Neighborhood Enhancement

From Mildewed to Marvelous:

Spring Cleaning Report Card

By Paulette Perryman

With the New Year, and spring cleaning underway, I have seen a tremendous effort on the part of Victoria Park residents to make their properties sparkle with renewed vigor. A little sweeping, pressure cleaning and weekend gardening goes a long way to preserve the historic charm of the neighborhood.

Two properties stand out as role models this quarter and make our Community Enhancement's list as star students.

You may not have noticed the sleepy, shady house at 1624 NE 6th Street. You've probably driven by it for years, not realizing it was actually a main house with cottages in the back, full of tenants.

However, a glaring, ill-timed stove on the swale caught my eye as a bulk concern and then a closer inspection ensued. As I went to post a notice, I simply had to address the stained exterior, the boarded window, the lack of curb appeal.

Notices taped to the wall, I left, expecting to return in 48 hours to see the stove removed. Yet, to my surprise, I was contacted almost immediately by the property manager. The owner would have the buildings repainted, repaired and the grounds landscaped in short order.

As evidenced by the following pictures, case closed!

Another notable structure, located at 401-403 NE 14th Ave, had seen better days. The Art Deco style duplex suffered from faded glamour. It was dirty, chipped, tired and unloved – not at all the elegant masterpiece of yesteryear. Fortunately, once I made my presence known, and left a 30 day notice to restore the exterior condition, the owner jumped into action and toured South Beach for Deco era inspiration. He was intent on preserving the historical integrity of the design and made the choice to “go bold” rather than “go beige.” The result? A tri-colored pastel success! Now the corner property is for sale and, thanks in part to the aesthetic enhancement, has drawn a lot of interest.

Last but not least, sometimes the best is yet to come – and temporarily left unseen. After a lengthy process with the owner, involving the building, zoning and permitting departments, three contiguous properties along 14th Avenue, facing Holiday Park, were boarded to prevent trespassers and vermin. Then, the parcels were fenced. These three may not be the prettiest examples on my report card, but in my eyes, they are a marked improvement from last month.

Keep up the great work, Victoria Park. Cumulative efforts make your neighborhood top of the class!

BULK BLUES

It happens every month. One person places bulk trash out too early and starts a chain reaction. Other neighbors get confused and think they should follow suit before they miss the truck. Suddenly, piles of discarded items and yard debris appear overnight curbside, well before scheduled service days.

How does the City handle this? By enforcing Chapter 11 of Code of Ordinances, Sec. 24-7(b), and alerting the property owner of the violation with a written notice left at their residence. If the unsightly pile is not removed within 48 hours, the City will abate it, at a minimum cost of $240.

More often than not, homeowners are simply unaware of the City's requirement to place bulk out no more than 24 hours in advance. Likewise, tenants moving in and out of neighborhoods are oblivious to guidelines regarding their refuse, and may not realize their building is ineligible for bulk pick up.

So here's how to avoid getting billed for the cost for removal and feeling the bulk blues:

First, know your service day! It's as easy as calling the City's customer service number at (954) 828-8000 and inquiring about the address in question. In addition, the information can be located online using the City's Property Reporter at: <http://gis.fortlauderdale.gov/propertyreporter/>. Type in the property address and click the link to "Service Delivery." The bulk trash day is clearly indicated.

Second, know what items will be collected by the Sanitation Department. Typical household and yard waste items are acceptable, not exceeding 10 cubic feet. To visualize how large that is, just think of a pile no larger than a VW Bug. For a comprehensive list, visit www.fortlauderdale.gov and look under the Departments tab for the Sanitation link. There, you can find a complete brochure of what the City will take, or leave behind.

Finally, not all properties qualify for bulk service. Only single-family homes, townhouse communities, duplexes and tri-plexes are eligible. If you are living in a building with 4 or more units, such as an apartment building, private service is required. Therefore, please do not discard items, as your landlord can be charged. You not only create a nuisance, you may find yourself losing your deposit!

Enhancing our Fort Lauderdale communities is our primary goal in the Community Enhancement Division. Help us maintain the beauty and integrity of our neighborhoods by following the bulk trash guidelines. K. Paulette Perryman is the Community Enhancement Officer for the District 2 neighborhoods of Victoria Park, Lake Ridge and Poinsettia Heights. You may reach her at kperryman@fortlauderdale.gov, and (954) 828-5318.
