more likely that any changes will be adverse to us.

Accordingly, many of the specific aspects and impacts of Health Care Reform will not be known for several years, and given the inherent difficulty of foreseeing how individuals and businesses will respond to the choices afforded to them by Health Care Reform, we cannot predict the full effect of Health Care Reform on us or the impact of future changes to Health Care Reform. Further, even if we correctly predict how parts of Health Care Reform will develop and affect us, our business and operating results may still be materially and adversely affected. For example, we anticipate that some aspects of Health Care Reform and other existing measures and new measures, if enacted, could materially adversely affect our health care operations and/or operating results by, among other things:

- Reducing our ability to obtain adequate premium rates for the risk we assume (including denial of or delays in obtaining regulatory approval for and implementation of those rates);
- Significantly reducing the level of Medicare program payments;

- Restricting our ability to price for the risk we assume and/or reflect reasonable costs or profits in our pricing, and/or limiting the level of margin we can earn, including by mandating minimum medical loss ratios;
- Reducing our ability to manage health care or other benefit costs (including by mandating benefits, restricting our ability to manage our provider network and/or capping member cost sharing or otherwise limiting members' financial responsibility for health care or other covered services they utilize and thus increasing our medical costs);
- Increasing health care or other benefit costs and operating expenses (including duplicate expenses resulting from changes in regulations during implementation);
- Increasing our exposure to lawsuits and other adverse legal proceedings;
- Adversely affecting our product mix; and/or
- Imposing new or increasing existing taxes and financial assessments.

Legislative and regulatory changes could create significant challenges to our Medicare Advantage and PDP revenues and operating results, and proposed changes to these programs could create significant additional challenges. Starting in 2017, federal funding for Medicaid expansion will decrease. Entitlement program reform, if it occurs, could have a material adverse effect on our business, operations or operating results.

From time to time the federal government alters the level of funding for government health care programs, including Medicare. Under the BCA and the ATRA, significant, automatic across-the-board budget cuts (known as sequestration) to several federal government programs started in March 2013. These include Medicare spending cuts of up to 2% of total program costs per year through 2024. The ATRA also contained additional reductions to Medicare reimbursements to health plans that commenced in April 2013 and eliminated funding for certain Health Care Reform programs. These reductions could adversely affect us, our customers and our providers.

Medicare Advantage payment rates to health plans have been cut over the last several years, with additional reductions to be phased in through 2017. CMS' Final Notice for 2016 Medicare Advantage benchmark payment rates provided some progress toward more stable program rates. We project that the benchmark rates in the Final Notice will increase funding for our Medicare Advantage business by 1% in 2016 compared to 2015. However, this rate increase is still below the rate of increase of the cost of medical care and creates continued pressure on the Medicare Advantage program and our Medicare Advantage results. We cannot predict changes in future Medicare funding levels, the impact of future federal budget actions or ensure that such changes or actions will not have an adverse effect on our Medicare operating results.

In addition, the "star ratings" from CMS for our Medicare Advantage plans will continue to have a significant effect on our plans' operating results. Since 2015, only Medicare Advantage plans with a star rating of four or higher (out of five) are eligible for a quality bonus in their basic premium rates. Our star ratings and past performance scores are adversely affected by compliance issues that arise in our Medicare business, such as our distribution of inaccurate information regarding which pharmacies were part of our Medicare network and related $1 million civil monetary penalty in 2015. If our star ratings fall below expectations, do not match the performance of our competitors, the star rating standards are raised, or the quality bonuses are reduced or eliminated, our revenues and operating results may be adversely affected.

During 2014, CMS issued a final rule that changes in some respects how we can pay pharmacies and impacts our Medicare Advantage and PDP products. This final rule, which takes effect in 2016, may limit our ability to realize anticipated cost savings.

Beginning in 2017, federal funding for expanded Medicaid coverage will decrease, which may cause states to re-evaluate their Medicaid expansions. That re-evaluation may adversely affect Medicaid payment rates, our revenues and our Medicaid membership in those states.

If entitlement program reform occurs, it could have a material adverse effect on our business, operations or operating results, particularly on our Medicare and/or Medicaid revenues, medical benefit ratios and operating results.

We may not be able to obtain adequate premium rate increases, which would have an adverse effect on our revenues, medical benefit ratios and operating results and could magnify the adverse impact of increases in health care and other benefit costs and of Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes.

Premium rates generally must be filed with state insurance regulators and are subject to their approval, which creates risk for us in the current political and regulatory environment. Health Care Reform generally requires a review by HHS in conjunction with state regulators of premium rate increases of 10% or more (or another state-specific threshold set by states determined by HHS to have adequate processes). Rate reviews can magnify the adverse impact on our operating margins and operating results of increases in health care and other benefit costs, increased utilization of covered services, and Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes, by restricting our ability to reflect these increases and/or these assessments, fees and taxes in our pricing. The risk of increases in utilization of medical and/or other covered services and/or in health care and other benefit costs is particularly acute during and following periods (such as 2010-2013), when utilization has been below recent historical levels and during periods of changing economic conditions and/or employment levels. Further, our ability to reflect Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes in our Medicare rates is limited; and our ability to reflect them in our Medicaid and/or CHIP premium rates is likely to be limited due, among other things, to the budgetary pressures currently facing many state governments. This could magnify the adverse impact on our operating margins and operating results of increases in utilization of medical and other covered services, health care and other benefit costs and/or medical cost trends that exceed our projections.

Since 2013, HHS has issued determinations to health plans that their rate increases were unreasonable, and we continued to experience challenges to appropriate premium rate increases in certain states. Regulators or legislatures in a number of states have implemented or are considering limits on premium rate increases, either by enforcing existing legal requirements more stringently or proposing different regulatory standards. Regulators or legislatures in a number of states also have conducted hearings on proposed premium rate increases, which could result in substantial delays in implementing proposed rate increases even if they ultimately are approved. Our plans can be excluded from participating in Public Exchanges if they are deemed to have a history of “unreasonable” rate increases. We requested significant increases in our premium rates in our individual and small group Health Care businesses for 2016 and expect to continue to request significant increases in those rates for 2017 and beyond in order to adequately price for projected medical cost trends, the expanded coverages and rating limits required by Health Care Reform and the significant assessments, fees and taxes imposed by Health Care Reform. These significant rate increases heighten the risks of adverse public and regulatory reaction and the risk that our products will be selected by people with a higher risk profile or utilization rate than the pool of participants we anticipated when we established the pricing for the applicable products (also known as “adverse selection”) and the likelihood that our requested premium rate increases will be denied, reduced or delayed, which could lead to operating margin compression.

We anticipate continued regulatory and legislative action to increase regulation of premium rates in our Insured business. We may not be able to obtain rates that are actuarially justified or that are sufficient to make our policies profitable in any product line or geography. If we are unable to obtain adequate rates and/or rate increases, it could materially and adversely affect our operating margins and our ability to earn adequate returns on Insured business in one or more states or cause us to withdraw from certain geographies and/or products.

Minimum MLR rebate requirements limit the level of margin we can earn in our Commercial Insured and Medicare Insured businesses while leaving us exposed to higher than expected medical costs. Challenges to our minimum MLR rebate methodology and/or reports could adversely affect our operating results.

Health Care Reform requires us to pay minimum MLR rebates each year with respect to prior years. These minimum MLR rebate requirements limit the level of margin we can earn in our Commercial Insured and Medicare Insured businesses, while leaving us exposed to medical costs that are higher than those reflected in our pricing. Refer to “Revenue Recognition” in Note 2 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 96 for more information. Certain portions of our FEHB program business are subject to minimum MLR rebate requirements separate from those imposed by Health Care Reform. The process supporting the management and determination of the amount of rebates payable is complex and requires judgment, and the rebate reporting requirements are detailed. Our Commercial business is currently under audit by both federal and state regulators related to the ACA's minimum MLR requirements. Additional challenges to our methodology and/or reports relating to minimum MLR rebates by federal and state regulators and private litigants are reasonably possible. The outcome of these audits and additional challenges could adversely affect our operating results.

Additionally, we are required to pay minimum MLR rebates in a number of states in which we offer Medicaid coverage. These rebates are not required by Health Care Reform; they are mandated by our Medicaid contracts.

We may be subject to regulatory actions or suffer reputational harm if we do not or cannot adequately implement Health Care Reform and related legislation, which may have a material adverse effect on our business.

Health Care Reform enacted in 2010, legislated broad-based changes to the U.S. health care system. To date the constitutionality of Health Care Reform has been upheld, although significant portions of the law are subject to pending litigation. We are dedicating, and will continue to be required to dedicate significant resources and incur significant expenses to implement and comply with Health Care Reform and changes to Health Care Reform at both the state and federal level, including complying with the implementation timeframe set by the government each year for developing and pricing our Public Exchange products for the following year and implementing and complying with future legislation and regulations that will provide guidance on and clarification of and changes to significant parts of the legislation. If we fail to effectively implement Health Care Reform and our related operational and strategic initiatives, or do not do so as effectively as our competitors, our business, operating results and reputation may be materially adversely affected, we may lose customers and we may be subject to penalties, sanctions or other regulatory actions.

If we are unable to include the significant assessments, fees and taxes imposed on us by Health Care Reform in our premiums and fees or otherwise solve for them, our operating results, financial position and/or cash flows would be materially and adversely affected. The inclusion of these assessments, fees and taxes in our premiums also could adversely affect our ability to grow and/or maintain our medical membership.

Health Care Reform imposes significant assessments, fees and taxes on us and other health insurers, health plans and other industry participants. We project that our share of the 2016 Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes will be approximately $1 billion. As we are one of the nation's largest health care benefits companies, we expect our share of the Health Care Reform fees, assessments and taxes to continue to be significant. There is some uncertainty whether we will be able to include all of these assessments, fees and taxes in our premium rates. It may be particularly challenging to be able to include all of our portion of the industry-wide $14.3 billion 2018 HIF in our premium rates beginning with 2017 medical customer renewals that have member months in 2018 because of the HIF suspension for 2017. In addition, our ability to reflect Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes in our Medicare rates is limited; and our ability to reflect them in our Medicaid and CHIP rates is likely to be limited due, among other things, to the budgetary pressures currently facing many state governments. If we are unable to include the Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes in our premiums and fees or otherwise adjust our business model to solve for them, these assessments, fees and taxes could have a material adverse effect on our operating results, financial position and/or cash flows. The increases in our prices caused by including all of these assessments, fees and taxes in our premiums and fees also could adversely affect our ability to profitably grow and/or maintain our medical membership if, for example, our competitors do not seek to include all or a significant portion of these assessments, fees and taxes in their premiums or fees.

Our business activities are highly regulated. Our Medicare, Medicaid, specialty and mail order pharmacy, Public Exchange and certain other products are subject to particularly extensive and complex regulations. If we fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations, we could be subject to significant adverse regulatory actions or suffer reputational harm which may have a material adverse effect on our business. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, our exposure to these risks will increase significantly. Compliance with future laws, regulations and/or judicial decisions may reduce our profitability and limit our growth.

Our business is subject to extensive regulation and oversight by state, federal and international governmental authorities. The laws and regulations governing our operations and interpretations of those laws and regulations are increasing in number and complexity, change frequently (as evidenced by Health Care Reform and administrative changes in, and pending litigation regarding, the implementation of Health Care Reform as well as other new federal and state laws and regulations), can be inconsistent or conflicting and generally are designed to benefit and protect members and providers rather than us or our investors. In addition, the governmental authorities that administer our business have broad latitude to make, interpret and enforce the laws and regulations that govern us and continue to interpret and enforce those laws and regulations more strictly and more aggressively each year.

Our Medicare, Medicaid, dual eligible, Public Exchange, specialty pharmacy and mail order pharmacy products are more highly regulated than our other Health Care products. The laws and regulations governing participation in Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible programs are complex, are subject to interpretation and can expose us to penalties for non-compliance, including penalties under the False Claims Act and state false claims acts. In addition, Health Care Reform may have expanded the jurisdiction of, and our exposure to, the False Claims Act to products sold on Public Exchanges, which began to operate in 2014. Claims under federal and state false claims acts can be brought by the government or by private individuals on behalf of the government through a qui tam or “whistleblower” suit. If we are convicted of fraud or other criminal conduct in the performance of a health program or if there is an adverse decision against us under the False Claims Act, we may be temporarily or permanently suspended from participating in government health care programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible programs.

If we fail to comply with laws and regulations that apply to government programs, we could be subject to criminal fines, civil penalties, premium refunds, prohibitions on marketing or active or passive enrollment of members, corrective actions, termination of our contracts or other sanctions which could have a material adverse effect on our ability to participate in Medicare, Medicaid, dual eligible and other programs, cash flows, financial position and operating results. For example, CMS assessed a civil monetary penalty of $1 million against us in 2015 for distributing inaccurate information regarding which pharmacies were part of our Medicare network. Also, from April 2010 through June 2011, we were subject to intermediate sanctions that CMS imposed on us that required us to suspend the enrollment of and marketing to new members of all Aetna Medicare Advantage and PDP contracts. As a result of these sanctions, our 2011 Medicare membership and operating results were adversely affected because we did not participate in the annual enrollment process for 2011 and were not again eligible to receive automatic assignments of low income subsidy PDP members from CMS until September 2012.

Our exposure to these risks will increase significantly following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition because completion of the Proposed Acquisition will increase significantly the proportion of our total Health Care revenues, membership and medical costs that are derived from Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible products.

Our products providing PBM and specialty and mail order pharmacy services are subject to:

- The risks inherent in the dispensing, packaging and distribution of pharmaceuticals and other health care products, including claims related to purported dispensing and other operational errors (any failure by us or one of our PBM services suppliers to adhere to the laws and regulations applicable to the dispensing of pharmaceuticals could subject our PBM and/or pharmacy subsidiaries to civil and criminal penalties).
- Federal and state anti-kickback and other laws that govern our relationship with pharmaceutical manufacturers, customers and consumers.
- Compliance requirements under ERISA, including fiduciary obligations in connection with the development and implementation of items such as drug formularies and preferred drug listings.
- Federal and state legislative proposals and/or regulatory activity that could adversely affect pharmacy benefit industry practices, including the management and breadth of provider networks, the regulation of the development and use of drug formularies (such as the 2014 regulatory activity requiring us and certain other payors to place certain high cost drugs in preferred positions in our drug formularies) and/or maximum allowable cost list pricing, legislation, regulations or regulatory activity imposing additional rights to access to drugs for individuals enrolled in health care benefit plans or reducing the cost of such drugs to those individuals, the receipt or required disclosure of rebates from pharmaceutical manufacturers, and restrictions on the use of average wholesale prices.

Our business, profitability and growth also may be adversely affected by (i) judicial and regulatory decisions that change and/or expand the interpretations of existing statutes and regulations, impose medical or bad faith liability, increase our responsibilities under ERISA or the remedies available under ERISA, or reduce the scope of ERISA pre-emption of state law claims or (ii) other legislation and regulations, including new legislation or regulations that apply to Private Exchanges. For more information regarding these matters, refer to “Regulatory Environment” beginning on page 26 and “Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings” in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 139.

We frequently are subject to regular and special governmental audits, investigations and reviews that could result in changes to our business practices, and also could result in material refunds, fines, penalties, civil liabilities, criminal liabilities and other sanctions.

As one of the largest national health and related benefits providers, we frequently are subject to regular and special governmental market conduct and other audits, investigations and reviews by, and we receive subpoenas and other requests for information from, various federal and state agencies, regulatory authorities, attorneys general, committees, subcommittees and members of the U.S. Congress and other state, federal and international governmental authorities. Several such audit, investigations and reviews currently are pending, some of which may be resolved in 2016, and the results of which may be adverse to us.

There continues to be a heightened level of review and/or audit by federal, state and international regulators of the health and related benefits industry’s business and reporting practices, including premium rate increases, provider network adequacy, provider network directories, pharmacy formulary tiering, pharmacy network structures, utilization management and payment of providers with whom the payor does not have a contract and other health and life insurance claim payment practices. In addition, a significant number of states are investigating life insurers’ claims payment and related escheat practices, and these investigations have resulted in significant charges to earnings by other life insurers in connection with related settlement agreements. We have received requests for information from a number of states, and certain of our subsidiaries are being audited, with respect to our life insurance claim payment and related escheat practices. In the fourth quarter of 2013, we made changes to our life insurance claim payment practices (including related escheatment practices) based on evolving industry practices and regulatory expectations and interpretations, including expanding our existing use of the Social Security Administration’s Death Master File to identify additional potentially unclaimed death benefits and locate applicable beneficiaries. As a result of these changes, in the fourth quarter of 2013, we increased our estimated liability for life insurance claims with respect to insureds who passed away on or before December 31, 2013, and recorded in current and future benefits a charge of $35.7 million ($55.0 million pre-tax). Given the judicial, legislative and regulatory uncertainty with respect to life insurance claim payment and related escheat practices, it is reasonably possible that we may incur additional liability related to those practices, whether as a result of further changes in our business practices, litigation, government actions or otherwise, which could adversely affect our operating results and cash flows. For additional information on these life insurance matters, refer to “Life and Disability Insurance” beginning on page 40.

Federal and state governments have made investigating and prosecuting health care and other insurance fraud, waste and abuse a priority. Fraud, waste and abuse prohibitions encompass a wide range of activities, including kickbacks for referral of members, billing for unnecessary medical and/or other covered services, improper marketing and violations of patient privacy rights. The regulations and contractual requirements applicable to us and other market participants are complex and subject to change, making it necessary for us to invest significant resources in complying with our regulatory and contractual requirements. Ongoing vigorous law enforcement and the highly technical regulatory scheme mean that our compliance efforts in this area will continue to require significant resources.

Regular and special governmental audits, investigations and reviews could result in changes to our business practices, and also could result in significant or material premium refunds, fines, penalties, civil liabilities, criminal liabilities or other sanctions, including suspension or exclusion from participation in government programs and suspension or loss of licensure. For example, in 2015 CMS assessed a civil monetary penalty of $1 million against us in 2015. Any of these audits, investigations or reviews could have a material adverse effect on our financial position, operating results or business or result in significant liabilities and negative publicity for our company. Our Commercial business is currently under audit by both state and federal regulators related to Health Care Reform's minimum MLR requirements and is subject to audits related to Health Care Reform's risk adjustment and reinsurance data since those programs were implemented in 2014. For more information on certain CMS and other audits, see "We are subject to retroactive adjustments to and/or withholding of certain premiums and fees, including as a result of CMS RADV audits. We generally rely on health care providers to appropriately code claim submissions and document their medical records. If these records do not appropriately support our risk adjusted premiums, we may be required to refund premium payments to CMS", beginning on page 60.

For more information regarding these matters, refer to "Regulatory Environment" beginning on page 26 and "Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings" in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 139.

If our compliance systems and processes fail or are deemed inadequate, we may suffer reputational harm and become subject to regulatory actions or litigation which could adversely affect our business, cash flows, operating results or financial position.

Our businesses are subject to extensive and complex regulations, and many of our contracts with customers include detailed requirements. In order to be eligible to offer certain products or bid on certain contracts, we must demonstrate that we have robust systems in place to ensure that we comply with all applicable legal, regulatory and contractual requirements. These systems are frequently reviewed and audited by our customers and regulators. If our systems and processes designed to maintain compliance with applicable requirements, and to prevent and detect instances of, or the potential for, non-compliance fail or are deemed inadequate, we may suffer reputational harm and be subject to regulatory actions, litigation and other proceedings which may result in fines, suspension or loss of licensure, suspension or exclusion from participation in government programs and/or other penalties, any of which could adversely affect our business, cash flows, operating results or financial position.

Our litigation and regulatory risk profile is changing as we offer new products and expand in business areas beyond our historical core business of providing Commercial managed care and health insurance products in the United States. Completion of the Proposed Acquisition would accelerate that change.

Historically, we focused primarily on providing Commercial managed care and health insurance products in the United States. In comparison, our Medicare and Medicaid businesses were significantly smaller. In 2015, our Medicare and Medicaid businesses accounted for 44% of total Health Care premiums. Our business is now changing due to the following:

- Acquisitions: We project that the Proposed Acquisition will increase our Medicare and Medicaid revenues to 56% of total revenue. Our 2014 acquisition of InterGlobal expanded our international business.
- Expansion within the health care marketplace: We are expanding our presence in various sectors of the health care marketplace, including Medicare, Medicaid, dual eligibles, Commercial individual, international, and certain customers who are not subject to ERISA's limits on state law remedies and working to deliver innovative products in those sectors.
- Entry into new business and new product lines: We are in the process of developing and seeking to expand our consumer business. Over the last several years we have entered into new product lines, including Insurance Exchanges, dual eligible programs, support services for ACOs, data analytics, recruitment for clinical trials and HIT.

The increased volume of business in areas beyond our historical core business and new products subject us to litigation and regulatory risks that are different from the risks of providing Commercial managed care and health insurance products and increase significantly our exposure to other risks.

For additional information about these risks, see:

- "Our business activities are highly regulated. Our Medicare, Medicaid, specialty and mail order pharmacy, Public Exchange and certain other products are subject to particularly extensive and complex regulations. If we fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations, we could be subject to significant adverse regulatory actions or suffer reputational harm which may have a material adverse effect on our business. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, our exposure to these risks will increase significantly. Compliance with future laws, regulations and/or judicial decisions may reduce our profitability and limit our growth”, beginning on page 55;

- “We may not be able to compete effectively in the HIT business and earn a profit. Our HIT business increases our risk of patent infringement and other intellectual property litigation and may become subject to significant regulation in the future”, beginning on page 73; and
- “As we expand our international operations, we will increasingly face political, legal and compliance, operational, regulatory, economic and other risks that we do not face or are more significant than in our domestic operations. Our exposure to these risks is expected to increase”, beginning on page 78.

We are routinely subject to litigation and adverse legal proceedings, including class actions. Many of these proceedings seek substantial damages which may not be covered by insurance. These proceedings may be costly to defend, result in changes in our business practices, harm our reputation and adversely affect our business and operating results.

We are routinely involved in numerous claims, lawsuits, regulatory audits, investigations and other legal proceedings arising in the ordinary course of our businesses. Certain of the lawsuits against us are purported to be class actions. The majority of these proceedings relate to the conduct of our health care operations and allege various violations of law. In addition, we operate in jurisdictions outside the United States, where contractual rights, tax positions and applicable regulations may be subject to interpretation or uncertainty to a greater degree than in the United States, and therefore more likely to be subject to dispute by customers, members, governmental authorities and others. We are incurring expenses to resolve these proceedings. The outcome of litigation and other adverse legal proceedings is always uncertain, and outcomes that are not justifiable by the evidence or existing law or regulation can and do occur.

Litigation may be brought against us by private individuals on behalf of the government through a qui tam or “whistleblower” suit. When a private individual brings a whistleblower suit, the defendant often will not be made aware of the suit for many months or even years, until the government commences its own investigation or determines whether it will intervene. Whistleblower suits have resulted in significant settlements between governmental agencies and health care companies. The significant incentives and protections provided under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act increase the risk of whistleblower suits.

Many of the legal proceedings against us seek substantial damages (including non-economic or punitive damages and treble damages), and certain of these proceedings also seek changes in our business practices. For example, since 2007, we have been in class action litigation with non-participating providers over our payments to them, and during 2009, we settled a matter with the New York Attorney General that caused us to transition to different databases to determine the amount we pay non-participating providers under certain benefit plan designs. While we currently have insurance coverage for some potential liabilities, other potential liabilities may not be covered by insurance, insurers may dispute coverage, or the amount of our insurance may not be enough to cover the damages awarded or costs incurred. In addition, some types of damages, like punitive damages, may not be covered by insurance, and in some jurisdictions the coverage of punitive damages is prohibited. Insurance coverage for all or some forms of liability may become unavailable or prohibitively expensive in the future.

The transition to ICD-10 occurred on October 1, 2015. It is possible that we could be exposed to investigations and allegations of noncompliance with ICD-10 and related regulations, which could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Litigation and other adverse legal proceedings could materially adversely affect our business or operating results because of reputational harm to us caused by such proceedings, the costs of defending such proceedings, the costs of settlement or judgments against us, or the changes in our operations that could result from such proceedings. Refer to “Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings” in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 139 for more information.

Our use and disclosure of members', customers' and other constituents' sensitive information is subject to complex regulations at multiple levels. We would be adversely affected if we or our business associates or other vendors fail to adequately protect members', customers' or other constituents' sensitive information.

Our information systems are critical to the operation of our business. We collect, process, maintain, retain, evaluate, utilize and distribute large amounts of personal health and financial information and other confidential and sensitive data about our members, customers and other constituents in the ordinary course of our business. Some of our information systems rely upon third party systems to accomplish these tasks. The use and disclosure of such information is regulated at the federal, state and international levels, and these laws, rules and regulations are subject to change and increased enforcement activity, such as the audit program implemented by HHS under HIPAA. In some cases, such laws, rules and regulations also apply to our vendors and/or may hold us liable for any violations by our vendors. International laws, rules and regulations governing the use and disclosure of such information are generally more stringent than in the United States, and they vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Noncompliance with any privacy or security laws or regulations, or any security breach, cyber-attack or cybersecurity breach, and any incident involving the theft, misappropriation, loss or other unauthorized disclosure of, or access to, sensitive or confidential member information, whether by us, by one of our vendors or by another third party, could require us to expend significant resources to remediate any damage, interrupt our operations and damage our reputation, and could also result in investigations, regulatory enforcement actions, material fines and penalties, loss of customers, litigation or other actions which could have a material adverse effect on our business, brand, reputation, cash flows and operating results.

Our business depends on our members' and customers' willingness to entrust us with their health related and other sensitive personal information. Events that negatively affect that trust, including failing to keep our information technology systems and our members' and customers' sensitive information secure from significant attack, theft, damage, loss or unauthorized disclosure or access, whether as a result of our action or inaction or that of our business associates, vendors or other third parties, including our PBM services suppliers, could adversely affect our reputation, membership and revenues and also expose us to mandatory disclosure to the media, litigation (including class action litigation) and other enforcement proceedings, material fines, penalties and/or remediation costs, and compensatory, special, punitive and statutory damages, consent orders, adverse actions against our licenses to do business and/or injunctive relief, any of which could adversely affect our business, cash flows, operating results or financial position. There can be no assurance that any such failure will not occur, or if any does occur, that we will detect it or that it can be sufficiently remediated.

We are subject to retroactive adjustments to and/or withholding of certain premiums and fees, including as a result of CMS RADV audits. We generally rely on health care providers to appropriately code claim submissions and document their medical records. If these records do not appropriately support our risk adjusted premiums, we may be required to refund premium payments to CMS.

Premiums and/or fees for Medicare members, certain federal government employee groups and Medicaid beneficiaries are subject to retroactive adjustments and/or withholding by the federal and applicable state governments. Our Public Exchange business, including amounts payable to us or payable by us under the Health Care Reform premium stabilization programs and our risk adjustment and reinsurance data, also is subject to audit by governmental authorities. CMS regularly audits our performance to determine our compliance with CMS's regulations and our contracts with CMS and to assess the quality of the services we provide to our Medicare members.

CMS uses various payment mechanisms to allocate and adjust premium payments to our and other companies' Medicare plans by considering the applicable health status of Medicare members as supported by information prepared, maintained and provided by health care providers. We collect claim and encounter data from providers and generally rely on providers to appropriately code their submissions to us and document their medical records, including the diagnosis data submitted to us with claims. CMS pays increased premiums to Medicare Advantage plans and PDPs for members who have certain medical conditions identified with specific diagnosis codes. Federal regulators review and audit the providers' medical records to determine whether those records support the related diagnosis codes that determine the members' health status and the resulting risk-adjusted premium payments to us.

In that regard, CMS has instituted risk adjustment data validation (“RADV”) audits of a subset of Medicare Advantage plans for various contract years, including certain of the Company’s plans for certain contract years, to validate coding practices and supporting medical record documentation maintained by health care providers and the resulting risk adjusted premium payments to the plans. CMS may require us to refund premium payments if our risk adjusted premiums are not properly supported by medical record data. The OIG also is auditing risk adjustment data of other companies, and we expect CMS and the OIG to continue auditing risk adjustment data.

CMS revised its audit methodology for RADV audits to determine refunds payable by Medicare Advantage plans for contract year 2011 and forward. Under the revised methodology, among other things, CMS will project the error rate identified in the audit sample of approximately 200 members to all risk adjusted premium payments made under the contract being audited. Historically, CMS did not project sample error rates to the entire contract. As a result, the revised methodology may increase our exposure to premium refunds to CMS based on incomplete medical records maintained by providers.

Since 2013, CMS has selected certain of our Medicare Advantage contracts for contract years 2011 and 2012 for audit. In December 2015, CMS released a RFI for a significant expansion of the RADV audit program. As described in the RFI, CMS would use third party auditors to attain its ultimate goal of subjecting all Medicare Advantage contracts to either a comprehensive or a targeted RADV audit for each contract year. We are currently unable to predict which of our Medicare Advantage contracts will be selected for future audit, the amounts of any retroactive refunds of, or prospective adjustments to, Medicare Advantage premium payments made to us, the effect of any such refunds or adjustments on the actuarial soundness of our Medicare Advantage bids, or whether any RADV audit findings would require us to change to our method of estimating future premium revenue in future bid submissions to CMS or compromise premium assumptions made in our bids for prior contract years or the current contract year. For additional information, refer to “Regulatory Environment - Medicare” beginning on page 34.

If we fail to report and correct errors discovered through our own auditing procedures or during a CMS audit or otherwise fail to comply with the applicable laws and regulations, we could be subject to fines, civil penalties or other sanctions which could have a material adverse effect on our ability to participate in Medicare Advantage, Part D or other government programs, and on our financial position, cash flows and operating results. CMS has issued a final rule implementing ACA requirements that Medicare Advantage and PDP plans report and refund to CMS overpayments that those plans receive from CMS. However, CMS’s statements in formalized guidance regarding “overpayments” to Medicare Advantage plans appear to be inconsistent with CMS’s prior RADV audit guidance. These statements appear to equate each Medicare Advantage risk adjustment data error with an “overpayment” without reconciliation to the principles underlying the fee for service adjustment comparison contemplated by CMS’s RADV audit methodology. The precise interpretation, impact and legality of the final rule are not clear and are subject to pending litigation. If Medicare Advantage plans were not paid based on payment model principles that align with the requirements of the Social Security Act or such payments were not implemented correctly, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations, financial position or cash flows.

Certain of our Medicaid contracts require the submission of complete and correct encounter data. The accurate and timely reporting of encounter data is increasingly important to the success of our Medicaid programs because more states are using encounter data to determine compliance with performance standards and, in part, to set premium rates. We have expended and may continue to expend additional effort and incur significant additional costs to collect accurate, or to correct inaccurate or incomplete, encounter data and have been and could be exposed to premium withholding, operating sanctions and financial fines and penalties for noncompliance. We have experienced challenges in obtaining complete and accurate encounter data due to difficulties with providers and third-party vendors submitting claims in a timely fashion in the proper format, and with state agencies in coordinating such submissions. As states increase their reliance on encounter data, these difficulties could affect the Medicaid premium rates we receive and how Medicaid membership is assigned to us, which could have a material adverse effect on our Medicaid operating results, cash flows and/or our ability to bid for, and continue to participate in, certain Medicaid programs.

Any premium or fee refunds, adjustments or withholding resulting from regulatory audits, whether as a result of RADV, Public Exchange related, recovery audit program or other audits by CMS, the OIG, HHS or otherwise, including audits of our minimum medical loss ratio rebates, methodology and/or reports, could be material and could adversely affect our operating results, financial position and cash flows. For more information see “Regulatory Environment” beginning on page 26.

If our service providers fail to meet their contractual obligations to us or to comply with applicable laws or regulations, we may be exposed to reputational harm, litigation or regulatory action. This risk is particularly high in our Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible programs.

We contract with various third parties to perform certain functions and services and provide us with certain information technology systems. Our arrangements with these third parties may expose us to public scrutiny, adversely affect our reputation, expose us to litigation or regulatory action, and otherwise make our operations vulnerable if we fail to adequately monitor and regulate their performance or if they fail to meet their contractual obligations to us or to comply with applicable laws or regulations. For example, certain of our vendors have been responsible for releases of sensitive information of our members and employees, which has caused us to incur additional expenses and given rise to litigation against us.

These risks are particularly high in our Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible programs, where third parties perform pharmacy benefit management, medical management and other member related services for us. Any failure of our or these third parties’ prevention, detection or control systems related to regulatory compliance, compliance with our internal policies, data security and/or cybersecurity or any incident involving the theft, misappropriation, loss or other unauthorized disclosure of, or access to, members’, customers’ or other constituents’ sensitive information could require us to expend significant resources to remediate any damage, interrupt our operations and adversely affect our reputation and also expose us to whistleblower, class action and other litigation, other proceedings, prohibitions on marketing or active or passive enrollment of members, corrective actions, fines, sanctions and/or penalties, any of which could adversely affect our business, cash flows, operating results or financial position. For more information on these matters, see “Our business activities are highly regulated. Our Medicare, Medicaid, specialty and mail order pharmacy, Public Exchange and certain other products are subject to particularly extensive and complex regulations. If we fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations, we could be subject to significant adverse regulatory actions or suffer reputational harm which may have a material adverse effect on our business. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, our exposure to these risks will increase significantly. Compliance with future laws, regulations and/or judicial decisions may reduce our profitability and limit our growth”, beginning on page 55.

Programs funded by the U.S. federal government account for a substantial portion of our revenue and operating earnings. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the portion of our revenues that is funded by the U.S. federal government will increase significantly. A delay by Congress in raising the federal government’s debt ceiling could lead to a delay, reduction, suspension or cancellation of federal government spending and a significant increase in interest rates that could, in turn, have a material adverse effect on our businesses, operating results and cash flows.

The federal government’s “debt ceiling”, or the amount of debt the federal government is permitted to borrow to meet its legal obligations (including, among other things, interest on the national debt, Medicare and Medicaid premiums, Social Security benefits and contributions to the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program), is limited by statute and can only be raised by an act of Congress.

If Congress does not raise the debt ceiling before the federal government’s current obligations approach or exceed its cash on hand and incoming receipts, federal government spending may be subject to delay, reduction, suspension or cancellation, including a federal government shutdown, which may be prolonged. A significant portion of our revenues are derived from health care coverage programs that are funded in whole or in part by the federal government, including the Medicare, Medicaid, and dual eligible programs, CHIP and the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program and subsidies for qualified individuals and families purchasing health insurance through Public Exchanges. Completion of the Proposed Acquisition will increase significantly the portion of our revenues that is funded in whole or in part by the federal government. If federal spending is delayed, suspended or curtailed, we would continue to receive claims from providers providing services to beneficiaries of these programs, and we could be liable for, and be required to fund, such claims. Furthermore, the terms of our disability products often provide that the benefits due to beneficiaries are reduced by the amount of certain federal benefits they receive, most notably Social Security Disability Insurance (“SSDI”) payments. If such payments are suspended or reduced due to a failure to timely raise the debt ceiling, our disability payment obligations would be increased accordingly, and such increase could be material. If beneficiaries subsequently receive such payments from the federal government, we would seek reimbursement or attempt to offset a portion of such payments against future disability benefit payments. We may not be successful in recovering the amount sought. A failure to timely raise the debt ceiling could have a material adverse effect on our businesses, operating results, cash flows and reputation and, in the case of a prolonged failure to raise the debt ceiling, our financial position.

If the United States defaults on its obligations due to a failure to timely raise the debt ceiling or otherwise, or its credit rating is downgraded by any of the credit rating agencies, interest rates could rise, financial markets could become volatile and/or the availability of credit (and short-term credit in particular) could be adversely affected, thereby increasing our borrowing costs, negatively impacting the value of our investment portfolio, and/or adversely affecting our ability to access the capital markets, which could have a material adverse effect on our operating results, financial position and cash flows and could adversely affect our liquidity.

Risks Related to Our Business

We may not be able to accurately forecast health care and other benefit costs, which could adversely affect our operating results. We may not be able to obtain appropriate pricing on new or renewal business.

Premiums for our insured Health Care Products, which comprised 86% and 85% of our total consolidated revenues for 2015 and 2014, respectively, are priced in advance based on our forecasts of health care and other benefit costs during a fixed premium period, which is generally one year. These forecasts are typically developed several months before the fixed premium period begins, are influenced by historical data (and recent historical data in particular), are dependent on our ability to anticipate and detect medical cost trends, and require a significant degree of judgment. For example, our revenue on Medicare policies is based on bids submitted in June of the year before the contract year. Cost increases in excess of our projections cannot be recovered in the fixed premium period through higher premiums. As a result, our profits are particularly sensitive to the accuracy of our forecasts and our ability to anticipate and detect medical cost trends. Even relatively small differences between predicted and actual health care and other benefit costs as a percentage of premium revenues can result in significant adverse changes in our operating results.

Our health care and other benefit costs can be affected by external events that we cannot forecast or project and over which we have little or no control, such as emerging changes in the economy and/or public policy, government mandated benefits or other regulatory changes, changes in health care practices, new technologies, increases in the cost of prescription drugs, direct-to-consumer marketing by pharmaceutical companies, clusters of high cost cases, influenza related health care costs (which may be substantial and are currently projected to be lower in 2015-2016 than in 2014-2015), epidemics, pandemics, terrorist attacks or other man-made disasters, natural disasters or other events that materially increase utilization of medical and/or other covered services, as well as changes in members’ behavior and healthcare utilization patterns and provider billing practices. Our health care and other benefit costs also can be affected by changes in our business mix, product designs, contracts with providers, medical management, underwriting, rating and/or claims processing methods and processes, and our medical management initiatives may not deliver the reduction in utilization and/or medical cost trend that we project.

It is particularly difficult to accurately anticipate, detect, forecast, manage and reserve for medical cost trends and utilization of medical and/or other covered services during and following periods when such utilization and/or trends are below recent historical levels and during periods of changing economic conditions and employment levels. For example, during calendar year 2014, medical costs in our smaller middle market and individual businesses were higher than we projected, and during the calendar years 2010-2013, medical costs and members’ utilization of medical and/or other covered services were lower than we projected and members’ utilization was below recent historical levels. The recent favorable experience is not projected to continue in 2016, as we expect utilization to increase in 2016 when compared to 2015.

We have implemented price increases for 2016. If health care and other benefit costs are higher than the levels reflected in our pricing or if we are not able to obtain appropriate pricing on new or renewal business, our prices will not reflect the risk we assume, and our operating results will be adversely affected. If health care and other benefit costs are lower than we predict, our prices may be higher than those of our competitors, which may cause us to lose membership. For more information, see “Critical Accounting Estimates - Health Care Costs Payable” beginning on page 20.

Competitive and economic pressures may limit our ability to increase pricing to reflect higher costs or may force us to accept lower margins. If customers elect to self-insure, reduce benefits or adversely renegotiate or amend their agreements with us, our revenues and operating results will be negatively affected.

Our customer contracts are generally for a period of one year, and our customers have considerable flexibility in moving between us and our competitors. One of the key factors on which we compete for customers, especially in light of the current adverse and uncertain economic environment, is overall cost. We are therefore under pressure to contain premium price increases despite being faced with increasing health care and other benefit costs and increasing operating costs. If we are unable to increase our prices to reflect increasing costs, our profitability will be adversely affected. If we are unable to limit our price increases, we may lose members to competitors with more favorable pricing, adversely affecting our revenues and operating results.

In response to rising prices, our customers may elect to self-insure or to reduce benefits in order to limit increases in their benefit costs. Alternatively, our customers may purchase different types of products from us that are less profitable. Such elections may result in reduced membership in our more profitable Insured products and/or lower premiums for our Insured products, which may adversely affect our revenues and operating results, although such elections also may reduce our health care and other benefit costs.

In addition, our Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP products are subject to termination without cause, periodic re-bid, rate adjustment and program redesign, as customers seek to contain their benefit costs, particularly in an adverse and/or uncertain economy. These actions may adversely affect our membership, revenues and operating results.

If we fail to compete effectively in the geographies and product areas in which we operate, including maintaining or increasing membership in our Health Care business, our operating results, financial position and cash flows could be materially and adversely affected.

The health care benefits industry is highly competitive, primarily due to a large number of for-profit and not-for-profit competitors, our competitors' marketing and pricing, and a proliferation of competing products, including new products that are continually being introduced into the marketplace. Our businesses face significant competition in all of the geographies and product areas in which we operate. New entrants into the marketplace, as well as consolidation within the industry, have contributed to and are expected to intensify the competitive environment. In addition, the rapid pace of change as the industry evolves towards a consumer-focused retail marketplace, including Public and Private Exchanges, and the increased use of technology to interact with members, providers and customers, increase the risks we currently face from new entrants and disruptive actions by existing competitors compared to prior periods.

In our Health Care business, we compete on the basis of many factors, including perceived overall quality, quality of service, comprehensiveness of coverage, cost (including premium, provider discounts and member out-of-pocket costs), product design, financial stability and ratings, breadth and quality of provider networks, providers available in such networks, and quality of member support and care management programs. Our competitors in our Health Care business include, among others, United HealthGroup, Inc., Anthem, Inc., Humana Inc., Cigna Corporation, WellCare Health Plans, Inc., Centene Corporation, Health Net, Inc., Kaiser Permanente, health system owned health plans, Oscar Health and other new entrants into the marketplace, and numerous for-profit and not-for-profit organizations operating under licenses from the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association. Additional competitors in our businesses include other types of medical and dental provider organizations, various specialty service providers (including pharmacy benefit management services providers), health care consultants, financial services companies (including Fidelity Investments), integrated health care delivery organizations (networks of providers who also coordinate administrative services for and assume insurance risk of their members), third-party administrators, HIT companies and, for certain plans, programs sponsored by the federal or state governments. Emerging competitors include start up health care benefit plans such as Oscar Health, technology firms, financial services firms such as Fidelity Investments that are distributing competing products on their proprietary Private Exchanges, consulting firms that are distributing competing products on their proprietary Private Exchanges, as well as non-traditional distributors such as retail companies. In particular geographies, competitors may have greater capabilities, resources or membership; a more established reputation; superior supplier or health care professional arrangements; better business relationships; or other factors that give such competitors a competitive advantage. We have begun to compete for sales on Insurance Exchanges and to operate our consumer business, where we face additional risks from existing and new competitors (including our vendors) who have lower cost structures, greater experience marketing to consumers and/or who target the higher margin portions of our business. Among our international and HIT competitors, many have longer operating histories, better brand recognition and greater market presence in many of the areas in which we are seeking to expand and more experience at rapidly innovating products. If we do not compete effectively in the geographies and product areas in which we operate, our business, operating results, financial position and cash flows could be materially and adversely affected.

A number of factors, many of which are beyond our control, contribute to rising health care and other benefit costs. If we are unable to satisfactorily manage our health care and other benefit costs, our operating results and competitiveness will be adversely affected.

A number of factors contribute to rising health care and other benefit costs, including newly insured members entering the health care system, changes in members' behavior and healthcare utilization patterns, government mandated benefits or other regulatory changes, the aging of the population and other changing demographic characteristics, advances in medical technology, increases in the cost of prescription drugs (including specialty pharmacy drugs such as hepatitis C treatments), direct-to-consumer marketing by pharmaceutical companies, the increasing influence of social media, inflation and government-imposed limitations on Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements to health plans and providers, which have caused the private sector to bear a greater share of increasing health care and other benefits costs over time. Other factors that affect our health care and other benefit costs include changes as a result of Health Care Reform and other changes in the regulatory environment, the shift to a consumer driven business model, implementation of ICD-10, changes in health care practices, general economic conditions (such as inflation and employment levels), new technologies, clusters of high-cost cases, epidemics or pandemics, health care provider and member fraud, and numerous other factors that are or may be beyond our control.

Our operating results and competitiveness depend in large part on our ability to appropriately manage future health care and other benefit costs through underwriting criteria, product design, provider network configuration, negotiation of favorable provider contracts and medical management programs. Our medical cost management programs may not be successful and may have a smaller impact on health care and benefit costs than we expect. The factors described above may adversely affect our ability to predict and manage health care and other benefit costs, which can adversely affect our competitiveness and operating results.

The U.S. federal government and our other government customers may reduce funding for health care or other programs, cancel or decline to renew contracts with us, or may make changes that adversely affect the number of persons eligible for certain programs, the services provided to enrollees in such programs, our premiums and our administrative and health care and other benefit costs. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the portion of our revenues and health care costs that are derived from the U.S. federal government and other government customers will increase significantly.

Our revenues from government-funded health and other programs, including our Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible businesses and our government customers in our Commercial business, are dependent on annual funding by the federal government and/or applicable state or local governments. Upon completion of the Proposed Acquisition, the portion of our revenues and health care costs that are derived from the U.S. federal government and other government customers will increase significantly. Federal, state and local governments have the right to cancel or not to renew their contracts with us on short notice without cause or if funds are not available. Funding for these programs is dependent on many factors outside our control, including general economic conditions, continuing government efforts to contain health care costs and budgetary constraints at the federal or applicable state or local level and general political issues and priorities.

For example, while Health Care Reform significantly expanded the number of people who qualify to enroll in Medicaid beginning in 2014, most states continue to face significant budget challenges, several states are currently seeking to reduce their Medicaid expenditures, and other states may take similar action. Our government customers also determine the premium levels and other aspects of Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligible programs that affect the number of persons eligible for or enrolled in these programs, the services provided to enrollees under the programs, and our administrative and health care and other benefit costs under these programs. In the past, determinations of this type have adversely affected our financial results from and willingness to participate in such programs, and they may do so again in the future. For example, effective January 1, 2015, we terminated our Insured Medicaid contract in Delaware because we did not believe the premium level was adequate. If a government customer reduces premium levels or increases premiums by less than the increase in our costs (such as by not allowing us to recover applicable Health Care Reform fees, taxes and assessments), and we cannot offset the impact of these actions with supplemental premiums and/or changes in benefit plans, then our business and operating results could be adversely affected. In addition, if states allow certain programs to expire or choose to opt out of Medicaid expansion, we could experience reduced Medicaid enrollment or reduced Medicaid enrollment growth, which would adversely affect our business, revenues and operating results.

In addition, the terms of our disability products often provide that the benefits due to beneficiaries are reduced by the amount of certain federal benefits they receive, most notably SSDI payments. If such payments are suspended or reduced for any reason, including due to funding shortfalls for the SSDI program, our disability payment obligations would be increased accordingly, and such increase could be material.

Our ability to anticipate and detect medical cost trends and achieve appropriate pricing on Insurance Exchanges could adversely affect our operating results. There can be no assurance that the future health care benefit costs of our Insurance Exchange products will not exceed our projections.

Unanticipated increases in our Insurance Exchange product health care benefit costs could adversely affect our operating results. Coverage under Public Exchange products commenced on January 1, 2014. We do not have prior experience with pricing Public Exchange products or utilization of medical and/or other covered services by Public Exchange product members, particularly those members who purchase coverage during special election periods and typically have higher utilization of medical and/or other covered services. Our Public Exchange products were not profitable in 2015. We have set 2016 premium rates for our Public Exchange products based on our projections, including as to the funding for Health Care Reform's risk corridors and other premium stabilization programs (which programs provide us with less protection in 2016 than 2015 and will provide us with less protection in 2017 than 2016), the health status and quantity of Public Exchange membership and utilization of medical and/or other covered services by Public Exchange product members.

The premium rates for our Insurance Exchange products are set in advance and fixed for one-year periods. As a result, health care benefit costs in excess of the projections reflected in our Insurance Exchange product pricing cannot be recovered in the fixed premium period through higher premiums. Although, if they are funded, in certain circumstances, federal risk adjustment mechanisms could help offset health care benefit costs in excess of our projections in our Public Exchange products, the profitability of our Insurance Exchange products is particularly sensitive to the accuracy of our forecasts of health care benefit costs. Those forecasts were made several months before the fixed premium period began, require a significant degree of judgment and are dependent on our ability to detect medical cost trends as well as the accuracy of our projections used in setting our Insurance Exchange product premium rates.

There can be no assurance regarding the accuracy of the health care benefit cost, membership or other projections reflected in our Insurance Exchange product pricing or that we will receive any payments under the risk corridors or any other federal risk adjustment mechanism with respect to our Public Exchange membership. For example, in October 2015, HHS announced that Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables for the 2014 program year would only be funded at 12.6%. The risks related to the accuracy of projections reflected in our pricing are magnified by adverse selection among individuals who require or utilize more expensive medical and/or other covered services (such as those who purchase coverage during special election periods) and legislation, regulations, enforcement activity and/or judicial decisions that cause Insurance Exchanges to operate in a manner different than what we projected in setting our Insurance Exchange product premium rates, such as ongoing initiatives in several states to require insurers to allow members to pay insurers less for certain high cost drugs than the amounts assumed in pricing of their Public Exchange products or situations where Health Care Reform co-op insolvencies may require us to take on Public Exchange membership that we did not anticipate or price for. In addition, the limited payments under the Health Care Reform risk corridor program for the 2014 program year may create instability in the marketplace for individual Commercial products in 2016 and going forward by, among other things, causing health plans to change or stop offering their Public Exchange products. For additional information on certain of the medical cost trend, pricing and economic conditions risks associated with our Insurance Exchange and other Health Care products, see "We may not be able to accurately forecast health care and other benefit costs, which could adversely affect our operating results. We may not be able to obtain appropriate pricing on new or renewal business", beginning on page 63; and "We may not be able to obtain adequate premium rate increases, which would have an adverse effect on our revenues, medical benefit ratios and operating results and could magnify the adverse impact of increases in health care and other benefit costs and of Health Care Reform assessments, fees and taxes”, beginning on page 54.

The reserves we hold for expected claims are based on estimates that involve an extensive degree of judgment and are inherently variable. If actual claims exceed our estimates, our operating results could be materially adversely affected, and our ability to take timely corrective actions to limit future costs may be limited.

A large portion of health care claims are not submitted to us until after the end of the quarter in which services are rendered by providers to our members. Our reported health care costs payable for any particular period reflect our estimates of the ultimate cost of such claims as well as claims that have been reported to us but not yet paid. We also must estimate the amount of rebates payable under Health Care Reform’s minimum MLR rules and the amounts payable by us to, and receivable by us from, the U.S. federal government under Health Care Reform’s premium stabilization programs.

Our estimates of health care costs payable are based on a number of factors, including those derived from historical claim experience, but this estimation process also makes use of extensive judgment. Considerable variability is inherent in such estimates, and the accuracy of the estimates is highly sensitive to changes in medical claims submission and processing patterns and/or procedures, changes in membership and product mix, changes in the utilization of medical and/or other covered services, changes in medical cost trends, changes in our medical management practices and the introduction of new benefits and products. We estimate health care costs payable periodically, and any resulting adjustments are reflected in current-period operating results within health care costs. A worsening (or improvement) of health care cost trend rates or changes in claim payment patterns from those that we assumed in estimating health care costs payable at December 31, 2015 would cause these estimates to change in the near term, and such a change could be material.

Furthermore, if we are not able to accurately and promptly anticipate and detect medical cost trends or accurately estimate the cost of incurred but not yet reported claims or reported claims that have not been paid, our ability to take timely corrective actions to limit future costs and reflect our current benefit cost experience in our pricing process may be limited, which would further exacerbate the extent of any negative impact on our operating results. These risks are particularly acute during and following periods (such as calendar years 2010-2013) when utilization of medical and/or other covered services and/or medical cost trends are below recent historical levels and such risks are further magnified by Health Care Reform and other legislation and regulations that limit our ability to price for our projected and/or experienced increases in utilization and/or medical cost trends.

The transition to ICD-10 occurred on October 1, 2015. Providers may use ICD-10 codes differently than they used ICD-9 codes in the past, which could result in lost revenues under risk adjustment. As a result of the transition to ICD-10, our results of operations, financial position and cash flows may be adversely affected.

Refer to our discussion of “Critical Accounting Estimates - Health Care Costs Payable” beginning on page 20 for more information.

Our medical membership remains concentrated in certain geographic areas and industries, exposing us to unfavorable changes in local benefit costs, reimbursement rates, competition and economic conditions.

Our medical membership remains concentrated in certain geographic areas in the United States and in certain industries. Unfavorable changes in health care or other benefit costs or reimbursement rates or increased competition in those geographic areas where our membership is concentrated could therefore have a disproportionately adverse effect on our operating results. Our membership has been and may continue to be affected by workforce reductions by our customers due to adverse and/or uncertain general economic conditions, especially in the U.S. geographies and industries where our membership is concentrated. As a result, we may not be able to profitably grow and diversify our membership geographically, by product type or by customer industry, and our revenue and operating results may be disproportionately affected by adverse changes affecting our customers.

A change in our health care product mix may impact our profit margins.

Our health care products that involve greater potential risk generally tend to be more profitable than administrative services contract products. Individuals and small employer groups are more likely to purchase our higher-risk health care products because such purchasers are generally unable or unwilling to bear greater liability for health care expenditures. Typically, government-sponsored programs also involve our higher-risk health care products and have lower profit margins than our Insured Commercial products, and our membership is projected to shift towards higher revenue, higher MBR Government products in 2016. In 2014 and 2015, our products sold on the Public Exchanges were not profitable. A shift of enrollees from more profitable products to less profitable products could have a material adverse effect on our operating results.

Bids for non-Commercial business in our Health Care segment are increasingly subject to challenge, which may adversely affect contracts initially awarded to us and may result in increased costs.

We continue to increase our focus on the non-Commercial portion of our Health Care segment as part of our business diversification efforts. That portion of our business increased as a percentage of our total business due to the Coventry acquisition in 2013 and would significantly increase upon the closing of the Proposed Acquisition. We are seeking to substantially grow our Medicare, Medicaid and dual eligibles business over the next several years. In many instances, to acquire and retain our non-Commercial business, we must bid against our competitors in an increasingly competitive environment. Winning bids increasingly are being challenged successfully. In cases where our bid is successful, we may incur unreimbursed implementation and other costs to meet contractual deadlines even if we ultimately lose the challenge.

Extreme events, or the threat of extreme events, could materially increase our health care (including behavioral health), life insurance and disability costs and impact our business continuity. We cannot predict whether or when any such events will occur.

Nuclear, biological or other attacks, whether as a result of war or terrorism, other man-made disasters, natural disasters, epidemics, pandemics and other extreme events can affect the U.S. economy in general, our industry and us specifically. In particular, such extreme events or the threat of such extreme events could result in significant health care (including behavioral health), life insurance and disability costs, which would also be affected by the government's actions and the responsiveness of public health agencies and other insurers. In addition, our life insurance members and our employees and those of our vendors are concentrated in certain large, metropolitan areas which may be particularly exposed to these events. Such events could adversely affect our business, cash flows, and operating results, and, in the event of extreme circumstances, our financial position or viability.

Our business could also be adversely affected if we do not maintain adequate procedures to ensure disaster recovery and business continuity during and after such events. Other than obtaining insurance coverage for our facilities and limited reinsurance of our Health Care and/or Group Insurance liabilities, there are few, if any, commercial options through which to transfer the exposure from terrorism or other extreme events away from us.

Risks Related to Our Operations

Unless we are able to develop alternative sources of revenue and earnings and achieve transformational change in our business model, our ability to profitably grow our business could be adversely affected.

We operate in a highly competitive environment and in an industry that is subject to significant ongoing changes from marketplace pressures brought about by public policy forces, Health Care Reform, Insurance Exchanges, customer demands, business consolidations, strategic alliances, new market entrants, legislative and regulatory changes and marketing practices. As a result of Health Care Reform, the declining number of commercially insured people and other factors, our ability to grow profitably through the sale of traditional Insured health care and related benefits products in the United States may be limited. In order to profitably grow our business in the future, we need to diversify the sources of our revenue and earnings and transform our business model, including through developing and expanding our consumer business, making investments in consumer engagement capabilities and our Healthagen technology and other services for health systems and provider organizations (including joint ventures, ACOs and collaborative provider networks), optimizing our business platforms and expanding internationally.

Achieving these goals will require us to devote significant senior management and other resources to acquisitions or other transactions and to develop internally or acquire new products, solutions and technology before any significant revenues or earnings are generated from such initiatives. If we are not able to acquire and/or develop and launch new products and solutions, including internationally, our ability to profitably grow our business could be adversely affected.

We may not be able to effectively manage our general and administrative expenses to competitive levels, which may reduce our membership or profitability, or we may need to implement expense reduction measures that adversely affect our future growth potential.

Our operating results depend in part on our ability to manage our general and administrative expenses to competitive levels while delivering improved customer, member and provider service and expanding our marketplace presence and accomplishing our strategic initiatives, including developing, operating and expanding our consumer business. Controlling general and administrative expenses is particularly important in our Health Care businesses that are subject to regulatory changes that may restrict our underwriting margins, such as minimum MLR requirements. We have significant fixed costs, and our ability to reduce variable costs in the short term is limited. We attempt to manage general and administrative expenses by, among other things, reducing the number of products we offer and controlling costs for salaries and related benefits, information technology and other general and administrative costs. However, we may not be successful in achieving the intended benefits of the cost-cutting initiatives we undertake. In addition, these cost saving measures may adversely affect our ability to implement Health Care Reform and other regulatory requirements, attract and retain key employees, maintain robust management practices and controls, implement improvements in technology and achieve our strategic goals, including profitable membership growth. Given the foregoing, we can provide no assurance that we will be able to manage our general and administrative expenses to competitive levels, which may reduce our membership, profitability and operating results and adversely affect our business and future growth potential.

We have experienced cyber attacks. We can provide no assurance that we will be able to detect, prevent or contain the effects of such attacks or other information security (including cybersecurity) risks or threats in the future.

We have experienced a variety of cyber attacks, and we expect to continue to experience cyber attacks going forward. Among other things, we have experienced automated attempts to gain access to our public facing networks, brute force, SYN flood and distributed denial of service attacks, attempted virus infections, mass reconnaissance attempts, malware or injection attempts, phishing, PHP injection and cross-site scripting. Although the impact of such attacks has not been material to our operations or results of operations through December 31, 2015, we can provide no assurance that we will be able to detect, prevent or contain the effects of such attacks or other information security (including cybersecurity) risks or threats in the future. As we expand our Healthagen[®] business, including through our growth of ACS, Medicity, and ActiveHealth, increase the amount of information we make available to members, consumers and providers on mobile devices, expand our use of vendors, expand internationally and expand our use of social media, our exposure to these data security and related cybersecurity risks, including the risk of undetected attacks, damage, loss or unauthorized disclosure or access to and/or disruption of our systems and the customer, member, provider, employee, ACO, joint venture, vendor and other third party information they contain, increases, and the cost of attempting to protect against these risks also increases.

The costs of attempting to protect against the foregoing risks and the costs of responding to a cyber-incident are significant. Following a cyber-incident, our remediation efforts may not be successful, and a cyber-incident could result in interruptions, delays or cessation of service, and loss of existing or potential customers. In addition, breaches of our security measures and the unauthorized dissemination of sensitive personal information or proprietary information or confidential information about us, our customers or other third-parties, could expose our customers' private information and our customers to the risk of financial or medical identity theft, or expose us or other third parties to a risk of loss or misuse of this information, and result in investigations, regulatory enforcement actions, material fines and penalties, loss of customers, litigation or other actions which could have a material adverse effect on our business, brand, reputation, cash flows and operating results.

Our business success and operating results depend in part on effective information technology systems and on continuing to develop and implement improvements in technology.

We have many different information and other technology systems supporting our businesses (including as a result of our Coventry, InterGlobal and bswift acquisitions), and we will add a significant number of new systems upon the completion of the Proposed Acquisition. Our businesses depend in large part on these systems to adequately price our products and services; accurately establish reserves, process claims and report financial results; and interact with providers, employer plan sponsors, members and vendors, including our PBM services suppliers, in an efficient and uninterrupted fashion. Certain of our technology systems (including software) are older, legacy systems that are less flexible, less efficient and require a significant ongoing commitment of capital and human resources to maintain, protect and enhance them and to integrate them with our other systems. We must re-engineer and reduce the number of these systems to meet changing consumer and vendor preferences and needs, improve our productivity and reduce our operating expenses. We also need to develop or acquire new technology systems or modify certain of our existing systems to support the consumer business we are developing, operating and seeking to expand and/or to meet current and developing industry and regulatory standards, including with regard to minimum MLR rebates, Public Exchanges, and other aspects of Health Care Reform, and Private Exchanges, and to keep pace with continuing changes in information processing technology and emerging cybersecurity risks and threats. If we fail to achieve these objectives, our ability to profitably grow our business and/or our operating results may be adversely affected.

Our business strategy involves providing customers with differentiated, easy to use, secure products and solutions that use information to meet customer needs. The types of technology and levels of service that are acceptable to customers and members today will not necessarily be acceptable in the future, requiring us to anticipate and meet marketplace demands for technology. Our success therefore is dependent in large part on our ability, within the context of a limited budget of human resources and capital and our existing business relationships, to timely secure, integrate, develop, redesign and enhance our technology systems that support our business strategy initiatives and processes in a compliant, secure, and cost and resource efficient manner. Integration of our acquisitions, including Coventry, increases, and integration of Humana following completion of the Proposed Acquisition would increase significantly, these challenges, and we may not be successful in integrating various systems in a timely or cost-effective manner.

Information technology projects are long-term in nature and may take longer to complete and cost more than we expect and may not deliver the benefits we project once they are complete. If we do not effectively and efficiently secure, manage, integrate and enhance our technology portfolio, we could, among other things, have problems determining health care cost and other benefit cost estimates and/or establishing appropriate pricing, meeting the needs of providers, employer plan sponsors and members, operating our consumer business or keeping pace with industry and regulatory standards, and our operating results may be adversely affected.

In order to remain competitive, we must further integrate our businesses, processes and systems. Pursuing multiple initiatives simultaneously could make this integration significantly more challenging.

Many of our businesses, processes and systems, both those we have acquired or will acquire, including Humana, and those we have developed or are developing, are not integrated, are complex or require disproportionate resources in order to work together effectively. Businesses, processes and systems that are excessively complex or are not effectively integrated may adversely affect our ability to compete by, among other things, increasing our costs relative to competitors, reducing our flexibility and limiting our ability to react quickly to marketplace opportunities or changing circumstances. Accordingly, we must effectively and efficiently simplify and integrate these businesses, processes and systems to meet changing consumer and vendor needs and improve our productivity. This task is significantly more difficult when we pursue multiple transactions or other initiatives, such as significant acquisitions (including the Proposed Acquisition), strategic alliances, joint ventures and multi-year strategic projects (including developing, operating and seeking to expand our consumer business and implementing new provider support programs), simultaneously. Our existing business partnership relationships and a limited budget of human resources and capital present further challenges.

If we are unable to successfully simplify and integrate our businesses, processes and systems, including those from acquisitions (including the Proposed Acquisition), to realize anticipated economic and other benefits in a timely manner, it could result in substantial costs or delays and adversely affect our business, operations and operating results.

Sales of our products and services are dependent on our ability to attract and motivate internal sales personnel and independent third-party brokers, consultants and agents. We may be subject to penalties or other regulatory actions as a result of the marketing practices of brokers and agents selling our products.

Our products are sold primarily through our sales personnel, who frequently work with independent brokers, consultants and agents who assist in the production and servicing of business. The independent brokers, consultants and agents generally are not dedicated to us exclusively and may frequently recommend and/or market health care benefits products of our competitors. Accordingly, we must compete intensely for their services and allegiance. Our sales could be adversely affected if we are unable to attract, retain or motivate sales personnel and third-party brokers, consultants and agents, or if we do not adequately provide support, training and education to this sales network regarding our complex product portfolio, or if our sales strategy is not appropriately aligned across distribution channels. This risk is heightened as we develop, operate and seek to expand our consumer business and our business model evolves to include a greater focus on consumers and direct-to-consumer sales, such as competing for sales on Insurance Exchanges.

In addition, there have been a number of investigations regarding the marketing practices of brokers and agents selling health care and other insurance products and the payments they receive. These investigations have resulted in enforcement actions against companies in our industry and brokers and agents marketing and selling those companies' products. For example, CMS and state departments of insurance have increased their scrutiny of the marketing practices of brokers and agents who market Medicare products. These investigations and enforcement actions could result in penalties and the imposition of corrective action plans and/or changes to industry practices, which could adversely affect our ability to market our products.

We face a wide range of risks, and our success depends on our ability to identify, prioritize and appropriately manage our enterprise risk exposures.

As a large company operating in multiple complex industries and in many countries, we encounter a variety of risks. The risks we face include, among other matters, the range of industry, competitive, regulatory, financial, operational or external risks identified in this "Forward Looking Information/ Risk Factors" discussion. We continue to devote resources to further develop and integrate our enterprise-wide risk management processes. Failure to identify, prioritize and appropriately manage or mitigate these risks, including risk concentrations across different segments, products (e.g., Insured vs. ASC), industries, customers and geographies, can adversely affect our operating results, our ability to retain or grow business, or, in the event of extreme circumstances, our financial position or business operations.

We also face other risks that could adversely affect our business, operating results or financial position, which include:

- Health care benefits provider fraud that is not prevented or detected and impacts our medical cost trends or those of our self-insured customers. In addition, in an adverse and/or uncertain economic environment, whether in the United States or abroad, our businesses may see increased fraudulent claims volume, which may lead to additional costs because of an increase in disputed claims and litigation;

- Assessments under guaranty fund laws for obligations of insolvent insurance companies (including Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and one of its subsidiaries), HMOs, Health Care Reform co-ops and other payors to policyholders and claimants;
- Failure of our corporate governance policies or procedures, for example significant financial decisions being made at an inappropriate level in our organization;
- Inappropriate application of accounting principles or a significant failure of internal control over financial reporting, which could lead to a restatement of our financial results and/or a deterioration in the soundness and accuracy of our reported financial results;
- Financial loss from inadequate insurance coverage due to self-insurance levels or unavailability of insurance and reinsurance coverage for credit or other reasons;
- Failure to protect our proprietary information, including as a result of cyber-attacks on us, one or more providers and/or one or more of our vendors; and
- Failure to adequately manage our run-off businesses and/or our financial exposure to businesses we have sold.

Risks Related to Customer Perceptions of our Products and Services

In order to be competitive in the growing marketplace for direct-to-consumer sales and on public and private health insurance exchanges, we will need to develop our consumer business and make investments in consumer engagement, reduce our cost structure and face new competitors. If we are unsuccessful, our future growth and profitability may be adversely affected.

Historically, employers have been our most significant customers. Our direct-to-consumer sales have been limited, and our individual Health Care business has been small relative to the other businesses in our Health Care segment. We are developing and operating and seeking to expand our consumer business, and we are now competing for sales on Insurance Exchanges, which are projected to increase as a percentage of our Health Care business over time. To develop, operate and expand our consumer business and compete effectively on Insurance Exchanges, we will be required to develop or acquire the technology systems and tools and talent necessary to interact with Insurance Exchanges and engage individual consumers using Insurance Exchanges and social media, increase our focus on individual consumers and expand and improve our consumer-focused sales and marketing channels, customer interfaces, customer service and product offerings.

We also will have to respond to pricing and other actions taken by existing competitors and regulators as well as potentially disruptive new entrants which could reduce our profit margins. Due to the price transparency provided by Insurance Exchanges, when we market our individual and small group health insurance products we face competitive pressures from existing and new competitors (including our vendors) who have lower cost structures. Our competitors may bring their Insurance Exchange and other consumer products to market more quickly, have greater experience marketing to consumers and/or may be targeting the higher margin portions of our business. These risks may be enhanced if employers shift to defined contribution health care benefits plans and make greater utilization of Private Exchanges or encourage their employees to purchase health insurance on the Public Exchanges. We can provide no assurance that we will be able to develop or operate a successful or profitable consumer business or compete successfully or profitably on Public Exchanges or Private Exchanges or that we will be able to benefit from any opportunities presented by Public Exchanges or Private Exchanges. If we do not develop and expand a competitive and profitable consumer business, are not competitive on Insurance Exchanges or are unsuccessful in reducing our cost structure, our future growth and profitability may be adversely affected.

We may not be able to compete effectively in the HIT business and earn a profit. Our HIT business increases our risk of patent infringement and other intellectual property litigation and may become subject to significant regulation in the future.

With our 2014 acquisition of bswift, our 2011 acquisition of Medicity and our current focus on consumer engagement, ACOs, collaborative provider networks and optimizing our business platforms, we have increased our commitment to HIT products and solutions, a business that is rapidly changing and highly competitive. There is no assurance that we will be able to successfully adapt to changes to the HIT marketplace, or compete effectively and earn a profit in our HIT business. Our technology products and solutions may not operate as intended. Moreover, we may not have identified and mitigated, or be able to identify and mitigate, the significant risks of pursuing the HIT business, including the risk that we will be unable to protect our proprietary rights and the risks of patent infringement and other intellectual property litigation against us. Certain of our HIT products and/or solutions are subject to patent litigation, which is often associated with significant litigations costs, damages and/or injunctions.

In addition, although the HIT industry is not currently subject to significant regulation, we face an uncertain and rapidly evolving federal, state and international legislative and regulatory framework, and certain of our HIT products and/or solutions could be subject to FDA regulation. New legislation and/or regulations may make it difficult to achieve and maintain compliance and could adversely affect both our ability to compete in the HIT business and the operating results of our HIT business.

If we fail to develop new products, differentiate our products from those of our competitors or demonstrate the value of our products to our customers, our ability to retain or grow profitable membership may be adversely affected.

We operate in a rapidly evolving industry. Our customers generally, and our larger customers in particular, are well-informed and organized and, along with our individual customers, can easily move between us and our competitors. This requires us to differentiate our products and solutions, anticipate changes in customer and consumer preferences, anticipate and effectively compete with the products and solutions of new and existing competitors and innovate and deliver new and existing products and solutions that demonstrate value to our customers, particularly in response to marketplace changes from public policy. Differentiating our Insurance Exchange products is particularly challenging due to the standardization (for example, network adequacy and standardization of benefits requirements) of these products. Any failure to do so may adversely affect our ability to retain or grow profitable membership, which can adversely affect our operating results.

If we or our vendors fail to provide our customers with quality service that meets their expectations, our ability to retain and grow our membership will be adversely affected.

Our ability to attract and retain membership is dependent upon providing cost effective, quality customer service operations (such as call center operations, claim processing, outsourced PBM functions, mail order pharmacy prescription delivery, specialty pharmacy prescription delivery, customer case installation and on-line access and tools) that meet or exceed our customers' and members' expectations. As we seek to reduce general and administrative expenses, we must balance the potential impact of cost-saving measures on our customer and other service and performance. If we misjudge the effects of such measures, customer and other service may be adversely affected. We depend on third parties for certain of our customer service, PBM and prescription delivery operations. For example, Caremark PCS Health L.L.C. (and its predecessors, collectively, "CVS") and Express Scripts provide us with certain PBM services. If we or our vendors fail to provide service that meets our customers' and members' expectations, we may have difficulty retaining or growing profitable membership, which can adversely affect our operating results. For example, noncompliance with any privacy or security laws or regulations or any security breach involving one of our third party vendors could have a material adverse effect on our businesses, operating results and/or reputation.

Our competitive position and ability to differentiate our products will be adversely affected if we cannot demonstrate that our products and processes result in our members receiving quality affordable care.

One of the key factors on which we compete for customers is the degree to which our products and processes (including our disease management and patient safety programs and our provider credentialing and other quality of care and information management initiatives) result in our members receiving quality affordable care from providers, our vendors (including our PBM services suppliers) and us. If our products and process do not result in our members receiving quality affordable care, or if we are unable to demonstrate that our members receive quality affordable care, then our competitive position and ability to differentiate our product and/or solution offerings from those of our competitors would be adversely affected, which in turn could adversely affect our operating results.

Risks Related to Our Relationships with Providers, Suppliers and Vendors

If we are unable to enter into collaborative risk-sharing agreements with health care providers on satisfactory terms, it may have an adverse effect on our ability to enhance our provider networks, contain our medical costs, grow our business and/or develop alternative sources of revenue and earnings.

We are seeking to enhance our health care provider networks by entering into collaborative risk-sharing arrangements, including joint ventures, with health care providers. Providers' willingness to enter these arrangements with us depends upon, among other things, our ability to provide them with up to date quality of care data to support these value-based contracts. These arrangements are designed to give providers incentives to engage in population health management and optimize delivery of health care to our members. These arrangements also may allow us to expand into new geographies, target new customer groups, increase membership and reduce medical costs and, if we provide technology or other services to the relevant health system or provider organization, may contribute to our revenue and earnings from alternative sources. If such arrangements do not result in the lower medical costs that we project or if we fail to attract health care providers to such arrangements, or are less successful at implementing such arrangements than our competitors, our medical costs may not be competitive and may be higher than we project, our attractiveness to customers may be reduced, we may lose or be unable to grow membership, and our ability to profitably grow our business and/or our operating results may be adversely affected.

While we believe joint ventures, ACOs and other non-traditional health care provider organizational structures present opportunities for us, the implementation of our ACS and ACO strategies may not achieve the intended results, which could adversely affect our operating results and cash flows.

Continuing consolidation and integration among providers and other suppliers may increase our medical and other covered benefits costs, make it difficult for us to compete in certain geographies and create new competitors.

Hospitals and other provider and health systems continue to consolidate across the industry. While this consolidation is expected to increase efficiency and has the potential to improve the delivery of health care services, it may also reduce competition and the number of potential contracting parties in certain locations. These health systems are also increasingly considering forming health plans to directly offer health insurance in competition with us, a process that has been accelerated by Health Care Reform, including Insurance Exchanges. In addition, ACOs (including commercial and Medicaid-only ACOs developed as a result of state Medicaid laws), practice management companies, consolidation among and by integrated health systems and other changes in the organizational structures that physicians, hospitals and other health care providers adopt may change the way these providers interact with us and may change the competitive landscape in which we operate. These changes may increase our medical and other covered benefits costs, may affect the way we price our products and services and estimate our medical and other covered benefits costs and may require us to change our operations, including by withdrawing from certain geographies where we do not have a significant presence or are unable to collaborate or contract with providers on acceptable terms. Each of these changes may adversely affect our business and operating results.

Our operating results may be adversely affected if we are unable to contract with providers on competitive terms and develop and maintain attractive networks with high quality providers.

Our operating results are dependent in part upon our ability simultaneously to contract competitively with and develop and maintain favorable relationships with hospitals, physicians, pharmaceutical benefit management service providers, pharmaceutical manufacturers and other health care benefits providers. Our relationships with providers are affected by the rates we pay them for services rendered to our members (including financial incentives to deliver quality services in a cost-effective manner), by our business practices and processes, by our acquisitions and proposed acquisitions (including the Proposed Acquisition), and by our provider payment and other provider relations practices (including whether we include providers in the various provider network options we make available to our customers). Our relationships with providers are also affected by factors that impact these providers, but are not directly related to us, such as consolidations and strategic relationships among providers and/or among our competitors, changes in Medicare and/or Medicaid reimbursement levels to health care providers (including reductions due to the ATRA and sequestration), and increasing revenue and other financial pressures on providers, including ongoing reductions by CMS and state governments (including reductions due to the ATRA and sequestration) in amounts payable to providers, particularly hospitals, for services provided to Medicare and Medicaid enrollees.

The breadth and quality of our networks of available providers and our ability to offer different provider network options are important factors when customers consider our products and services. Our customers, particularly our self-insured customers, also consider our hospital and other medical provider discounts when evaluating our products and services. For certain of our businesses, we must maintain provider networks that satisfy applicable access to care and/or network adequacy requirements. Regulators also consider the breadth and nature of our provider networks when assessing whether such networks meet network adequacy requirements which, in some cases, are becoming more stringent. Our contracts with providers generally may be terminated by either party without cause on short notice.

The failure to maintain or to secure new cost-effective health care provider contracts, including as a result of our efforts to integrate our provider networks following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition, may result in a loss of or inability to grow membership, higher health care or other benefits costs (which we may not be able to reflect in our pricing due to rate reviews or other factors), health care provider network disruptions, less desirable products for our customers and/or difficulty in meeting regulatory or accreditation requirements, any of which could adversely affect our operating results.

We may experience increased medical and other benefit costs, litigation risk and customer and member dissatisfaction when providers that do not have contracts with us render services to our members.

Some providers that render services to our members do not have contracts with us. In those cases, we do not have a pre-established understanding with these providers as to the amount of compensation that is due to them for services rendered to our members. In some states, the amount of compensation due to these non-participating providers is defined by law or regulation, but in most instances it is either not defined or it is established by a standard that is not clearly translatable into dollar terms. In such instances providers may believe that they are underpaid for their services and may either litigate or arbitrate their dispute with us or try to recover the difference between what we have paid them and the amount they charged us from our members, which may result in customer and member dissatisfaction. For example, since 2007, we have been in class litigation with non-participating providers over our payments to them, and during 2009, we settled a matter with the New York Attorney General that caused us to transition to different databases to determine the amount we pay non-participating providers under certain benefit plan designs. Such disputes may cause us to pay higher medical or other benefit costs than we projected.

Certain of these matters are described in more detail in “Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings” in Note 19 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 139.

We could become overly dependent on key service providers, which could expose us to operational risks and cause us to lose core competencies. If their services become unavailable, we may experience service disruptions, reduced service quality and increased costs and may be unable to meet our obligations to our customers.

We contract with various third parties to perform certain functions and services and provide us with certain information technology systems. These third parties include our PBM services suppliers, information technology system providers, independent practice associations, accountable care organizations and call center and claim and billing service providers. Certain of these third parties provide us with significant portions of our requirements, and we could become overly dependent on key vendors, which could cause us to lose core competencies. Certain third parties to whom we delegated selected functions, such as independent practice associations and specialty services providers, have experienced financial difficulties, including bankruptcy. Furthermore, certain legislative authorities have in recent years discussed or proposed legislation that would restrict outsourcing. A termination of our agreements with, or disruption in the performance of, one or more of these service providers could result in service disruption or unavailability, reduced service quality and effectiveness, increased or duplicative costs, an inability to meet our obligations to our customers or require us to seek alternative service providers on less favorable contract terms, any of which can adversely affect our business, reputation and/or operating results. Furthermore, where our arrangements with these service providers are not acceptable to our customers, we must make alternate arrangements, which may be more costly and difficult to implement.

In particular, we have entered into agreements with our PBM services suppliers to provide us and certain of our customers and members with certain PBM services. If our PBM agreement with CVS or our agreements with our other PBM services supplier were to terminate for any reason or one of our PBM services supplier's ability to perform their respective obligations under their agreements with us were impaired, we may not be able to find an alternative supplier in a timely manner or on acceptable financial terms. As a result, our costs may increase, we would not realize the anticipated benefits of our PBM agreement with CVS or our other agreements for PBM services (including projected operating efficiencies), and we may not be able to meet the full demands of our customers, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation and/or operating results.

Risks Related to Our Acquisitions and International Operations

We expect to continue to pursue acquisitions and other inorganic growth opportunities, which may be unsuccessful, cause us to assume unanticipated liabilities, disrupt our existing business, be dilutive or lead us to assume significant debt, among other things.

We completed the bswift and InterGlobal group acquisitions in 2014 and the Coventry acquisition in 2013 and currently expect to complete the Proposed Acquisition in the second half of 2016. We expect to continue to pursue acquisitions, joint ventures, strategic alliances and other inorganic growth opportunities as part of our growth strategy. In addition to integration risks, some other risks we face with respect to acquisitions and other inorganic growth strategies include:

- We frequently compete with other firms, some of which may have greater financial and other resources and a greater tolerance for risk, to acquire attractive companies;
- The acquired and/or joint venture businesses may not perform as projected;
- The goodwill or other intangible assets established as a result of our acquisitions may be incorrectly valued or may become non-recoverable;
- We may not obtain the projected synergies as we integrate the acquired businesses (including Humana following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition);
- We may assume unanticipated liabilities, including those that were not disclosed to us or which we underestimated;
- We may experience difficulties in integrating acquired businesses into our existing operations (including our internal control environment), be unable to integrate acquired businesses successfully or as quickly as expected, and be unable to realize anticipated economic, operational and/or other benefits in a timely manner or at all, which could result in substantial costs and delays or other operational, technical or financial problems;
- The acquired businesses, or the pursuit of other inorganic growth strategies, could disrupt or compete with our existing businesses, distract management, result in the loss of key employees, divert resources, result in tax costs or inefficiencies and make it difficult to maintain our current business standards, controls, information technology systems, policies, procedures and performance;
- We may finance future acquisitions and other inorganic growth strategies by issuing common stock for some or all of the purchase price, which would dilute the ownership interests of our shareholders;
- We will incur significant debt to complete the Proposed Acquisition and may incur significant debt in connection with other acquisitions (whether to finance acquisitions or by assuming debt from the businesses we acquire);
- We may not have the expertise to manage and profitably grow the businesses we acquire, and we may need to rely on the retention of key personnel and other suppliers of companies we acquire, which may be difficult or impossible to accomplish;

- We may enter into merger or purchase agreements but, due to reasons within or outside our control, fail to complete the related transactions, which could result in termination fees or other penalties that could be material, material disruptions to our business and operations and negatively affect our reputation;
- In order to complete a proposed acquisition, we may be required to divest certain portions of our business; and
- We may be involved in litigation related to mergers or acquisitions, including for matters which occurred prior to the applicable closing, which may be costly to defend and may result in adverse rulings against us that could be material.

We expect joint ventures to be a critical part of our business model transformation and inorganic growth strategies. Joint ventures present risks that are different from acquisitions, including selection of appropriate joint venture parties, initial and ongoing governance of the joint venture, growing the joint venture's business in a manner acceptable to all the parties, maintaining positive relationships among the joint venture parties and the customer, and member and business disruption that may occur upon joint venture termination.

As we expand our international operations, we will increasingly face political, legal and compliance, operational, regulatory, economic and other risks that we do not face or are more significant than in our domestic operations. Our exposure to these risks is expected to increase.

As we expand our international operations, including through our 2014 acquisition of InterGlobal, we will increasingly face political, legal and compliance, operational, regulatory, economic and other risks that we do not face or that are more significant than in our domestic operations. These risks vary widely by country and include varying regional and geopolitical business conditions and demands, government intervention and censorship, discriminatory regulation, nationalization or expropriation of assets and pricing constraints. Our international products need to meet country-specific customer and member preferences as well as country-specific legal requirements, including those related to licensing, privacy, data storage, location, protection and security.

Our international operations increase our exposure to, and require us to devote significant management resources to implement controls and systems to comply with, the privacy laws of non-U.S. jurisdictions and the anti-bribery, anti-corruption and anti-money laundering laws of the United States (including the FCPA) and the United Kingdom (including the Bribery Act 2010) and similar laws in other jurisdictions. Implementing our compliance policies, internal controls and other systems upon our expansion into new countries and geographies may require the investment of considerable management time and management, financial and other resources over a number of years before any significant revenues or profits are generated. Violations of these laws and regulations could result in fines, criminal sanctions against us, our officers or employees, restrictions or outright prohibitions on the conduct of our business, and significant reputational harm. We must regularly reassess the size, capability and location of our global infrastructure and make appropriate changes, and must have effective change management processes and internal controls in place to address changes in our business and operations. Our success depends, in part, on our ability to anticipate these risks and manage these difficulties, and the failure to do so could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, financial position, reputation and/or long-term growth.

Our international operations require us to overcome logistical and other challenges based on differing languages, cultures, legal and regulatory schemes and time zones. Our international operations encounter labor laws, customs and employee relationships that can be difficult, less flexible than in our domestic operations and expensive to modify or terminate. In some countries we are required to, or choose to, operate with local business partners, which requires us to manage our partner relationships and may reduce our operational flexibility and ability to quickly respond to business challenges.

In some countries we may be exposed to currency exchange controls or other restrictions that prevent us from transferring funds internationally or converting local currencies into U.S. dollars or other currencies. Fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates may have an impact on our revenues, operating results and cash flows from our international operations. Some of our operations are, and are increasingly likely to be, in emerging markets where these risks are heightened. Any measures we may implement to reduce the effect of volatile currencies and other risks on our international operations may not be effective.

Our exposure to all of the above risks is expected to increase as we seek to grow our foreign operations over the next several years.

Financial Risks

We would be adversely affected if we do not effectively deploy our capital. Downgrades or potential downgrades in our credit ratings, should they occur, could adversely affect our reputation, business, cash flows, financial position and operating results.

Our operations generate significant capital, and we have the ability to raise additional capital. The manner in which we deploy our capital, including investments in our businesses, our operations (such as information technology and other strategic and capital projects), dividends, acquisitions, share and/or debt repurchases, reinsurance or other capital uses, impacts our financial strength, claims paying ability and credit ratings issued by recognized rating organizations. Credit ratings issued by nationally-recognized organizations are broadly distributed and generally used throughout our industry. Our ratings reflect each rating organization's opinion of our financial strength, operating performance and ability to meet our debt obligations or obligations to our insureds. We believe our credit ratings and the financial strength and claims paying ability of our principal insurance and HMO subsidiaries are important factors in marketing our products to certain of our customers. In addition, our credit ratings impact the cost and availability of future borrowings, and accordingly our cost of capital.

Each of the ratings organizations reviews our ratings periodically, and there can be no assurance that our current ratings will be maintained in the future. Among other things, our ratings may be affected by the assumption and/or issuance of debt in connection with an acquisition. For example, following the announcement of the Proposed Acquisition in July 2015, each of Standard & Poor's, A.M. Best, Fitch and Moody's placed certain of our debt, financial strength and other credit ratings under review for possible downgrade. Downgrades or potential downgrades in our ratings, should they occur, could adversely affect our reputation, business, cash flows, financial position and operating results. For additional information on this risk, see "Our indebtedness following completion of the Proposed Acquisition will be substantially greater than our indebtedness on a stand-alone basis and greater than the combined indebtedness of Aetna and Humana existing prior to the transaction. This increased level of indebtedness could adversely affect us, including by decreasing our business flexibility, and will increase our borrowing costs. Downgrades in our rating could adversely affect our businesses, cash flows, financial position, and operating results" beginning on page 49.

Adverse conditions in the U.S. and global capital markets can significantly and adversely affect the value of our investments in debt and equity securities, mortgage loans, alternative investments and other investments, our operating results and/or our financial position.

The global capital markets, including credit markets, continue to experience volatility and uncertainty. As an insurer, we have a substantial investment portfolio that supports our policy liabilities and surplus and is comprised largely of debt securities of issuers located in the United States. As a result, the income we earn from our investment portfolio is largely driven by the level of interest rates in the United States, and to a lesser extent the international financial markets; and volatility, uncertainty and/or disruptions in the global capital markets, particularly the United States credit markets, and governments' monetary policy, particularly United States monetary policy, can significantly and adversely affect the value of our investment portfolio, our operating results and/or our financial position by:

- Significantly reducing the value and/or liquidity of the debt securities we hold in our investment portfolio and creating realized capital losses that reduce our operating results and/or unrealized capital losses that reduce our shareholders' equity;
- Keeping interest rates low on high-quality short-term or medium-term debt securities (such as we have experienced during recent years) and thereby materially reducing our net investment income and operating results as the proceeds from securities in our investment portfolio that mature or are otherwise disposed of continue to be reinvested in lower yielding securities;

- Reducing the fair values of our investments if interest rates rise;
- Causing non-performance or defaults on their obligations to us by third parties, including customers, issuers of securities in our investment portfolio, mortgage borrowers and/or reinsurance and/or derivatives counterparties;
- Making it more difficult to value certain of our investment securities, for example if trading becomes less frequent, which could lead to significant period-to-period changes in our estimates of the fair values of those securities and cause period-to-period volatility in our net income and shareholders' equity;
- Reducing our ability to issue short-term debt securities at attractive interest rates, thereby increasing our interest expense and decreasing our operating results; and
- Reducing our ability to issue other securities.

Our investments that have exposure to the oil and gas industry are experiencing varied degrees of financial strains in the current depressed oil and gas price environment. The likelihood of our investment portfolio incurring realized capital losses on these exposures may increase if such depressed prices persist and/or decline further.

Although we seek, within guidelines we deem appropriate, to match the duration of our assets and liabilities and to manage our credit and counterparty exposures, a failure to adequately do so could adversely affect our net income and our financial position and, in extreme circumstances, our cash flows.

Our pension plan expenses are affected by general financial market conditions, interest rates and the accuracy of actuarial estimates of future benefit costs.

We have pension plans that cover a large number of current employees and retirees. Even though our employees stopped earning future pension service credits in the Aetna Pension Plan effective December 31, 2010, the Aetna Pension Plan continues to operate. Therefore, unfavorable investment performance, interest rate changes or changes in estimates of benefit costs, if significant, could adversely affect our operating results or financial position by significantly increasing our pension plan expense and obligations.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

1. Organization

We conduct our operations in three business segments:

- Health Care consists of medical, pharmacy benefit management services, dental, behavioral health and vision plans offered on both an Insured basis (where we assume all or a majority of the risk for medical and dental care costs) and an employer-funded basis (where the plan sponsor under an administrative services contract (“ASC”) assumes all or a majority of this risk) and emerging business products and services, such as Accountable Care Solutions, that complement and enhance our medical products. We also offer Medicare and Medicaid products and services and other medical products, such as medical management and data analytics services, medical stop loss insurance, workers’ compensation administrative services and products that provide access to our provider networks in select geographies.
- Group Insurance primarily includes group life insurance and group disability products. Group life insurance products are offered on an Insured basis. Group disability products are offered to employers on both an Insured and an ASC basis. Group Insurance also includes long-term care products that were offered primarily on an Insured basis. We no longer solicit or accept new long-term care customers.
- Large Case Pensions manages a variety of retirement products (including pension and annuity products) primarily for tax-qualified pension plans. These products provide a variety of funding and benefit payment distribution options and other services. Large Case Pensions also includes certain discontinued products (refer to Note 21 beginning on page 146 for additional information).

Our three business segments are distinct businesses that offer different products and services. Our Chief Executive Officer evaluates financial performance and makes resource allocation decisions at these segment levels. The accounting policies of the segments are the same as those described in the summary of significant accounting policies in Note 2, below. We evaluate the performance of these business segments based on operating earnings (net income or loss attributable to Aetna, excluding net realized capital gains or losses and other items, if any). Refer to Note 20 beginning on page 143 for segment financial information.

On May 7, 2013 (the “Coventry Acquisition Date”), we completed the acquisition of Coventry Health Care, Inc. (“Coventry”) in a transaction valued at approximately $8.7 billion, including the fair value of Coventry’s outstanding debt. Refer to Note 3 beginning on page 99 for additional information.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Principles of Consolidation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally-accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) and include the accounts of Aetna and the subsidiaries that we control. All significant intercompany balances have been eliminated in consolidation. The Company has evaluated subsequent events from the balance sheet date through the date the financial statements were issued and determined there were no other items to disclose other than as disclosed in Notes 15, 16 and 18 beginning on pages 131, 135 and 137, respectively.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications were made to 2013 and 2014 financial information to conform with 2015 presentation.

New Accounting Standards

Accounting for Investments in Qualified Affordable Housing Projects

Effective January 1, 2015, we were permitted to make an accounting policy election to adopt new accounting guidance relating to the recognition of amortization of investments in qualified affordable housing projects. The guidance sets forth a new method of measurement, referred to as the proportional amortization method, under which income and expense items related to qualified affordable housing projects would be recorded in the income taxes line item. We did not make the accounting policy election to adopt this new accounting guidance.

Reporting Discontinued Operations and Disclosures of Disposals of Components of an Entity

Effective January 1, 2015, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to when an entity reports a discontinued operation in its financial position and operating results. The guidance clarifies that a discontinued operation is required to be reported if the disposal represents a significant shift that has (or will have) a major effect on an entity’s operations and financial results when a component of an entity or a group of components of an entity are either classified as held for sale or are disposed of by sale. The amendments also require additional disclosures about discontinued operations. We did not discontinue any operations during 2015.

Repurchase-to-Maturity Transactions, Repurchase Financings, and Disclosures

Effective January 1, 2015, we adopted new accounting guidance related to the accounting for repurchase-to-maturity transactions and repurchase financing arrangements. This guidance aligns the accounting for repurchase-to-maturity transactions and repurchase agreements executed as repurchase financings with other typical repurchase agreements, resulting in these transactions generally being accounted for as secured borrowings. The adoption of this new guidance had no impact on our financial position or operating results. The guidance also required additional disclosures about repurchase agreements and other similar transactions accounted for as secured borrowings, which we adopted effective April 1, 2015. Refer to Note 11 beginning on page 111 for additional information on these disclosures.

Balance Sheet Classification of Deferred Taxes

Effective December 31, 2015, we elected to early adopt new accounting guidance related to the classification of deferred income tax assets and liabilities on a prospective basis and did not adjust our 2014 balance sheet for this guidance. To simplify the presentation of deferred income taxes, the guidance requires that all deferred tax assets and liabilities be classified as noncurrent in our balance sheet. The adoption of this new guidance did not have any impact on our operating results.

Future Application of Accounting Standards

Revenue from Contracts with Customers

Effective January 1, 2018, we will adopt new accounting guidance related to revenue recognition from contracts with customers. This new guidance removes most industry-specific revenue recognition requirements (insurance contracts are not covered by this guidance) and requires that an entity recognize revenue for the transfer of goods or services to a customer at an amount that reflects the consideration to which an entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The new guidance also requires additional disclosures regarding the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from customer contracts. The new guidance allows an entity to adopt the standard either through a full retrospective approach or a modified retrospective approach with a cumulative effect adjustment to retained earnings. Early adoption of this new guidance is permitted as of January 1, 2017. We are still assessing the impact of this standard on our financial position and operating results in addition to evaluating the transition method we will use when we adopt this standard.

Accounting for Share-Based Payments When the Terms of an Award Provide That a Performance Target Could Be Achieved after the Requisite Service Period

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted new accounting guidance related to the accounting for share-based payments when the terms of an award provide that a performance target could be achieved after the requisite service period. This guidance clarifies that awards with these provisions should be treated as performance conditions that affect vesting, and do not impact the award's estimated grant-date fair value. The adoption of this new guidance will not have an impact on our financial position or operating results.

Disclosure of Uncertainties About an Entity's Ability to Continue as a Going Concern

Effective December 31, 2016, we will adopt amended accounting guidance related to management's evaluation of whether there is substantial doubt about an entity's ability to continue as a going concern and the related disclosures. The adoption of this new guidance will not have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Determining Whether the Host Contract in a Hybrid Financial Instrument Issued in the Form of a Share Is More Akin to Debt or to Equity

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to the approach used in determining whether the host contract in a hybrid financial instrument issued in the form of a share is more akin to debt or equity. The adoption of this new guidance is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Simplifying Income Statement Presentation by Eliminating the Concept of Extraordinary Items

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to the presentation of extraordinary items. The amendment eliminates the concept of extraordinary items which represent events that are both unusual and infrequent. Presentation and disclosure of items that are unusual or infrequent will be retained, and will be expanded to include items that are both unusual and infrequent. The adoption of this new guidance is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Amendments to the Consolidation Analysis

Effective January 1, 2016, adopted amended accounting guidance related to the evaluation of consolidation for certain legal entities. The amendment changes how a reporting entity assesses consolidation, including whether an entity is considered a variable interest entity, determination of the primary beneficiary and how related parties are considered in the analysis. We expect the adoption of this new guidance to require more of our other investments to be considered variable interest entities; however, it is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Simplifying the Presentation of Debt Issuance Costs

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to the financial statement presentation of all debt issuance costs, including those related to line-of-credit arrangements. The amendment requires debt issuance costs to be presented as a direct deduction from the carrying amount of our debt liability, consistent with the approach used for debt discounts. Entities also may make an accounting policy election to report debt issuance costs associated with line-of-credit arrangements as a direct deduction from the carrying amount of the debt liability or as an asset. Amortization of debt issuance costs will also be reported in the Statements of Income as interest expense, as opposed to general and administrative expenses. This new guidance must be applied on a full retrospective basis, with all prior periods restated for the new presentation. The adoption of this new guidance will require certain reclassifications in our financial statements and is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Customer's Accounting for Fees Paid in a Cloud Computing Arrangement

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to the evaluation of fees paid by a customer in a cloud computing arrangement. The amendment provides additional guidance that aids in determining whether a cloud computing arrangement contains a software license. Arrangements that do not contain a software license must be accounted for as a service contract. If a software license is included in the cloud computing arrangement, the license element must be accounted for consistent with the acquisition of a software license. The adoption of this new guidance is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Disclosures for Investments in Certain Entities That Calculate Net Asset Value per Share (or Its Equivalent)

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to the presentation of investments in certain entities that calculate net asset value per share. The amendment removes the requirement to categorize within the fair value hierarchy all investments for which fair value is measured using the net asset value per share practical expedient. This new guidance is applicable to certain of our investments that reside in our separate accounts and employee benefit plans. The adoption of this new guidance will not have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Disclosures about Short-Duration Insurance Contracts

Effective December 31, 2016, we will adopt amended accounting guidance related to the disclosure of short-duration insurance contracts. The amendment requires insurance companies that issue short-duration contracts to include additional disclosures about those insurance liabilities, including disaggregation of certain disclosures, as appropriate. Early adoption of this new guidance is permitted. The adoption of this new guidance will not have a material impact on our financial position or operating results, however, the new guidance will require additional disclosure for our short-duration insurance liabilities that reside in our Health Care and Group Insurance segments.

Simplifying the Accounting for Measurement-Period Adjustments

Effective January 1, 2016, we adopted amended accounting guidance related to the recognition of adjustments to provisional amounts that are identified during the measurement period in a business combination. The amended guidance eliminates the requirement to retrospectively account for measurement-period adjustments as part of a business combination and permits them to be recognized in the period in which the adjustment was determined. The adoption of this new guidance is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Recognition and Measurement of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities

Effective January 1, 2018, we will adopt amended accounting guidance related to the recognition and measurement of financial assets and financial liabilities. Under the amended guidance, all equity investments in unconsolidated entities will be measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in net income. A reporting entity may elect to report equity investments without a readily determinable fair value at cost. The new guidance also revises certain disclosures regarding financial assets and liabilities. The adoption of this new guidance is not expected to have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the accompanying consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires the use of estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in these consolidated financial statements and notes. We consider the following accounting estimates critical in the preparation of the accompanying consolidated financial statements: health care costs payable, other insurance liabilities, recoverability of goodwill and other acquired intangible assets, measurement of defined benefit pension and other postretirement employee benefit plans, other-than-temporary impairment of debt securities, revenue recognition, accounting for certain provisions of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (as amended, collectively, "Health Care Reform" or the "ACA") and allowance for estimated terminations and uncollectible accounts. We use information available to us at the time estimates are made; however, these estimates could change materially if different information or assumptions were used. Additionally, these estimates may not ultimately reflect the actual amounts of the final transactions that occur.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on-hand and debt securities with an original maturity of three months or less when purchased. The carrying value of cash equivalents approximates fair value due to the short-term maturity of these investments.

Investments

Debt and Equity Securities

Debt and equity securities consist primarily of U.S. Treasury and agency securities, mortgage-backed securities, corporate and foreign bonds and other debt and equity securities. Debt securities are classified as either current or long-term investments based on their contractual maturities unless we intend to sell an investment within the next twelve months, in which case it is classified as current on our balance sheets. We have classified our debt and equity securities as available for sale and carry them at fair value. Refer to Note 11 beginning on page 111 for additional information on how we estimate the fair value of these investments. The cost for mortgage-backed and other asset-backed securities is adjusted for unamortized premiums and discounts, which are amortized using the interest method over the estimated remaining term of the securities, adjusted for anticipated prepayments. We regularly review our debt and equity securities to determine whether a decline in fair value below the carrying value is other-than-temporary. When a debt or equity security is in an unrealized capital loss position, we monitor the duration and severity of the loss to determine if sufficient market recovery can occur within a reasonable period of time. If a decline in the fair value of a debt security is considered other-than-temporary, the cost basis or carrying value of the debt security is written down. The write-down is then bifurcated into its credit and non-credit related components. The amount of the credit-related component is included in our operating results, and the amount of the non-credit related component is included in other comprehensive income, unless we intend to sell the debt security or it is more likely than not that we will be required to sell the debt security prior to its anticipated recovery of its amortized cost basis. We do not accrue interest on debt securities when management believes the collection of interest is unlikely.

We lend certain debt and equity securities from our investment portfolio to other institutions for short periods of time using securities lending transactions and repurchase agreements. In connection with our securities lending program, we have exposure to interest rate risk on the changes in the value of our investments pledged as collateral as well as to credit risk of the borrowers. Under securities lending transactions, borrowers must post cash collateral in the amount of 102% to 105% of the fair value of the loaned securities, and the fair value of the loaned securities is monitored on a daily basis, with additional collateral obtained or refunded as the fair value of the loaned securities fluctuates. We review and approve all borrowers and assign a dollar limit on the amount each borrower can have outstanding. We also monitor our exposure to each borrower daily. Under securities lending transactions, the collateral is retained and invested by a lending agent according to our investment guidelines to generate additional income for us. We primarily utilize repurchase agreements for short-term borrowings to meet liquidity needs. Under repurchase agreements, we receive cash in an amount that approximates the fair value of our collateralized debt securities.

Mortgage Loans

We carry the value of our mortgage loan investments on our balance sheet at the unpaid principal balance, net of impairment reserves. A mortgage loan may be impaired when it is a problem loan (i.e., more than 60 days delinquent, in bankruptcy or in process of foreclosure), a potential problem loan (i.e., high probability of default) or a restructured loan. For impaired loans, a specific impairment reserve is established for the difference between the recorded investment in the loan and the estimated fair value of the collateral. We apply our loan impairment policy individually to all loans in our portfolio.

The impairment evaluation described above also considers characteristics and risk factors attributable to the aggregate portfolio. We would establish an additional allowance for loan losses if it were probable that there would be a credit loss on a group of similar mortgage loans. We consider the following characteristics and risk factors when evaluating if a credit loss is probable: loan to value ratios, property type (e.g., office, retail, apartment, industrial), geographic location, vacancy rates and property condition. As a result of that evaluation, we determined that a credit loss was not probable and did not record any additional allowance for loan losses with respect to performing mortgage loans in 2015, 2014 or 2013.

We record full or partial charge-offs of loans at the time an event occurs affecting the legal status of the loan, typically at the time of foreclosure or upon a loan modification giving rise to forgiveness of debt. Interest income on an impaired loan is accrued to the extent we deem it collectible and the loan continues to perform under its original or restructured terms. Interest income on problem loans is recognized on a cash basis. Cash payments on loans in the process of foreclosure are treated as a return of principal. Mortgage loans with a maturity date or a committed prepayment date within twelve months are classified as current on our balance sheets.

Other Investments

Other investments consist primarily of the following:

- Alternative investments, which are comprised of private equity and hedge fund limited partnerships. We typically do not have a controlling ownership in our alternative investments, and therefore we apply the equity method of accounting for these investments.
- Investment real estate, which is carried on our balance sheets at depreciated cost, including capital additions, net of write-downs for other-than-temporary declines in fair value. Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method based on the estimated useful life of each asset. If any of our real estate investments is considered held-for-sale, we carry it at the lower of its carrying value or fair value less estimated selling costs. We generally estimate fair value using a discounted future cash flow analysis in conjunction with comparable sales information. At the time of the sale, we record the difference between the sales price and the carrying value as a realized capital gain or loss.
- Privately-held equity securities, which are carried at cost on our balance sheets. We do not estimate the fair value of these securities if there are no identified events or changes in circumstances that may have a significant adverse effect on the fair value of the investment. Additionally, as a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston (“FHLBB”), we are required to purchase and hold shares of the FHLBB. These shares are restricted and also carried at cost.
- Bank loans, which are carried on our balance sheets at amortized cost, net of any allowance for impairments. If any of our bank loans are considered held-for-sale, we carry those loans at the lower of cost or fair value.
- Derivatives, which we make limited use of in order to manage interest rate, foreign exchange and price risk and credit exposure. The derivatives we use consist primarily of interest rate swaps, treasury rate locks, forward contracts, futures contracts, warrants, put options, and credit default swaps. Derivatives are reflected at fair value on our balance sheets. When we enter into a derivative contract, if certain criteria are met, we may designate it as one of the following: a hedge of the fair value of a recognized asset or liability or of an unrecognized firm commitment; a hedge of a forecasted transaction or of the variability of cash flows to be received or paid related to a recognized asset or liability; or a foreign currency fair value or cash flow hedge.

Net Investment Income and Realized Capital Gains and Losses

Net investment income on investments supporting Health Care and Group Insurance liabilities and Large Case Pensions products (other than experience-rated and discontinued products) are reflected in our operating results.

Experience-rated products are products in the Large Case Pensions business where the contract holder, not us, assumes investment and other risks, subject to, among other things, minimum guarantees provided by us. The effect of investment performance on experience-rated products is allocated to contract holders’ accounts daily, based on the underlying investment experience and, therefore, does not impact our operating results (as long as our minimum guarantees are not triggered).

When we discontinued the sale of our fully-guaranteed Large Case Pensions products, we established a reserve for anticipated future losses from these discontinued products and segregated the related investments. Investment performance on this separate portfolio is ultimately credited/charged to the reserve and, generally, does not impact our operating results.

Net investment income supporting Large Case Pensions' experience-rated and discontinued products is included in net investment income in our statements of income and is credited to contract holders' accounts or the reserve for anticipated future losses through a charge to current and future benefits.

Realized capital gains and losses on investments supporting Health Care and Group Insurance liabilities and Large Case Pensions products (other than experience-rated and discontinued products) are reflected in our operating results. Realized capital gains and losses are determined on a specific identification basis. We reflect purchases and sales of debt and equity securities and alternative investments on the trade date. We reflect purchases and sales of mortgage loans and investment real estate on the closing date.

Realized capital gains and losses on investments supporting Large Case Pensions' experience-rated and discontinued products are not included in realized capital gains and losses in our statements of income and instead are credited directly to contract holders' accounts, in the case of experience-rated products, or allocated to the reserve for anticipated future losses, in the case of discontinued products. The contract holders' accounts are reflected in policyholders' funds, and the reserve for anticipated future losses is reflected in future policy benefits on our balance sheets.

Unrealized capital gains and losses on investments supporting Health Care and Group Insurance liabilities and Large Case Pensions products (other than experience-rated and discontinued products) are reflected in shareholders' equity, net of tax, as a component of accumulated other comprehensive loss.

Unrealized capital gains and losses on investments supporting Large Case Pensions' experience-rated products are credited directly to contract holders' accounts, which are reflected in policyholders' funds on our balance sheets. Net unrealized capital gains and losses on discontinued products are reflected in other long-term liabilities on our balance sheets.

Refer to Note 21 beginning on page 146 for additional information on our discontinued products.

Reinsurance

We utilize reinsurance agreements primarily to reduce our required capital and to facilitate the acquisition or disposition of certain insurance contracts. Ceded reinsurance agreements permit us to recover a portion of our losses from reinsurers, although they do not discharge our primary liability as the direct insurer of the risks reinsured. Failure of reinsurers to indemnify us could result in losses; however, we do not expect charges for unrecoverable reinsurance to have a material effect on our operating results or financial position. We evaluate the financial condition of our reinsurers and monitor concentrations of credit risk arising from similar geographic regions, activities or economic characteristics of our reinsurers. At December 31, 2015, our reinsurance recoverables consisted primarily of amounts due from third parties that are rated consistent with companies that are considered to have the ability to meet their obligations.

We enter into agreements with other insurance companies under which we assume reinsurance, primarily related to our group life and health products. We do not transfer any portion of the financial risk associated with our Commercial HMO products to third parties, except in areas where we participate in state-mandated health insurance pools. We did not have material premiums ceded to or assumed from unrelated insurance companies in the three years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 or 2013.

Refer to "Reinsurance" on page 97 for information about Health Care Reform's temporary three-year reinsurance program which expires at the end of 2016.

Goodwill

We have made acquisitions that included a significant amount of goodwill and other intangible assets. When we complete an acquisition, we apply the acquisition method of accounting, which among other things, requires the recognition of goodwill (which represents the excess cost of the acquisition over the fair value of net assets acquired and identified intangible assets).

We evaluate goodwill for impairment (at the reporting unit level) annually, or more frequently if circumstances indicate a possible impairment, by comparing an estimate of the fair value of the applicable reporting unit to its carrying value, including goodwill. If the carrying value exceeds fair value, we compare the implied fair value of the applicable goodwill to its carrying amount to measure the amount of goodwill impairment, if any. Impairments, if any, would be classified as an operating expense. The fair value of each reporting unit substantially exceeded its carrying value in each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2015, and therefore there were no goodwill impairment losses recognized in any of those years.

Our annual impairment tests were based on an evaluation of future discounted cash flows. These evaluations utilized the best information available to us at the time, including supportable assumptions and projections we believe are reasonable. Collectively, these evaluations were our best estimates of projected future cash flows. Our discounted cash flow evaluations used discount rates that correspond to a weighted-average cost of capital consistent with a market-participant view. The discount rates are consistent with those used for investment decisions and take into account the operating plans and strategies of the Health Care and Group Insurance segments. Certain other key assumptions utilized, including changes in membership, revenue, health care costs, operating expenses, impacts of health care reform fees, assessments and taxes, and effective tax rates, are based on estimates consistent with those utilized in our annual planning process that we believe are reasonable. If we do not achieve our earnings objectives, the assumptions and estimates underlying these goodwill impairment evaluations could be adversely affected, and we may impair a portion of our goodwill, which would adversely affect our operating results in the period of impairment.

Property and Equipment and Other Acquired Intangible Assets

We report property and equipment and other acquired intangible assets at historical cost, net of accumulated depreciation or amortization. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the historical cost of property and equipment was $761 million and $807 million, respectively, and the related accumulated depreciation was $131 million and $137 million, respectively. Refer to Note 7 beginning on page 102 for cost and accumulated amortization associated with other acquired intangibles. We calculate depreciation and amortization primarily using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets ranging from three to forty years.

In connection with the acquisition of Genworth Financial, Inc.'s ("Genworth's") Medicare Supplement and related blocks of in-force business we recognized an asset for the valuation of business acquired ("VOBA"). VOBA represents the present value of the future profits embedded in the acquired businesses, and was determined by estimating the net present value of future cash flows from the contracts in force at the date of acquisition. VOBA is amortized in proportion to estimated premiums arising from the acquired contracts over their expected life.

We regularly evaluate whether events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value of property and equipment or other acquired intangible assets may not be recoverable. If we determine that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable, we group the asset with other assets and liabilities at the lowest level for which independent identifiable cash flows are available and estimate the future undiscounted cash flows expected to result from future use of the asset group and its eventual disposition. If the sum of the expected undiscounted future cash flows is less than the carrying value of the asset group, we recognize an impairment loss for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds its fair value. There were no material impairment losses recognized in any of the three years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 or 2013.

Separate Accounts

Separate Accounts assets and liabilities in the Large Case Pensions business represent funds maintained to meet specific objectives of contract holders who bear the investment risk. These assets and liabilities are carried at fair value. Net investment income and net realized capital gains and losses accrue directly to such contract holders.

The assets of each account are legally segregated and are not subject to claims arising from our other businesses. Deposits, withdrawals, net investment income and net realized and net unrealized capital gains and losses on Separate Accounts assets are not reflected in our statements of income or cash flows. Management fees charged to contract holders are included in fees and other revenue and recognized over the period earned.

Health Care and Other Insurance Liabilities

Health care costs payable

Health care costs payable consist principally of unpaid fee-for-service medical, dental and pharmacy claims, capitation costs and other amounts due to health care providers pursuant to risk-sharing arrangements related to Health Care's Insured Commercial, Medicare and Medicaid products. Unpaid health care claims include our estimate of payments we will make on claims reported to us but not yet paid and for health care services rendered to members but not yet reported to us as of the balance sheet date (collectively, "IBNR"). Also included in these estimates is the cost of services that will continue to be rendered after the balance sheet date if we are obligated to pay for such services in accordance with contractual or regulatory requirements. Such estimates are developed using actuarial principles and assumptions which consider, among other things, historical and projected claim submission and processing patterns, assumed and historical medical cost trends, historical utilization of medical services, claim inventory levels, changes in membership and product mix, seasonality and other relevant factors. We reflect changes in these estimates in health care costs in our operating results in the period they are determined. Capitation costs represent contractual monthly fees paid to participating physicians and other medical providers for providing medical care, regardless of the medical services provided to the member. Approximately four percent of our health care costs related to capitated arrangements in 2015, and approximately five percent of our health care costs related to capitated arrangements in each of 2014 and 2013. Amounts due under risk-sharing arrangements are based on the terms of the underlying contracts with the providers and consider claims experience under the contracts through the balance sheet date.

Future policy benefits

Future policy benefits consist primarily of reserves for limited payment pension and annuity contracts in the Large Case Pensions business and long-duration group life and long-term care insurance contracts in the Group Insurance business. Reserves for limited payment contracts are computed using actuarial principles that consider, among other things, assumptions reflecting anticipated mortality, retirement, expense and interest rate experience. Such assumptions generally vary by plan, year of issue and policy duration. Assumed interest rates on such contracts ranged from .8% to 11.3% in both 2015 and 2014. We periodically review mortality assumptions against both industry standards and our experience. Reserves for long-duration group life and long-term care contracts represent our estimate of the present value of future benefits to be paid to or on behalf of policyholders less the present value of future net premiums. Assumed interest rates on such contracts ranged from 2.5% to 8.8% in both 2015 and 2014. Our estimate of the present value of future benefits under such contracts is based upon mortality, morbidity and interest rate assumptions.

Unpaid claims

Unpaid claims consist primarily of reserves associated with certain short-duration group disability and term life insurance contracts in the Group Insurance business, including an estimate for IBNR as of the balance sheet date. Reserves associated with certain short-duration group disability and term life insurance contracts are based upon our estimate of the present value of future benefits, which is based on assumed investment yields and assumptions regarding mortality, morbidity and recoveries from the U.S. Social Security Administration. We develop our estimate of IBNR using actuarial principles and assumptions which consider, among other things, contractual requirements, claim incidence rates, claim recovery rates, seasonality and other relevant factors. We discount certain claim liabilities related to group long-term disability and life insurance waiver of premium contracts. The discounted unpaid claim liabilities were approximately $2.0 billion at both December 31, 2015 and 2014. The undiscounted value of these unpaid claim liabilities was approximately $2.7 billion at both December 31, 2015 and 2014. The discount rates generally reflect our expected investment returns for the investments supporting all incurrence years of these liabilities and ranged from 3.5% to 6.0% in 2015 and 3.0% to 6.0% in 2014. The discount rates for retrospectively-rated contracts are set at contractually specified levels. Our estimates of unpaid claims are subject to change due to changes in the underlying experience of the insurance contracts, changes in investment yields or other factors, and these changes are recorded in current and future benefits in our statements of income in the period they are determined.

Policyholders' funds

Policyholders' funds consist primarily of reserves for pension and annuity investment contracts in the Large Case Pensions business and customer funds associated with group life and health contracts in the Health Care and Group Insurance businesses. Reserves for such contracts are equal to cumulative deposits less withdrawals and charges plus credited interest thereon, net of experience-rated adjustments. In 2015, interest rates for pension and annuity investment contracts ranged from 3.5% to 14.7%, and interest rates for group life and health contracts ranged from 0% to 2.7%. In 2014, interest rates for pension and annuity investment contracts ranged from 3.6% to 16.7%, and interest rates for group life and health contracts ranged from 0% to 2.8%. Reserves for contracts subject to experience rating reflect our rights as well as the rights of policyholders and plan participants.

We also hold funds for health savings accounts ("HSAs") on behalf of members associated with high deductible health plans. These amounts are held to pay for qualified health care expenses incurred by these members. The HSA balances were approximately $1.5 billion and $1.3 billion at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and are reflected in other current assets with a corresponding liability in policyholder funds.

We review health care and other insurance liabilities periodically. We reflect any necessary adjustments during the current period in operating results. While the ultimate amount of claims and related expenses are dependent on future developments, it is management's opinion that the liabilities that have been established are adequate to cover such costs. The health care and other insurance liabilities that are expected to be paid within twelve months are classified as current on our balance sheets.

Premium Deficiency Reserves

We evaluate our insurance contracts to determine if it is probable that a loss will be incurred. We recognize a premium deficiency loss when it is probable that expected future claims, including maintenance costs (for example, claim processing costs), will exceed existing reserves plus anticipated future premiums and reinsurance recoveries. Anticipated investment income is considered in the calculation of premium deficiency losses for short-duration contracts. For purposes of determining premium deficiency losses, contracts are grouped in a manner consistent with our method of acquiring, servicing and measuring the profitability of such contracts. We did not have any premium deficiency reserves at December 31, 2015 or 2014.

Health Care Contract Acquisition Costs

Health care benefits products included in the Health Care segment are cancelable by either the customer or the member monthly upon written notice. Acquisition costs related to our prepaid health care and health indemnity contracts are generally expensed as incurred. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the balance of our deferred acquisition costs was $305 million and $222 million, respectively, comprised primarily of commissions paid on our Medicare Supplement products. Deferred acquisition costs are amortized over the estimated life of the contracts.

Revenue Recognition and Allowance for Estimated Terminations and Uncollectible Accounts

Health care premiums are recognized as income in the month in which the enrollee is entitled to receive health care services. Health care premiums are reported net of an allowance for estimated terminations and uncollectible amounts. Additionally, premium revenue subject to the minimum MLR rebate requirements of Health Care Reform is recorded net of the estimated minimum MLR rebates for the current calendar year. Other premium revenue for group life, long-term care and disability products is recognized as income, net of allowances for termination and uncollectible accounts, over the term of the coverage. Other premium revenue for Large Case Pensions' limited payment pension and annuity contracts is recognized as revenue in the period received. Premiums related to unexpired contractual coverage periods are reported as unearned premiums in our balance sheets.

The balance of the allowance for estimated terminations and uncollectible accounts on premiums receivable was $146 million and $141 million at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and is reflected as a reduction of premiums receivable in our balance sheets. The balance of the allowance for uncollectible accounts on other receivables was $20 million and $17 million at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and is reflected as a reduction of other receivables in our balance sheets.

Some of our contracts allow for premiums to be adjusted to reflect actual experience or the relative health status of members. Such adjustments are reasonably estimable at the outset of the contract, and adjustments to those estimates are made based on actual experience of the customer emerging under the contract and the terms of the underlying contract.

Fees and other revenue consists primarily of ASC fees which are received in exchange for performing certain claim processing and member services for health and disability members and are recognized as revenue over the period the service is provided. Fees and other revenue also includes fees related to our workers' compensation administrative services products and services. Some of our contracts include guarantees with respect to certain functions, such as customer service response time, claim processing accuracy and claim processing turnaround time, as well as certain guarantees that a plan sponsor's benefit claim experience will fall within a certain range. With any of these guarantees, we are financially at risk if the conditions of the arrangements are not met, although the maximum amount at risk is typically limited to a percentage of the fees otherwise payable to us by the customer involved. Each period we estimate our obligations under the terms of these guarantees and record it as an offset to our ASC fees.

In addition, fees and other revenue also include charges assessed against contract holders' funds for contract fees, participant fees and asset charges related to pension and annuity products in the Large Case Pensions business. Other amounts received on pension and annuity investment-type contracts are reflected as deposits and are not recorded as revenue. Some of our Large Case Pension contract holders have the contractual right to purchase annuities with life contingencies using the funds they maintain on deposit with us. Since these products are considered an insurance contract, when the contract holder makes this election, we treat the accumulated investment balance as a single premium and reflect it as both premiums and current and future benefits in our statements of income.

Health Care Reform

We are participating in certain public health insurance exchanges established pursuant to Health Care Reform ("Public Exchanges"). Under regulations established by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS"), HHS pays us a portion of the premium ("Premium Subsidy") and a portion of the health care costs ("Cost Sharing Subsidy") for low-income individual Public Exchange members. In addition, HHS administers Health Care Reform's Reinsurance, Risk Adjustment and Risk Corridor (the "3Rs") risk management programs.

We recognize monthly premiums received from Public Exchange members and the Premium Subsidy as premium revenue ratably over the contract period. The Cost Sharing Subsidy offsets health care costs based on our estimate of the portion of claim costs incurred by our low income individual Public Exchange members that qualify for reimbursement by HHS. We record a liability or a receivable depending on whether qualifying health care costs incurred are less than or greater than the Cost Sharing Subsidy received to date.

Reinsurance

Health Care Reform established a temporary reinsurance program that expires at the end of 2016. Under this program, all issuers of major medical commercial insurance products and self-insured plan sponsors are required to contribute funding in amounts set by HHS. Funds collected will be utilized to reimburse issuers' high claims costs incurred for qualified individual members. The expense related to this required funding is reflected in general and administrative expenses for all of our insurance products with the exception of products associated with qualified individual members; this expense for qualified individual members is reflected as a reduction of premium revenue. When annual claim costs incurred by our qualified individual members exceed a specified attachment point, we are entitled to certain reimbursements from this program. We record a receivable and offset health care costs to reflect our estimate of these recoveries.

Risk Adjustment

Health Care Reform established a permanent risk adjustment program to transfer funds from qualified individual and small group insurance plans with below average risk scores to plans with above average risk scores. Based on the risk of our qualified plan members relative to the average risk of members of other qualified plans in comparable markets, we estimate our ultimate risk adjustment receivable or payable for the current calendar year and reflect the pro-rata year-to-date impact as an adjustment to our premium revenue.

Risk Corridor

Health Care Reform established a temporary risk sharing program, which expires at the end of 2016, for qualified individual and small group insurance plans. Under this program we make (or receive) a payment to (or from) HHS based on the ratio of allowable costs to target costs (as defined by Health Care Reform). We record a risk corridor receivable or payable as an adjustment to premium revenue on a pro-rata year-to-date basis based on our estimate of the ultimate risk sharing amount for the current calendar year.

We expect to perform an annual final reconciliation and settlement with HHS of the Cost Sharing Subsidy and 3Rs in each subsequent year, except for the final reconciliation and settlement of the 2014 Cost Sharing Subsidy which is also expected to occur in 2016.

Refer to Note 9 beginning on page 109 for additional information related to the 3Rs.

Accounting for the Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Program Plans (“PDPs”)

We were selected by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”) to be a national provider of PDPs in all 50 states to both individuals and employer groups in 2015, 2014 and 2013. Under these annual contracts, CMS pays us a portion of the premium, a portion of, or a capitated fee for, catastrophic drug costs and a portion of the health care costs for low-income Medicare beneficiaries and provides a risk-sharing arrangement to limit our exposure to unexpected expenses.

We recognize premiums received from, or on behalf of, members or CMS and capitated fees as premium revenue ratably over the contract period. We expense the cost of covered prescription drugs as incurred. Costs associated with low-income Medicare beneficiaries (deductible, coinsurance, etc.) and the catastrophic drug costs paid in advance by CMS are recorded as a liability and offset health care costs when incurred. For individual PDP coverage, the risk-sharing arrangement provides a risk corridor whereby the amount we received in premiums from members and CMS based on our annual bid is compared to our actual drug costs incurred during the contract year. Based on the risk corridor provision and PDP activity-to-date, an estimated risk-sharing receivable or payable is recorded on a quarterly basis as an adjustment to premium revenue. We perform a reconciliation of the final risk-sharing, low-income subsidy and catastrophic amounts after the end of each contract year.

Allocation of Operating Expenses

We allocate to the business segments centrally-incurred costs associated with specific internal goods or services provided to us, such as employee services, technology services and rent, based on a reasonable method for each specific cost (such as membership, usage, headcount, compensation or square footage occupied). Interest expense on third-party borrowings and the financing components of our pension and other post-retirement employee benefit plan expense are not allocated to the reporting segments, since they are not used as a basis for measuring the operating performance of the segments. Such amounts are reflected in Corporate Financing in our segment financial information. Refer to Note 20 beginning on page 143 for additional information.

Income Taxes

We are taxed at the statutory corporate income tax rates after adjusting income reported for financial statement purposes for certain items. We recognize deferred income tax assets and liabilities for the differences between the financial and income tax reporting basis of assets and liabilities based on enacted tax rates and laws. Valuation allowances are provided when it is considered more likely than not that deferred tax assets will not be realized. Deferred income tax expense or benefit primarily reflects the net change in deferred income tax assets and liabilities during the year.

Our current income tax provision reflects the tax results of revenues and expenses currently taxable or deductible. Penalties and interest on our tax positions are classified as a component of our income tax provision.

3. Acquisitions, Proposed Acquisition and Completed Disposition

Proposed Acquisition of Humana

On July 2, 2015, we entered into a definitive agreement (as it may be amended, the “Merger Agreement”) to acquire Humana Inc. (“Humana”) in a transaction valued at approximately $37 billion, based on the closing price of Aetna common shares on July 2, 2015, including the assumption of Humana debt and Humana cash and cash equivalents. Under the terms of the Merger Agreement, Humana stockholders will receive $125.00 in cash and 0.8375 Aetna common shares for each Humana share.

On October 19, 2015, Aetna and Humana each obtained the approval of their respective shareholders necessary for our proposed acquisition of Humana (the “Proposed Acquisition”).

The Proposed Acquisition remains subject to customary closing conditions, including the expiration of the federal Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976 waiting period and approvals of state departments of insurance and other regulators, and therefore has not been reflected in these financial statements.

Acquisition of bswift LLC

In November 2014, we acquired bswift LLC (“bswift”) for approximately $400 million. bswift provides a technology platform that offers a retail shopping experience for health insurance exchanges and employees nationwide, and provides benefit administration technology and services to employers. We recorded goodwill related to this transaction of $329 million, none of which will be tax deductible. All of the goodwill related to this acquisition was assigned to our Health Care segment.

Acquisition of the InterGlobal Group

In April 2014, we acquired the InterGlobal group (“InterGlobal”), a company that specializes in international private medical insurance for groups and individuals in the Middle East, Asia, Africa and Europe. The purchase price was not material, and the goodwill related to this acquisition was assigned to our Health Care segment.

Acquisition of Coventry

On the Coventry Acquisition Date, we acquired Coventry in a transaction (the “Coventry Merger”) valued at approximately $8.7 billion, including the approximately $1.8 billion fair value of Coventry’s outstanding long-term debt.

Pro Forma Impact of the Acquisition of Coventry

The following table presents supplemental pro forma information for the year ended December 31, 2013, as if the Coventry Merger had occurred on January 1, 2013. The pro forma consolidated results are not necessarily indicative of what our consolidated results would have been had the Coventry Merger been completed on January 1, 2013. In addition, the pro forma consolidated results do not purport to project the future results of the combined company nor do they reflect the expected realization of any cost savings associated with the Coventry Merger.

(Millions, except per common share data)	2013
Total revenue	$ 52,089.3
Net income attributable to Aetna	2,144.6
Earnings per share:
Basic	5.75
Diluted	5.69

The unaudited pro forma consolidated results for the year ended December 31, 2013 reflect the following pro forma adjustments:

- Elimination of intercompany transactions between Aetna and Coventry, primarily related to network rental fees.
- Foregone interest income associated with cash and cash equivalents and investments assumed to have been used to partially fund the Coventry Merger.
- Foregone interest income associated with adjusting the amortized cost of Coventry's investment portfolio to fair value as of the completion of the Coventry Merger.
- Elimination of historical Coventry intangible asset amortization expense and capitalized internal-use software amortization expense and addition of intangible asset amortization expense relating to intangibles valued as part of the acquisition.
- Additional interest expense from the long-term debt Aetna issued in November 2012 as well as the interest expense on short-term debt Aetna issued in March and April 2013. Interest expense was reduced for the amortization of the fair value adjustment to long-term debt.
- Elimination of transaction-related costs incurred by Aetna and Coventry during 2013.
- Adjustment of the above pro forma adjustments for the applicable tax impact.
- Conforming adjustments to align Coventry's presentation to Aetna's accounting policies.
- Elimination of revenue and directly identifiable costs related to the sale of Aetna's Missouri Medicaid business, Missouri Care, Incorporated ("Missouri Care"), to WellCare Health Plans, Inc. on March 31, 2013.

Completed Disposition

In connection with the acquisition of Coventry, on March 31, 2013, we completed the sale of Missouri Care to WellCare Health Plans, Inc. The sale price was not material, and the transaction did not have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

4. Earnings Per Common Share

Basic earnings per common share ("EPS") is computed by dividing net income attributable to Aetna by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the reporting period. Diluted EPS is computed in a similar manner, except that the weighted average number of common shares outstanding is adjusted for the dilutive effects of our outstanding stock-based compensation awards, but only if the effect is dilutive.

The computations of basic and diluted EPS for 2015, 2014 and 2013 are as follows:

(Millions, except per common share data)	2015		2014		2013
Net income attributable to Aetna	$	2,390.2	$	2,040.8	$	1,913.6
Weighted average shares used to compute basic EPS		349.3		355.5		355.4
Dilutive effect of outstanding stock-based compensation awards		3.3		3.6		3.8
Weighted average shares used to compute diluted EPS		352.6		359.1		359.2
Basic EPS	$	6.84	$	5.74	$	5.38
Diluted EPS	$	6.78	$	5.68	$	5.33

The stock-based compensation awards excluded from the calculation of diluted EPS for 2015, 2014 and 2013 are as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Stock appreciation rights ("SARs") ⁽¹⁾	.5	.3	1.7
Other stock-based compensation awards ⁽²⁾	.8	1.2	1.8

⁽²⁾ Performance stock units ("PSUs"), certain market stock units ("MSUs") with performance conditions, and performance stock appreciation rights ("PSARs") are excluded from the calculation of diluted EPS if all necessary performance conditions have not been satisfied at the end of the reporting period (refer to Note 13 beginning on page 126 for additional information about PSARs).

All outstanding stock options were included in the calculation of diluted EPS for 2014 and 2013. There were no stock options outstanding at December 31, 2015.

In connection with the May 7, 2013 acquisition of Coventry, we issued 52.2 million Aetna common shares in exchange for all the outstanding shares of Coventry common stock. Those Aetna common shares were outstanding, net of any subsequent share repurchases, and included in the calculation of weighted average shares used to compute basic EPS for each of the years in the two-year period ended December 31, 2015 and from the Coventry Acquisition Date through December 31, 2013 for the year ended December 31, 2013, and weighted accordingly.

5. Operating Expenses

For 2015, 2014 and 2013, selling expenses (which include broker commissions, the variable component of our internal sales force compensation and premium taxes) and general and administrative expenses were as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Selling expenses	$ 1,611.1	$ 1,653.0	$ 1,348.6
General and administrative expenses:
Salaries and related benefits	4,995.4	4,691.3	4,139.5

Total general and administrative expenses	10,038.2	9,184.7	7,296.8
Total operating expenses	$ 11,649.3	$ 10,837.7	$ 8,645.4

Health care costs payable, end of period, net	6,301.6	5,615.3	4,538.9
Add: Reinsurance recoverables	4.1	5.8	8.5
Health care costs payable, end of the period	$ 6,305.7	$ 5,621.1	$ 4,547.4

Our estimates of prior years' health care costs payable decreased in each of 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively, because claims settled for amounts less than originally estimated, primarily due to lower health care cost trends as well as the actual claim submission time being faster than we assumed in establishing our health care costs payable in the prior year. This development does not directly correspond to an increase in our current year operating results as these reductions were offset by estimated current period health care costs when we established our estimate of the current year health care costs payable.

The acquisition of Coventry resulted in a $1.4 billion increase in health care costs payable at the Coventry Acquisition Date, which significantly impacts the year-over-year comparability of changes in health care costs payable (refer to Note 3 beginning on page 99 for additional information).

7. Goodwill and Other Acquired Intangible Assets

As discussed in Note 3, we completed the acquisitions of InterGlobal and bswift in 2014. In accordance with applicable accounting guidance, we allocated the amount paid to the fair value of the net assets acquired, with any excess amounts recorded as goodwill. The change in goodwill in 2015 and 2014 is as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014
Balance, beginning of the period	$ 10,613.2	$ 10,227.5

Other acquired intangible assets at December 31, 2015 and 2014 were comprised of the following:

⁽²⁾ VOBA is being amortized over the expected life of the acquired contracts in proportion to estimated premium.

We estimate annual pretax amortization for other acquired intangible assets over the next five years to be as follows:

(Millions)
2016	$ 246.9

We did not have any repurchase agreements outstanding at December 31, 2015. At December 31, 2014, $202 million of investments were pledged as collateral under repurchase agreements. At December 31, 2015 we did not have any investments pledged under securities lending agreements. At December 31, 2014, $798 million of investments were pledged under securities lending agreements.

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, we held investments of $690 million and $778 million, respectively, related to the 2012 conversion of an existing group annuity contract from a participating to a non-participating contract. These investments are included in the total investments of our Large Case Pensions segment supporting non-experience-rated products. Although these investments are not accounted for as Separate Accounts assets, they are legally segregated and are not subject to claims that arise out of our business and only support our future policy benefits obligations under that group annuity contract. Refer to Notes 2 and 20 beginning on pages 88 and 143, respectively, for additional information.

⁽¹⁾ At December 31, 2015 and 2014, we held securities for which we previously recognized $5.4 million and $18.6 million, respectively, of non-credit related impairments in accumulated other comprehensive loss. These securities had a net unrealized capital gain at December 31, 2015 and 2014 of $1.9 million and $3.6 million, respectively.

The fair value of debt securities at December 31, 2015 is shown below by contractual maturity. Actual maturities may differ from contractual maturities because securities may be restructured, called or prepaid.

Mortgage-Backed and Other Asset-Backed Securities

All of our residential mortgage-backed securities at December 31, 2015 were issued by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal National Mortgage Association or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation and carry agency guarantees and explicit or implicit guarantees by the U.S. Government. At December 31, 2015, our residential mortgage-backed securities had an average credit quality rating of AAA and a weighted average duration of 4.5 years.

Our commercial mortgage-backed securities have underlying loans that are dispersed throughout the United States. Significant market observable inputs used to value these securities include loss severity and probability of default. At December 31, 2015, these securities had an average credit quality rating of AA and a weighted average duration of 2.8 years.

Our other asset-backed securities have a variety of underlying collateral (e.g., automobile loans, credit card receivables, home equity loans and commercial loans). Significant market observable inputs used to value these securities include the unemployment rate, loss severity and probability of default. At December 31, 2015, these securities had an average credit quality rating of AA- and a weighted average duration of 1.2 years.

Unrealized Capital Losses and Net Realized Capital Gains (Losses)

When a debt or equity security is in an unrealized capital loss position, we monitor the duration and severity of the loss to determine if sufficient market recovery can occur within a reasonable period of time. We recognize an other-than-temporary impairment (“OTTI”) when we intend to sell a debt security that is in an unrealized capital loss position or if we determine a credit-related loss on a debt or equity security has occurred.

Summarized below are the debt and equity securities we held at December 31, 2015 and 2014 that were in an unrealized capital loss position, aggregated by the length of time the investments have been in that position:

⁽¹⁾ At December 31, 2015 and 2014, debt and equity securities in an unrealized capital loss position of $68.0 million and $16.7 million, respectively, and with related fair value of $966.2 million and $402.7 million, respectively, related to experience-rated and discontinued products.

We reviewed the securities in the tables above and concluded that these are performing assets generating investment income to support the needs of our business. In performing this review, we considered factors such as the quality of the investment security based on research performed by our internal credit analysts and external rating agencies and the prospects of realizing the carrying value of the security based on the investment's current prospects for recovery. At December 31, 2015, we did not intend to sell these securities, and we did not believe it was more likely than not that we would be required to sell these securities prior to anticipated recovery of their amortized cost basis.

The maturity dates for debt securities in an unrealized capital loss position at December 31, 2015 were as follows:

Net realized capital (losses) gains for the three years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, excluding amounts related to experience-rated contract holders and discontinued products, were as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
OTTI losses on debt securities recognized in earnings	$ (63.4)	$ (4.6)	$ (36.6)
Other net realized capital (losses) gains	(1.1)	85.0	27.8
Net realized capital (losses) gains	$ (64.5)	$ 80.4	$ (8.8)

The net realized capital losses in 2015 were primarily attributable to yield-related OTTI on U.S. corporate debt securities. The net realized capital gains in 2014 were primarily attributable to gains from the sales of debt and equity securities. The net realized capital losses in 2013 were primarily attributable to yield-related OTTI on U.S. Treasury debt securities that we had the intent to sell, partially offset by gains from the sales of debt securities.

Yield-related impairments are recognized in other comprehensive income unless we have the intention to sell the security in an unrealized loss position, in which case the yield-related OTTI is recognized in earnings. In 2015 and 2013, we recognized yield-related OTTI losses of $63 million and $33 million, respectively, related to our debt securities. Yield-related OTTI losses were not significant in 2014. We had no other individually material realized capital losses on debt or equity securities that impacted our operating results during 2015, 2014 or 2013.

Excluding amounts related to experience-rated and discontinued products, proceeds from the sale of debt securities and the related gross realized capital gains and losses for 2015, 2014 and 2013 were as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Proceeds on sales	$ 5,256.2	$ 4,727.7	$ 6,524.8
Gross realized capital gains	80.6	91.1	113.9
Gross realized capital losses	76.3	35.5	100.0

Mortgage Loans

Our mortgage loans are collateralized by commercial real estate. During 2015 and 2014 we had the following activity in our mortgage loan portfolio:

(Millions)		2015	2014
New mortgage loans	$	212.6	$ 217.0
Mortgage loans fully-repaid		163.1	133.7
Mortgage loans foreclosed		9.0	—

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, we had no material problem, restructured or potential problem mortgage loans. We also had no material impairment reserves on these loans at December 31, 2015 or 2014.

We assess our mortgage loans on a regular basis for credit impairments, and annually assign a credit quality indicator to each loan. Our credit quality indicator is internally developed and categorizes our portfolio on a scale from 1 to 7. Category 1 represents loans of superior quality, and Category 7 represents loans where collections are potentially at risk. The vast majority of our mortgage loans fall into the Category 2 to 4 ratings. These ratings represent loans where credit risk is minimal to acceptable; however, these loans may display some susceptibility to economic changes. Categories 5 and 6 represent loans where credit risk is not substantial but these loans warrant management's close attention. These indicators are based upon several factors, including current loan to value ratios, property condition, market trends, creditworthiness of the borrower and deal structure. Based upon our most recent assessments at December 31, 2015 and 2014, our mortgage loans were given the following credit quality indicators:

(In Millions, except credit ratings indicator)		2015	2014
1	$	65.8	$ 59.7
2 to 4		1,466.9	1,443.4

7		—	27.9
Total	$	1,553.7	$ 1,562.2

At December 31, 2015 scheduled mortgage loan principal repayments were as follows:

(Millions)
2016		$ 126.9
2017		196.9
2018		225.2
2019		114.0

Thereafter		706.7

Variable Interest Entities

In determining whether to consolidate a variable interest entity (“VIE”), we consider several factors, including whether we have the power to direct activities, the obligation to absorb losses and the right to receive benefits that could potentially be significant to the VIE. We have relationships with certain real estate partnerships and one hedge fund partnership that are considered VIEs, but are not consolidated. We record the amount of our investment in these partnerships as long-term investments on our balance sheets and recognize our share of partnership income or losses in earnings. Our maximum exposure to loss as a result of our investment in these partnerships is our investment balance at December 31, 2015 and 2014 of $218 million and $209 million, respectively, and the risk of recapture of tax credits related to the real estate partnerships previously recognized, which we do not consider significant. We do not have a future obligation to fund losses or debts on behalf of these investments; however, we may voluntarily contribute funds. The real estate partnerships construct, own and manage low-income housing developments and had total assets of approximately $6.2 billion and $5.7 billion at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. The hedge fund partnership had total assets of approximately $6.7 billion and $7.1 billion at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

Non-controlling (Minority) Interests

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, continuing business non-controlling interests were $64 million and $69 million, respectively, primarily related to third party interests in our investment holdings as well as third party interests in certain of our operating entities. The non-controlling entities’ share was included in total equity. In both 2015 and 2014, net income attributable to non-controlling interests was $4.4 million. Net loss attributable to non-controlling interests was $1.7 million in 2013. These non-controlling interests did not have a material impact on our financial position or operating results.

Net Investment Income

Sources of net investment income for 2015, 2014 and 2013 were as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Debt securities	$ 793.5	$ 800.8	$ 768.5
Mortgage loans	91.1	108.2	99.4

⁽¹⁾ Net investment income includes $248.2 million, $289.1 million and $293.5 million for 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively, related to investments supporting our experience-rated and discontinued products.

9. Health Care Reform’s Reinsurance, Risk Adjustment and Risk Corridor

Our net receivable (payable) related to the 3Rs risk management programs at December 31, 2015 and 2014 were as follows:

(Millions)	At December 31, 2015			At December 31, 2014
	Reinsurance	Risk Adjustment	Risk Corridor	Reinsurance	Risk Adjustment	Risk Corridor
Total net receivable (payable) ⁽¹⁾	$ 394.5	$ (710.2)	$ (8.1)	$ 337.6	$ (230.0)	$ (9.6)

In October 2015, HHS announced that 2014 Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables would be funded at 12.6% to the extent HHS fully collects risk corridor payables. As a result, we continue to believe that receipt of any risk corridor payment from HHS for the 2015 program year and receipt of such payments in excess of the prorated amount for the 2014 program year are uncertain. At December 31, 2015, we had a $2 million risk corridor receivable for the remaining prorated 2014 program year amount that had not been collected from HHS and no receivable for the 2015 program year. At December 31, 2014, we did not record any Health Care Reform risk corridor receivables because payments from HHS under this program were uncertain.

⁽³⁾ Reclassifications out of accumulated other comprehensive income for foreign currency gains (losses) and derivatives are reflected in net realized capital gains (losses) within the Consolidated Statements of Income, except for the effective portion of derivatives related to interest rate swaps which are reflected in interest expense and were not material during 2015, 2014 or 2013. Refer to Note 15 of Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements beginning on page 131 for additional information.

Refer to the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income on page 83 for additional information regarding reclassifications out of accumulated other comprehensive income on a pretax basis.

11. Financial Instruments

The preparation of our consolidated financial statements in accordance with GAAP requires certain of our assets and liabilities to be reflected at their fair value, and others on another basis, such as an adjusted historical cost basis. In this note, we provide details on the fair value of financial assets and liabilities and how we determine those fair values. We present this information for those financial instruments that are measured at fair value for which the change in fair value impacts net income attributable to Aetna or other comprehensive income separately from other financial assets and liabilities.

Financial Instruments Measured at Fair Value in our Balance Sheets

Certain of our financial instruments are measured at fair value in our balance sheets. The fair values of these instruments are based on valuations that include inputs that can be classified within one of three levels of a hierarchy established by GAAP. The following are the levels of the hierarchy and a brief description of the type of valuation information (“inputs”) that qualifies a financial asset or liability for each level:

- Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.
- Level 2 – Inputs other than Level 1 that are based on observable market data. These include: quoted prices for similar assets in active markets, quoted prices for identical assets in inactive markets, inputs that are observable that are not prices (such as interest rates and credit risks) and inputs that are derived from or corroborated by observable markets.
- Level 3 – Developed from unobservable data, reflecting our own assumptions.

Financial assets and liabilities are classified based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the valuation. When quoted prices in active markets for identical assets and liabilities are available, we use these quoted market prices to determine the fair value of financial assets and liabilities and classify these assets and liabilities in Level 1. In other cases where a quoted market price for identical assets and liabilities in an active market is either not available or not observable, we estimate fair value using valuation methodologies based on available and observable market information or by using a matrix pricing model. These financial assets and liabilities would then be classified in Level 2. If quoted market prices are not available, we determine fair value using broker quotes or an internal analysis of each investment’s financial performance and cash flow projections. Thus, financial assets and liabilities may be classified in Level 3 even though there may be some significant inputs that may be observable.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for our financial assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value, including the general classification of such assets and liabilities pursuant to the valuation hierarchy.

Debt Securities – Where quoted prices are available in an active market, our debt securities are classified in Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. Our Level 1 debt securities are comprised primarily of U.S. Treasury securities.

The fair values of our Level 2 debt securities are obtained using models such as matrix pricing, which use quoted market prices of debt securities with similar characteristics, or discounted cash flows to estimate fair value. We review these prices to ensure they are based on observable market inputs that include, but are not limited to, quoted prices for similar assets in active markets, quoted prices for identical assets in inactive markets and inputs that are observable but not prices (for example, interest rates and credit risks). We also review the methodologies and the assumptions used to calculate prices from these observable inputs. On a quarterly basis, we select a sample of our Level 2 debt securities' prices and compare them to prices provided by a secondary source. Variances over a specified threshold are identified and reviewed to confirm the price provided by the primary source represents an appropriate estimate of fair value. In addition, our internal investment team consistently compares the prices obtained for select Level 2 debt securities to the team's own independent estimates of fair value for those securities. We obtained one price for each of our Level 2 debt securities and did not adjust any of these prices at December 31, 2015 or 2014.

We also value certain debt securities using Level 3 inputs. For Level 3 debt securities, fair values are determined by outside brokers or, in the case of certain private placement securities, are priced internally. Outside brokers determine the value of these debt securities through a combination of their knowledge of the current pricing environment and market flows. We obtained one non-binding broker quote for each of these Level 3 debt securities and did not adjust any of these quotes at December 31, 2015 or 2014. The total fair value of our broker quoted debt securities was $78 million and $126 million at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Examples of these broker quoted Level 3 debt securities include certain U.S. and foreign corporate securities and certain of our commercial mortgage-backed securities as well as other asset-backed securities. For some of our private placement securities, our internal staff determines the value of these debt securities by analyzing spreads of corporate and sector indices as well as interest spreads of comparable public bonds. Examples of these private placement Level 3 debt securities include certain U.S. and foreign securities and certain tax-exempt municipal securities.

Equity Securities – We currently have two classifications of equity securities: those that are publicly traded and those that are privately held. Our publicly-traded securities are classified in Level 1 because quoted prices are available for these securities in an active market. For privately-held equity securities, there is no active market; therefore, we classify these securities in Level 3 because we price these securities through an internal analysis of each investment's financial statements and cash flow projections. Significant unobservable inputs consist of earnings and revenue multiples, discount for lack of marketability and comparability adjustments. An increase or decrease in any of these unobservable inputs would result in a change in the fair value measurement, which may be significant.

Derivatives – Where quoted prices are available in an active market, our derivatives are classified in Level 1. Certain of our derivative instruments are valued using models that primarily use market observable inputs and therefore are classified in Level 2 because they are traded in markets where quoted market prices are not readily available.

Financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis in our balance sheets at December 31, 2015 and 2014 were as follows:

Financial Instruments Not Measured at Fair Value in our Balance Sheets

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for estimating the fair value of our financial assets and liabilities that are carried on our balance sheets at adjusted cost or contract value.

Mortgage loans: Fair values are estimated by discounting expected mortgage loan cash flows at market rates that reflect the rates at which similar loans would be made to similar borrowers. These rates reflect our assessment of the credit worthiness of the borrower and the remaining duration of the loans. The fair value estimates of mortgage loans of lower credit quality, including problem and restructured loans, are based on the estimated fair value of the underlying collateral.

Bank loans: Where fair value is determined by quoted market prices of bank loans with similar characteristics, our bank loans are classified in Level 2. For bank loans classified in Level 3, fair value is determined by outside brokers using their internal analyses through a combination of their knowledge of the current pricing environment and market flows.

Equity securities: Certain of our equity securities are carried at cost. The fair values of our cost-method investments are not estimated if there are no identified events or changes in circumstances that may have a significant adverse effect on the fair value of the investment.

Investment contract liabilities:

- With a fixed maturity: Fair value is estimated by discounting cash flows at interest rates currently being offered by, or available to, us for similar contracts.
- Without a fixed maturity: Fair value is estimated as the amount payable to the contract holder upon demand. However, we have the right under such contracts to delay payment of withdrawals that may ultimately result in paying an amount different than that determined to be payable on demand.

Long-term debt: Fair values are based on quoted market prices for the same or similar issued debt or, if no quoted market prices are available, on the current rates estimated to be available to us for debt of similar terms and remaining maturities.

The carrying value and estimated fair value classified by level of fair value hierarchy for certain of our financial instruments at December 31, 2015 and 2014 were as follows:

⁽¹⁾ It was not practical to estimate the fair value of these cost-method investments as it represents shares of unlisted companies.

Separate Accounts Measured at Fair Value in our Balance Sheets

Separate Accounts assets in our Large Case Pensions business represent funds maintained to meet specific objectives of contract holders. Since contract holders bear the investment risk of these assets, a corresponding Separate Accounts liability has been established equal to the assets. These assets and liabilities are carried at fair value. Net investment income and capital gains and losses accrue directly to such contract holders. The assets of each account are legally segregated and are not subject to claims arising from our other businesses. Deposits, withdrawals, net investment income and realized and unrealized capital gains and losses on Separate Accounts assets are not reflected in our statements of income, shareholders' equity or cash flows.

Separate Accounts assets include debt and equity securities and derivative instruments. The valuation methodologies used for these assets are similar to the methodologies described beginning on page 112. Separate Accounts assets also include investments in common/collective trusts that are carried at fair value. Common/collective trusts invest in other investment funds otherwise known as the underlying funds. The Separate Accounts' interests in the common/collective trust funds are based on the fair values of the investments of the underlying funds and therefore are classified in Level 2. The assets in the underlying funds primarily consist of equity securities. Investments in common/collective trust funds are valued at their respective net asset value per share/unit on the valuation date.

Separate Accounts financial assets at December 31, 2015 and 2014 were as follows:

During 2015 and 2014, there were no transfers of Separate Accounts financial assets between Levels 1 and 2.

12. Pension and Other Postretirement Plans

Defined Benefit Retirement Plans

We sponsor various defined benefit plans, including two pension plans, and OPEB plans that provide certain health care and life insurance benefits for retired employees, including those of our former parent company.

During both 2015 and 2014 we did not make any contribution to the Aetna Pension Plan. During 2013 we made a voluntary cash contribution of $60 million to the Aetna Pension Plan. Effective December 31, 2010, our employees no longer earn future pension service credits in the Aetna Pension Plan (i.e., the Plan was “frozen” effective December 31, 2010), although the Aetna Pension Plan will continue to operate and account balances will continue to earn annual interest credits.

In July 2014, we enhanced the Aetna Pension Plan. Effective December 1, 2014, we permitted certain current and future former employees with deferred vested Aetna Pension Plan balances to elect to receive a 100% lump-sum distribution. This election is a permanent addition to the Aetna Pension Plan. In addition, in July 2014, we announced a limited-time offer permitting certain former employees with deferred vested Aetna Pension Plan balances to elect a 100% lump-sum distribution. These distributions in 2014 were funded from existing Aetna Pension Plan assets and exceeded the total 2014 service and interest cost. As a result, we performed a remeasurement of the Aetna Pension Plan, and we recorded a pretax non-cash settlement charge of $112 million in 2014 in general and administrative expenses.

We also sponsor a non-qualified supplemental pension plan (the “Non-qualified Pension Plan”) that, prior to January 1, 2007, had been used to provide benefits for wages above the Internal Revenue Code wage limits applicable to tax qualified pension plans (such as the Aetna Pension Plan). Effective January 1, 2007, no new benefits accrue under the Non-qualified Pension Plan, but interest will continue to be credited on outstanding supplemental cash balance accounts; and the plan may continue to be used to credit special pension arrangements.

In addition, we currently provide certain medical and life insurance benefits for retired employees, including those of our former parent company. We provide subsidized health care benefits to certain eligible employees who terminated employment prior to December 31, 2006. There is a cap on our portion of the cost of providing medical and dental benefits to our retirees. Through December 31, 2015, all current and future retirees and employees who terminated employment at age 45 or later with at least five years of service were eligible to participate in our group health plans at their own cost. Effective January 1, 2016, only current and future retirees and employees who terminate employment at age 55 or later are eligible for such participation.

The information set forth in the following tables is based upon current actuarial reports using the annual measurement dates (December 31, for each year presented) for our pension and OPEB plans.

The following table shows the changes in the benefit obligations during 2015 and 2014 for our pension and OPEB plans.

(Millions)	Pension Plans		OPEB Plans
	2015	2014	2015	2014

Benefit obligation, end of year	$ 5,945.8	$ 6,504.8	$ 256.7	$ 277.2

The decrease in the pension plans' benefit obligation in 2015 was primarily due to actuarial gains arising as a result of a higher discount rate as further described below.

The Aetna Pension Plan comprises 96% of the pension plans' total benefit obligation at December 31, 2015. The discount rates used to determine the benefit obligation of our pension and OPEB plans were calculated using a yield curve as of our annual measurement date. Each yield curve consisted of a series of individual discount rates, with each discount rate corresponding to a single point in time, based on high-quality bonds. Projected benefit payments are discounted to the measurement date using the corresponding rate from the yield curve. The weighted average discount rate for our pension plans was 4.50% and 4.12% for 2015 and 2014, respectively. The discount rate for our OPEB plans was 4.39% and 4.02% for 2015 and 2014, respectively. The discount rates differ for our pension and OPEB plans due to the duration of the projected benefit payments for each plan.

Additionally, based on the mortality experience of our pension and OPEB plans, in 2015 we utilized the RP-2014 Mortality Table with a generational projection of future mortality improvements using Scale MP-2015. In 2014 we utilized the RP-2014 Mortality Table with a generational projection of future mortality improvements using Scale MP-2014. In 2013, we used the Retirement Plan 2000 mortality table with a generational projection of future mortality improvements using Scale AA.

The following table reconciles the beginning and ending balances of the fair value of plan assets during 2015 and 2014 for our pension and OPEB plans:

The difference between the fair value of plan assets and the plan's benefit obligation is referred to as the plan's funded status. This funded status is an accounting-based calculation and is not indicative of our mandatory funding requirements, which are described on page 18.

The funded status of our pension and OPEB plans at the measurement date for 2015 and 2014 were as follows:

(Millions)	Pension Plans		OPEB Plans
	2015	2014	2015	2014
Benefit obligation	$ (5,945.8)	$ (6,504.8)	$ (256.7)	$ (277.2)

Funded status	$ (143.9)	$ (357.8)	$ (201.7)	$ (218.7)

At December 31, 2015, the fair value of plan assets of the Aetna Pension Plan was in excess of the benefit obligations, while the Non-qualified Pension Plan had benefit obligations in excess of the fair value of plan assets. Below is the funded status of each of our Pension Plans:

(Millions)	Aetna Pension Plan		Non-qualified Pension Plan
	2015	2014	2015	2014
Benefit obligation	$ (5,713.5)	$ (6,248.8)	$ (232.3)	$ (256.0)

Funded status	$ 88.4	$ (101.8)	$ (232.3)	$ (256.0)

The amounts in accumulated other comprehensive loss that have not yet been recognized in net periodic benefit cost as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 were as follows:

(Millions)	Pension Plans		OPEB Plans
	2015	2014	2015	2014

Amount recognized in accumulated other comprehensive loss	$ (2,396.7)	$ (2,491.8)	$ (44.5)	$ (50.7)

The (liabilities) assets recognized on our balance sheets at December 31, 2015 and 2014 for our pension and OPEB plans were comprised of the following:

(Millions)	Pension Plans		OPEB Plans
	2015	2014	2015	2014
Accrued benefit assets reflected in other long-term assets	$ 88.4	$ —	$ —	$ —

Accrued benefit liabilities reflected in other long-term liabilities	(212.8)	(336.2)	(188.3)	(204.2)
Net amount of (liabilities) assets recognized at December 31,	$ (143.9)	$ (357.8)	$ (201.7)	$ (218.7)

At December 31, 2015, we had approximately $2.4 billion and $67 million of net actuarial losses for our pension and OPEB plans, respectively, and $1 million and $22 million of prior service credits for our pension and OPEB plans, respectively, that have not been recognized as components of net periodic benefit costs. We expect to recognize $61 million and $2 million in amortization of net actuarial losses for our pension and OPEB plans, respectively, and $4 million in amortization of prior service credits for our OPEB plans in 2016. Our amortization of prior service credits for our pension plans in 2016 is not expected to be material.

Components of the net periodic benefit (income) cost of our defined benefit pension plans and OPEB plans for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013 were as follows:

(Millions)	Pension Plans			OPEB Plans
	2015	2014	2013	2015	2014	2013
Service cost	$ —	$ —	$ —	$.1	$ —	$.1

Net periodic benefit (income) cost	$ (97.1)	$ 23.8	$ (49.9)	$ 6.8	$ 6.2	$ 7.4

The weighted average assumptions used to determine net periodic benefit (income) cost in 2015, 2014 and 2013 for the pension and OPEB plans were as follows:

	Pension Plans			OPEB Plans
	2015	2014	2013	2015	2014	2013
Discount rate	4.12%	4.96%	4.17%	4.02%	4.73%	3.94%
Expected long-term return on plan assets	7.00	7.00	7.00	5.30	5.30	4.10
Rate of increase in future compensation levels	N/A	N/A	N/A	—	—	—

We assume different health care cost trend rates for medical costs and prescription drug costs in estimating the expected costs of our OPEB plans. The assumed medical cost trend rate for 2016 is 7.5%, decreasing gradually to 4.5% by 2023. The assumed prescription drug cost trend rate for 2016 is 11.0%, decreasing gradually to 4.5% by 2024. These assumptions reflect our historical as well as expected future trends for retirees. In addition, the trend assumptions reflect factors specific to our retiree medical plan, such as plan design, cost-sharing provisions, benefits covered and the presence of subsidy caps. A one-percentage point increase in both the assumed medical cost and assumed prescription drug cost trend rates would result in a $.4 million pretax increase in the aggregate of the service and interest cost components of OPEB costs and a $9 million increase in the OPEB benefit obligation. A one-percentage point decrease in both the assumed medical cost and assumed prescription drug cost trend rates would result in a $.4 million pretax decrease in the aggregate of the service and interest cost components of OPEB costs and an $8 million decrease in the OPEB benefit obligation.

Our current funding strategy for the Aetna Pension Plan is to fund an amount at least equal to the minimum funding requirement as determined under applicable regulatory requirements with consideration of factors such as the maximum tax deductibility of such amounts. Minimum funding requirements for the Aetna Pension Plan were met in 2015 and 2014, and we were not required to make cash contributions for either of those years. We do not have any required contribution to the Aetna Pension Plan in 2016, although we may voluntarily contribute $60 million in 2016. Employer contributions related to the supplemental pension and OPEB plans represent payments to retirees for current benefits. We have no plans to return any pension or OPEB plan assets to the Company in 2016. Our non-qualified supplemental pension plan and OPEB plans do not have minimum funding requirements.

Expected benefit payments, which reflect future employee service, as appropriate, of the pension and OPEB plans to be paid for each of the next five years and in the aggregate for the next five years thereafter at December 31, 2015 were as follows:

(Millions)	Pension Plans	OPEB Plans
2016	$ 347.7	$ 17.3
2017	352.4	17.3
2018	358.9	17.3
2019	360.3	17.2
2020	364.9	17.2
2021-2025	1,863.7	82.1

Assets of the Aetna Pension Plan

The assets of the Aetna Pension Plan (“Pension Assets”) primarily include debt and equity securities held in separate accounts, as well as common/collective trusts and real estate investments. The valuation methodologies used to price these debt and equity securities and common/collective trusts are similar to the methodologies described beginning on pages 112 and 115. Pension Assets also include investments in other assets that are carried at fair value. The following is a description of the valuation methodology used to price real estate investments and these additional investments, including the general classification pursuant to the valuation hierarchy.

Real Estate - Real estate investments are valued by independent third party appraisers. The appraisals comply with the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice, which includes, among other things, the income, cost, and sales comparison approaches to estimating property value. Therefore, these investments are classified in Level 3.

Other Assets - Other assets consist of derivatives and private equity and hedge fund limited partnerships. Derivatives are either valued with models that primarily use market observable inputs and therefore are classified in Level 2 because they are traded in markets where quoted market prices are not readily available or are classified in Level 1 because they are traded in markets where quoted market prices are readily available. The fair values of private equity and hedge fund limited partnerships are estimated based on the net asset value of the investment fund provided by the general partner or manager of the investments, the financial statements of which generally are audited. Management considers observable market data, valuation procedures in place, contributions and withdrawal restrictions collectively in validating the appropriateness of using the net asset value as a fair value measurement. Therefore, these investments are classified in Level 3.

Pension Assets with changes in fair value measured on a recurring basis at December 31, 2015 were as follows:

The Aetna Pension Plan invests in a diversified mix of assets intended to maximize long-term returns while recognizing the need for adequate liquidity to meet ongoing benefit and administrative obligations. The risk of unexpected investment and actuarial outcomes is regularly evaluated. This evaluation is performed through forecasting and assessing ranges of investment outcomes over short- and long-term horizons, and by assessing the Aetna Pension Plan's liability characteristics, our financial position and our future potential obligations from both the pension and general corporate perspectives. Complementary investment styles and techniques are utilized by multiple professional investment firms to further improve portfolio and operational risk characteristics. Public and private equity investments are used primarily to increase overall plan returns. Real estate investments are viewed favorably for their diversification benefits and above-average dividend generation. Fixed income investments provide diversification benefits and liability hedging attributes that are desirable, especially in falling interest rate environments.

At December 31, 2015, target investment allocations for the Aetna Pension Plan were: 38% in equity securities, 48% in debt securities, 7% in real estate, 4% in private equity limited partnerships and 3% in hedge funds. Actual asset allocations may differ from target allocations due to tactical decisions to overweight or underweight certain assets or as a result of normal fluctuations in asset values. Asset allocations are consistent with stated investment policies and, as a general rule, periodically rebalanced back to target asset allocations. Asset allocations and investment performance are formally reviewed periodically throughout the year by the plan's Benefit Finance Committee. Forecasting of asset and liability growth is performed at least annually.

We have several benefit plans for retired employees currently supported by the OPEB plan assets. OPEB plan assets are directly and indirectly invested in a diversified mix of traditional asset classes, primarily high-quality fixed income securities.

The actual and target asset allocations of the OPEB plans used at December 31, 2015 and 2014 presented as a percentage of total plan assets, were as follows:

(Millions)	Target		Target
	2015	Allocation	2014	Allocation
Equity securities	10%	5-15%	11%	5-15%
Debt securities	83%	80-90%	84%	80-90%
Real estate/other	7%	0-10%	5%	0-10%

Our expected return on plan assets assumption is based on many factors, including forecasted capital market real returns over a long-term horizon, forecasted inflation rates, historical compounded asset returns and patterns and correlations on those returns. Expectations for modest increases in interest rates, normal inflation trends and average capital market real returns led us to an expected return on the pension plan assets assumption of 7.00% for each of 2015, 2014 and 2013, and an expected return on OPEB plan assets assumption of 5.30% for both 2015 and 2014 and 4.10% for 2013. We regularly review actual asset allocations and periodically rebalance our investments to the mid-point of our targeted allocation ranges when we consider it appropriate.

401(k) Plan

Our employees are eligible to participate in a defined contribution retirement savings plan under which designated contributions may be invested in our common stock or certain other investments (the "Aetna 401(k) Plan"). In addition, former Coventry employees continued to be eligible to participate in the Coventry 401(k) plan during 2013, however, as of January 1, 2014, they became eligible to participate in the Aetna 401(k) Plan. Our 401(k) contribution to the Aetna 401(k) Plan provides for a match of 100% of up to 6% of the eligible pay contributed by the employee. Contributions to the Coventry 401(k) plan provided a match of 100% of up to 3% and 50% of the second 3% of the eligible pay contributed by the employee. During 2015, 2014 and 2013, we made $198 million, $180 million and $148 million, respectively, in aggregate of matching contributions to our 401(k) plans. The matching contributions are made in cash and invested according to each participant's investment elections. The plan trustees held 8 million shares, in aggregate, of our common stock for plan participants at December 31, 2015. At December 31, 2015, 34 million shares of our common stock were reserved for issuance under the Aetna 401(k) Plan.

13. Stock-based Employee Incentive Plans

Our stock-based employee compensation plans (collectively, the “Plans”) provide for awards of stock options, SARs, PSARs, restricted stock units (“RSUs”), MSUs, PSUs, deferred contingent common stock and the ability for employees to purchase common stock at a discount. At December 31, 2015, 30 million common shares were available for issuance under the Plans. Executive, middle management and non-management employees may be granted RSUs, MSUs, PSUs, stock options, SARs and PSARs, each of which are described below:

RSUs - For each RSU granted, employees receive one share of common stock, net of taxes, at the end of the vesting period. RSUs generally become 100% vested approximately three years from the grant date, with one-third vesting each December.

MSUs - The number of vested MSUs (which could range from zero to 150% of the original number of units granted) is dependent on the weighted average closing price of our common stock for the thirty trading days prior to the vesting date, including the vesting date. Each vested MSU represents one share of common stock and will be paid in shares of common stock, net of taxes. MSUs representing 50% of the grant date fair value of the MSUs granted in 2012 were subject to a two-year vesting period while the remaining MSUs granted in 2012 are subject to a three-year vesting period. MSUs granted in 2014 and 2013 are subject to a three-year vesting period. There were no MSUs granted in 2015.

PSUs - The number of vested PSUs (which could range from zero to 200% of the original number of units granted) is dependent upon the degree to which we achieve performance goals, which for the most part, are set at the time of grant as determined by our Board’s Committee on Compensation and Talent Management (the “Compensation Committee”). Each vested PSU represents one share of common stock and will be paid in shares of common stock, net of taxes. Below is a summary of the performance period and vesting percentages for each tranche of PSUs granted by the Company:

PSUs granted in 2012 (“2012 PSUs”)

Half of the 2012 PSUs were subject to a one-year performance period that ended on December 31, 2012, and vested at 81.67% of the original number of units granted. The remaining half were subject to a one-year performance period that ended December 31, 2013, and vested at 119.12% of the original number of units granted. The 2012 PSUs were subject to a two-year vesting period.

PSUs granted in 2013 (“2013 PSUs”)

Certain PSUs granted in 2013 were subject to a single three-year performance period that ended on December 31, 2015, and vested at 74.61% of the original number of units granted. These PSUs were subject to a single vesting period that ended on January 28, 2016.

Certain PSUs granted in 2013 were subject to a two-year vesting period with two separate performance periods. Half of these PSUs were subject to a one-year performance period that ended on December 31, 2013, and vested at 127.08% of the original number of units granted. The remaining half were subject to a one-year performance period that ended on December 31, 2014, and vested at 131.62% of the original number of units granted.

PSUs granted in 2014 (“2014 PSUs”)

The 2014 PSUs had a two-year performance period that ended on December 31, 2015, and vested at 200% of the original number of units granted. The 2014 PSUs are subject to a three-year vesting period.

PSUs granted in 2015 (“2015 PSUs”)

The 2015 PSUs have a three-year performance period that will end on December 31, 2017, and are subject to a three-year vesting period.

Stock Options and SARs - We have not granted stock options since 2005, and no stock options were outstanding as of December 31, 2015. Stock options were granted to purchase our common stock at or above the market price on the date of grant. SARs granted will be settled in stock, net of taxes, based on the appreciation of our stock price on the exercise date over the market price on the date of grant. SARs and stock options generally become 100% vested three years after the grant is made, with one-third vesting each year. Vested SARs and stock options may be exercised at any time during the ten years after grant, except in certain circumstances, generally related to employment termination or retirement. At the end of the ten-year period, any unexercised SARs and stock options expire.

The SARs granted to certain employees during 2015 and 2014 and described above had an estimated grant date fair value per SAR of $32.13 and $22.68, respectively. We did not grant a material number of SARs in 2013. The grant date fair value was calculated using a modified Black-Scholes option pricing model using the following assumptions:

Expected term (in years)	6.48	5.72
Volatility	33.4%	35.8%
Risk-free interest rate	1.81%	1.74%
Dividend yield	1.13%	1.36%
Initial price	$ 100.50	$ 72.26

The expected term is based on historical equity award activity. Volatility is based on a weighted average of the historical volatility of our stock price and implied volatility from traded options on our stock. The risk-free interest rate is based on a U.S. Treasury rate with a life equal to the expected life of the SARs grant. This rate was calculated by interpolating between the 5-year and 10-year U.S. Treasury rates. The dividend yield is based on our historical dividends declared in the 12 months prior to the grant date.

PSARs - PSARs represent the opportunity to vest in SARs. For the PSARs granted in 2013 (“2013 PSARs”), the number of vested PSARs (which may range in specified increments from zero to 700,000 SARs) is dependent on Aetna’s total shareholder return over a three year performance period relative to a defined peer group of companies. The 2013 PSARs are subject to a three-year vesting period.

We estimated the grant date fair value of the 2013 PSARs using a Monte Carlo simulation. The 2013 PSARs had a grant date per PSAR fair value of $18.64. That grant date fair value was calculated using the following assumptions:

Expected settlement period (in years)	6.12
Volatility	40.4%
Risk-free interest rate	.6%
Dividend yield	1.25%
Initial price	$ 64.25

The grant date fair values of RSUs and PSUs are based on the market price of our common stock on the date of grant. From 2010 through 2014, we granted MSUs to certain employees. We did not grant any MSUs in 2015. We estimate the grant date fair value of MSUs using a Monte Carlo simulation. MSUs granted in 2014 and 2013 had a weighted average per MSU grant date fair value of $74.99 and $49.31, respectively. The weighted-average per MSU grant date fair values listed above were calculated using the following assumptions:

	2014	2013
Volatility	26.4%	28.1%
Risk-free interest rate	.7%	.4%
Dividend yield	1.3%	1.7%
Initial price	$ 72.26	$ 48.48

The annualized volatility of the price of our common stock was calculated over the three-year period preceding the grant date for MSUs granted in 2014 and 2013. The risk-free interest rates for periods within the expected life of the MSUs are based on a constant maturity yield curve in effect on the grant date for MSUs granted in 2014 and 2013. The dividend yield assumptions for 2014 and 2013, respectively, were based on our expected 2014 and 2013 annual dividend payout, respectively.

RSU, MSU and PSU transactions in 2015, 2014 and 2013 were as follows (number of units in millions):

We settle our stock options, SARs, PSARs and stock units with newly-issued common stock and generally utilize the proceeds from stock options to repurchase our common stock in the open market in the same period.

In 2015, 2014 and 2013 we recorded share-based compensation expense of $181 million, $164 million and $127 million, respectively, in general and administrative expenses. We also recorded related tax benefits of $37 million in both 2015 and 2014, and $35 million in 2013, respectively. At December 31, 2015, $183 million of total unrecognized compensation costs related to SARs, PSARs and stock units is expected to be recognized over a weighted-average period of 1.7 years.

Valuation allowances are provided when we estimate that it is more likely than not that deferred tax assets will not be realized. A valuation allowance has been established primarily related to state net operating losses. We base our estimates of the future realization of deferred tax assets primarily on historic taxable income and existing deferred tax liabilities.

We participate in the Compliance Assurance Process (the “CAP”) with the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”). Under the CAP, the IRS undertakes audit procedures during the tax year and as the return is prepared for filing. The IRS has concluded its CAP audit of our 2014 tax return as well as all the prior years. We expect the IRS will conclude its CAP audit of our 2015 tax return in 2016.

We are also subject to audits by state taxing authorities for tax years from 2000 through 2014. We believe we carry appropriate reserves for any exposure to state tax issues.

At both December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 we did not have material uncertain tax positions reflected in our consolidated balance sheets.

We paid net income taxes of approximately $1.8 billion, $1.6 billion and $891 million in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

At December 31, 2015, we did not have any commercial paper outstanding. At December 31, 2014, we had $500 million of commercial paper outstanding with a weighted-average interest rate of .30%.

We paid $338 million, $379 million and $364 million in interest in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

We are a member of the FHLBB, and as a member we have the ability to obtain cash advances, subject to certain minimum collateral requirements. Our maximum borrowing capacity available from the FHLBB at December 31, 2015 was $824 million. At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, we did not have any outstanding borrowings from the FHLBB.

Early Extinguishment of Long-Term Debt

November 2014

On November 3, 2014, we announced the redemption for cash of the entire $495.6 million aggregate principal amount outstanding of our 6.50% senior notes due 2018. The redemption of these notes occurred on December 3, 2014 (the “December Redemption Date”) at a redemption price that included a make-whole premium, plus interest accrued and unpaid at the December Redemption Date. We financed the redemption by issuing $750 million of 3.5% senior notes due 2024 (the “November 2014 Senior Notes”). As a result of the redemption, in the fourth quarter of 2014, we recorded a loss on the early extinguishment of long-term debt of $58.1 million ($89.3 million pretax).

In April 2014, we entered into an interest rate swap with a notional value of $250 million. We designated this swap as a cash flow hedge against interest rate exposure related to the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt to be primarily used to refinance long-term debt maturing in 2018. In November 2014, prior to issuing the November 2014 Senior Notes used to refinance our 6.50% senior notes due 2018 and for general corporate purposes, we terminated this swap and paid an aggregate of $15.2 million to the swap counterparty upon termination. We performed a final effectiveness test upon termination of this swap and determined there was $3 million pretax of ineffectiveness that arose due to the actual debt issuance date being earlier than forecasted. The ineffectiveness was recorded as a realized capital loss in the fourth quarter of 2014. The effective portion of the hedge loss of $12 million pretax was recorded in accumulated other comprehensive loss, net of tax, and is being amortized as an increase to interest expense over the first 20 semi-annual interest payments of the November 2014 Senior Notes.

On February 7, 2014, we announced the redemption for cash of the entire $750 million aggregate principal amount outstanding of our 6.0% senior notes due 2016. The redemption of these notes occurred on March 14, 2014 (the “March Redemption Date”) at a redemption price that included a make-whole premium, plus interest accrued and unpaid at the March Redemption Date. We financed the redemption by issuing $375 million of 2.2% senior notes due 2019 and $375 million of 4.75% senior notes due 2044 (collectively, the “March 2014 Senior Notes”), together with other available resources. As a result of the redemption, in the first quarter of 2014, we recorded a loss on the early extinguishment of long-term debt of $59.7 million ($91.9 million pretax).

During June and July 2012, we entered into two interest rate swaps with an aggregate notional value of $375 million. We designated these swaps as cash flow hedges against interest rate exposure related to the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt to refinance our 6.0% senior notes due 2016. In March 2014, prior to issuing the March 2014 Senior Notes used to refinance our 6.0% senior notes due 2016, we terminated these swaps and received an aggregate of $34.2 million from the swap counterparties upon termination. We performed a final effectiveness test upon termination of these swaps and determined there was $12 million pretax of ineffectiveness that arose due to the actual debt issuance date being earlier than forecasted. The ineffectiveness was recorded as a realized capital gain in the first quarter of 2014. The effective portion of the hedge gain of $22 million pretax was recorded in accumulated other comprehensive loss, net of tax, and is being amortized as a reduction to interest expense over the first 20 semi-annual interest payments associated with the $375 million of 4.75% senior notes due 2044.

Cash Flow Hedges

In 2015 and 2016, we entered into various interest rate swaps and treasury rate locks with an aggregate notional value of $3.5 billion. We designated these swaps and treasury rate locks as cash flow hedges against interest rate exposure related to the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt to be primarily used to finance a portion of the purchase price of the Proposed Acquisition. At December 31, 2015, the swaps had an immaterial pretax fair value loss, which was reflected net of tax in accumulated other comprehensive loss within shareholders’ equity.

In March 2014, we entered into two interest rate swaps with an aggregate notional value of $500 million. We designated these swaps as cash flow hedges against interest rate exposure related to the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt to be primarily used to refinance long-term debt maturing in 2017. On September 30, 2015, we modified the timing of the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt in conjunction with the expected timing of the financing of the Proposed Acquisition and, as a result, we de-designated these swaps and re-designated them as cash flow hedges against interest rate exposure related to the forecasted future issuance of fixed-rate debt. The effective portion of the hedge loss of $73 million pretax remains in accumulated other comprehensive loss, net of tax, and will be amortized as an increase to interest expense over the first 20 semi-annual interest payments related to the fixed-rate debt. There was no material ineffectiveness as a result of the effectiveness test completed upon de-designation. At December 31, 2015, the re-designated swaps had a pretax fair value gain of $4 million, which was reflected net of tax in accumulated other comprehensive loss within shareholders' equity.

Revolving Credit Facility

On March 27, 2012, we entered into an unsecured $1.5 billion five-year revolving credit agreement (the "Credit Agreement") with several financial institutions. On September 24, 2012, in connection with the acquisition of Coventry, we entered into a First Amendment (the "First Amendment") to the Credit Agreement and also entered into an Incremental Commitment Agreement (the "Incremental Commitment Agreement"). On March 2, 2015, we entered into a Second Amendment to the Credit Agreement (the "Second Amendment"). On July 30, 2015, in connection with the Proposed Acquisition, we entered into a Third Amendment (the "Third Amendment," and together with the First Amendment, the Incremental Commitment Agreement, the Second Amendment and the Credit Agreement, resulting in the "Facility"). The Facility is an unsecured $2.0 billion revolving credit agreement. The Third Amendment permits us to increase the commitments available under the Facility from $2.0 billion to $3.0 billion upon our request and the satisfaction of certain conditions, including the completion of the transactions contemplated by the Merger Agreement and the termination of Humana's existing credit agreement dated as of July 9, 2013 ("Humana's Existing Credit Agreement"). The Third Amendment also modified the calculation of total debt for the purposes of determining compliance prior to the Closing Date (as defined below) with certain covenants to exclude debt incurred by us to finance the Proposed Acquisition, the other financing transactions related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or the payment of fees and expenses incurred in connection therewith so long as either (A) the net proceeds of such debt are set aside to finance the Proposed Acquisition, the other financing transactions related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or the payment of fees and expenses incurred in connection therewith or (B) such debt is subject to mandatory redemption in the event that the Merger Agreement is terminated or expires.

In addition, upon our agreement with one or more financial institutions, we may expand the commitments under the Facility by an additional $500 million. The Facility also provides for the issuance of up to $200 million of letters of credit at our request, which count as usage of the available commitments under the Facility. In each of 2013, 2014 and 2015, we extended the maturity date of the Facility by one year. The maturity date of the Facility is March 27, 2020.

Various interest rate options are available under the Facility. Any revolving borrowings mature on the termination date of the Facility. We pay facility fees on the Facility ranging from .050% to .150% per annum, depending upon our long-term senior unsecured debt rating. The facility fee was .100% at December 31, 2015. The Facility contains a financial covenant that requires us to maintain a ratio of total debt to consolidated capitalization as of the end of each fiscal quarter at or below 50%. For this purpose, consolidated capitalization equals the sum of total shareholders' equity, excluding any overfunded or underfunded status of our pension and OPEB plans and any net unrealized capital gains and losses, and total debt (as defined in the Facility). We met this requirement at December 31, 2015. There were no amounts outstanding under the Facility at any time during the year ended December 31, 2015 or 2014.

Bridge Credit Agreement

On July 30, 2015, we entered into a 364-day senior unsecured bridge credit agreement (the "Bridge Credit Agreement") with a group of fifteen lenders. Under the Bridge Credit Agreement, we may borrow on an unsecured basis an aggregate principal amount of up to $13.0 billion, to the extent that we have not received $13.0 billion of net cash proceeds from issuing senior notes or from certain other transactions on or prior to the closing date of the Proposed Acquisition (the “Closing Date”). Any proceeds of the Bridge Credit Agreement are required to be used to fund the Proposed Acquisition and to pay fees and expenses in connection with the Proposed Acquisition. The lenders' undrawn commitments under the Bridge Credit Agreement will be automatically and permanently reduced in an amount equal to, and we also will be required to make prepayments of any outstanding loans under the Bridge Credit Agreement with, the (i) net cash proceeds from the issuance of debt of Aetna or any of its subsidiaries, (ii) net cash proceeds from the issuance of equity of Aetna and (iii) net cash proceeds in excess of $300 million we receive from non-ordinary course asset sales, in each case subject to certain exceptions. The lenders' obligation to fund the loans under the Bridge Credit Agreement is subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, including the completion of the transactions contemplated by the Merger Agreement, the termination of Humana's Existing Credit Agreement and our having used commercially reasonable efforts to issue senior notes to provide funds to pay for the cash portion of the consideration payable under the Merger Agreement, to pay Aetna's fees and expenses related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or to refinance any loans made under the Bridge Credit Agreement. Any borrowings under the Bridge Credit Agreement mature 364 days after the Closing Date. The Bridge Credit Agreement contains a financial covenant that requires us to maintain a ratio of total debt to consolidated capitalization as of the end of each fiscal quarter at or below 50%. For this purpose, consolidated capitalization equals the sum of total shareholders' equity, excluding any overfunded or underfunded status of our pension and OPEB plans and any net unrealized capital gains and losses, and total debt (as defined in the Bridge Credit Agreement). For the purposes of determining compliance prior to the Closing Date with certain covenants, total debt also excludes debt incurred by us to finance the Proposed Acquisition, the other financing transactions related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or the payment of fees and expenses incurred in connection therewith so long as either (A) the net proceeds of such debt are set aside to finance the Proposed Acquisition, the other financing transactions related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or the payment of fees and expenses incurred in connection therewith or (B) such debt is subject to mandatory redemption in the event that the Merger Agreement is terminated or expires. The Bridge Credit Agreement also contains a covenant limiting “Restricted Payments” (as defined in the Bridge Credit Agreement) by Aetna, subject to certain exceptions and baskets, including an exception permitting the payment of regular cash dividends.

Amounts outstanding under the Bridge Credit Agreement will bear interest, at our option, either (a) at the London Interbank Offered Rate (“LIBOR”); or (b) at the base rate (defined as the highest of (i) the prime rate, (ii) the federal funds effective rate plus 0.50% per annum and (iii) LIBOR for an interest period of one month plus 1.00% per annum), plus, in each case, the applicable LIBOR margin or base rate margin depending upon the ratings of our long-term senior unsecured debt. The minimum and maximum LIBOR margins are 0.75% and 1.25% per annum, respectively, and the minimum and maximum base rate margins are 0% and 0.25% per annum, respectively, provided, however, that the applicable margins will increase by 0.25% per annum on the 90th day following the Closing Date and by an additional 0.25% per annum each 90th day thereafter while loans remain outstanding under the Bridge Credit Agreement. We will also pay to each lender on each of the following dates a duration fee equal to the following applicable percentages of the aggregate principal amount of such lender's loans outstanding under the Bridge Credit Agreement on such date: (i) 90 days after the Closing Date, 0.50%; (ii) 180 days after the Closing Date, 0.75%; and (iii) 270 days after the Closing Date, 1.00%. We will also pay the lenders certain other fees. There were no amounts outstanding under the Bridge Credit Agreement during 2015.

Term Loan Agreement

On July 30, 2015, we entered into a senior three-year term loan credit agreement (the “Term Loan Agreement”) with a group of seventeen lenders. Under the Term Loan Agreement, we may borrow on an unsecured basis an aggregate principal amount of up to $3.2 billion. Any proceeds of the Term Loan Agreement are required to be used to fund the Proposed Acquisition and to pay fees and expenses in connection with the Proposed Acquisition. The lenders' obligation to fund the loans under the Term Loan Agreement is subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, including the completion of the transactions contemplated by the Merger Agreement and the termination of Humana's Existing Credit Agreement. Any borrowings under the Term Loan Agreement mature three years after the Closing Date. The Term Loan Agreement contains a financial covenant that requires us to maintain a ratio of total debt to consolidated capitalization as of the end of each fiscal quarter at or below 50%. For this purpose, consolidated capitalization equals the sum of total shareholders' equity, excluding any overfunded or underfunded status of our pension and OPEB plans and any net unrealized capital gains and losses, and total debt (as defined in the Term Loan Agreement). For the purposes of determining compliance prior to the Closing Date with certain covenants, total debt also excludes debt incurred by us to finance the Proposed Acquisition, the other financing transactions related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or the payment of fees and expenses incurred in connection therewith so long as either (A) the net proceeds of such debt are set aside to finance the Proposed Acquisition, the other financing transactions related to the Proposed Acquisition and/or the payment of fees and expenses incurred in connection therewith or (B) such debt is subject to mandatory redemption in the event that the Merger Agreement is terminated or expires. The Term Loan Agreement also contains a covenant limiting “Restricted Payments” (as defined in the Term Loan Agreement) by Aetna, subject to certain exceptions and baskets, including an exception permitting the payment of regular cash dividends.

Amounts outstanding under the Term Loan Agreement will bear interest, at our option, either (a) at LIBOR; or (b) at the base rate (defined as the highest of (i) the prime rate, (ii) the federal funds effective rate plus 0.50% per annum and (iii) LIBOR for an interest period of one month plus 1.00% per annum), plus, in each case, the applicable LIBOR margin or base rate margin depending upon the ratings of our long-term senior unsecured debt. The minimum and maximum LIBOR margins are 0.75% and 1.50% per annum, respectively, and the minimum and maximum base rate margins are 0.0% and 0.50% per annum, respectively. We will also pay the lenders certain other fees. There were no amounts outstanding under the Term Loan Agreement during 2015.

16. Capital Stock

From time to time, our Board authorizes us to repurchase our common stock. The repurchases are effected from time to time in the open market, through negotiated transactions, including accelerated share repurchase agreements, and through plans designed to comply with Rule 10b5-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The activity under Board authorized share repurchase programs in 2015, 2014 and 2013 was as follows:

As described above, from time to time we enter into accelerated share repurchase agreements with unrelated third party financial institutions. The number of shares repurchased under each agreement is based on the volume-weighted average price of our common stock during the purchase period. We completed the following accelerated share repurchase programs with repurchase periods during the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014:

In December 2013, our Board increased our quarterly cash dividend to shareholders to $.225 per share. In November 2014, our Board increased our quarterly cash dividend to shareholders to $.25 per share. Prior to completion of the Proposed Acquisition, pursuant to the Merger Agreement, our regular quarterly cash dividend will not exceed $.25 per share. Our dividend policy following the completion of the Proposed Acquisition will be determined by our Board. Declaration and payment of future dividends is at the discretion of our Board and may be adjusted as business needs or marketplace conditions change.

In 2015 and 2014 our Board declared the following cash dividends:

On February 19, 2016, our Board declared a cash dividend of $.25 per share that will be paid on April 29, 2016 to shareholders of record at the close of business on April 14, 2016.

In addition to the common stock disclosed on our balance sheets, 8 million shares of Class A voting preferred stock, $.01 par value per share, have been authorized and none are issued or outstanding at December 31, 2015. At December 31, 2015, there were also 442 million undesignated shares that our Board has the power to divide into such classes and series, with such voting rights, designations, preferences, limitations and special rights as our Board determines.

17. Dividend Restrictions and Statutory Surplus

Our business operations are conducted through subsidiaries that principally consist of HMOs and insurance companies. In addition to general state law restrictions on payments of dividends and other distributions to shareholders applicable to all corporations, HMOs and insurance companies are subject to further regulations that, among other things, may require those companies to maintain certain levels of equity and restrict the amount of dividends and other distributions that may be paid to their equity holders. The additional regulations applicable to our HMO and insurance company subsidiaries are not expected to affect our ability to service our debt, meet our other financing obligations or pay dividends.

Under applicable regulatory requirements, at December 31, 2015, the amount of dividends that may be paid by our insurance and HMO subsidiaries without prior approval by regulatory authorities was approximately $1.9 billion in the aggregate. There are no such restrictions on distributions from Aetna to its shareholders. Prior to completion of the Proposed Acquisition, pursuant to the Merger Agreement, Aetna is not permitted to declare, set aside or pay any dividend or other distribution other than a regular quarterly cash dividend in the ordinary course of business, which will not exceed $.25 per share. In addition, the Bridge Credit Agreement and Term Loan Agreement each contain a covenant limiting “Restricted Payments” (as defined in the applicable agreement) by Aetna, subject to certain exceptions and baskets, including an exception permitting the payment of regular cash dividends. During 2015, our insurance and HMO subsidiaries paid approximately $2.3 billion of dividends to the Company.

The combined statutory net income for the years ended and combined statutory capital and surplus at December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013 for our insurance and HMO subsidiaries were as follows:

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Statutory net income	$ 2,186.2	$ 2,126.6	$ 1,750.1
Statutory capital and surplus	9,883.4	9,405.8	8,431.0

18. Reinsurance

Effective October 1, 1998, we reinsured certain policyholder liabilities and obligations related to individual life insurance (in conjunction with our former parent company's sale of this business). These transactions were in the form of indemnity reinsurance arrangements, whereby the assuming companies contractually assumed certain policyholder liabilities and obligations, although we remain directly obligated to policyholders. The liability related to our obligation is recorded in future policy benefits and policyholders' funds on our balance sheets. Assets related to and supporting these policies were transferred to the assuming companies, and we recorded a reinsurance recoverable.

There is not a material difference between premiums on a written basis versus an earned basis. Reinsurance recoveries were $634 million, $189 million and $110 million in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Reinsurance recoverables related to these obligations were approximately $1.2 billion at both December 31, 2015 and 2014 and $793 million at December 31, 2013, of which $681 million was associated with two reinsurers at December 31, 2015. Additionally, at December 31, 2015 and 2014, we recorded reinsurance recoverables under Health Care Reform's temporary three-year reinsurance program of $394 million and $338 million, respectively. Refer to Note 2 beginning on page 88 for additional information about Health Care Reform's temporary three-year reinsurance program, which expires at the end of 2016.

Effective January 1, 2012, we renewed our agreement with an unrelated insurer to reinsure fifty percent of our group term life and group accidental death and dismemberment insurance policies. During 2011 and 2010, we entered into agreements to reinsure certain Health Care insurance policies. We entered into these contracts to reduce the risk of catastrophic loss which in turn reduces our capital and surplus requirements. These contracts did not qualify for reinsurance accounting under GAAP, and consequently are accounted for using deposit accounting.

In May 2013, we entered into two agreements with unrelated reinsurers to reinsure a portion of our Medicare Advantage business and a portion of our group Commercial Insured Health Care business, respectively. These contracts did not qualify for reinsurance accounting under GAAP, and consequently are accounted for using deposit accounting.

In 2008, as a result of the liquidation proceedings of Lehman Re, a subsidiary of Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc., we recorded an allowance against our reinsurance recoverable from Lehman Re of $27.4 million ($42.2 million pretax). This reinsurance was placed in 1999 and was on a closed book of paid-up group whole life insurance business. In September 2008, we took possession of assets supporting the reinsurance recoverable, which previously were held as collateral in a trust. In 2013, we sold our claim against Lehman Re to an unrelated third party (including the reinsurance recoverable) and terminated the reinsurance arrangement. Upon the sale of the claim and termination of the arrangement, we reversed the related allowance thereby reducing other general and administrative expenses by $27.4 million ($42.2 million pretax) and recognized a $4.7 million ($7.2 million pretax) gain on the sale in fees and other revenue.

Effective 2015, 2014 and 2013, we entered into certain three to five-year reinsurance agreements with unrelated reinsurers. At December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, these agreements and similar agreements that have expired allowed us to reduce our required capital and provided an aggregate of $550 million, $500 million and $690 million, respectively, of collateralized excess of loss reinsurance coverage on a portion of our group Commercial Insured Health Care business.

In January 2016, we entered into four-year reinsurance agreements with Vitality Re VII Limited, an unrelated reinsurer. The agreements allow us to reduce our required capital and provide $200 million of collateralized excess of loss reinsurance coverage on a portion of our group Commercial Insured Health Care business.

19. Commitments and Contingencies

Guarantees

We have the following significant guarantee and indemnification arrangements at December 31, 2015.

- ASC Claim Funding Accounts - We have arrangements with certain banks for the processing of claim payments for our ASC customers. The banks maintain accounts to fund claims of our ASC customers. The customer is responsible for funding the amount paid by the bank each day. In these arrangements, we guarantee that the banks will not sustain losses if the responsible ASC customer does not properly fund its account. The aggregate maximum exposure under these arrangements is $250 million. We can limit our exposure to this guarantee by suspending the payment of claims for ASC customers that have not adequately funded the amount paid by the bank.
- Indemnification Agreements - In connection with certain acquisitions and dispositions of assets and/or businesses, our various issuances of long-term debt and certain of our reinsurance agreements, we have incurred certain customary indemnification obligations to the applicable seller, purchaser, underwriters and/or various other participants. In general, we have agreed to indemnify the other party for certain losses relating to the assets or business that we or they purchased or sold or for other matters on terms that are customary for similar transactions. Certain portions of our indemnification obligations are capped at the applicable transaction price, while other arrangements are not subject to such a limit. At December 31, 2015, we do not believe that our future obligations under any of these agreements will be material to our financial position.
- Separate Accounts assets - Certain Separate Accounts assets associated with the Large Case Pensions business represent funds maintained as a contractual requirement to fund specific pension annuities that we have guaranteed. Minimum contractual obligations underlying the guaranteed benefits in these Separate Accounts were approximately $2.0 billion and $2.2 billion at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Refer to Note 2 beginning on page 88 for additional information on Separate Accounts. Contract holders assume all investment and mortality risk and are required to maintain Separate Account balances at or above a specified level. The level of required funds is a function of the risk underlying the Separate Account's investment strategy. If contract holders do not maintain the required level of Separate Account assets to meet the annuity guarantees, we would establish an additional liability. Contract holders' balances in the Separate Accounts at December 31, 2015 exceeded the value of the guaranteed benefit obligation. As a result, we were not required to maintain any additional liability for our related guarantees at December 31, 2015.
- Minimum Volume Commitments - In connection with the Coventry acquisition we assumed certain supplier agreements with minimum volume commitments which require us to make payments to the suppliers if the level of medical membership subject to the agreements falls below specified levels. The maximum potential amount of future payments we could be required to make over the remaining terms of the agreements, assuming the medical membership subject to the agreements is zero, is $38 million.

Guaranty Fund Assessments, Market Stabilization and Other Non-Voluntary Risk Sharing Pools

Under guaranty fund laws existing in all states, insurers doing business in those states can be assessed (up to prescribed limits) for certain obligations of insolvent insurance companies to policyholders and claimants. The life and health insurance guaranty associations in which we participate that operate under these laws respond to insolvencies of long-term care insurers as well as health insurers. Our assessments generally are based on a formula relating to our premiums in the state compared to the premiums of other insurers. Certain states allow assessments to be recovered as offsets to premium taxes. Some states have similar laws relating to HMOs and/or other payors such as not-for-profit consumer-governed health plans established under Health Care Reform. In 2009, the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (the “Commissioner”) placed long-term care insurer Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and one of its subsidiaries (collectively, “Penn Treaty”) in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency, and subsequently petitioned a state court to convert the rehabilitation into a liquidation. In 2012, the state court denied the Commissioner’s petition for liquidation. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court affirmed that ruling in July 2015. The state court’s 2012 order directed the Commissioner to develop a plan of rehabilitation. The Commissioner filed an initial rehabilitation plan in April 2013, and filed amended plans in August 2014 and October 2014. The state court began a hearing in July 2015, which is schedule to continue in the spring of 2016, to consider the Commissioner’s most recent proposed rehabilitation plan, which contemplates a partial liquidation of Penn Treaty. If Penn Treaty is placed in liquidation, we and other insurers likely would be assessed immediately or over a period of years by guaranty associations for the payments the guaranty associations are required to make to Penn Treaty policyholders. We are currently unable to predict the ultimate outcome of, or reasonably estimate the loss or range of losses resulting from, this potential insolvency because we cannot predict when or to what extent Penn Treaty ultimately will be declared insolvent, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of associated future guaranty association assessments or the amount or availability of potential offsets, such as premium tax offsets. It is reasonably possible that during 2016 we may record a liability and expense relating to Penn Treaty and/or other insolvencies which could have a material adverse effect on our operating results, financial position and cash flows. While we have historically recovered more than half of guaranty fund assessments through statutorily permitted premium tax offsets, significant increases in assessments could lead to legislative and/or regulatory actions that may limit future offsets.

HMOs in certain states in which we do business are subject to assessments, including market stabilization and other risk-sharing pools, for which we are assessed charges based on incurred claims, demographic membership mix and other factors. We establish liabilities for these assessments based on applicable laws and regulations. In certain states, the ultimate assessments we pay are dependent upon our experience relative to other entities subject to the assessment and the ultimate liability is not known at the balance sheet date. While the ultimate amount of the assessment is dependent upon the experience of all pool participants, we believe we have adequate reserves to cover such assessments.

Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings

Out-of-Network Benefit Proceedings

We are named as a defendant in several purported class actions and individual lawsuits arising out of our practices related to the payment of claims for services rendered to our members by health care providers with whom we do not have a contract (“out-of-network providers”). Among other things, these lawsuits allege that we paid too little to our health plan members and/or providers for these services, among other reasons, because of our use of data provided by Ingenix, Inc., a subsidiary of one of our competitors (“Ingenix”). Other major health insurers are the subject of similar litigation or have settled similar litigation.

Various plaintiffs who are health care providers or medical associations seek to represent nationwide classes of out-of-network providers who provided services to our members during the period from 2001 to the present. Various plaintiffs who are members in our health plans seek to represent nationwide classes of our members who received services from out-of-network providers during the period from 2001 to the present. Taken together, these lawsuits allege that we violated state law, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (“ERISA”), the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (“RICO”) and federal antitrust laws, either acting alone or in concert with our competitors. The purported classes seek reimbursement of all unpaid benefits, recalculation and repayment of deductible and coinsurance amounts, unspecified damages and treble damages, statutory penalties, injunctive and declaratory relief, plus interest, costs and attorneys’ fees, and seek to disqualify us from acting as a fiduciary of any benefit plan that is subject to ERISA. Individual lawsuits that generally contain similar allegations and seek similar relief have been brought by health plan members and out-of-network providers.

The first class action case was commenced on July 30, 2007. The federal Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation (the “MDL Panel”) has consolidated these class action cases in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey (the “New Jersey District Court”) under the caption In re: Aetna UCR Litigation, MDL No. 2020 (“MDL 2020”). In addition, the MDL Panel has transferred the individual lawsuits to MDL 2020. On May 9, 2011, the New Jersey District Court dismissed the physician plaintiffs from MDL 2020 without prejudice. The New Jersey District Court's action followed a ruling by the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida (the "Florida District Court") that the physician plaintiffs were enjoined from participating in MDL 2020 due to a prior settlement and release. The United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit has dismissed the physician plaintiffs' appeal of the Florida District Court's ruling.

On December 6, 2012, we entered into an agreement to settle MDL 2020. Under the terms of the proposed nationwide settlement, we would have been released from claims relating to our out-of-network reimbursement practices from the beginning of the applicable settlement class period through August 30, 2013. The settlement agreement did not contain an admission of wrongdoing. The medical associations were not parties to the settlement agreement.

Under the settlement agreement, we would have paid up to $120 million to fund claims submitted by health plan members and health care providers who were members of the settlement classes. These payments also would have funded the legal fees of plaintiffs' counsel and the costs of administering the settlement. In connection with the proposed settlement, the Company recorded an after-tax charge to net income attributable to Aetna of $78 million in the fourth quarter of 2012.

The settlement agreement provided us the right to terminate the agreement under certain conditions related to settlement class members who opted out of the settlement. Based on a report provided to the parties by the settlement administrator, the conditions permitting us to terminate the settlement agreement were satisfied. On March 13, 2014, we notified the New Jersey District Court and plaintiffs' counsel that we were terminating the settlement agreement. Various legal and factual developments since the date of the settlement agreement led us to believe terminating the settlement agreement was in our best interests. As a result of this termination, we released the reserve established in connection with the settlement agreement, net of amounts due to the settlement administrator, which reduced first quarter 2014 other general and administrative expenses by $67.0 million ($103.0 million pretax).

On June 30, 2015, the New Jersey District Court granted in part our motion to dismiss the proceeding. The New Jersey District Court dismissed with prejudice the plaintiffs' RICO and federal antitrust claims; their ERISA claims that are based on our disclosures and our purported breach of fiduciary duties; and certain of their state law claims. The New Jersey District Court also dismissed with prejudice all claims asserted by several medical association plaintiffs. The plaintiffs' remaining claims are for ERISA benefits and breach of contract. We intend to vigorously defend ourselves against the plaintiffs' remaining claims.

We also have received subpoenas and/or requests for documents and other information from, and been investigated by, attorneys general and other state and/or federal regulators, legislators and agencies relating to, and we are involved in other litigation regarding, our out-of-network benefit payment and administration practices. It is reasonably possible that others could initiate additional litigation or additional regulatory action against us with respect to our out-of-network benefit payment and/or administration practices.

CMS Actions

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services ("CMS") regularly audits our performance to determine our compliance with CMS's regulations and our contracts with CMS and to assess the quality of services we provide to Medicare beneficiaries. CMS uses various payment mechanisms to allocate and adjust premium payments to our and other companies' Medicare plans by considering the applicable health status of Medicare members as supported by information prepared, maintained and provided by health care providers. We collect claim and encounter data from providers and generally rely on providers to appropriately code their submissions to us and document their medical records, including the diagnosis data submitted to us with claims. CMS pays increased premiums to Medicare Advantage plans and prescription drug program plans for members who have certain medical conditions identified with specific diagnosis codes. Federal regulators review and audit the providers' medical records to determine whether those records support the related diagnosis codes that determine the members' health status and the resulting risk-adjusted premium payments to us. In that regard, CMS has instituted risk adjustment data validation ("RADV") audits of various Medicare Advantage plans, including certain of the Company's plans, to validate coding practices and supporting medical record documentation maintained by health care providers and the resulting risk adjusted premium payments to the plans. CMS may require us to refund premium payments if our risk adjusted premiums are not properly supported by medical record data. The Office of Inspector General (the "OIG") also is auditing risk adjustment data of other companies, and we expect CMS and the OIG to continue auditing risk adjustment data.

CMS revised its audit methodology for RADV audits to determine refunds payable by Medicare Advantage plans for contract year 2011 and forward. Under the revised methodology, among other things, CMS will project the error rate identified in the audit sample of approximately 200 members to all risk adjusted premium payments made under the contract being audited. Historically, CMS did not project sample error rates to the entire contract. As a result, the revised methodology may increase our exposure to premium refunds to CMS based on incomplete medical records maintained by providers. Since 2013, CMS has selected certain of our Medicare Advantage contracts for contract years 2011 and 2012 for audit. We are currently unable to predict which of our Medicare Advantage contracts will be selected for future audit, the amounts of any retroactive refunds of, or prospective adjustments to, Medicare Advantage premium payments made to us, the effect of any such refunds or adjustments on the actuarial soundness of our Medicare Advantage bids, or whether any RADV audit findings would cause a change to our method of estimating future premium revenue in future bid submissions to CMS or compromise premium assumptions made in our bids for prior contract years or the current contract year. Any premium or fee refunds or adjustments resulting from regulatory audits, whether as a result of RADV, Public Exchange related or other audits by CMS, the OIG, HHS or otherwise, including audits of our minimum medical loss ratio rebates, methodology and/or reports, could be material and could adversely affect our operating results, financial position and cash flows.

Other Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings

We are involved in numerous other lawsuits arising, for the most part, in the ordinary course of our business operations, including claims of or relating to bad faith, medical malpractice, non-compliance with state and federal regulatory regimes, marketing misconduct, failure to timely or appropriately pay or administer claims and benefits in our Health Care and Group Insurance businesses (including our post-payment audit and collection practices and reductions in payments to providers due to sequestration), provider network structure (including the use of performance-based networks and termination of provider contracts), provider directory accuracy, rescission of insurance coverage, improper disclosure of personal information, anticompetitive practices, patent infringement and other intellectual property litigation, other legal proceedings in our Health Care and Group Insurance businesses and employment litigation. Some of these other lawsuits are or are purported to be class actions. We intend to vigorously defend ourselves against the claims brought in these matters.

Awards to us and others of certain government contracts, particularly in our Medicaid business, are subject to increasingly frequent protests by unsuccessful bidders. These protests may result in awards to us being reversed, delayed or modified. The loss or delay in implementation of any government contract could adversely affect our operating results. We will continue to defend vigorously contract awards we receive.

In addition, our operations, current and past business practices, current and past contracts, and accounts and other books and records are subject to routine, regular and special investigations, audits, examinations and reviews by, and from time to time we receive subpoenas and other requests for information from, CMS, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, various state insurance and health care regulatory authorities, state attorneys general and offices of inspector general, the Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight, OIG, the Office of Personnel Management, the U.S. Department of Labor, the U.S. Department of the Treasury, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, committees, subcommittees and members of the U.S. Congress, the U.S. Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission, U.S. attorneys and other state, federal and international governmental authorities. These government actions include inquiries by, and testimony before, certain members, committees and subcommittees of the U.S. Congress regarding certain of our current and past business practices, including our overall claims processing and payment practices, our business practices with respect to our small group products, student health products or individual customers (such as market withdrawals, rating information, premium increases and medical benefit ratios), executive compensation matters and travel and entertainment expenses, as well as the investigations by, and subpoenas and requests from, attorneys general and others described above under “Out-of-Network Benefit Proceedings.”

A significant number of states are investigating life insurers’ claims payment and related escheat practices, and these investigations have resulted in significant charges to earnings by other life insurers in connection with related settlements. We have received requests for information from a number of states, and certain of our subsidiaries are being audited, with respect to our life insurance claim payment and related escheat practices. In the fourth quarter of 2013, we made changes to our life insurance claim payment practices (including related escheatment practices) based on evolving industry practices and regulatory expectations and interpretations, including expanding our existing use of the Social Security Administration’s Death Master File to identify additional potentially unclaimed death benefits and locate applicable beneficiaries. As a result of these changes, in the fourth quarter of 2013, we increased our estimated liability for unpaid life insurance claims with respect to insureds who passed away on or before December 31, 2013, and recorded in current and future benefits a charge of $35.7 million ($55.0 million pretax). Given the judicial, legislative and regulatory uncertainty with respect to life insurance claim payment and related escheat practices, it is reasonably possible that we may incur additional liability related to those practices, whether as a result of further changes in our business practices, litigation, government actions or otherwise, which could adversely affect our operating results and cash flows.

There also continues to be a heightened level of review and/or audit by regulatory authorities of, and increased litigation regarding, our and the rest of the health care and related benefits industry’s business and reporting practices, including premium rate increases, utilization management, development and application of medical policies, complaint, grievance and appeal processing, information privacy, provider network structure (including provider network adequacy, the use of performance-based networks and termination of provider contracts), provider directory accuracy, calculation of minimum medical loss ratios, delegated arrangements, rescission of insurance coverage, limited benefit health products, student health products, pharmacy benefit management practices (including the use of narrow networks and the placement of drugs in formulary tiers), sales practices, customer service practices, vendor oversight and claim payment practices (including payments to out-of-network providers and payments on life insurance policies).

As a leading national health and related benefits company, we regularly are the subject of government actions of the types described above. These government actions may prevent or delay us from implementing planned premium rate increases and may result, and have resulted, in restrictions on our business, changes to or clarifications of our business practices, retroactive adjustments to premiums, refunds or other payments to members, beneficiaries, states or the federal government, withholding of premium payments to us by government agencies, assessments of damages, civil or criminal fines or penalties, or other sanctions, including the possible suspension or loss of licensure and/or suspension or exclusion from participation in government programs.

Estimating the probable losses or a range of probable losses resulting from litigation, government actions and other legal proceedings is inherently difficult and requires an extensive degree of judgment, particularly where the matters involve indeterminate claims for monetary damages, may involve fines, penalties or punitive damages that are discretionary in amount, involve a large number of claimants or regulatory authorities, represent a change in regulatory policy, present novel legal theories, are in the early stages of the proceedings, are subject to appeal or could result in a change in business practices. In addition, because most legal proceedings are resolved over long periods of time, potential losses are subject to change due to, among other things, new developments, changes in litigation strategy, the outcome of intermediate procedural and substantive rulings and other parties’ settlement posture and their evaluation of the strength or weakness of their case against us. Except as specifically noted above under “Other Litigation and Regulatory Proceedings,” we are currently unable to predict the ultimate outcome of, or reasonably estimate the losses or a range of losses resulting from, the matters described above, and it is reasonably possible that their outcome could be material to us.

Other Obligations

We have operating leases for office space and certain computer and other equipment. Rental expenses for these items were $165 million, $177 million and $170 million in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. For 2016 through 2020, our future net minimum payments under non-cancelable leases and funding obligations relating to equity limited partnership investments and real estate partnerships were as following:

20. Segment Information

Our operations are conducted in three business segments: Health Care, Group Insurance and Large Case Pensions. The acquired Coventry operations are reflected in our Health Care segment on and after May 7, 2013. Our Corporate Financing segment is not a business segment; it is added to our business segments to reconcile to our consolidated results. The Corporate Financing segment includes interest expense on our outstanding debt and the financing components of our pension and OPEB plan expense (the service cost and prior service cost components of this expense are allocated to our business segments). Non-GAAP financial measures we disclose, such as operating earnings, should not be considered a substitute for, or superior to, financial measures determined or calculated in accordance with GAAP.

- ⁽¹⁾ In addition to net realized capital gains and losses and amortization of other acquired intangible assets, the following other items are excluded from operating earnings because we believe they neither relate to the ordinary course of our business nor reflect our underlying business performance:
- We incurred transaction, integration-related and restructuring costs of $189.8 million ($273.3 million pretax) during 2015. Transaction and integration-related costs relate to the acquisitions of Coventry, InterGlobal and bswift and the Proposed Acquisition. We incurred transaction and integration-related costs of $134.2 million ($200.7 million pretax) related to the acquisitions of Coventry, bswift and InterGlobal during 2014. We incurred transaction, integration-related and restructuring costs of $233.5 million ($332.8 million pretax) during 2013 related to the acquisition of Coventry. Transaction costs include advisory, legal and other professional fees which are not deductible for tax purposes and are reflected in our GAAP Consolidated Statements of Income in general and administrative expenses, as well as the cost of the Bridge Credit Agreement and the Term Loan Agreement and the bridge credit agreement that was in effect prior to the Coventry acquisition, which are reflected in our GAAP Consolidated Statements of Income in interest expense. In 2013, transaction costs also include transaction-related payments as well as expenses related to the negative cost of carry associated with the permanent financing that we obtained in November 2012 for the Coventry acquisition. Prior to the Coventry Acquisition Date, that negative cost of carry was excluded from operating earnings. The components of the negative cost of carry are reflected in our GAAP Consolidated Statements of Income in interest expense, net investment income, and general and administrative expenses. On and after the Coventry Acquisition Date, the interest expense and general and administrative expenses associated with the permanent financing are no longer excluded from operating earnings. Restructuring costs in 2015 primarily consist of severance costs associated with our expense management and cost control initiatives. Restructuring costs in 2013, primarily comprised of severance and real estate consolidation costs, are related to the acquisition of Coventry and our expense management and cost control initiatives. Restructuring costs are reflected in our GAAP Consolidated Statements of Income in general and administrative expenses.
 - In 2015, we received proceeds of $71.3 million ($109.6 million pretax), net of legal costs, in connection with a litigation settlement. These net proceeds were recorded in fees and other revenue in our GAAP Consolidated Statements of Income.
 - In 2014, we incurred losses on the early extinguishment of long-term debt of $117.8 million ($181.2 million pretax) related to the redemption of certain of our outstanding senior notes.
 - During 2014, we enhanced the Aetna Pension Plan to allow certain current and former employees to elect a 100% lump-sum distribution. In addition, we also announced a limited-time offer permitting certain former employees with deferred vested balances to elect a 100% lump-sum distribution. The distributions in 2014 were funded from existing Aetna Pension Plan assets, and we recorded a related non-cash settlement charge of $72.5 million ($111.6 million pretax) during 2014 in general and administrative expenses. Refer to Note 12 beginning on page 118 for additional information on the pension settlement charge.
 - In 2012, we recorded a charge of $78 million ($120.0 million pretax) related to the settlement of purported class action litigation regarding our payment practices related to out-of-network health care providers. That charge included the estimated cost of legal fees of plaintiffs' counsel and the costs of administering the settlement. In 2014, we exercised our right to terminate the settlement agreement. As a result, we released the reserve established in connection with the settlement agreement, net of amounts due to the settlement administrator, which reduced 2014 other general and administrative expenses by $67.0 million ($103.0 million pretax). Refer to Note 19 beginning on page 138 for additional information on the termination of the settlement agreement.
 - In 2013, we increased our estimated liability for unpaid life insurance claims with respect to insureds who passed away on or before December 31, 2013, and recorded in current and future benefits a charge of $35.7 million ($55.0 million pretax) as a result of changes during the fourth quarter of 2013 in our life insurance claim payment practices (including related escheatment practices) based on evolving industry practices and regulatory expectations and interpretations. Refer to Note 19 beginning on page 138 for additional information on the changes in our life insurance claim payment practices.
 - In 1993, we discontinued the sale of our fully guaranteed large case pensions products and established a reserve for anticipated future losses on these products, which we review quarterly. In 2013, we reduced the reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products by $55.9 million ($86.0 million pretax). We believe excluding any changes in the reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products from operating earnings provides more useful information as to our continuing products and is consistent with the treatment of the operating results of these discontinued products, which are credited or charged to the reserve and do not affect our operating results. Refer to Note 21 beginning on page 146 for additional information on the reduction of the reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products.
 - In 2008, as a result of the liquidation proceedings of Lehman Re, a subsidiary of Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc., we recorded an allowance against our reinsurance recoverable from Lehman Re of $27.4 million ($42.2 million pretax). This reinsurance was placed in 1999 and was on a closed book of paid-up group whole life insurance business. In 2013, we sold our claim against Lehman Re to an unrelated third party (including the reinsurance recoverable) and terminated the reinsurance arrangement. Upon the sale of the claim and termination of the arrangement, we reversed the related allowance thereby reducing other general and administrative expenses by $27.4 million ($42.2 million pretax) and recognized a $4.7 million ($7.2 million pretax) gain on the sale in fees and other revenue.

Revenues from external customers by product in 2015, 2014 and 2013 were as follows:

⁽³⁾ Revenue from the U.S. federal government was approximately $17.8 billion, $16.5 billion and $12.2 billion in 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively, in the Health Care and Group Insurance segments. These amounts exceeded 10 percent of our total revenue from external customers in each of 2015, 2014 and 2013.

The following is a reconciliation of revenue from external customers to total revenues included in our statements of income in 2015, 2014 and 2013:

Total revenue	$ 60,336.5	$ 58,003.2	$ 47,294.6

Long-lived assets, which are principally within the U.S., were $622 million and $666 million at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

21. Discontinued Products

Prior to 1993, we sold single-premium annuities (“SPAs”) and guaranteed investment contracts (“GICs”), primarily to employer sponsored pension plans. In 1993, we discontinued selling these products to Large Case Pensions customers, and now we refer to these products as discontinued products.

We discontinued selling these products because they were generating losses for us, and we projected that they would continue to generate losses over their life (which is currently greater than 30 years for SPAs); so we established a reserve for anticipated future losses at the time of discontinuance. At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, our remaining GIC liability was not material. This reserve represents the present value (at the risk-free rate of return at the time of discontinuance, consistent with the duration of the liabilities) of the difference between the expected cash flows from the assets supporting these products and the cash flows expected to be required to meet the obligations of the outstanding contracts.

Key assumptions in setting the reserve for anticipated future losses include future investment results, payments to retirees, mortality and retirement rates and the cost of asset management and customer service. In 2014, we modified the mortality tables used in order to reflect the more up-to-date 2014 Retired Pensioner’s Mortality table. The mortality tables were previously modified in 2012, in order to reflect the more up-to-date 2000 Retired Pensioner’s Mortality table, and in 1995, in order to reflect the more up-to-date 1994 Uninsured Pensioner’s Mortality table. In 1997, we began the use of a bond default assumption to reflect historical default experience. Other than these changes, since 1993 there have been no significant changes to the assumptions underlying the reserve.

We review the adequacy of this reserve quarterly based on actual experience. As long as our expected future losses remain consistent with prior projections, the results of the discontinued products are applied against the reserve and do not impact net income attributable to Aetna. If actual or expected future losses are greater than we currently estimate, we may increase the reserve, which could adversely impact net income attributable to Aetna. If actual or expected future losses are less than we currently estimate, we may decrease the reserve, which could favorably impact net income attributable to Aetna. As a result of this review, $55.9 million ($86.0 million pretax) of the reserve was released during 2013. This reserve release was primarily due to favorable investment performance as well as favorable retirement experience compared to assumptions we previously made in estimating the reserve. The reserve at each of December 31, 2015 and 2014 reflects management's best estimate of anticipated future losses, and is included in future policy benefits on our balance sheet.

The activity in the reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products in 2015, 2014 and 2013 was as follows (pretax):

(Millions)	2015	2014	2013
Reserve, beginning of period	$ 1,014.7	$ 979.5	$ 978.5
Operating (loss) income	(8.6)	6.0	1.0
Net realized capital gains	61.1	29.2	86.0
Reserve reduction	—	—	(86.0)
Reserve, end of period	$ 1,067.2	$ 1,014.7	$ 979.5

During 2015, our discontinued products reflected operating losses and net realized capital gains, primarily attributable to gains from the sale of other invested assets and investment real estate. During 2014, our discontinued products reflected operating income and net realized capital gains, primarily attributable to gains from the sale of debt securities. In 2013, our discontinued products reflected operating income and net realized capital gains, primarily attributable to gains from the sale of other investments and from the sale of debt and equity securities. We evaluated these 2015 results against the expectations of future cash flows assumed in estimating the reserve for anticipated future losses and do not believe that an adjustment to the reserve was required at December 31, 2015.

The anticipated run-off of the discontinued products reserve balance at December 31, 2015 (assuming that assets are held until maturity and that the reserve run-off is proportional to the liability run-off) is as follows:

(Millions)
2016	$ 58.4
2017	57.1
2018	55.6
2019	53.9
2020	52.2
Thereafter	790.0

Assets and liabilities supporting discontinued products at 2015 and 2014 were as follows: ⁽¹⁾

(Millions)	2015	2014
Assets:
Debt and equity securities available for sale	$ 2,019.6	$ 2,376.2
Mortgage loans	396.0	386.8
Other investments	643.5	662.2
Total investments	3,059.1	3,425.2
Other assets	128.9	112.9
Collateral received under securities lending agreements	—	200.7
Current and deferred income taxes	20.5	—
Receivable from continuing products ⁽²⁾	602.0	566.5
Total assets	$ 3,810.5	$ 4,305.3
Liabilities:
Future policy benefits	$ 2,493.5	$ 2,645.8
Reserve for anticipated future losses on discontinued products	1,067.2	1,014.7
Collateral payable under securities lending agreements	—	200.7
Current and deferred income taxes	—	27.9
Other liabilities ⁽³⁾	249.8	416.2

The discontinued products investment portfolio has changed since inception. Mortgage loans have decreased from $5.4 billion (37% of the investment portfolio) at December 31, 1993 to $396 million (13% of the investment portfolio) at December 31, 2015. This was a result of maturities, prepayments and the securitization and sale of commercial mortgages. Also, real estate decreased from $500 million (4% of the investment portfolio) at December 31, 1993 to $89 million (3% of the investment portfolio) at December 31, 2015, primarily as a result of sales. The resulting proceeds were primarily reinvested in debt securities, equity securities and other investments. Over time, the then-existing mortgage loan and real estate portfolios and the reinvested proceeds have resulted in greater investment returns than we originally assumed in 1993.

At December 31, 2015, the expected run-off of the SPA and GIC liabilities, including future interest, was as follows: ⁽¹⁾

(Millions)
2016	$ 366.8
2018	334.8
2019	318.8
2020	302.8
Thereafter	3,837.6

⁽¹⁾ At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, our remaining GIC liability was not material.

The liability expected as of December 31, 1993 and the actual liability balances at December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013 for the GIC and SPA liabilities were as follows:

(Millions)	Expected		Actual
	GIC	SPA	GIC	SPA
2013	$ 15.7	$ 2,448.9	$ —	$ 2,804.8
2014	12.0	2,281.0	—	2,645.8
2015	9.5	2,112.0	—	2,493.5

The GIC balances were lower than expected in each period because several contract holders redeemed their contracts prior to contract maturity. The SPA balances in each period were higher than expected because of additional amounts received under existing contracts.

The distributions on our discontinued products consisted of scheduled contract maturities, settlements and benefit payments of $356 million, $378 million and $392 million for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Participant-directed withdrawals from our discontinued products were not significant in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 or 2013. Cash required to fund these distributions was provided by earnings and scheduled payments on, and sales of, invested assets.

Management's Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting ("ICOFR") for the Company. ICOFR is defined as a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP.

Our ICOFR process includes those policies and procedures that (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of our assets; (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with GAAP, and that our receipts and expenditures are being made only in accordance with authorizations of our management and directors; and (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of our assets that could have a material effect on our consolidated financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, ICOFR may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Under the supervision and with the participation of management, including our Chief Executive and Chief Financial Officers, management assessed the effectiveness of our ICOFR at December 31, 2015. In making this assessment, management used the framework set forth by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission in "Internal Control - Integrated Framework" (2013). Based on this assessment, management concluded that our ICOFR was effective at December 31, 2015. Our ICOFR as well as our consolidated financial statements have been audited by KPMG LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, as stated in their report which is included on page 151.

Management's Responsibility for Financial Statements

Management is responsible for our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. Management believes the consolidated financial statements, and other financial information included in this report, fairly present in all material respects our financial position, results of operations and cash flows as of and for the periods presented in this report.

The financial statements are the product of a number of processes that include the gathering of financial data developed from the records of our day-to-day business transactions. Informed judgments and estimates are used for those transactions not yet complete or for which the ultimate effects cannot be measured precisely. We emphasize the selection and training of personnel who are qualified to perform these functions. In addition, our personnel are subject to rigorous standards of ethical conduct that are widely communicated throughout the organization.

The Audit Committee of Aetna's Board of Directors engages KPMG LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, to audit our consolidated financial statements and express their opinion thereon. Members of that firm also have the right of full access to each member of management in conducting their audits. The report of KPMG LLP on their audit of our consolidated financial statements appears on page 151.

Audit Committee Oversight

The Audit Committee of Aetna's Board of Directors is comprised solely of independent directors. The Audit Committee meets regularly with management, our internal auditors and KPMG LLP to oversee and monitor the work of each and to inquire of each as to their assessment of the performance of the others in their work relating to our consolidated financial statements and ICOFR. Both KPMG LLP and our internal auditors have, at all times, the right of full access to the Audit Committee, without management present, to discuss any matter they believe should be brought to the attention of the Audit Committee.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Aetna Inc.:

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Aetna Inc. and subsidiaries (the "Company") as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, and the related consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income, shareholders' equity and cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2015. We also have audited the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2015, based on criteria established in Internal Control - Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO). The Company's management is responsible for these consolidated financial statements, for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting, and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the accompanying Management's Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements and an opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement and whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audits of the consolidated financial statements included examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. Our audit of internal control over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. Our audits also included performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinions.

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2015, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Also in our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2015, based on criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework (2013) issued by COSO.

Response to Section 6.216.21 Information Regarding the Company

In order to evaluate the ability of the Proposer to perform the services requested, information about each firm must be provided to determine the firm's ability to meet all of the requirements as stated in this RFP. Provide a brief summary of the corporate/company history of the firm, which should include the number of years the firm has administered self-funded group health plans in Florida (minimum of five (5) years required). Label this Response to 6.21 and include in Tab VII of the proposal.

Company history

We have over 160 years of experience in providing quality, reliable services to businesses, individuals and the government. Founded in 1853 in Hartford, CT, we entered the group life insurance business in 1913 and group health insurance business in 1936. Our first group hospitalization contract was issued in 1937. We introduced our first major medical product in 1951, our first dental plan in 1957 and our first stand-alone vision product in 2009.

We are one of the nation's leading diversified health care benefits companies, serving approximately 46 million people with information and resources to help them make better informed decisions about their health care. We offer a broad range of traditional, voluntary and consumer-directed health insurance products and related services, including:

- Medical
- Pharmacy
- Dental
- Vision
- Behavioral health
- Group life and disability plans
- Stop Loss
- Medical and health care management services for Medicaid plans
- Workers' compensation administrative services
- Health Information technology services

Response to Section 6.21

We are a national leader in the administration of both self-funded and full-risk health benefit plans offered by customers who are exempt from ERISA's requirements – either in whole or in part. We understand the unique pressures facing the public sector and government contractor groups. We recognize the unique challenges facing this market segment:

- Shrinking budgets for both benefits and staff
- Quality service
- Increase in health care cost

Government contractors are subject to many procurement pressures. We are aware of these types of requirements. We maintain many successful relationships with:

- Public schools
- Municipalities
- Government entities
- Multiple employer trusts
- Labor unions
- National and International union staffs
- Union sponsored VEBAs

What we offer our Public and Labor customers

- Sales team with over 100 years of combined experience providing solutions to America's hardest workers
- Large, national, seamless network with strong provider arrangements
- Fully dedicated implementation teams to minimize disruption
- Underwriting, service, claims and legal staff dedicated to supporting the Public and Labor market

Our extensive experience in the industry has allowed us to enter the public sector marketplace with the tools and expertise to serve the varied needs of a diverse employee population.

Response to Section 6.21Providing self-funded group health plans in Florida

Aetna is proud of our long heritage of supporting Americans and providing health services and administration to almost two million Floridians.

With over 5,000 employees in the state of Florida, we don't consider it a place on the map, we consider it home. We are especially proud of our position in the County and our partnerships with Broward County Sheriff and Broward County Schools, among others.

Aetna has been offering Administrative Services Contracts since 1976, our self-funded Choice POS II product in Florida since April 1, 2003 and our self-funded HMO product as far back as December 1, 1997.

As of December 2015, we have 16 medical Public and Labor customers in Florida. 12 of these medical customers also have Rx with their medical plans. These 16 medical customers represent approximately 65,500 members.

Future perspective

For nearly a century and a half, the Aetna name has stood for integrity, reliability and trust. We have helped generations of members by helping them to get access to the health care services they need to live healthy lives.

Going forward, we are committed to remain the industry leader by responding to the changing marketplace with flexible products that emphasize individual choice. We are supporting this strategy through the ongoing development of innovative business solutions and technology. As we anticipate upcoming changes in health care on the national level, we are prepared to operate in an environment of greater member and customer demands for flexibility and choice. We are making it easier for providers to work with us, and for our members to optimize the care they receive and their overall health status. We continually evaluate our product offerings so that they meet the changing needs of our diverse constituents.

MASTER SERVICES AGREEMENT MSA-XXXX

This master services agreement ("Agreement") between AETNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, a Connecticut corporation located at 151 Farmington Avenue, Hartford, Connecticut ("Aetna"), and XXXX, a XXXX corporation, located at XXXX ("Customer") is effective as of XXXX ("Effective Date").

The Customer has established one or more self-funded employee benefits plans, described in Exhibit 1, (the "Plan(s)"), for certain covered persons, as defined in the Plan(s) (the "Plan Participants").

The Customer wants to make available to Plan Participants one or more products and administrative services ("Services") offered by Aetna, as specified in the attached schedules, and Aetna wants to provide those Services to the Customer for the compensation described herein.

The parties therefore agree as follows:

1. TERM

The initial term of this Agreement will be one year beginning on the Effective Date. This Agreement will automatically renew annually unless otherwise terminated pursuant to section 17 (Termination). The initial term and each successive one year renewal shall be considered an "Agreement Period". The schedules may provide for different start and end dates for certain Services.

2. SERVICES

Aetna shall provide the Services described in the attached schedules.

3. STANDARD OF CARE

Aetna and the Customer will discharge their obligations under this Agreement with that level of reasonable care which a similarly situated services provider or plan administrator, respectively, would exercise under similar circumstances. If the Customer delegates claim fiduciary duties to Aetna pursuant to the applicable schedule, Aetna shall observe the standard of care and diligence required of a fiduciary under ERISA Section 404(a)(1)(B).

4. SERVICE FEES

The Customer shall pay Aetna the fees according to the Service and Fee Schedule(s) ("Service Fees"). Aetna may change the Services and the Service Fees annually by giving the Customer 30 days' notice before the changes take effect. Changes will take effect on the anniversary of the Effective Date unless otherwise indicated in the applicable Service and Fee Schedule(s).

Aetna shall provide the Customer with a monthly statement indicating the Service Fees owed for that month. The Customer shall pay Aetna the Service Fees no later than 31 calendar days after the first calendar day of the month in which the Services are provided (the "Payment Due Date"). The Customer shall provide with their payment either a copy of the Aetna invoice, modified to reflect current eligibility, or a copy of a pre-approved invoice which meets Aetna's billing requirements. The Customer shall also reimburse Aetna for certain additional expenses, as stated in the Service and Fee Schedule(s).

All overdue amounts are subject to the late charges outlined in the Service and Fee Schedule(s).

Aetna shall prepare and submit to the Customer an annual report showing the Service Fees paid.

5. BENEFIT FUNDING

The Customer shall choose one of the banking facilities offered by Aetna through which Plan benefit payments, Service Fees and Plan benefit related charges will be made. All such amounts will be paid through the banking facility by check, electronic funds transfer or other reasonable transfer methods. The Customer shall reimburse the banking facility for all such payments on the day of the request. All such reimbursements will be made by wire transfer in federal funds using the instructions provided by Aetna, or by another transfer method agreed upon by both parties.

Since funding is provided on a checks issued basis, any outstanding benefit payment checks (checks that have not been presented for payment) will be handled by stop payment, processed at approximately 12 months from the date the check was issued. In such event the amounts of any checks will be returned to the Customer.

In the event that Aetna has exercised its right to suspend claim payments or terminate this Agreement as stated in section 17(B) (Termination), Aetna may place a stop payment order on all of the Customer's outstanding benefit checks.

6. FIDUCIARY DUTY

It is understood and agreed that the Customer, as plan administrator, retains complete authority and responsibility for the Plan, its operation, and the benefits provided there under, and that Aetna is empowered to act on behalf of the Customer in connection with the Plan only to the extent expressly stated in this Agreement or as agreed to in writing by Aetna and the Customer.

The Customer has the sole and complete authority to determine eligibility of persons to participate in the Plan.

Claim fiduciary responsibility is identified in the applicable Schedule.

7. CUSTOMER'S RESPONSIBILITIES

- (A) Eligibility – The Customer shall supply Aetna, by electronic medium acceptable to Aetna, with all relevant information identifying Plan Participants and shall notify Aetna by the tenth day of the month following any changes in Plan participation. Aetna is not required to honor a notification of termination of a Plan Participant's eligibility which Aetna receives more than 60 days after termination of such Plan Participant. Aetna has no responsibility for determining whether an individual meets the eligibility requirements of the Plan.
- (B) Plan Document Review – The Customer shall provide Aetna with all Plan documents at least 30 days prior to the Effective Date. Aetna will review the Plan documents to determine any potential differences that may exist among such Plan documents and Aetna's claim processing systems and internal policies and procedures. Aetna does NOT review the Customer's Summary of Benefits and Coverage ("SBC"), Summary Plan Description ("SPD") or other Plan documents for compliance with applicable law. The Customer also agrees that it is responsible for satisfying any and all Plan reporting and disclosure requirements imposed by law, including updating the SBC or SPD and other Plan documents and issuing any necessary summaries of material modifications to reflect any changes in benefits.
- (C) Notice of Plan or Benefit Change – The Customer shall notify Aetna in writing of any changes in Plan documents or Plan benefits (including changes in eligibility requirements) at least 30 days prior to the effective date of such changes. Aetna will have 30 days following receipt of such notice to inform the Customer whether Aetna will agree to administer the proposed changes. If the proposed changes increase Aetna's costs, alter Aetna's ability to meet any performance standards or otherwise impose substantial operational challenges, Aetna may require an adjustment to the Service Fees or other financial terms.

- (D) Employee Notices – The Customer shall furnish each Employee covered by the Plan written notice that the Customer has complete financial liability for the payment of Plan benefits. The Customer shall inform its Plan Participants, in a manner that satisfies applicable law, that confidential information relating to their benefit claims may be disclosed to third parties in connection with plan administration.
- (E) Miscellaneous – The Customer shall promptly provide Aetna with such information regarding administration of the Plan as Aetna may reasonably request from time to time. Aetna is entitled to rely on the information most recently supplied by the Customer in connection with the Services and Aetna's other obligations under the Agreement. Aetna is not responsible for any delay or error caused by the Customer's failure to furnish correct information in a timely manner. Aetna is not responsible for responding to Plan Participant requests for copies of Plan documents. The Customer shall be liable for all Plan benefit payments made by Aetna, including those payments made following the termination date or which are outstanding on the termination date.

8. RECORDS

Aetna, its affiliates and authorized agents shall use all Plan-related documents, records and reports received or created by Aetna in the course of delivering the Services ("Plan Records") in compliance with applicable privacy laws and regulations. Aetna may de-identify Plan Records and use them for quality improvement, statistical analyses, product development and other lawful, non-Plan related purposes. Such Plan Records will be kept by Aetna for a minimum of seven years, unless Aetna turns such Documentation over to the Customer or a designee of the Customer.

9. CONFIDENTIALITY

- (A) Business Confidential Information - Neither party may use "Business Confidential Information" (as defined below) of the other party for its own purpose, nor disclose any Business Confidential Information to any third party. However, a party may disclose Business Confidential Information to that party's representatives who have a need to know such information in relation to the administration of the Plan, but only if such representatives are informed of the confidentiality provisions of this Agreement and agree to abide by them. The Customer shall not disclose Aetna's provider discount or payment information to any third party, including the Customer's representatives, without Aetna's prior written consent and until each recipient has executed a confidentiality agreement reasonably satisfactory to Aetna.

The term "Business Confidential Information" as it relates to the Customer means the Customer identifiable business proprietary data, procedures, materials, lists and systems, but does not include Protected Health Information ("PHI") as defined by HIPAA or other claims-related information.

The term "Business Confidential Information" as it relates to Aetna means the Aetna identifiable business proprietary data, rates, fees, provider discount or payment information, procedures, materials, lists and systems.

- (B) Plan Participant Information - Each party will maintain the confidentiality of Plan Participant-identifiable information, in accordance with applicable law and, as appropriate, the terms of the HIPAA business associate agreement associated with this Agreement. The Customer may identify, in writing, certain Customer employees or third parties, who the Plan has authorized to receive Plan Participant-identifiable information from Aetna in connection with Plan administration. Subject to more restrictive state and federal law, Aetna will disclose Plan Participant-identifiable information to the Customer designated employees or third parties. In the case of a third party, Aetna may require execution by the third party of a non-disclosure agreement reasonably acceptable to Aetna. The Customer agrees that it will only request disclosure of PHI to a third party or to designated employees if: (i) it has amended its Plan documents, in accordance with 45 CFR 164.314(b) and 164.504(f)(2), so as to allow the Customer designated employees or third parties to receive PHI, has certified such to the Plan in accordance with 45 CFR 164.504(f)(2)(ii), and will provide a copy of such certification to Aetna upon request; and (ii) the Plan has determined, through its own policies and procedures and in compliance with HIPAA, that the PHI that it requests from Aetna is the minimum information necessary for the purpose for which it was requested.

(C) Upon Termination - Upon termination of the Agreement, each party, upon the request of the other, will return or destroy all copies of all of the other's Business Confidential Information in its possession or control except to the extent such Business Confidential Information must be retained pursuant to applicable law or cannot be disaggregated from Aetna's databases. Aetna may retain copies of any such Business Confidential Information it deems necessary for the defense of litigation concerning the Services it provided under this Agreement, for use in the processing of runoff claims for Plan benefits, and for regulatory purposes.

10. AUDIT RIGHTS

The Customer may, at its own expense, audit Plan claim transactions upon reasonable notice to Aetna. The Customer may conduct one audit per year and the audit must be completed within two years of the end of the time period being audited. Audits of any performance guarantees, if applicable, must be completed in the year following the period to which the performance guarantee results apply. Audits must be performed at the location where the Customer's claims are processed.

The Customer may select its own representative to conduct an audit, provided that the representative must be qualified by appropriate training and experience for such work and must perform the audit in accordance with published administrative safeguards or procedures and applicable law. In addition, the representative must not be subject to an Auditor Conflict of Interest which would prevent the representative from performing an independent audit. An "Auditor Conflict of Interest" means any situation in which the designated representative (i) is employed by an entity which is a competitor of Aetna, (ii) has terminated from Aetna or any of its affiliates within the past 12 months, or (iii) is affiliated with a vendor subcontracted by Aetna to adjudicate claims. If the audit firm is not licensed or a member of a national professional group, or if the audit firm has a financial interest in audit findings or results, the audit agent must agree to meet Aetna's standards for professionalism by signing Aetna's Code of Conduct prior to performing the audit. Neither the Customer nor its representative may make or retain any record of provider negotiated rates or information concerning treatment of drug or alcohol abuse, mental/nervous, HIV/AIDs or genetic markers.

The Customer shall provide reasonable advance notice of its intent to audit and shall complete an Audit Request Form providing information reasonably requested by Aetna. No audit may commence until the Audit Request Form is completed and executed by the Customer, the auditor and Aetna. Further, the Customer or its representative shall provide Aetna with a complete listing of the claims chosen for audit at least four weeks prior to the on-site portion of the audit.

The Customer's auditors shall provide their draft audit findings to Aetna, prior to issuing the final report. This draft will provide the basis for discussions between Aetna and the auditors to resolve and finalize any open issues. Aetna shall have a right to review the auditor's final Audit Report, and include a supplementary statement containing information and material that Aetna considers pertinent to the audit.

Additional guidelines related to the scope of the audit are included in the applicable schedules.

11. RECOVERY OF OVERPAYMENTS

Aetna shall reprocess any identified errors in Plan benefit payments (other than errors Aetna reasonably determines to be de minimis) and seek to recover any resulting overpayment by attempting to contact the party receiving the overpayment twice by letter, phone, or email. The Customer may direct Aetna not to seek recovery of overpayments from Plan Participants, in which event Aetna will have no further responsibility with respect to those overpayments. The Customer shall reasonably cooperate with Aetna in recovering all overpayments of Plan benefits.

If Aetna elects to use a third party recovery vendor, collection agency, or attorney to pursue the recovery, the overpayment recoveries will be credited to the Customer net of fees charged by Aetna or those entities.

Any requested payment from Aetna relating to an overpayment must be based upon documented findings or direct proof of specific claims, agreed to by both parties, and must be due to Aetna's actions or inactions. Indirect or inferential methods of proof – such as statistical sampling, extrapolation of error rate to the population, etc. – may not be used to determine overpayments. In addition, use of software or other review processes that analyze a claim in a manner different from the claim determination and payment procedures and standards used by Aetna shall not be used to determine overpayments.

The Customer may not seek recovery of overpayments from network providers, but the Customer may seek recovery of overpayments from other third parties once the Customer has provided Aetna notice that it will seek such recovery and Aetna has been afforded a reasonable opportunity to recover such amounts. Aetna has no duty to initiate litigation to pursue any overpayment recovery.

12. INDEMNIFICATION

- (A) Aetna shall indemnify the Customer, its affiliates and their respective directors, officers, and employees (only as employees, not as Plan Participants) for that portion of any loss, liability, damage, expense, settlement, cost or obligation (including reasonable attorneys' fees) ("Losses") caused directly by (i) any material breach of this Agreement by Aetna, including a failure to comply with the standard of care in section 3; (ii) Aetna's negligence, willful misconduct, fraud, or breach of fiduciary responsibility; or (iii) Aetna's infringement of any U.S. intellectual property right of a third party, arising out of the Services provided under this Agreement.
- (B) The Customer shall indemnify Aetna, its affiliates and their respective directors, officers, and employees for that portion of any Losses caused directly by (i) any material breach of this Agreement by the Customer including a failure to comply with the standard of care in section 3; (ii) the Customer's negligence, willful misconduct, fraud, or breach of fiduciary responsibility; (iii) the release or transfer of Plan Participant-identifiable information to the Customer or its designee, or the use or further disclosure of such information by the Customer or such designee; or (iv) in connection with the design or administration of the Plan by the Customer or any acts or omissions of the Customer as an employer or Plan Sponsor.
- (C) The party seeking indemnification under this Agreement must notify the indemnifying party within 20 days in writing of any actual or threatened action, to which it claims such indemnification applies. Failure to so notify the indemnifying party will not be deemed a waiver of the right to seek indemnification, unless the actions of the indemnifying party have been prejudiced by the failure of the other party to provide notice as indicated above.

The indemnifying party may join the party seeking indemnification as a party to such proceeding; however the indemnifying party shall provide and control the defense and settlement with respect to claims to which this section applies.

- (D) The Customer and Aetna agree that: (i) health care providers are not the agents or employees of the Customer or Aetna and neither party renders medical services or treatments to Plan Participants; (ii) health care providers are solely responsible for the health care they deliver to Plan Participants, and neither the Customer nor Aetna is responsible for the health care that is delivered by health care providers; and (iii) the indemnification obligations of (A) or (B) above do not apply to any portion of any loss relating to the acts or omissions of health care providers with respect to Plan Participants.
- (E) These indemnification obligations above shall not apply to any claims caused by (i) an act, or failure to act, by one party at the direction of the other, or (ii) with respect to intellectual property infringement, the Customer's modification or use of the Services or materials that are not contemplated by this Agreement, unless directed by Aetna, including the combination of such Services or materials with services, materials or processes not provided by Aetna where the combination is the basis for the claim of infringement. For purposes of the exclusions in this paragraph, the term "Customer" includes any person or entity acting on the Customer's behalf or at the Customer's direction. For purposes of (A) and (B) above, the standard of care to be applied in determining whether either party is "negligent" in performing any duties or obligations under this Agreement shall be the standard of care set forth in section 3.

13. DEFENSE OF CLAIM LITIGATION

In the event of a legal, administrative or other action arising out of the administration, processing or determination of a claim for Plan benefits, the party designated in this document as the fiduciary which rendered the decision in the appeal last exercised by the Plan Participant which is being appealed to the court ("appropriate named fiduciary") shall undertake the defense of such action at its expense and settle such action when in its reasonable judgment it appears expedient to do so. If the other party is also named as a party to such action, the appropriate named fiduciary will defend the other party PROVIDED the action relates solely and directly to actions or failure to act by the appropriate named fiduciary and there is no conflict of interest between the parties. The Customer agrees to pay the amount of Plan benefits included in any judgment or settlement in such action. The other party shall not be liable for any other part of such judgment or settlement, including but not limited to legal expenses and punitive damages, except to the extent provided in section 12 (Indemnification).

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this section 13, in any multi-claim litigation (including arbitration) disputing reimbursement for benefits for more than one Plan Sponsor, the Customer authorizes Aetna to defend and reasonably settle the Customer's benefit claims in such litigation.

14. REMEDIES

Other than in an action between the parties for third party indemnification, neither party shall be liable to the other for any consequential, incidental or punitive damages whatsoever.

15. BINDING ARBITRATION OF CERTAIN DISPUTES

Any controversy or claim arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the breach, termination, or validity thereof, except for temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief or any other form of equitable relief, shall be settled by binding arbitration in Hartford, CT, administered by the American Arbitration Association ("AAA") and conducted by a sole arbitrator in accordance with the AAA's Commercial Arbitration Rules ("Rules"). The arbitration shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. §§ 1-16, to the exclusion of state laws inconsistent therewith or that would produce a different result, and judgment on the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof. Except as may be required by law or to the extent necessary in connection with a judicial challenge, or enforcement of an award, neither a party nor the arbitrator may disclose the existence, content, record or results of an arbitration. Fourteen (14) calendar days before the hearing, the parties will exchange and provide to the arbitrator (a) a list of witnesses they intend to call (including any experts) with a short description of the anticipated direct testimony of each witness and an estimate of the length thereof, and (b) pre-marked copies of all exhibits they intend to use at the hearing. Depositions for discovery purposes shall not be permitted. The arbitrator may award only monetary relief and is not empowered to award damages other than compensatory damages.

16. COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS

Aetna shall comply with all applicable federal and state laws including, without limitation, the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act of 2010 (“PPACA”), the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (“HIPAA”), and the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”)

17. TERMINATION

This Agreement may be terminated by Aetna or the Customer as follows:

(A) Termination by the Customer – The Customer may terminate this Agreement, or the Services provided under one or more schedules, for any reason, by giving Aetna at least 90 days’ prior written notice of when such termination will become effective.

(B) Termination by Aetna and Suspension of Claim Payments-

(1) Aetna may terminate this Agreement, or the Services provided under one or more schedules, for any reason, by giving the Customer at least 90 days’ prior written notice of when such termination will become effective.

(2) If the Customer fails to fund claim wire requests from Aetna, or fails to pay Service Fees by the Payment Due Date, Aetna has the right to cease paying claims and suspend Services until the requested funds or Service Fees have been provided. Aetna may terminate the Agreement immediately upon notice to the Customer if the Customer fails to fund claim wire requests or pay the applicable Service Fees in full within five business days of written notice by Aetna.

(C) Legal Prohibition - If any jurisdiction enacts a law or Aetna reasonably interprets an existing law to prohibit the continuance of the Agreement or some portion thereof, the Agreement or that portion shall terminate automatically as to such jurisdiction on the effective date of such law or interpretation; provided, however, if only a portion of the Agreement is impacted, the Agreement shall be construed in all respects as if such invalid or unenforceable provision were omitted.

(D) Responsibilities on Termination –

Upon termination of the Agreement, for any reason other than default of payment by the Customer, Aetna will continue to process runoff claims for Plan benefits that were incurred prior to the termination date, which are received by Aetna within 12 months following the termination date. The Service Fee for such activity is included in the Service Fees described in the Service and Fee Schedule(s). Runoff claims will be processed and paid in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. Claims which are pending or disputed will be handled to their conclusion by Aetna. Requests for benefit payments received after the 12 month runoff period will be returned to the Customer or to a successor administrator at the Customer’s expense.

The Customer shall continue to fund Plan benefit payments and agrees to instruct its bank to continue to make funds available until all outstanding Plan benefit payments have been paid or until such time as mutually agreed upon by Aetna and the Customer. The Customer's wire line and bank account from which funds are requested must remain open for one year after runoff processing ends, or two years after termination.

Upon termination of the Agreement and provided all Service Fees have been paid, Aetna will release to the Customer, or its successor administrator, all claim data in Aetna's standard format, within a reasonable time period following the termination date. All costs associated with the release of such data shall be paid by the Customer.

18. GENERAL

(A) Relationship of the Parties - The parties to this Agreement are independent contractors. This Agreement is not intended and shall not be interpreted or construed to create an association, agency, joint venture or partnership between the parties or to impose any liability attributable to such a relationship. Each party shall be solely responsible for all wages, taxes, withholding, workers compensation, insurance and any other obligation on behalf of any of its employees, and shall indemnify the other party with respect to any claims by such persons.

(B) Intellectual Property - Aetna represents that it has either the ownership rights or the right to use all of the intellectual property used by Aetna in providing the Services under this Agreement (the "Aetna IP"). Aetna has granted the Customer a nonexclusive, non-assignable, royalty free, limited right to use certain of the Aetna IP for the purposes described in this Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to grant any additional ownership rights in the Aetna IP to the Customer.

(C) Communications - Aetna and the Customer may rely upon any communication believed by them to be genuine and to have been signed or presented by the proper party or parties. For a notice or other communication under this Agreement to be valid, it must be in writing and delivered (i) by hand, (ii) by e-mail or (iii) by fax to a representative of each party as mutually agreed upon. Notices or communications may also be sent by U.S. mail to the address below.

(D) Force Majeure – With the exception of the Customer's obligation to fund benefit payments and Service Fees, neither party shall be deemed to have breached this Agreement, or be held liable for any failure or delay in the performance of any portion of its obligations under this Agreement, including performance guarantees if applicable, if prevented from doing so by a cause or causes beyond the reasonable control of the party. Such causes include, but are not limited to: acts of God; acts of terrorism; pandemic; fires; wars; floods; storms; earthquakes; riots; labor disputes or shortages; and governmental laws, ordinances, rules, regulations, or the opinions rendered by any court, whether valid or invalid.

(E) Governing Law - The Agreement shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with applicable federal law, including ERISA. To the extent such federal law does not govern, the Agreement shall be governed by Connecticut law.

(F) Financial Sanctions – If Plan benefits or reimbursements provided under this Agreement violate or will violate any economic or trade sanctions, such Plan benefits or reimbursements are immediately considered invalid. Aetna cannot make payments for claims or Services if it violates a financial sanction regulation. This includes sanctions related to a blocked person or a country under sanction by the United States, unless permitted under a written office of Foreign Asset Control (OFAC) license.

- (G) Waiver - No delay or failure of either party in exercising any right under this Agreement shall be deemed to constitute a waiver of that right.
- (H) Third Party Beneficiaries - There are no intended third party beneficiaries of this Agreement.
- (I) Severability – If any provision of this Agreement or the application of any such provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect by a court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity, illegality or unenforceability shall not affect any other provision of this Agreement and all other conditions and provisions of this Agreement shall nevertheless remain in full force and effect.
- (J) Entire Agreement; Order of Priority - This Agreement, and the accompanying HIPAA business associate agreement, constitutes the entire understanding between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement, and supersedes all other agreements, whether oral or written, between the Parties. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Agreement and a schedule or other attachment, the terms of the schedule or other attachment will control.
- (K) Amendment – No modification or amendment of this Agreement will be effective unless it is in writing and signed by both Parties, except that a change to a party's address of record as set forth in section 18(C) (Communications) may be made without being countersigned by the other party.
- (L) Taxes – The Customer shall indemnify Aetna and its affiliates for any taxes, assessments and penalties incurred by Aetna by reason of Plan benefit payments made or Services performed hereunder, and any interest thereon, provided that the Customer shall not be required to pay any net income, franchise or other tax, however designated, based upon or measured by Aetna's net income, receipts, capital or net worth. Additionally, if Aetna makes a payment to a third party vendor at the request of the Customer, Aetna will assume the tax reporting obligation, such as Form 1099-MISC or other applicable forms.
- (M) Assignment - This Agreement may not be assigned by either party without the written approval of the other party. The duties and obligations of the parties will be binding upon, and inure to the benefit of, successors, assigns, or merged or consolidated entities of the parties.
- (N) Survival - Sections 5, 8 through 13 and 17(D) shall survive termination of the Agreement.
- (O) Subcontractors -The work to be performed by Aetna under the Agreement may, at its discretion, be performed directly by it or wholly or in any part through a subsidiary, an affiliate, or under a contract with an organization of its choosing. Aetna will remain liable for Services under the Agreement. Upon request, Aetna shall provide a written list of Tier 1 subcontractors to the Customer. Tier 1 subcontractors are defined as a subset of Aetna suppliers for whom a portion of the Services provided may include direct Plan Participant contact or significant access to Plan Participant-identifiable data. Not all Aetna suppliers on the list provided are utilized in providing services to all customers or plan participants. Aetna shall make an updated Tier 1 Subcontractor list available to the Customer for informational purposes, as requested by the Customer, but no more frequently than once annually, during the term of the Agreement. For the avoidance of doubt, neither Aetna's obligation to provide, nor the Customer's right to receive a Tier 1 Subcontractor list under this paragraph, shall constitute a right of the Customer to pre-approve any Aetna subcontractor or a right to require Aetna to terminate any agreements (or services under any agreements) with any Aetna supplier.

Aetna or its subcontractors will access the Customer or Plan Participant data from locations outside of the jurisdiction of the United States; provided that such access (i) is limited to screen viewing of the data, which shall, at all times, remain physically stored in the United States, and (ii) is subject to security controls, including limiting such access to devices with no download, print or storage capability.

The parties are signing this agreement as of the date stated in the introductory clause.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION SCHEDULE
MASTER SERVICES AGREEMENT MSA- XXXX
EFFECTIVE XXXX

This General Administration Schedule describes certain of the Services to be performed by Aetna for the Customer pursuant to MSA-XXXXXXX. The Services described in this schedule apply generally to any medical, dental, pharmacy and behavioral health Plans that are subject to the Agreement. Terms used but not otherwise defined in this schedule shall have the meaning assigned to them in the Agreement.

1. CLAIM SERVICES:

- (A) Aetna shall process claims for Plan benefits incurred on or after the Effective Date using Aetna's normal claim determination, payment and audit procedures and applicable cost control standards in a manner consistent with the terms of the Plan(s), any applicable provider contract, and the Agreement. Aetna shall issue a payment of benefits and related charges on behalf of the Customer in accordance with section 5 of the Agreement, for such benefits and related charges that are determined to be payable under the Plan(s). With respect to any claims that are denied on behalf of the Customer, Aetna shall notify the Plan Participant of the denial and of the Plan Participant's right of review of the denial in accordance with applicable law.
- (B) Where the Plan contains a coordination of benefits clause or antiduplication clause, Aetna shall administer all claims consistent with such provisions and any information concurrently in its possession regarding duplicate or primary coverage. Aetna shall have no obligation to recover sums owed to the Plan by virtue of the Plan's rights to coordinate where the claim was incurred prior to the Effective Date. Aetna has no obligation to bring actions based on subrogation or lien rights, unless the Customer has elected Aetna's subrogation services as indicated in the Service and Fee Schedule.
- (C) In circumstances where Aetna may have a contractual, claim or payment dispute with a provider, the settlement of that dispute with the provider may include a one-time payment in settlement to the provider or to Aetna, or may otherwise impact future payments to providers. Aetna, in its discretion, may apportion the settlement to self-funded customers, either as an additional service fee from, or as a credit to, the Customer, as may be the case, based upon specific applicable claims, proportional membership or some other allocation methodology, after taking into account Aetna's cost of recovery. The Customer shall remain liable after termination of the Agreement, for their portion of any settlement payments arising from claims paid while an active customer.

2. MEMBER SERVICES:

Aetna shall establish and maintain one or more service centers, responsible for handling calls and other correspondence from Plan Participants with respect to questions relating to the Plan and Services under the Agreement.

3. PLAN SPONSOR SERVICES:

- (A) Aetna shall assign an experienced Account Management Team to the Customer's account. This team will be available to assist the Customer in connection with the Services provided under the Agreement.
- (B) Aetna shall design and install a benefit-account structure separately by class of employees, division, subsidiary, associated company, or other classification reasonably requested by the Customer.
- (C) Aetna shall assist the Customer in connection with the design of the Customer's Plan, including actuarial and underwriting support reasonably requested by the Customer, provided that the Customer shall have ultimate responsibility for the content of the Plan and compliance with law in connection therewith.
- (D) Aetna shall make employee identification cards available to Plan Participants. Upon request, Aetna will arrange for the custom printing of identification cards, with all costs borne by the Customer.
- (E) Upon request of the Customer, Aetna shall provide the Customer with information reasonably available to Aetna relating to the administration of the Plans which is necessary for the Customer to prepare reports that are required to be filed with the United States Internal Revenue Service and Department of Labor.
- (F) Aetna shall provide the following reports to the Customer for no additional charge:
 - (1) Monthly/Quarterly/Annual Reports - Aetna shall prepare the following reports in accordance with the benefit-account structure for use by the Customer in the financial management and administrative control of the Plan benefits:
 - (a) a monthly listing of funds requested and received for payment of Plan benefits;
 - (b) a monthly reconciliation of funds requested to claims paid within the benefit-account structure;
 - (c) a monthly listing of paid benefits;
 - (d) online access to monthly, quarterly and annual standard claim analysis reports; and
 - (e) if applicable, monthly, quarterly, or annual HealthFund product reports for customers with at least 100 enrolled lives in each HealthFund to be used for the financial evaluation and management of each HealthFund plan.
 - (2) Annual Accounting Reports - Aetna shall prepare standard annual accounting reports detailing product specific financial and plan information including enrollment fees and/or rates for each Agreement Period.
 - (3) Annual Renewal Reports – Aetna shall prepare standard annual renewal reports detailing product specific financial and plan information, including enrollment fees and/or rates for each Agreement Period.

Any additional reporting formats and the price for any such reports shall be mutually agreed upon by the Customer and Aetna.

(G) Upon request of the Customer, for no additional charge, Aetna shall provide either of the following services in support of the preparation of Plan descriptions:

- (1) Prepare an Aetna standard Plan description, including descriptions of benefit revisions; or
- (2) Review the Customer-prepared employee Plan descriptions, subject to the Customer's final and sole authority regarding benefits and provisions in the self-insured portion of the Plan.

Upon request of the Customer, Aetna shall prepare a non-standard Plan description, provided the Customer must agree in advance to reimburse Aetna for the costs of that work. If the Customer requires both preparation (1) and review (2), Aetna may require an additional charge.

- (H) Upon request of the Customer, Aetna will arrange for the printing of Plan descriptions, with all costs borne by the Customer.
- (I) Upon request of the Customer, if applicable, Aetna will provide assistance in connection with the preparation of the Customer's draft Summaries of Benefits and Coverage (SBCs). Aetna may charge an additional fee for such request.
- (J) The Customer acknowledges that it has the responsibility to review and approve all Plan documents and SBCs, if applicable, and shall have the final and sole authority regarding the benefits and provisions of the Plan(s), as outlined in the Customer's Plan document. Aetna shall have no responsibility or liability for the content of any of the Customer's Plan documents, or SBC's, if applicable, regardless of the role Aetna may have played in the preparation of such documents.

4. NETWORK ACCESS SERVICES

- (A) Aetna shall provide Plan Participants with access to Aetna's network hospitals, physicians and other health care providers ("Network Providers") who have agreed to provide services at agreed upon rates and who are participating in the applicable Aetna network covering the Plan Participants.
- (B) Contracted rates with Network Providers may be based on fee-for-service rates, case rates, per diems and in some circumstances, include performance-based contract arrangements, risk-adjustment mechanisms, quality incentives, pay-for-performance and other incentive and adjustment mechanisms. These mechanisms may include payments to physicians, physician groups, health systems and other provider organizations, including but not limited to organizations that may refer to themselves as accountable care organizations and patient-centered medical homes, in the form of periodic payments and incentive arrangements based on performance. Such payments may be more specifically described in an addendum to the Agreement. The details of such payment arrangements are available upon request. Retroactive adjustments are occasionally made to Aetna's contract rates. Retroactive adjustments may occur, for example, when the federal government does not issue cost of living data in sufficient time for an adjustment to be made on a timely basis, or because contract negotiations were not completed by the end of the prior price period or due to contract dispute settlements. In all cases, Aetna shall adjust the Customer's payments accordingly. The Customer's liability for all such adjustments shall survive the termination of the Agreement.
- (C) Aetna may contract with vendors who in turn are responsible for contracting with the providers who perform the health care services, and potentially for certain other services related to those providers such as claims processing, credentialing, and utilization management. Under some of these arrangements, the vendor bills Aetna directly for those services by its network of providers at the vendor's contracted rate with Aetna, and Aetna pays the vendor for those services. In certain cases, the amount billed by the vendor to Aetna, paid pursuant to the plan, includes an administrative fee for delegated services by the vendor. As a result, the amount the vendor pays to the health care provider through the vendor's contract with the provider may be different than the amount paid pursuant to the Plan because the allowed amount under the Plan will be Aetna's contracted rate with the vendor, and not the contracted amount between the vendor and the health care provider.

- (D) Aetna reserves the right to set a minimum plan benefit design structure for in-area network claims to which the Customer must comply in order to access a particular Aetna network.
- (E) Aetna shall maintain an online directory containing information regarding Network Providers. Upon request and for an additional charge, Aetna shall provide the Customer with paper copies of physician directories.
- (F) Aetna makes no guarantee and disclaims any obligation to make any specific health care providers or any particular number of health care providers available for use by Plan Participants or that any level of discounts or savings will be afforded to or realized by the Customer, the Plan or Plan Participants.
- (G) Sutter Health and Affiliates, the dominant health system in much of northern California, uses its bargaining power to insist on unique requirements to participate in the Aetna network. Aetna's contract with Sutter requires payment of claims that would otherwise be denied, such as those not medically necessary or experimental or investigational (but does not require payment for services the Plan expressly excludes from coverage, such as for cosmetic surgery). Aetna will charge the Plan for these claims in order to be able to continue providing Plan Participants with access to Sutter's services on an in-network basis. Consult your SPD text to ensure that the description of Aetna's services accommodates such arrangements. Sutter also requires that the Customer agree to be bound by the terms of Aetna's contract with Sutter, including, but not limited to, the dispute resolution and binding arbitration provisions. The Customer agrees to be bound by the terms of the Sutter contract, including future amendments. The Customer may request a copy of the Sutter contract for its own use, upon completion of a confidentiality agreement. If a copy is furnished to the Customer, the Customer will hold the terms of the Sutter agreement in strict confidence in accordance with its confidentiality provisions. The Customer must sign an attestation letter agreeing to these conditions; otherwise Sutter providers will be excluded from the Customer's network.

SAMPLE

MASTER SERVICES AGREEMENT MSA- XXXX
EFFECTIVE XXXX

Subject to the terms and conditions of the Agreement, the medical Services available from Aetna are described below. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, only the Services selected by the Customer in the Service and Fee Schedule (as modified by Aetna from time to time pursuant to section 4, Service Fees, of the Agreement) will be provided by Aetna. Additional Services may be provided at the Customer's written request under the terms of the Agreement. This Schedule shall supersede any previous document(s) describing the Services.

Some programs are available to Plan Participants and other eligible employees as determined by Customer not otherwise covered under products provided under this Agreement ("Employee").

I. CLAIM FIDUCIARY

The Customer and Aetna agree that with respect to Section 503 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, Aetna will be the "appropriate named fiduciary" of the Plan for the purpose of reviewing denied claims under the Plan. The Customer understands that the performance of fiduciary duties under ERISA necessarily involves the exercise of discretion on Aetna's part in the determination and evaluation of facts and evidence presented in support of any claim or appeal. Therefore, and to the extent not already implied as a matter of law, the Customer hereby delegates to Aetna discretionary authority to determine entitlement to benefits under the applicable Plan documents for each claim received, including discretionary authority to determine and evaluate facts and evidence, and discretionary authority to construe the terms of the Plan. If a claim is denied and the denial is upheld through the final level of appeal, Aetna will determine if the appeal is eligible for external review ("ERO"). If the appeal is eligible for ERO, then Aetna will inform the Plan Participant of his right to appeal through the ERO process. If the appeal is upheld, Aetna will inform the Plan Participant of the reasons for the denial. If the appeal is not eligible for ERO, then Aetna will inform the Plan Participant of the reasons for the ineligibility. It is also agreed that, as between the Customer and Aetna, Aetna's decision on any claim is final and that Aetna has no other fiduciary responsibility.

II. EXTERNAL REVIEW

The external review process will be conducted by an independent clinical reviewer with appropriate expertise in the area in question. External Review shall be available for certain "Adverse Benefit Determinations" as defined in 29 CFR 2560.503-1 as amended by 26 CFR 54.9815-2712T. It shall also be available for eligible "Final Internal Adverse Benefit Determinations", which is an eligible Adverse Determination that has been upheld by the appropriate named fiduciary (Aetna) at the completion of the internal review process or an Adverse Benefit Determination for which the appeal process has been exhausted. The External Review process shall meet the standards of the Federal Affordable Care Act and utilize a minimum of three accredited Independent Review Organizations. Independent reviewers conduct a de novo review of the information provided to them as part of the External Review process. Both Aetna and Customer acknowledge that neither Plan Participants nor providers will be penalized for exercising their right to an External Review.

The Customer delegates the sole discretionary authority to make the determination regarding the eligibility for external review, under the Plan, to Aetna.

The Customer acknowledges that the Independent Review Organizations that make the external review decisions are independent contractors and not agents or employees of Aetna, and that Aetna is not responsible for the decision of the Independent Review Organization.

To assist in conducting such external reviews, the Customer agrees to provide Aetna with the current Plan documents, and any revised, amended, or updated versions no later than the date of any revisions, amendments, or updates.

III. ADDITIONAL AUDIT GUIDELINES

Aetna is not responsible for paying customers' audit fees or the costs associated with an audit. Aetna will bear its own expenses associated with an audit; provided (i) the on-site portion of the audit is completed within five days, and (ii) the sample size is no more than 250 claims. Aetna will notify the Customer prior to the audit, if an audit request would require an additional payment from the Customer for any audits in excess of the aforementioned thresholds.

IV. CARE MANAGEMENT SERVICES

1. Utilization Management

a. Inpatient and Outpatient Precertification:

A process for collecting information prior to an inpatient confinement (Inpatient Precertification) or selected ambulatory procedures, surgeries, diagnostic tests, home health care and durable medical equipment (Outpatient Precertification). The precertification process permits eligibility verification/confirmation, initial determination of coverage, and communication with the physician and/or Plan Participant in advance of the provision of the procedure, service or supply at issue. Outpatient precertification is not applicable to Indemnity or PPO Products.

b. Concurrent Review:

Concurrent review encompasses those aspects of patient management that take place during the provision of services at an inpatient level of care or during an ongoing outpatient course of treatment. The concurrent review process includes obtaining information regarding the care being delivered; assessing the clinical condition, providing benefit determination, identifying continuing care needs to facilitate appropriate discharge plans, and identifying Plan Participants for other specialty programs such as Case Management or Disease Management.

c. Discharge Planning:

This is an interdisciplinary process that assists Plan Participants as their medical condition changes and they transition from the inpatient setting. Discharge planning may be initiated at any stage of the patient management process. Assessment of potential discharge planning needs begins at the time of notification, and coordination of discharge plans commences upon identification of post discharge needs during precertification or concurrent review. This program may include evaluation of alternate care settings and identification of care needed after discharge. The goal is to provide continuing quality of care and to avoid delay in discharge due to lack of outpatient support.

d. Retrospective Review:

Retrospective review is the process of reviewing coverage requests for initial certification after the service has been provided or when the Plan Participant is no longer in-patient or receiving the service. Retrospective review includes making coverage determinations for the appropriate level of service consistent with the Plan Participant's needs at the time the service was provided after confirming eligibility and the availability of benefits within the Plan Participant's benefit plan.

Not all services are subject to utilization management. Aetna maintains the discretion as to the particular level and intensity of these utilization management programs. The services subject to utilization review may vary from time to time.

2. Case Management Programs:

The Aetna Case Management program is a collaborative process of assessment, planning, facilitation and advocacy for options and services to meet an individual's health needs in accordance with the Plan through communication and available resources to promote quality, cost-effective outcomes.

Those Plan Participants with diagnoses and clinical situations for which a specialized nurse, working with the Plan Participant and their physician, can make a material impact to the course or outcome of care and/or reduce medical costs will be accepted into the program at Aetna's discretion. Case management staff strives to enhance the Plan Participant's quality of life, support continuity of care, facilitate provision of services in the appropriate setting and manage cost and resource allocation to promote quality, cost-effective outcomes in accordance with the Plan. Case Managers collaborate with the Plan Participant, family, caregiver, physician and healthcare provider community to coordinate care, with a focus on closing gaps in the Plan Participant's care.

Aetna targets two types of case management opportunities:

- Complex Case Management targets Plan Participants who have already experienced a health event and are likely to have care and benefit coordination needs after the event. The objective for Case Managers is to identify care or benefit coordination needs which lead to faster or more favorable clinical outcomes and/or reduced medical costs.
- Proactive Case Management targets Plan Participants, from Aetna's perspective, who are misusing, over-using or under-utilizing the health care system, leading them towards avoidable and costly health events. This program's objective is to confirm gaps in Plan Participants' care leading to their over-use, misuse, or under-use, and to work with the Plan Participant and their physician to close those gaps.

Case management programs can vary based on the level of advocacy and overall intensity of the programs. The variation is determined by the changing the thresholds by which Plan Participants are identified for outreach. The various case management program options include:

- Aetna Flexible Medical ModelSM - This program provides the Customer with the option to purchase more clinical resources devoted specifically to their Plan Participants. The Flex Model provides a Single Point of Contact Nurse (SPOC Nurse) and designated team to handle all case management activities for three levels of Flex Model Options, as elected. This team will engage in outbound Plan Participant outreach calls to provide case management support based on specific criteria. Each Flexible Medical Management option provides an increase in member engagement and outreach.
- Dedicated Units, Designated Units and Care Advocate Teams - These services were created to help coordinate care, support and resources for Plan Participants under one Care Unit.
 - Aetna's Dedicated Unit provides centralized care management services for pre-certification, utilization management and Case Management.
 - Aetna's Designated Unit is a unit team that provides centralized care management services for pre-certification, utilization management, and Case Management for a specific set of Customers, and

 - Help the Plan Participant understand their doctor's diagnosis and treatment plan
 - Coordinate care across all Aetna programs to help the Plan Participant to optimize use of Aetna programs,
 - Help the Plan Participant decide what questions to ask the doctor or health care provider,

- Introduce the Plan Participant to a disability specialist if they need to file a disability claim, and

3. Aetna In Touch CareSM Programs:

Aetna In Touch Care Program addresses chronic and acute conditions holistically, instead of through separate case management and disease management programs. This program supports Plan Participants with an integrated program experience for the Plan Participant. Aetna's In Touch Care is condition agnostic, provides a more holistic approach to care, and a higher level of engagement supporting Plan Participants with the most risk and the greatest opportunity for health impacts.

Aetna In Touch Care identifies Plan Participants based on assessing their clinical urgency, financial impact, and clinical impact. Based on this assessment, Plan Participants are then assigned to one of three program tracks: high, moderate, or low. Plan Participants would then be targeted for either one-on-one nurse support or through virtual support, providing the appropriate level of support when needed. Plan Participants targeted for one-on-one support will be assigned a single nurse point of contact providing a holistic approach to care. This single nurse model also assigns the same nurse to the other family members for support if needed. Management interactions are tailored to match the Plan Participant's engagement preferences, such as online contact.

These services are the basis for National Accounts Aetna In Touch CareSM Solutions and Aetna In Touch CareSM Premier offerings.

4. Specialty Case Management Programs:

- Aetna Compassionate CareSM Program ("ACCP") - The Aetna Compassionate Care program provides additional support to terminally ill Plan Participants and their families. The hospice services provided through a hospice regularly include these services and are coordinated by the hospice agency providing care and the Aetna nurse case manager who precertifies care for the Plan Participant. In addition, bereavement services are available through the Aetna Employee Assistance Program ("EAP") for Customers without an EAP vendor.

Bereavement counseling shall be available to Plan Participants upon loss of a loved one, and to family and caregivers of a Plan Participant enrolled in ACCP following the death of such Plan Participant.

- Infertility Case Management: - Aetna operates two types of infertility programs:
 - Basic Infertility Program coordinates covered diagnostic services and treatment of the underlying medical causes of infertility, helps Plan Participants understand complex infertility treatments and helps control treatment costs through care coordination and patient education.

- Infertility Case Management Program provides education and information resources for Plan Participants who are experiencing infertility. Depending on the plan selected, the program may guide eligible Plan Participants to a select network of infertility providers for covered or non-covered services. If the services are covered, Aetna's Infertility Case Management Unit issues any appropriate authorizations required under the Plan.

The National Medical Excellence Program Unit provides specialized case management through the use of nurse case managers, each with procedure and/or disease-specific training. There are two networks:

Through the program, Aetna's data is analyzed and the resulting information gives physicians access to a broader view of the Plan Participant's clinical profile. The data which fuels this program includes claim history, current medical claims, pharmacy, physician encounter reports, and patient demographics. Data is mined on a weekly basis and compared with evidence-based treatment recommendations to find possible errors, gaps, omissions (meaning, for example, that a certain accepted treatment regimens may be absent) or commissions in care (meaning, for example, drug-to-drug or drug-to disease interactions). When MedQuery identifies a Plan Participant whose data indicates that there may be an opportunity to improve care, outreach is made to the treating physician based on the apparent urgency of the situation. For customers who have elected to purchase MedQuery with member messaging feature, in certain situations outreach will be made directly to the Plan Participant by MedQuery, requesting that the Plan Participant discuss with their physician, specific opportunities to improve their care.

When available information reveals lack of compliance with a clinical risk, condition, or demographic-related recommendation for preventive care, a Preventive Care Consideration (“PCC”) is generated. The PCC is a preventive/wellness alert sent to the Plan Participant electronically via the Plan Participant’s Personal Health Record. Paper copies of a PCC, delivered via U.S. Mail, are also available as an additional purchase option.

9. National Advantage Program (NAP):

The National Advantage Program includes three components, Contracted Rates, Facility Charge Review and Itemized Bill Review. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, only the NAP components selected by the Customer in the Service and Fee Schedule will be provided by Aetna. In order to elect the Facility Charge Review or Itemized Bill Review components, the Contracted Rates component must be selected.

A. Contracted Rates Component

Through the Contracted Rates component of NAP, Aetna either contracts with third-party vendors to access their contracted rates with providers, or directly contracts with providers (collectively "NAP Providers") for (i) medical claims paid under non-network indemnity plans, (ii) claims covered under the out-of-network portion of network-based plans ("Voluntary Out-of-Network Claims"), and (iii) claims from out-of-network providers covered as in-network benefits under the Plan because the claims are for emergency services, because the services are provided by out-of-network providers at in-network facilities, or because Aetna otherwise determines that the Plan Participant received the services out-of-network because of circumstances outside the Plan Participant's control ("Involuntary Out-of-Network Claims").

When Aetna accesses rates through direct contracts or third-party vendors, the Provider is contractually bound not to balance bill Plan Participants. To limit balance billing for Plan Participants, contracted rates will apply even if the contracted rate exceeds the amount determined by the benefit level under the Plan.

In the absence of a pre-negotiated contracted rate, Aetna or a third-party vendor will attempt to negotiate a claim specific rate/discount ("Ad-Hoc Rate").

B. Facility Charge Review ("FCR") Component

FCR applies to inpatient and outpatient facility claims for which a contracted rate is not available and for which the claim amount exceeds a certain threshold as determined by Aetna. Through the FCR component, Aetna establishes a reasonable charge for a Plan benefit in the geographic area where such benefit was provided to the Plan Participant ("Reasonable Charge Amount"). The Reasonable Charge Amount is based on the Provider's estimated cost, including an anticipated profit margin. The claim will be paid based on the Reasonable Charge Amount.

C. Itemized Bill Review ("IBR") Component

IBR applies to inpatient facility claims submitted by Aetna network providers (directly contracted) if (a) the submitted claim amount exceeds a certain threshold as determined by Aetna; and (b) Aetna's contracted rate with the provider uses a "percentage of billed charges" methodology. We refer to these as "IBR Claims."

Aetna will forward IBR Claims to a vendor to review and identify any billing inconsistencies and errors. The vendor reports back the amount of eligible charges after adjusting for any identified inconsistencies and errors. Aetna then pays the claim based on the adjusted bill.

D. Terms and Conditions

(i) Access Fees

As compensation for the services provided by Aetna under NAP, Customer shall pay a percentage of the amount of Savings for a claim paid under NAP ("Access Fee") to Aetna as described in the Service and Fee Schedule.

(iv) Customer Acknowledgements

An initial imprest balance in the amount of $100,000 will be deposited into the Account no later than xx/xx/xx. Should it become necessary to increase the imprest amount, the City will agree to do so based on satisfactory evidence from the Contractor of insufficient funds. The Account shall be funded monthly by the City based on an average monthly claims balance. . The City will issue payments via wire transfer. The Contractor shall provide a monthly reconciliation. Any interest earned in the Account shall be accrued to the City and any banking fees will be charged to the Account.

We do not open an account at a Customer's approved request. We use Bank of America for our self-funded customers. The account is not in the name of the City as we do not open separate accounts for our Customers. We also do not operate under an impressed balance. We request funding when the claims have recorded to $20,000 and also on the 1st business day of the month regardless of amount to close out the month. We can accept wire transfers for funding.

Our Standard Banking arrangement: When paid claims have accumulated to more than $20,000, in this arrangement, a wire request is sent to you and/or your bank requesting funds for the total paid claims from the previous days. For most customers, this will mean daily claim wire transfers. In addition, there will be a month end close out request on the first banking day of each subsequent month.

We provided an Alternate Weekly Arrangement: In place of the standard arrangement, we will request funds for paid claims on a specific day of the week [Monday through Friday/call on Friday]. In addition, there will be a month end close out request on the first banking day of each subsequent month.

- b. Contractor, on behalf of the City, shall issue checks from the Account for Medical and Pharmacy Plan benefits and-related expensed in the amount Contractor determines to be proper under the Medical and Pharmacy Program and/or under the Agreement.

Checks cannot be issued off the account as we only use Bank of America and so self-funded benefit payments will be issued off this account and this account will be funded back by the state.

- c. In the event that sufficient funds are not available in the account to pay all Medical Plan benefits and Medical Plan-related expenses when due, then Contractor shall notify the City accordingly.

Noted.

- d. In the event Contractor pays any person less than the amount to which he or she is entitled under the Medical Program, Contractor will promptly adjust the underpayment by drawing the additional funds from the City's Account. In the event Contractor overpays any person entitled to benefits under the Medical Program, or pays benefits to any person not entitled to them, Contractor shall take all reasonable steps to recover the overpayment and credit the Account accordingly; however, Contractor shall not be required to initiate court proceedings to recover an overpayment resulted from acts or omissions of the City, its officers, directors, or employees.

Confirmed.

- e. Following termination of this Agreement, the City shall remain liable for payment of all Plan benefits or fees due any provider or entity for services rendered prior to termination. City shall reimburse Contractor to the extent Contractor makes any such payment. In no event shall any payment of Medical and Pharmacy Plan benefits or fees by Contractor be construed to oblige Contractor to assume any liability of the City for the payment of such benefits or fees. This provision shall survive the termination of the Agreement.

Response to Section 6.266.26 Utilization Review

Provide a brief description of each utilization review component outlined below. This should include a description of services, an explanation of how they work, time frame and turn-around time. If your UR program does not include one of the components, please provide a statement to this effect.

- A. Pre-admission authorization
- B. Continued stay review
- C. Retrospective utilization review
- D. Discharge planning
- E. Outpatient utilization review
- F. Medical case management
- G. Psychiatry/substance abuse review
- H. Diagnostic X-ray and lab/ advanced imaging authorizations
- I. Surgical procedure authorization
- J. Physical Therapy medical necessity determination

Label this information Response to Section 6.26 and include in Tab VII of the proposal.

Utilization management is a broad term for the reviews and procedures involved in making sure members obtain needed care from network providers, avoid unnecessary treatment and use benefit dollars wisely.

Our utilization management programs effectively engage your employees and their families to make sure they're getting the care they need. Our programs maximize engagement through:

- Early identification of members for referral to other programs, such as case, disease or maternity management, disability, or behavioral health
- Identification of the most cost-effective network providers
- Early discharge planning
- Steerage of transplants and bariatric surgeries to Aetna Institutes of Excellence™ and Institutes of Quality®

Our care management teams handle reviews of services. They use proven standards of care to guide their decisions. They also take into account each member's individual needs.

Response to Section 6.26Pre-admission authorization

Pre-admission authorization or precertification is the process of collecting information before inpatient admissions and select ambulatory procedures and services. The process permits advance eligibility verification, determination of coverage, and communication with the physician and/or member.

It also allows us to coordinate the member's transition from the inpatient setting to the next level of care (discharge planning) or to register members for specialized programs like disease management, case management or our maternity management program.

It helps confirm members are covered for certain tests and procedures before they have a test done or are admitted into a hospital. By focusing on high-cost, overused and underused procedures, precertification reduces unneeded care and manages costs.

Our utilization management staff uses evidence-based clinical guidelines from nationally recognized authorities along with state mandates and the terms of the member's benefit plan to guide decisions for:

- Precertification
- Concurrent review
- Discharge planning
- Retrospective review

Our staff consults on-line guidelines from the following sources:

- MCG Health, LLC (formerly Milliman Care Guidelines®)
- MCG Health, LLC for Inpatient and Surgical Care for level of care
- MCG Health, LLC Optimal Recovery Guidelines for length of stay
- Our internally developed Clinical Policy Bulletins (CPBs)
- National and local Medicare coverage policies
- Other Aetna recognized criteria
- Applicable state and federal guidelines

Response to Section 6.26Continued stay review

Our clinical staff reviews inpatient admissions (except normal maternity care) while the member is in the hospital. We use proven guidelines to help make sure care given is covered and necessary. Following members closely helps lower the average length of hospital stays and helps them get quality care. Not all inpatient admissions require this clinical continued stay review. For example, routine admissions with a short length of stay normally don't need continued stay review.

With the exception of normal maternity admissions, we register all inpatient admissions in our medical management system for review in accordance with the member's benefit plan. Our clinical staff uses evidence based clinical guidelines from nationally recognized authorities and the terms of the member's benefit plan to guide utilization management decisions for continued stay review.

Our clinical staff determines the frequency of review on a case-by-case basis. They base it on the member's clinical progress and our internally developed Focused Interaction Tool. This tool is used as a guide to direct and balance efforts for efficient use of resources.

Discharge planning

A need for care doesn't stop when the member gets out of the hospital. Our proactive discharge planning begins during the hospital stay. We work with doctors, members and their families to develop a transition plan from one level of care to the next.

After a hospital stay, a member may need to go to a skilled nursing facility or set up home health care visits. Our staff helps arrange these to make sure members are getting the most efficient and effective care.

Retrospective utilization review

This process includes a review after a member completes a medical service or hospital stay. We want to make sure we made the correct coverage determination based on the member's benefit plan and the appropriate level of care that is consistent with the member's needs at the time of the member's service.

Response to Section 6.26

Examples when we use retrospective utilization review:

- Member met precertification/notification requirements at the time the service was provided, but the dates of service don't match the submitted claim.
- We became the primary payer instead of the secondary payer at the time of inpatient claims adjudication.

Outpatient utilization review and surgical procedure authorization

Most outpatient services and surgeries do not require precertification or outpatient utilization review as long as the physician is participating in our network. However we require in-network providers to precertify before performing procedures at out-of-network ambulatory surgical facilities. This is not to determine medical necessity of the procedure, but to encourage physicians to consider using surgical facilities that are in-network.

Please refer to Tab III of our proposal response for the National Precertification List for a specific procedure or service.

In addition, we review and update our precertification list bi-annually. Please refer to the link below for the most up-to-date listing.

www.aetna.com/healthcare-professionals/assets/documents/2016-precert-list.pdf

Medical case management

During our utilization reviews, we find members who can benefit from a nurse case manager to help prevent more significant health events.

Each member identified and enrolled is assigned a single nurse case manager. We've developed a series of online screening and condition-specific assessment questionnaires in our case management process. The case manager uses these tools, along with clinical judgment and expertise, to identify member needs. Some examples of member needs include psychosocial, educational, care and benefit coordination. The tools also assist case managers in establishing a case management plan to address identified education, care coordination needs and health concerns.

Response to Section 6.26

The case manager may also refer members to our other programs to help prevent future health events. Having multiple touch points with members and their health data lets us:

- Improve clinical outcomes
- Reduce unnecessary utilization
- Lower direct and indirect costs

Psychiatry/substance abuse reviewPsychological review

Psychological and neuropsychological testing may be covered according to employer-client choice. In general, the following applies:

- Psychological and neuropsychological testing requests may be approved when certain conditions are met
- Requests for testing can be made by the provider, provider's office staff, or the member
- Precertification is only required when the request is for behavioral health testing. If the request is medical in nature, those specific benefits will apply.

Substance abuse review

For substance abuse and chemical dependency review, we use the current version of the American Society for Addiction Medicine's Criteria (ASAM), a nationally recognized guideline for treatment of chemical dependency.

We use ASAM and TCADA as guides in gathering the information needed to complete a substance abuse review. The information includes:

- Withdrawal potential
- Medical conditions
- Emotional/behavioral complications
- Readiness to change
- Relapse potential
- Recovery environment

Response to Section 6.26

These categories represent the minimum information required to complete the clinical portion of the review. Based on this information, we collaborate with the provider and members to find the safest and most effective treatment setting. We tailor other information to the specifics of the case, the level of care, or the type of service. This may include:

- Discharge planning
- Enrollment into a disease management program
- Coordination with other services

Diagnostic X-ray and lab/ advanced imaging authorizations

Examples of our outpatient services requiring notification or precertification include:

- High-tech diagnostic radiology (x-ray)
- Advanced imaging procedures
- Outpatient dialysis visits
- Elective/non-emergent pacemakers, implantable cardiac defibrillators (ICD) and cardiac resynchronization therapy defibrillators (CRT-D). This preauthorization applies to members who are currently in our Enhanced Clinical Review Program.

Response to Section 6.26Enhanced Clinical Review

In addition, preauthorization for high tech radiology, elective pacemakers, ICDs and CRT-Ds applies to members who are currently in our Enhanced Clinical Review Program, available in all Florida markets through eviCore healthcare.

Our Enhanced Clinical Review Program precertifies the following outpatient procedures through a contracted management services organization:

- CT scans
- Coronary computed tomographic angiography
- MRIs/MRAs
- PET scans
- Nuclear cardiology (nuclear stress tests)
- Diagnostic cardiology (stress echocardiography and cardiac catheterization)
- Facility based sleep studies
- Cardiac rhythm implant devices (pacemakers and defibrillators)
- Interventional pain management (effective April 1, 2016)
 - Epidural injections
 - Facet blocks
 - Pain pumps
- Large joint procedures (effective April 1, 2016)
 - Hip and knee replacements eviCore healthcare, our national vendor employs experts (i.e., board-certified radiologists and cardiologists, registered nurses and physicians) to assess medical necessity and is equipped with information that helps direct members to the right test at the right time, while keeping health care costs under control. No request is denied without an effort to first discuss it with the ordering physician. The evidence-based review can direct the member to a test or course of action that may be better for the member's care.

Response to Section 6.26Physical Therapy medical necessity determination

Clinical Claim Review (CCR) units review the following physical or occupational therapy services that do not require precertification. They also need to be a covered service on the member's benefit plan.

- Physical therapy and occupational therapy services on self-funded plans, from any provider (in or out of network), exceeding 25 visits, within an episode of care, and when the claim includes medical documentation. We subject all self-funded plans to CCR review (including plans with unlimited visits), unless we have an approved plan sponsor exception.

CCR does not review:

- Claims for physical therapy, occupational therapy or chiropractic for full risk plans, unless the customer has an approved deviation
- Therapy performed in an inpatient, outpatient, home or rehab hospital setting, unless identified by a claim
- Therapy claims where we are not the primary payer and the primary payer allowed the service

Clinical Claim Review (CCR) units evaluate claims when precertification is not required and for the ongoing need for physical medicine services. The CCR medical directors make all adverse decisions.

We want our members to enjoy their best level of health. Whether it's transitioning a member from the hospital to home health care or setting up a case management plan, our nurse's work together to get members the care they need. We do this by using our care team approach and applying clinical expertise, technology, and evidence-based guidelines throughout our care management program.

Disease Management/Health Promotion

Proposer must provide a description of all disease management programs that will be offered as part of this proposal and any associated cost for this program. This information should include:

Disease management programs

Specific services provided

Our Aetna Health ConnectionsSM provides disease management of over 35 chronic conditions:

- A vascular cluster consisting of diabetes (adult and pediatric), heart failure, coronary artery disease, cerebrovascular disease/stroke, hypertension (adult and pediatric), hyperlipidemia (high cholesterol) and peripheral artery disease
- A pulmonary cluster consisting of asthma (adult and pediatric) and COPD
- A cancer cluster including cancers such as breast, lung, prostate, colorectal, lymphoma/leukemia, and general cancer (as a comorbidity)
- A gastrointestinal cluster consisting of gastro esophageal reflux disease (GERD), peptic ulcer disease, chronic hepatitis, inflammatory bowel disease (Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis)

- An orthopedic/rheumatologic cluster consisting of osteoporosis, osteoarthritis (as a comorbidity) rheumatoid arthritis, osteopenia (as a comorbidity), and chronic low back pain

- A comprehensive set of other conditions consisting of cystic fibrosis (adult and pediatric), HIV, hypercoagulable state (blood clots), weight management (adult and pediatric), sickle cell anemia (adult and pediatric), and depression (as a comorbidity) that vary in prevalence and severity across populations

Interventions or engagement levels

We engage members identified for disease management in varying and progressive levels of intensity. The levels depend upon the severity of their condition(s) and the overall opportunity to impact their health status as measured by an opportunity score. The scoring uses a set of clinical identification and validation rules, scoring models and stratification algorithms. We rescore members monthly. In addition, we continually run the MedQuery® program, powered by the Care Engine®, against medical claims, pharmacy, laboratory data and self-reported data. This allows us to identify and address new care improvement opportunities and potential recommendations for care including drug interactions.

Engagement levels include:

- Supportive Monitoring: Members receive a toll-free number to access an Aetna disease management nurse, use of our member website for self-directed learning, and bi-annual newsletters. Our staff will assist members to order a glucose meter according to their benefit plan.
- Active Monitoring: Members receive all of the above, plus an introductory letter, an invitation to call our toll-free number and speak with a disease management nurse for personalized education and action plans and educational materials as needed. Members may also receive peak flow meters and spacers if appropriate.
- Active Monitoring with Nurse Engagement: Members receive all of the above plus outreach to engage them with a disease management nurse for individualized coaching and education.

Staffing resources and availability

We employ the following staff for our Disease Management program to ensure your members are getting the care they need:

Aetna Health Connections Disease Management staff	Totals
Health Coach Consultants (RNs)	95
Health Coach Associates (LPN/LVN)	38
Supervisors	12
Nurse Managers	3
Medical Directors	2
Health Service Consultants (Registered Dieticians)	5
Health Service Consultants (Certified Diabetic Educator)	1
Care Management Associates (non-clinical)	16
Behavioral Health specialists	4

Nurses are available weekdays from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. ET. Scheduled appointments can also occur later than 9 p.m. if requested.

In addition, we offer a toll-free telephone line for disease management members to contact us 24 hours a day, 7 days a week with any questions or concerns they have. For after-hour calls, members can choose to leave a voice message for a call back or ask for a transfer to our 24/7 nurse line. Informed Health Line nurses can answer question about their immediate heath concerns. And they'll remind members to call the program back during normal business hours.

Approach to managing disease states

Our approach to handling disease states involves the following program components and primary focus areas:

	Program Components
√	Patient education
√	Physician education
√	Self-management
√	Treatment plan adherence
√	Medical therapy
√	Lifestyle management
√	Behavior change approaches
√	Measurement, monitoring, and reporting outcomes
√	Other (describe) Monitoring equipment as medically appropriate
	Primary Focus Areas
√	Patient education
√	Treatment plan adherence
√	Measurement, monitoring, and reporting outcomes

To help manage a member's specific condition and change a member's behavior, our nurses use specific evidence-based methods. This builds a trusting relationship they can both work together on. Through motivational interviewing techniques and non-judgmental support, our nurses encourage problem solving, goal setting and, most importantly, accountability in the member. Studies show this combination of techniques provides powerful motivation for long-term lifestyle changes. Our nurses also assess a member's readiness to change as part of our initial and follow-up assessments. Some examples of behavior change include working with members to address:

- Medication adherence
- Healthy eating
- Physical activity
- Smoking cessation
- Weight loss

The enrollment process

We identify members for enrollment into our disease management program using identification and stratification. Through this approach, we are able to help the member get the appropriate care/outreach and close any gaps in care they may have.

Scoring process

We identify and score members using the Aetna Opportunity Score (AOS). The AOS uses a set of clinical identification and validation rules, scoring models and stratification algorithms to create a member-level score. We refresh scoring data on a monthly basis.

We assign an overall opportunity score to each member. The score represents the degree to which disease management has an opportunity to impact each member's health status and clinical outcomes. The overall opportunity score gives us the ability to select and prioritize cases for disease management. The MedQuery® program powered by the CareEngine® continues to scan member health data and compares it against evidence-based guidelines of care to identify opportunities to improve care.

Stratification

Based on this process, we stratify members for outreach into three categories:

Supportive monitoring (low risk)

Members receive:

- A toll-free number to access an Aetna disease management nurse
- The use of our member website for self-directed learning
- Bi-annual newsletters
- Communications of identified Care ConsiderationsSM
- Staff assistance to order a glucose meter according to their benefit plan

Active Monitoring (moderate risk)

Members receive all of the above, plus:

- An introductory letter
- An invitation to call our toll-free number and speak with an Aetna disease management nurse for personalized education and action plans
- Educational materials as needed
- Members may also receive peak flow meters and spacers if appropriate
- Our staff registered dieticians and certified diabetic educators as needed when nurse engaged

Active monitoring with nurse engagement (high risk)

Members receive all of the above plus:

- Regular outreach by our disease management nurse for individualized coaching and education at least on a quarterly basis.

Incentives to encourage participation

Our Aetna Healthy ActionsSM program includes an incentive component to help employees and their families take steps toward a healthier lifestyle. Eligible participants can view and track their incentives through the Healthy Actions page on our member website. The page displays all eligible, earned and applied incentives programs.

- Aetna Health ConnectionsSM Disease Management program participation. We offer our customers the following standard incentive options:
 - Initial enrollment at Nurse Engagement Level. You may opt to incent members who are risk stratified and agree to participate in our disease management program at the Nurse Engagement level.
 - Specified number of nurse interactions. We offer you the opportunity of specifying a certain number of interactions a member must complete with a nurse from our disease management program to receive an incentive.
- Aetna In Touch Care participation – If you opt for our enhanced medical management model Aetna In Touch Care, you have the option to incent members for the number of calls they have with a nurse. Another option is to incent members for completing nurse-recommended goals. It's important to note that since virtual care is a component of Aetna In Touch Care, you would also have to incorporate some virtual care incentive activity tracking as part of your overall incentive strategy. Virtual support incentives may include health assessment completion, online program completion, MHEP or PHR incentives, among others.

Reduced Member Out-of-Pocket Expenses

We also offer the City a health incentive credit option that applies rewards earned by members to their medical deductible and/or coinsurance, reducing their out-of-pocket expenses. The incentive credit is:

- Applied to a member's medical deductible and/or coinsurance* as claims are processed.
- Included as a rollover feature, as long as the customer continues to offer incentive credits and non-Aetna HealthFund medical plans with deductible and/or coinsurance features.

 Incentive credits are not applied to copayments or pharmacy expenses at this time.*

Reporting

The Aetna Health ConnectionsSM Disease Management Activity Report, the Aetna Health Connections Disease Management Care ConsiderationSM, and Health Economic Model Report, and the Aetna Health Connections Disease Management Clinical Outcomes Report are available to full-risk, self-funded and split-funded customers through Aetna Health Information AdvantageTM. Aetna Health Information Advantage is our information application software tool created by Aetna Informatics®. The City requests these reports via their account manager who runs it and e-mails it to you. The reports are part of our standard reporting package and offered at no additional charge to you.

Account managers can run:

- The Aetna Health Connections Disease Management Activity Report for you on a monthly basis after each data refresh.
- The Aetna Health Connections Disease Management Care Consideration and Health Economic Model Report for you on a monthly basis for Care Consideration data. However, we only update the Health Economic Model savings on a quarterly basis.
- The Aetna Health Connections Disease Management Clinical Outcomes Report quarterly after you have had the program in place at least 6 months plus a 3-month lag.

Aetna In Touch Care Premier

We also offer the City our Aetna In Touch Care Premier (AITC) program option, an alternative to disease and case management. It features a single-nurse point-of-contact for members, and AITC addresses all conditions with the exception of BH and maternity.

This program is an industry innovation that takes member centricity to a new level, focusing on the member's current and future needs rather than reacting to specific conditions. Our internally developed algorithms give our nurses the ability to make contact with members at a point in their care and treatment when it really matters. Our program identifies members based on the following components:

- Clinical urgency
- Financial impact
- Clinical impact

In addition, we identify members through daily opportunity triggers. Examples of daily triggers include but are not limited to:

- Acute inpatient admissions
- Discharges
- Members identified for home or inpatient hospice care related to an advanced illness

A Care Advocate Team for your members

AITC is supported through a designated Care Advocate Team, which provides members with their own nurse who has the knowledge, resources and evidence-based recommendations to:

- Help them understand their medical conditions
- Provide the tools to help make important decisions about their health and care
- Empower them to take control of their health and financial care decisions

The power of one — one nurse, one member

Because the member works with one nurse for both acute and chronic conditions, a relationship of trust can develop sooner. With a relationship in place, a member is more likely to confide in a nurse and be open to guidance. Nurses, in turn, get to know your members better. As a result, they are able to more effectively assess individual needs and wants. Our nurses look at the whole person and their support system. They passionately support each member's efforts to achieve the best health possible.

Trained in motivational interviewing techniques and cultural sensitivity, our nurse's offer:

- Acute care management
- Health care guidance
- Decision support
- Condition-specific education
- Information on how to access and benefit from virtual care support

A personalized care plan is developed around the member's needs. Nurses don't just work with the member, either. Our clinicians help all family members, providing support and expertise.

We help members achieve goals

Our program focuses on improving health and productivity. Our goal for the member is:

- Better compliance
- Fewer hospitalizations
- Focused return to work strategies for disabled employees
- Improved productivity
- Greater member satisfaction

Measuring program success

We currently track and measure the following variables to measure our AITC program success:

- Participation
- Disenrollment reason
- Graduation/telephonic goals attained
- Call volumes: inbound and outbound, Average speed to answer, Abandonment rates
- Productive (e.g. enrollment assessment) vs. Non-productive call (e.g. left a message)
- Changes in physical function (e.g. SF-8, 12 or 36)
- Changes in mental function
- Days of lost activity
- Total medical claims

Reporting

We provide the City with reports tracking clinical outcome as follows:

The Aetna In Touch Care Report

Available approximately 90 days after the close of each quarter and includes:

- Members identified and engaged
- Top 10 conditions of identified members
- Nurse activity with members, including referrals to and from other programs
- Clinical outcome and utilization measures of identified members

The Aetna In Touch Care CC HEM Report

Available approximately 90 days after the close of each quarter and includes:

- Care Consideration® volume, reported by severity, type and Major Diagnostic Category at the summary and detailed level.

The Medical Management Program Savings (AITC) Report

Available by request on a 12 month incurred claims basis with a 2 month claim lag, and includes:

- Savings from Aetna precertification, concurrent review, case management, policy and operations programs as follows:
 - Overall results for members with medical management interventions
 - Savings from high cost claimants
 - Potential savings from emerging high cost claimants

Designated CAT Reporting

- Utilization and CM demographics
- Inpatient stays by elective, emergency, transfer and diagnoses
- Hospital stats - days/1000, admits/1000, average LOS
- Number of preadmission and post discharge calls
- Findings summary

Identification

We look at range of elements to identify participants for AITC including medical, Rx and non-occupational disability claims, members' health risk assessment data and lab values.

AITC manages comorbidities in conjunction with primary disease conditions. In fact, our program addresses all aspects of the member's health across a range of conditions.

The program provides the member with a single-nurse point of contact for his or her health conditions. The nurse may also arrange for specialty referrals as needed. This may include referrals to a maternity management program or to a behavioral health program for complex behavioral health issues.

We do not have a hierarchy for determining coaching priority since our program is not a coaching program and there are not separate nurses managing the member for different conditions. The same nurse manages the member for all conditions and the nurse would start by addressing the most urgent condition first and work with the member on other condition issues as applicable.

A new way to focus on members' health - Let us help you navigate

The health care system may be complex and confusing. But it doesn't have to be. With Aetna In Touch Care, we help your employees and their families navigate the health system so they can focus on their health.

2.18 Subcontractors

2.18.1 If the Proposer proposes to use subcontractors in the course of providing these services to the City, this information shall be a part of the bid response. Such information shall be subject to review, acceptance and approval of the City, prior to any contract award.

The requirement of prior notice and approval by the City of Fort Lauderdale before Aetna could delegate certain functions would not be practical. Aetna should be allowed to perform its duties more efficiently by delegating certain of its duties to a subsidiary, affiliate or other organization. The functions referred to are those routinely delegated by Aetna in the normal course of business. Such functions include medical investigations, peer reviews, medical consulting, data processing, printing, etc. To seek prior approval from the City of Fort Lauderdale before work could be performed by other organizations could compromise our ability to perform all claim processing, administrative and other functions. Aetna's responsibility to perform according to the terms of the agreement, however, does not change if we use an outside organization to perform such tasks.

Section 2 - Special Terms and Conditions

2.18.2 Proposer shall ensure that all of Proposer's subcontractors perform in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Contract. Proposer shall be fully responsible for all of Proposer's subcontractors' performance, and liable for any of Proposer's sub-contractors' non-performance and all of Proposer's subcontractors' acts and omissions. Proposer shall defend, at Proposer's expense, counsel being subject to the City's approval or disapproval, and indemnify and hold harmless the City and the City's officers, employees, and agents from and against any claim, lawsuit, third-party action, or judgment, including any award of attorney fees and any award of costs, by or in favor of any Proposer's subcontractors for payment for work performed for the City.

We use a variety of vendors to perform specific services and we require those vendors to meet all of our performance standards. Aetna is responsible for performance of all work under this agreement if done by Aetna or any one of Aetna's vendors. Because we subcontract on behalf of an entire book of business, we cannot agree to your specific language in our agreements.

2.18.3 Proposer shall require all of its subcontractors to provide the required insurance coverage as well as any other coverage that the Proposer may consider necessary, and any deficiency in the coverage or policy limits of said subcontractors will be the sole responsibility of the Proposer.

Aetna agrees to the following language:

Proposer shall require all of its subcontractors to ~~provide the required insurance coverage~~ maintain adequate insurance coverage and limits as applicable to the scope of services being provided as well as any other coverage that the Proposer may consider necessary, and any deficiency in the coverage or policy limits of such necessary insurance of said subcontractors will be the sole responsibility of the Proposer

If we are asked to develop draft SBCs, they will be based on the benefits information you provide. We’ll include plan design information in the draft SBC relating to products or services administered under your Agreement with us as well as any additional pharmacy or behavioral health carve out information you or your delegates provide. SBCs are not required for “retiree-only plans” as defined by the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and we won’t be supporting generation of SBCs for “retiree-only plans.”

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

You are responsible for reviewing and approving any SBCs with your legal counsel. We have no responsibility or liability for the content or distribution of any of your SBCs, regardless of the role we have played in the preparation of the documents. The production of SBCs will not be subject to Service or Performance Guarantees.

For applicable plans and policies with effective dates of January 1, 2014, and later, the SBC must include statements about whether the plan or coverage provides minimum essential coverage (MEC) and if the coverage meets minimum value (MV) requirements.

Under the ACA, minimum value and minimum essential coverage determinations are your responsibility. We will include the MV and MEC statements in SBCs produced for plans with effective dates of January 1, 2014, and later. However, Aetna won't make the final MV or MEC determinations. We'll review the minimum value standard for the plans based on the minimum value calculator criteria provided by the Department of Health and Humans Services (HHS). We'll provide the SBC in editable format so you can update MV and MEC statements within the document to reflect your determination for each plan. We don't provide legal or tax advice, and suggest you consult with your legal and tax consultants when making determinations. We don't have responsibility or liability regarding the MV or MEC evaluation, regardless of the role we may have played in reviewing/producing the SBC documents.

- b. Comprehensive network of pharmacies including Walgreens and CVS specifically in tri-county area (Broward, Miami-Dade, Palm Beach) and statewide and national networks.

Confirmed, we are offering you our APM National Retail Pharmacy Network, which is our broadest retail pharmacy network. This network provides members with access to over 69,000 pharmacies throughout all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands and the U.S. Virgin Islands. All major chains participate in this network.

Please refer to the APM National Retail Pharmacy Network Listing.xlsx and Network Pharmacies in Broward, Palm Beach, Miami Dade Counties.xlsx documents included with this proposal for a listing of our national network pharmacies and network pharmacies within the tri-county area (Broward, Miami-Dade, Palm Beach).

- c. A Drug formulary that closely matches the City's current formulary.

Confirmed, we are offering you the Premier Plus formulary. This formulary offers more choices for members while still offering solid savings. It includes utilization management controls to help drive savings. This formulary includes all generics as preferred with more brands covered per drug class. In addition, our Premier Plus formulary may eliminate some of the restrictions of step therapy and precertification. It may include custom or plan design exceptions not supported in the other formulary options.

Please refer to the 2016 Aetna Premier Plus Three Tier Open Formulary List.pdf document for your review.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

- d. An exclusive specialty pharmacy service that includes patient education.

Confirmed, through our exclusive mandatory specialty network, we can help you manage your specialty drug costs while improving member health. This benefit design requires members to fill all specialty drug prescriptions through Aetna Specialty Pharmacy® so we can help coordinate care. This is automatically included on all formularies, where permitted by law. The Premier Plus formulary gives you the option of offering an open specialty network or allowing a predetermined number of fills before requiring members to use Aetna Specialty Pharmacy.

The Aetna difference – going beyond filling a prescription

Our program offers the following distinct advantages:

- Coordinated care – Because members fill their drugs through Aetna Specialty Pharmacy, we help coordinate care, patient education and follow up.
 - Fast service – We have all specialty drugs dispensed within 24 to 48 hours of order confirmation.
 - Convenient service – Members can have drugs delivered to their home, their physician’s office or to any other location.
 - 24/7 service – Members can access nurses and pharmacists for 24/7 care and support.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

- e. Program should include step therapy and prior authorization programs.

Confirmed, precertification promotes appropriate and cost-effective use of drugs by providing coverage only meeting certain generally accepted medical criteria. Our formularies offer a range of precertification choices that balance cost controls with member access. To ensure that members are taking the right specialty drugs for their conditions, we require precertification for specialty drugs under both the medical and pharmacy benefit.

Step therapy has members try generics and preferred brands before taking non-preferred brands. Our formularies offer a range of choices that balance step therapy cost savings with member access. One of the benefits of our step therapy program is that our system will allow a claim for a specific drug to adjudicate, without intervention, if a member's claim history indicates that the predefined criteria have already been met. Please note that with the Premier Plus formulary, you will also have the option of excluding step therapy entirely.

- f. Assistance with step therapy and prior authorization programs that include communicating with physicians and implementing a process that does not harm physician-patient relationship.

Confirmed, we have processes and procedures in place regarding requesting medical exceptions for drugs on these programs and with communicating with physicians.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

- g. Procedures to increase the use of mail order pharmacies for maintenance medications.

Confirmed, we currently offer four plan benefit options which encourage filling maintenance drugs at mail order:

- Voluntary – Members can fill their prescriptions at mail or retail. They save the most when they use mail order.
- Incentivized – After one, two or three retail fills, members pay a greater cost-sharing percentage (i.e., 50%, 60% or 75%) to cover maintenance drugs at retail. Members pay less if they fill maintenance drugs through mail order.
- Mandatory – After one, two or three retail fills, members pay the full drug cost if they fill maintenance drugs at retail.
- Mail Order with Opt-Out Program – After two retail fills, members must make a choice. They must choose to switch to 90-day supplies at Aetna Rx Home Delivery or call Member Services to let us know that they want to continue to fill at a retail pharmacy. If they do not make a choice and try to fill a prescription at a retail pharmacy, they will be charged the full cost of their medicine.

Another advantage is that you can capitalize on mail order discounts. The advantage of operating multiple in-house mail-order pharmacies is that we can better manage escalating pharmacy costs while continually providing quality service.

Member perspective

Some of the ways our mail-order options benefit members include:

- Incentivized and mandatory options generally save members more money
- 90-day supply delivered to the home is more convenient
- Convenience of filling prescriptions via the Internet or by telephone
- With the opt-out option, members have a choice of where they fill their maintenance drugs. Both the customer and the member save more when the member uses mail order.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

Through our quantity optimization program, we further help members save money by maximizing the mail order benefit. This program contacts prescribing physicians when Aetna Rx Home Delivery® receives a 30-day prescription with two or more refills. In this instance, we know that the member could save money by filling a single prescription with a 90-day supply. Once identified, we send up to two fax requests to the prescribing physician asking for a 90-day prescription.

In addition, we have also created an outreach program that contacts targeted members, via mail or telephone, who could benefit from the savings associated with mail service. The program's goal is to inform members about Aetna Rx Home Delivery. We encourage members to move their maintenance drugs from retail to mail. This allows members to enjoy the cost savings and convenience of mail order.

h. Monitoring of medication compliance and actions to ensure member adherence.

Confirmed, the below describes our drug compliance and member adherence programs:

Compliance

We use a number of tools to identify when members are not complying with the drug therapy prescribed by their physician. The tools we use on a daily basis to identify member who are out of compliance include:

PULSE AIM

Our case managers use a statistical forecasting model, PULSESM. AIM (Predicted Utilization by Statistical Evaluation for Actionable Identified Members) to identify and predict future chronic health services utilization for high-risk members. This tool uses actual medical, pharmacy, lab and behavioral health data to identify opportunities for case management and specific outreach activities to promote member compliance.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

Compliance Monitoring Program

Through Aetna Specialty Pharmacy®, we ensure compliance by working directly with members to ensure that they are administering their medications correctly, consistently and for the full length of prescribed treatment. We also monitor and supervise specialty drug use to minimize waste, ensure the medical necessity of ongoing treatment and enhance clinical outcomes.

Aetna Rx AutoFill

To increase therapy adherence, we offer an automatic refill program called Aetna Rx AutoFill. Members can go online to sign-up for this program. They can choose how to receive their reminder:

- An e-mail sent to their e-mail address
- A voice mail sent to their cell phone
- A text message sent to their cell phone
- A letter mailed to their home

Before having a refill dispensed, we notify members to ensure they are continuing with the drug therapy, and indeed need a refill. In addition, we confirm their preferred payment method. If there are no refills left on their maintenance medication, we reach out to their physician to obtain a new prescription. If members are not taking advantage of the Aetna Rx AutoFill program, they will receive letters encouraging them to enroll in the program from time to time.

Adherence Programs

We offer adherence programs to reduce overall costs, improve medication adherence and close gaps in care. We are committed to you and your employees on the issue of adherence. We will work diligently with you to explore the complexities surrounding each to improve the experience of your members, helping them achieve optimal health and ultimate savings to you and their plan.

We have described the programs we currently offer. Unless otherwise noted, our adherence programs are available at no additional cost.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

Pharmacy Advisor Counseling

We alert pharmacists at local CVS/pharmacies to counsel members regarding diabetes and cardiovascular conditions. We provide the pharmacist with the information they need regarding the member right away. The pharmacists receive training to be able to address diabetes, as well as high blood pressure, high cholesterol, coronary artery disease and congestive heart failure and will be able to see any applicable gaps in care or refill-related issues and address them with the member.

Members using our mail order program will also receive counseling. We will have one of our pharmacists reach out to the member by phone when we receive their prescription and the advisory notification.

Adherence to Drug Therapy

As part of our Pharmacy Advisor Counseling program, we engage members through education and reminder communications. This solution monitors different drug classes used to treat various high-cost disease states. We identify members using one of these drugs, when they fill a prescription. We will then engage the member in the following ways:

- Adherence Education Letter – Approximately 10 days after the first fill
- Refill Reminder Message – Approximately 15 days before the next refill
- Missed Refill Communication – Approximately 10 days after a missed refill

Gaps in Care

This program uses pharmacy claims data to identify gaps in care that can negatively affect the member's health. We reach out to both the member and the treating physician to fill the gap. Once we identify a gap, both the member and the treating physician receive a letter. The letter explains the gap in care and the steps the physician and member can take to close the gap.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of Services

Specialty Pharmacy Adherence Support

Our specialty care management nurses receive monthly reports for members taking specialty drugs. They review these reports to identify members not filling their prescriptions. A nurse will call a member who is not complying with their treatment and encourage them to continue taking their prescribed medication and provide any support the member may need. The nurse tracks the conversation with the member, and if appropriate will contact the prescribing physician to discuss the members' lack of compliance.

Chronic Medication List Report

Our Chronic Medication List Report is an online report that allows the physician to see how we scored them on a variety of factors including drug-to-drug interactions. The physician can see which specific members had drug-to-drug interactions. With this information, the physician can intervene and discontinue one of the interacting medications, or change it to a different drug. This ensures that the member does not continue taking drugs that can have a negative impact on their health.

Aetna Healthy Actions – Rx SavingsSM

We offer Aetna Healthy Actions Rx Savings, to encourage members living with chronic conditions to continue taking their drugs. Compliance may lead to improved health outcomes and a healthier lifestyle.

The conditions/drug classes include diabetes, asthma, heart failure, high cholesterol and high blood pressure. Members receive reduced copays for generic and preferred brand drugs when taking drugs within the specific therapeutic classes. We offer this program for an additional fee to self-funded customers who select the Premier Plus formulary.

Aetna Rx Healthy Outcomes

The Aetna Rx Healthy Outcomes program promotes drug adherence and sustained positive health outcomes for members who survive a heart attack or other heart-related issues. The program begins after a member meets criteria. We then generate a letter and mail it within two weeks or less of the incident. Other types of outreach, such as pharmacist outreach, occur shortly thereafter. We offer this program for an additional fee to self-funded customers who select the Premier Plus formulary.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of ServicesSummary

Our Gaps in Care and Pharmacy Advisor Counseling programs are available to all customers as part of our core enhanced pharmacy benefits management plan. Self-funded customers can opt-in to any of these programs, at no additional cost. Customers who opt into the Pharmacy Advisor Counseling program also automatically receive Adherence to Drug Therapy and Aetna Rx AutoFill. We recommend that you take advantage of these programs we have designed to assist in member compliance and lowering future medical costs.

- i. Outreach and assistance to members taking two or more medications on a regular basis.

Confirmed, we have a number of programs in place when polypharmacy occurs that help us ensure that members are taking the right drugs at the right time:

Point of care safety intervention

Our point of care safety review provides online utilization review for appropriate drug use and drug interactions. We can identify a potential drug interaction online, in real time, through the integrated claim system at retail, mail and specialty pharmacies. If we identify any problems in these areas, the dispensing pharmacist contacts the prescribing physician for authorization before filling the prescription.

We notify the dispensing pharmacy of a select Level 1 or “Very Severe” drug interactions where there is a high risk of potential harm to the member. This message rejects the claim and sends an alert to the pharmacist.

The drug interaction alert provides messages to the pharmacist, indicating the two drugs that have the potential interaction. The message includes the name, strength and quantity of the interacting drug.

Section 3 - Technical Specifications/Scope Of ServicesRetrospective drug utilization review (DUR)Physician reports – comprehensive drug analysis

When members have more than five prescriptions dispensed simultaneously, we collect the information and generate a list of member names and prescribed drugs. The analysis includes information on all of the drugs the member is taking, potential gaps in care and clinical information they may consider. We notify participating Aetna physicians by email when members they are treating are included in the report. Physicians can then log in to the Aetna provider website, or to NaviNet® to pull their patient-specific report.

Controlled Substance Use Program

Through the Controlled Substance Use Program, we proactively identify members filling prescriptions for more than eight controlled substances, receiving prescriptions from more than three physicians and using three or more pharmacies. This behavior typically indicates that a member has a substance abuse problem.

We send participating physicians a quarterly program letter and report that includes controlled substance utilization for members they are treating. We also send monthly member letters to educate them on this program, and tell them we communicated with their physician. We include Aetna Behavioral Health contact information in both letters as a way for members to receive help, if desired.

Aetna Rx Check® – drug abuse analysis

The Aetna Rx Check® High Utilization program identifies multiple prescriptions filled for drugs that may be misused. We specifically analyze controlled substance utilization over a 30-day period. Once we identify members, we send letters to inform their physician. You can purchase the Aetna Rx Check collection of programs on a bundled basis for an additional fee.

j. Monthly reporting of claims, eligibility and utilization.

Pharmacy reports are available quarterly, within 45 days following the end of the reporting period.

3.06 APPROVED EQUAL: When the technical specifications call for a brand name, manufacturer, make, model, or vendor catalog number with acceptance of APPROVED EQUAL, it shall be for the purpose of establishing a level of quality and features desired and acceptable to the City. In such cases, the City will be receptive to any unit that would be considered by qualified City personnel as an approved equal. It is the Bidder's responsibility to provide adequate information, in the bid, to enable the City to ensure that the bid meets the required criteria. If adequate information is not submitted with the bid, it may be rejected. The City will be the sole judge in determining if the item bid qualifies as an approved equal.

Prices shall be F.O.B. delivered to the requesting agency.

Aetna's fees/premiums quoted are unique to this agency and cannot be extended. We would be pleased to work with other governmental entities to determine whether these terms can be extended to them, but each case would need to be individually underwritten.

General Terms and Conditions (Attachment 15)

5.08 INDEMNITY/HOLD HARMLESS AGREEMENT: The Contractor agrees to protect, defend, indemnify, and hold harmless the City of Fort Lauderdale and its officers, employees and agents from and against any and all losses, penalties, damages, settlements, claims, costs, charges for other expenses, or liabilities of every and any kind including attorney's fees, in connection with or arising directly or indirectly out of the work agreed to or performed by Contractor under the terms of any agreement that may arise due to the bidding process. Without limiting the foregoing, any and all such claims, suits, or other actions relating to personal injury, death, damage to property, defects in materials or workmanship, actual or alleged violations of any applicable Statute, ordinance, administrative order, rule or regulation, or decree of any court shall be included in the indemnity hereunder.

Your Indemnification language is generally acceptable. However, we wish to clarify the following:

(1) Aetna can agree to indemnify City of Fort Lauderdale on a comparative negligence theory, but we are not prepared to indemnify City of Fort Lauderdale for 100% of a loss if Aetna is only partially at fault. As such, the words "that portion of" should be inserted before "any and all losses, penalties, damages, settlements, claims, costs, charges for other expenses, or liabilities" in the first line.

(2) Consistent with the last comment, a standard of care should be introduced so that Aetna would only be liable for conduct deemed to be negligent. We are prepared to discuss other formulations of the standard of care, but we do not believe it is appropriate to omit the standard of care altogether in this paragraph.

(3) Neither City of Fort Lauderdale nor Aetna is responsible for the health care delivered by health care providers, whether network or non-network. The indemnification obligation set forth above would not apply to any portion of any claim, demand or legal action caused by the acts or omissions of health care providers with respect to Members.

General Terms and Conditions (Attachment 15)

5.09 TERMINATION FOR CAUSE: If, through any cause, the Contractor shall fail to fulfill in a timely and proper manner its obligations under this Agreement, or if the Contractor shall violate any of the provisions of this Agreement, the City may upon written notice to the Contractor terminate the right of the Contractor to proceed under this Agreement, or with such part or parts of the Agreement as to which there has been default, and may hold the Contractor liable for any damages caused to the City by reason of such default and termination. In the event of such termination, any completed services performed by the Contractor under this Agreement shall, at the option of the City, become the City's property and the Contractor shall be entitled to receive equitable compensation for any work completed to the satisfaction of the City. The Contractor, however, shall not be relieved of liability to the City for damages sustained by the City by reason of any breach of the Agreement by the Contractor, and the City may withhold any payments to the Contractor for the purpose of setoff until such time as the amount of damages due to the City from the Contractor can be determined.

Noted.

Noted.

General Terms and Conditions (Attachment 15)

- 5.12 RECORDS/AUDIT: The Contractor shall maintain during the term of the contract all books of account, reports and records in accordance with generally accepted accounting practices and standards for records directly related to this contract. -

Noted.

- 5.13 PERMITS, TAXES, LICENSES: The successful Contractor shall, at their own expense, obtain all necessary permits, pay all licenses, fees and taxes, required to comply with all local ordinances, state and federal laws, rules and regulations applicable to business to be carried out under this contract.

1095-B

The reporting is required for individuals to prove that they have health care coverage and avoid the penalties for lack of coverage. This requirement is effective 1/1/2015 with the reporting due in January 2016. Aetna is required to provide the 1095B form to its fully insured members. Self-funded plan sponsors are required to provide the form to its employees and dependents covered under the self-funded health plans. Aetna will not be filing the forms on behalf of self-funded customers.

General Terms and Conditions (Attachment 15)

5.14 LAWS/ORDINANCES: The Contractor shall observe and comply with all Federal, state, local and municipal laws, ordinances rules and regulations that would apply to this contract.

Confirmed.

5.15 NON-DISCRIMINATION: There shall be no discrimination as to race, sex, color, creed, age or national origin in the operations conducted under this contract.

Noted.

5.16 UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES: If during a contract term where costs to the City are to remain firm or adjustments are restricted by a percentage or CPI cap, unusual circumstances that could not have been foreseen by either party of the contract occur, and those circumstances significantly affect the Contractor’s cost in providing the required prior items or services, then the Contractor may request adjustments to the costs to the City to reflect the changed circumstances. The circumstances must be beyond the control of the Contractor, and the requested adjustments must be fully documented. The City may, after examination, refuse to accept the adjusted costs if they are not properly documented, increases are considered to be excessive, or decreases are considered to be insufficient. In the event the City does not wish to accept the adjusted costs and the matter cannot be resolved to the satisfaction of the City, the City will reserve the following options:

1. The contract can be canceled by the City upon giving thirty (30) days written notice to the Contractor with no penalty to the City or Contractor. The Contractor shall fill all City requirements submitted to the Contractor until the termination date contained in the notice.

We require at least 60 days’ notice for termination by City of Fort Lauderdale.

General Terms and Conditions (Attachment 15)

2. The City requires the Contractor to continue to provide the items and services at the firm fixed (non-adjusted) cost until the termination of the contract term then in effect.

We are relying on information from you and your representatives in establishing the fees and terms of this proposal. If any of this information is inaccurate and has an impact on the cost of the programs, we reserve the right to adjust our fees and terms upon the receipt of corrected information.

Policies and Claim Settlement Practices – Our quotation assumes that our standard contract provisions and claim settlement practices will apply. If a material change is initiated by City of Fort Lauderdale or by legislative or regulatory action in the claim payment requirements or procedures, account structure, or any changes materially affecting the manner or cost of paying benefits, we reserve the right to adjust our proposal accordingly.

Run-In Claim Processing – Our proposal excludes run-in claim processing from the prior carrier (claims incurred before the effective date of the plan).

Run-Off Claims Processing – The expenses associated with processing runoff claims following cancellation are covered for one year.

3. If the City, in its interest and in its sole opinion, determines that the Contractor in a capricious manner attempted to use this section of the contract to relieve them of a legitimate obligation under the contract, and no unusual circumstances had occurred, the City reserves the right to take any and all action under law or equity. Such action shall include, but not be limited to, declaring the Contractor in default and disqualifying him for receiving any business from the City for a stated period of time.

Noted.

General Terms and Conditions (Attachment 15)

Noted

Noted.

If the Contractor uses any design, device, or materials covered by letters, patent or copyright, it is mutually agreed and understood without exception that the bid prices shall include all royalties or costs arising from the use of such design, device, or materials in any way involved in the work.

Noted.

- 5.19 ASSIGNMENT: Contractor shall not transfer or assign the performance required by this ITB without the prior written consent of the City. Any award issued pursuant to this ITB, and the monies, which may become due hereunder, are not assignable except with the prior written approval of the City Commission or the City Manager or City Manager's designee, depending on original award approval.

Orientations

Critical incident stress debriefing

Managers are guided through the steps of trauma debriefing and learn the benefit to their employees, organizations, and overall productivity. Workplace trauma includes such things as a death, an accident, and violence in the workplace, natural and man-made disasters.

Orientation (employee)

ARFL1103

Come hear what ARFL is all about and what benefits it offers to you. In today's times we find ourselves having to do more with less, and time is a scarce commodity. Let us help you juggle those work and life issues. Our services are totally confidential.

- Items we can help with
- No hassles with forms, easy access
- Benefits of ARFL
- Web access

ARFL1105

This training for supervisors discusses ARFL benefits provided by their employer. It provides details about who is eligible, how the process works, confidentiality, what types of problems are often addressed and how to access benefits. It also provides information for supervisors on how to identify a troubled employee and walks them through the company's process of referring an employee to ARFL.

- Help give you guidance on how to focus on managing an employee's performance issues instead of their personal issues
- Assist managers with management consultation
- Provide support for traumatic workplace events
- Assist employees with work/life balance
