Welcome/Call to Order

The meeting was called to order at 2:05 p.m. Committee members and staff members introduced themselves.

Ms. Spurlock explained that since no selections had been made on the nominations last year, they had incorporated those into this year's nominees list. She announced the induction ceremony would be held at the July 4 Beach Party instead of the Memorial Day Beach Party. They would also honor the 2019 inductees at that event.

Ms. Spurlock suggested each member state their top eight nominees, to narrow the list from the total of 29. There would ultimately be no more than four winners.

Ms. Burrows said the Committee had discussed at their last meeting informing the nominators that they could speak at the meeting. Ms. Spurlock stated she had posted notice of the meeting.

Mr. Lochrie asked if all applications had been complete and Ms. Spurlock said if an application was lacking, she advised the applicant to provide the missing information.

Selection of Chair for 2021

MOTION made by Mr. Shavloske, seconded by Ms. Motwani to appoint Sonya Burrows as Chair of the 2021 Walk of Fame Committee. Motion passed unanimously.

Public Discussion on 2021 Walk of Fame Nominations

Chair Burrows opened the floor for public discussion of the 2021 Walk of Fame honorees.

Chair Burrows recognized Dennis Ulmer, who had nominated Sylvia Aldridge, one of the City's first black settlers, in 1904. Ms. Aldridge had founded the first employment agency and a cab company for black commuters. She had also helped raise funds for Provident Hospital, which served the Black Community until desegregation the 1960s. Ms. Aldridge had founded the Dillard High School PTA and helped fund the school's first band.

Chair Burrows closed the public discussion of the 2021 Walk of Fame honorees.

2021 Walk of Fame Selection

Committee members listed their top eight choices and Ms. Spurlock tallied the votes. The top three vote getters were Sylvia Aldridge, Michael Hurst and John MacDonald. Eugenia Ellis and Maryann Gray were tied.

Dr. Moon left the meeting at 2:33.

Chair Burrows opened the floor for Committee discussion of the 2021 Walk of Fame honorees. Committee members discussed the top selections.

Committee members voted to break the tie between Ms. Gray and Ms. Ellis and Ms. Ellis received the majority of votes.

MOTION made by Mr. Lochrie, seconded by Mr. Shavloske to recognize the following people as 2021 Walk of Fame Honorees: Sylvia Aldridge, Michael Hurst, Eugenia Ellis, and John MacDonald. Motion passed unanimously.

Ms. Motwani recalled that a newly relocated couple had sought her out upon moving to Fort Lauderdale. They had noticed her name on the Walk of Fame and asked her about her contributions and how they could contribute to the City with their foundation. She noted this was how the award continued to offer opportunities and increase Fort Lauderdale's legacy.

Approval of Minutes

Chair Burrows recalled discussing the following:

- Changing the criteria to refer to “sustained impact” and that the impact should be related to more than a person’s career
- Including an invitation for nominators to speak at the meeting

Mr. Lochrie suggested including the invitation to address the Committee on the application. Ms. Spurlock agreed this could be done, but was concerned that this could result in a bias in favor of those who had someone speak at the meeting. Mr. Lochrie noted how long the meeting might be if every nominator spoke. He felt everyone should be made aware that they would have the opportunity to speak if they wished.

Mr. Shavloske suggested sending an email to everyone who submitted an application, informing them of the date of the meeting and that they would be afforded a brief period of time to speak.

Mr. Lochrie suggested holding the meeting earlier in the year to allow time for a second meeting if they needed it.

Ms. Spurlock informed the Committee that the City Commission would hear this at their April 20 meeting.

Ms. Spurlock said they would try to schedule a January or February meeting next year. She asked Committee members to attend the April 20 City Commission meeting if possible to discuss their decision with the Commission.

MOTION made by Mr. Lochrie, seconded by Mr. Shavloske to approve the 2019 Walk of Fame Committee minutes. Motion passed unanimously.

Other Matters of Interest or Concern

None

Adjourn

The meeting was adjourned at 3:05 p.m.

1. Arnold Abbott came to Fort Lauderdale in 1970 and resided here for almost fifty years. For the last 27 years of his life, he dedicated himself to feeding the homeless and the hungry in our community, without judgment. Many of the folks who came to his feedings were local residents who, while not necessarily without a home, found themselves in financial stress that made providing for their needs a difficulty. Arnold rented commercial kitchens and, along with his volunteers, prepared meals for multiple weekly feedings. His feedings were not “soup kitchens” or sandwich handouts—they were places to get a warm plate of sustenance, served by welcoming neighbors, while also getting advice on housing, employment, and medical needs.

Dr. James Lang, a Fort Lauderdale ophthalmologist, worked with Arnold at the feedings to offer free vision testing and free eyeglasses to those who could not otherwise afford this.

In time, Arnold established a teaching program to provide people with the skills needed to get jobs in our local Fort Lauderdale restaurants. The Love Thy Neighbor Culinary Skills Training Program was accredited by the Broward County School System and affiliated with McFatter Technical School and Broward College

His feedings welcomed many young students doing community service hours, a way to fulfill a requirement while also realizing that our city of Fort Lauderdale was home to people of many backgrounds and circumstances. He also had a “Homeward Bound” program to advise folks needing assistance to return to their families and their communities of origin.

At Christmas time, Arnold’s Love Thy Neighbor program joined with the L.A. Lee Family YMCA in Fort Lauderdale to host a Santa pizza party with carnival games and toy distribution, hosting over 500 parents and children from our city each year.

Hundreds of people volunteered over nearly three decades to work with Arnold. These included local residents who found this to be a genuine way to add meaning to their lives, and it also included many seasonal visitors who came to Fort Lauderdale to vacation but found time to help when they learned about the feedings.

2. Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg wrote: "To make life a little better for people less fortunate than you, that's what I think a meaningful life is. One lives not just for oneself but for one's community."

Arnold Abbott was a living embodiment of these words. As a veteran of World War II and a recipient of two Purple Hearts, he learned the concept of sacrifice and fellowship as a young man serving his country. In the 1960's, he worked tirelessly for civil rights and political equality. As director of Love Thy Neighbor for 27 years, he served thousands of hot meals a week to anyone in need. "Chef Arnold" was a lifeline to many in our community who wanted not a handout, but a hand up to help them transition to independent living.

Arnold Abbott could be stubborn and combative when he defended those less fortunate. However, the empathy that he displayed to everyone who knew him, who worked with him, who came to his feedings, and even those who had just heard about his dedicated life has had a ripple effect throughout the city of Fort Lauderdale that continues today, even after his death.

This nomination is being submitted by many of these residents who want to honor this remarkable human being, Arnold Abbott.

3. Arnold Abbott was born in Massachusetts in 1924. When World War II began, he left his studies at the University of Pennsylvania to enlist, earning two Purple Hearts. He was twice elected a delegate to the Democratic National Conventions in 1964 and 1968 and was instrumental in helping seat the Mississippi Freedom Delegation at the 1968 Convention, after the regular Mississippi delegation refused to include African Americans. His commitment to civil rights and racial equality was a lifelong passion. That belief in the worth of every human being continued when Arnold moved to Fort Lauderdale in 1970. Together with his wife Maureen, he worked to challenge racial and social inequality, and following her tragic death in 1991, he dedicated his life to honoring her memory by giving himself over to fulltime work feeding the hungry and the homeless in our city. During his life, Arnold also authored several books available on Amazon.com, and we found a biography on that website that said, "he has been described as 'opinionated but lovable.'" And it follows with this quote by Arnold: "When people care about each other, the world is a beautiful place." The residents of Fort Lauderdale who are submitting this nomination live here because we believe our city is indeed a beautiful place, and it is people like Arnold Abbott who make it not only beautiful visually but also beautiful in its open-heartedness and kindness to those less fortunate. Help us honor him with this Walk of Fame.

2022 Walk of Fame Nomination – C. A. “Chuck” Black

1. Please describe the nominee’s accomplishments or contributions to the community, paying particular note to the Walk of Fame selection criteria. Provide any examples of civic responsibility, financial contributions, volunteer service, projects accomplished, or other achievements.

We nominate C. A. “Chuck” Black (1952 – 2016) (attachment A) for consideration as a 2022 Walk of Fame Honoree at the Great American Beach Party.

This summer a U.S. Navy ship, USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28), will be commissioned at Port Everglades. The Commissioning Ceremony will be the culmination of a multi-year effort Chuck Black spearheaded to convince the Secretary of the Navy to name the Fort Lauderdale in recognition of the city’s rich history with our military and the U.S. Navy. Having a namesake ship brings the city long-lasting recognition in the U.S. and abroad.

Chuck Black began his pursuit to have a ship named after Fort Lauderdale in 2010. For the next five plus years Chuck enlisted the support of everyday citizens, military personnel, city and county leaders, businesspeople, and politicians. He was instrumental in gaining an appointment with Secretary of the Navy Ray Mabus (SECNAV) to make a case on behalf of the city (attachment B). The meeting was at the Pentagon on September 6, 2011; an invitation was extended to Mayor Jack Seiler and citizen Chuck Black in July 2011 by Congressman Allen West (attachment C). As is often the case in Congress, representatives changed in 2012 and Allen West left office. Chuck collaborated with Congresswoman Debbie Wasserman Schultz and Congresswoman Lois Frankel to gain support from the 6 South Florida Congressional Representatives with 2 letters of request to SECNAV (attachments D, 2013 & E, 2015). He urged city leadership, and others, to write letters to SECNAV as well (attachment F).

His dogged determination to leave no stone unturned led to the announcement in March 2016 that the City of Fort Lauderdale would be honored with a namesake, an amphibious transport dock ship (attachment G). Without Chuck’s passionate pursuit of his dream for the city, we would not have a USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28).

A few short months after the naming announcement, Chuck Black, who was to be the Commissioning Committee Chair, passed away unexpectedly. On July 11, 2016, at the Fort Lauderdale History Center event on the Naming of the USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28), Mayor Jack Seiler named Chuck as the Honorary Chair of the Commissioning Committee.

In 2010, Chuck was the Commissioning Chair of the USS Jason Dunham (DDG 109) which brought the Commandant of the Marine Corps, dignitaries of governmental agencies as well as Corporal Jason Dunham’s family to Fort Lauderdale for the commissioning (attachment H). About 7000 attendees gathered at Port Everglades to honor the namesake of the ship and his family. Jason Dunham was a Marine Corps Corporal who sacrificed his life while saving two Marines; Jason was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor. Chuck coordinated a committee of 50+ citizens who conducted 10 days of celebrations, and community service projects. The Miami Dolphins hosted over 100 plus crew members at a football game. The Miami Heat and the Miami Marlins took part in events with the crew. The celebrations included a reception aboard Royal Caribbean’s Allure of the Seas prior to her maiden voyage from Port Everglades. The reception included over 500 dignitaries and sponsors and set a new standard for U.S. Navy commissioning events.

In 2012, Chuck Black served as the Commissioning Chair for the USCGC Richard Etheridge (WPC 1102), also commissioned at Port Everglades. The Richard Etheridge was named after the first African American to command a Life Saving Station, the precursor to the U.S. Coast Guard. This commissioning brought the Commandant of the Coast Guard to Fort Lauderdale along with distinguished guests.

Chuck volunteered as a Great American Beach Party (GABP) committee member from its 2010 inception until his passing in July 2016. Among other roles, each year he contacted the SOCOM Para-Commandos Skydivers who jumped from planes over the beach and landed on their target along Fort Lauderdale Beach shoreline at A1A and Las Olas Boulevard. The crowd-pleasing skydiving event has become a staple of the Great American Beach Party.

In 2011, Chuck Black enlisted the support of Chris Wren, then head of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA), to conduct a traffic signal box wrap “test” at Huizenga Plaza to enhance the city’s streets. Upon completion of the test, in 2012 Chuck worked with the DDA to wrap eleven Traffic Signal Utility Boxes in Downtown Fort Lauderdale with historical photos and graphics to beautify the street corners downtown. The box wraps were approved by Broward County as “Art in Public Places.” Chuck worked with the city to expand this program over multiple years. Dozens of traffic signal box wraps revitalized city street corners beyond downtown, enhancing life for residents and tourists. He also coordinated with neighboring cities to expand the Art in Public Places box wrap program to other areas in the county.

Chuck Black’s involvement in youth programs included volunteering with the Sea Cadets (attachments I & J), working with the L.A. Lee Family YMCA, serving on the Board of Florida Children’s Theater (FLCT), and performing as King Henry VIII in a Children’s Theater play. He mentored youth and wrote multiple letters of recommendations for high school students applying to colleges and military, coast guard, and maritime academies.

Chuck Black’s contributions to the Greater Fort Lauderdale community were extensive. While he lived in Fort Lauderdale a short 13 years, he showed his passion for this city through his actions. Chuck was a leader in our community, leading by example. He influenced others to volunteer and serve the community to make a difference, helping to make Fort Lauderdale a great place to live, work, and play.

Chuck’s public service included local and national level leadership positions:

2. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

Chuck Black - friend, citizen, volunteer, businessman, patriot - left a wonderful legacy for our city with the naming of a ship USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28). Without Chuck’s continued leadership, Fort Lauderdale would not have a namesake ship. This tribute to Fort Lauderdale’s rich history with the U.S. Navy is an honor all our citizens should embrace. The Fort Lauderdale is the twelfth in the San Antonio Class of amphibious transport dock ships. It is 684 feet in length and has a crew of 400 officers and enlisted sailors. When the ship deploys it will transport a Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU) of 700 marines and all their equipment.

These ships support amphibious assault, special operations, or expeditionary warfare missions and serve as secondary aviation platforms for amphibious operations. Amphibious Transport Dock ships are also used for humanitarian initiatives such as disaster relief after an earthquake or a tsunami.

In the future USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28) will shine a spotlight on Fort Lauderdale whenever it pulls into port in the U.S. or abroad.

USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28) will be commissioned this summer at Port Everglades. The Commissioning Committee held its Kick-off meeting in September 2021 when the ship’s Captain and leadership team visited Fort Lauderdale and Port Everglades for the first time. A series of events are planned from January 2022 through July culminating in the Commissioning Ceremony July/August 2022. The Committee, representatives from the ship, employees at Port Everglades and the City of Fort Lauderdale are collaborating to make this celebration one that unifies and energizes residents not just in Fort Lauderdale but across South Florida. The Commissioning Ceremony is the act of placing USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28) into service. On that day it officially joins the U.S. Navy Atlantic Fleet.

Chuck always had a passion for the sea services. He worked with the Navy League of the U.S. in leadership roles to educate the community on the commitment men and women in uniform (and their families) make on behalf of all of us. Chairing the respective Commissioning Committees for USS Jason Dunham (DDG 109) and USCGC Richard Etheridge (WPC 1102) are noteworthy. Our city commissioned a Navy ship paying tribute to Medal of Honor recipient Corporal Jason Dunham and his family. We commissioned a Coast Guard cutter in 2012 and honored a man who was born a slave and fought in the Civil War.

Chuck served as a dedicated and active committee member for many city-led initiatives including The Great American Beach Party, the Saint Patrick's Day Parade, Military Appreciation Day, Light Up Sistrunk, and Summerfest. He gave both his time and "in-kind" contributions to these events.

He made contributions to the Greater Fort Lauderdale Chamber of Commerce. He served on the Board of Directors and committees such as "Salute to Business," Government Affairs, and the Downtown Council. He was a past Curriculum Development Chair for the Leadership Fort Lauderdale Program.

The traffic signal box wrap project he developed with the Downtown Development Authority has spread throughout South Florida, beautifying Fort Lauderdale and neighboring communities. The program is part of Broward County's "Art in Public Places." This innovative project "dresses up" a mundane silver box on the corner fostering the community's artistic spirit.

Through his involvement with the Florida Children's Theater and the Sea Cadet Program, Chuck demonstrated his passion for mentoring youth. He helped high school students navigate their way to higher education by writing letters of recommendation to colleges and military academies.

3. Please provide a brief biography, resume or any other background information about the nominee including contact information.

Chuck Black was born in Spartanburg, South Carolina. He was from a broken home and did not receive much guidance or direction as a child. In his early 20's, thanks to the mentoring from Chuck's "adopted" dad, he embraced a strong set of core values. This "father figure" encouraged Chuck to join the armed services to further his education, his "sense of self," and to help build strong character traits. Chuck Black enlisted in the U.S. Navy, completed a 20-year career with distinction, retiring as a Senior Chief Petty Officer. During his Naval career, and for the rest of his life, Chuck embraced the U.S. Navy's core values - Honor, Courage, and Commitment. Those 3 words became his guiding principles. His U.S. Navy awards included two Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medals, three Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medals, four Good Conduct Medals, and various campaign, unit, and service awards. He was selected as "Sailor of the Year" from two different commands. He served on 5 different types of ships and was appointed to be one of three Navy Recruiters in Europe, living in Frankfurt, Germany while covering thirteen countries and 55 DOD high schools (attachment L).

Chuck earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of Maryland and a Diploma in Acting from the National Conservatory of Dramatic Arts, Washington, DC. He performed at the Kennedy Center in Washington, DC and in New York, Annapolis, and Fort Lauderdale. He was an actor, clown, stilt walker, fire eater, and balloon sculptor.

Chuck Black was CEO/Owner of Image360 Fort Lauderdale, a graphics, signage and displays company in the FATVillage Arts District. Chuck was a yacht broker for 10 years in Annapolis, Maryland prior to moving to Fort Lauderdale in 2003. (attachment M)

Chuck passed away unexpectedly July 11, 2016. His passing was a major loss to our community; the community grieved along with his family (attachments N & O). He is survived by his spouse of 21 years, Lynn Elsasser who currently serves on the USS Fort Lauderdale (LPD 28) Commissioning Committee. He is also survived by son, Jonathan, daughter-in-law Chan, and “the apple of his eye” grandson Andrew. Chuck Black is interred in Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, VA.

Chuck Black’s positive attitude and optimism were infectious. He was a clown at heart; his lifetime heroes were Emmet Kelley and Charlie Chaplain. In closing,

‘Imagination means nothing without doing.’ – Charlie Chaplain

2. Please describe the nominee's accomplishments or contributions to the community, paying particular note to the Walk of Fame selection criteria. Provide any examples of civic responsibility, financial contributions, volunteer service, projects accomplished, or other achievements.

I am nominating Fort Lauderdale Pioneer James A. Dallas, Sr. for the 2022 Walk of Fame. James A. Dallas, Sr. was a pioneer of the 1940s and 1950s in Fort Lauderdale, FL. He was a visionary, educator, and community leader breaking racial barriers through music and business. He was often called "Jimmie Dallas" by his friends and patrons as he operated Odells Lounge and Grill and the Big Savoy. In particular, he was responsible for bringing many legendary performers to the City of Fort Lauderdale such as Lionel Hampton, Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Ray Charles, Dinah Washington, Charlie Brantly, and B.B. King. Outside of operating several businesses in Fort Lauderdale, James Dallas, Sr. rooted himself in the community and was well known in part for his altruistic behavior and good humor. He was willing to help people and encourage others to make a mark for themselves in society and therefore he developed a wide circle of friends. In fact, he offered refuge to legal scholar T.J. Reddick, who at one time had no place to call home. Along with this, he bought T.J. Reddick his first suit when Reddick was still a budding lawyer. Eventually, Reddick would go on to become the first African American magistrate in Broward County, FL. Not only did James Dallas, Sr. play an instrumental role in the life and career of T.J. Reddick, but also Dr. C.H. Shirley. James Dallas, Sr. talked to his college friend Dr. Shirley and convinced him to get off the train in Fort Lauderdale, FL instead of heading south to Key West, FL. Afterward, Dr. Shirley would become one of the most prominent black physicians in Fort Lauderdale, FL. Notably, James Dallas, Sr. played an important role in helping jumpstart the career of another trailblazer, former United States Representative Alcee Hastings (D-FL). As former Congressman Alcee Hastings once publicly stated, "It was Jimmie Dallas, who gave him his first one hundred dollar bill because he did not have any money." Even though James Dallas, Sr. grew up poor himself as a kid, he still sought to exhibit kindness and was willing to share the few extra dollars he had earned. During the late stages of his life, James Dallas, Sr. became an educator within the Broward County school system and with this opportunity, he taught English and History. In his spare time, Mr. Dallas found a new passion in tutoring and in volunteering at youth oratorical contests in order to encourage students who desperately needed to be inspired. James Dallas, Sr. truly enjoyed interacting with people and was more than willing to encourage others. For this reason, James Dallas, Sr. was recognized and received a Pioneer Award from Broward County, FL under the leadership of Mayor Lori Nance Parrish. In addition to this, he was also recognized by the Fort Lauderdale Historical Society and the Old Dillard Museum for his numerous community contributions. In 2007, the City of Fort Lauderdale recognized James Dallas in re-naming both NW 2nd Street and NE 2nd Street as "James A. Dallas, Sr. Street" in his honor. James Dallas, Sr. has been honored with several articles that have been featured in both the Sun-Sentinel and Miami Herald newspapers. Not to mention, James Dallas, Sr. has received a Wikipedia listing for his positive contributions to society and for acting as a leader within his community. Taking all of this into account, James A. Dallas, Sr. deserves to be selected for the 2022 Walk of Fame Award.

3. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

James A. Dallas, Sr. is deserving of this award for his excellence in supporting his community through education, music, and his ability to help break racial barriers in the 1940s and 1950s Fort Lauderdale, FL. James Dallas, Sr. was born a leader and possessed multiple talents that allowed him to excel at many tasks set before him and allowed him to behave in a thoughtful manner within his community. For further reference, James Dallas, Sr. served as a founding member and as a former polemarch for the Fort Lauderdale Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. Moreover, he served as the Exalted Ruler of the Elks Club Lodge #652. During his lifetime, he fought for social justice and for equal opportunity through his involvement in the local Fort Lauderdale Chapter of the NAACP. To illustrate, James Dallas, Sr. would visit civil rights activist Eula Johnson at her home to discuss various ways to improve race relations. As James Dallas, Sr. contributed to the excellence within his community, he also sought to highlight the shared contribution that black people and white people had made towards the rich history of arts and culture in the City of Fort Lauderdale. In fact, Fort Lauderdale music promoter and restaurateur Leonce Picot was a good friend of James Dallas and they often conducted business together as music promoters. In 1952, Picot and Dallas put together the first jazz concert at the War Memorial Auditorium under a touring revue called "Jazz at the Philharmonic" that featured acts such as jazz drummer Buddy Rich and Canadian jazz pianist Oscar Peterson. As a music promoter and businessman, James Dallas, Sr. managed to have legendary music performers like Count Basie, Ella Fitzgerald, Ray Charles, Dinah Washington, Charlie Brantly, Duke Ellington, Lionel Hampton, and B.B. King come visit Fort Lauderdale to entertain the locals and visitors. Indeed, James Dallas, Sr. contributed to the fabric of Fort Lauderdale and he inspired others to do so as well.

4. Please provide a brief biography, resume or any other background information about the nominee including contact information.

Biography of James A. Dallas, Sr.
Born: December 19, 1917 - Died April 9, 2004

James Albert Dallas, Sr. was born on December 19, 1917, in Monticello, Florida. His parents were Albert and Florida Dallas. As a child, James was loved by everyone and was affectionately known as "Bubba" by family members. While both of his parents died by the time he was 12, he was fortunate enough to have an older sister named Phoebe who raised him. At an early age, James Dallas, Sr. learned how to play the trombone and music became his window to the world. Some additional early influences in his life were his experiences as a delivery and stock worker at Tampa's Palace Pharmacy. Between the ages of 13-17, he interacted with many people as he would make deliveries to the homes of local business professionals in Tampa. During this time, James Dallas, Sr. decided that he wanted to attend college. Later on, James Dallas, Sr. attended Florida A&M University (FAMU) in Tallahassee, Florida on a music scholarship and while there played trombone in the marching band, concert band, and jazz band. After graduating from college, James Dallas, Sr. entered the School of Pharmacy at Howard University in Washington, D.C and just ten days later he was drafted into the United States Army to serve in World War II. After serving four years in the Army, James Dallas, Sr. returned to Florida, where he settled with his family and eventually became a fixture within the community. James Dallas, Sr. married Margie Sweet and from this union, they had three children Ronald Dallas (Attorney), Dr. James Dallas, II (Physical Therapist), and Dr. Michele Dallas (Dentist). In short, James Dallas Sr. will forever be loved and remembered within his community for making a difference and for giving back to those in need.

2. Please describe the nominee's accomplishments or contributions to the community, paying particular note to the Walk of Fame selection criteria. Provide any examples of civic responsibility, financial contributions, volunteer service, projects accomplished, or other achievements.

In 1963, Joel moved his young family to Fort Lauderdale to begin his career in law. He was just 26, and he and his wife, Judy, moved with their two baby girls to a future of promise and accomplishment. Joel was an instant hit with the City of Fort Lauderdale, acting as an Assistant City Prosecutor and part-time Municipal Judge. His popularity in the legal community led him to a seat in the Florida House of Representatives where he served three terms. He brought our City positive recognition with his service as Minority Whip (Republican), an Outstanding Member Award, and a Second Session Member Showing Greatest Development Award. Because of his interest in highway safety and traffic control, he sponsored the largest bill ever passed on Florida's traffic control laws in 1972. This monumental achievement led to a plum appointment by President Nixon to the U.S. Dept. of Transportation's National Highway Safety Advisory Committee, bringing national recognition to our City as the only member of this prestigious committee ever to hail from Fort Lauderdale.

Joel brought further recognition to the City with his lengthy 26-year service on the Florida Commission on Ethics, a commission which oversees behavioral and financial ethics of all Florida elected officials. He was tapped for service by four Florida Democratic and Republican Governors Bob Graham, Lawton Chiles, Jeb Bush and Charlie Crist, because of his ability to work across the aisle, his honesty, trustworthiness, and appreciation for fair play. Joel was a born diplomat for his City, County, and State. He knew the importance of complimenting the opposition, and never underestimated the ideas or intelligence of the participants.

Civic service aside, Joel contributed enormously to the quality of life of our citizens. He worked with Broward County and Fort Lauderdale as a pro bono attorney to develop the Cooperative Feeding Program's kitchen on Broward Boulevard, which was named in his honor. He proudly served on the board of the Henderson Mental Health Center, one of his charities of choice for his remembrance, as well as a Governor's appointee to the North Broward Hospital District, our City and County's general hospitals, where he served the community for 6 years as both Chair and Vice-Chair of the Board from 2010-2016. He is the past chairman and board member of Broward Alliance, an organization responsible for attracting new business to the Greater Fort Lauderdale area. He was a member of the board of the Florida Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Liberal Arts Advisory Board of FAU. Joel has provided hundreds of pro bono hours to Women in Distress, Broward's emergency shelter for battered women. He handled the zoning work of the new headquarters which has served thousands of women and children over the years.

Joel was an accomplished athlete in high school and college. He expanded his love of sports to his children and grandchildren by attending most every one of their practices and games. He encouraged the physical and competitive attributes of sports to them and their team members. Joel enjoyed a commendable human-interest article in the Broward Health magazine for his decades of hosting "The Christmas Classic," at Holiday Park on Christmas Day. He and his three brothers began the flag football game in Connecticut more than 50 years ago. The Fort Lauderdale game morphed to include more than 20 friends and family wearing red and green tee shirts. In Joel's honor and in appreciation of the years of fun and comradery, the traditional game was held on Christmas Day, 2021, as Joel would've wanted.

A true diplomat to our community, Joel served on the board of the annual Orange Bowl Committee, co-chaired the host committee of two (2) Super Bowls, a Breeder's Cup, and the Whitbread Race of around-the-world sailing, which designated Fort Lauderdale as a landing port, as well as the popular Air & Sea Show. Joel was delighted to play a role in promoting all the spectacular events our exciting community offered.

Joel was the founding partner in the firm Gustafson, Stephens, Ferris, Forman & Hall in Fort Lauderdale. In his successful land use practice, he assisted developers in helping to make Fort Lauderdale and Broward County a desirable place to live and work. He began his interest in land use as the attorney for the Fort Lauderdale Planning & Zoning Board, as well as the attorney for the Board of Adjustment, in the late 1960's. During his service in the Florida Legislature, he sponsored the bill and lobbied for a successful passage for the current platting laws in Florida, which remain in effect today. With his legal leadership and advice, he assisted his clients in developing DCOTA, Indian Trace, Embassy Lakes, and Jacaranda, one of the first Developments of Regional Impact (DRIs) to be approved by the State of Florida. He enhanced our community by obtaining approvals for clients to advance such impressive developments as Bonaventure, Holiday Springs/Carolina Club, Turtle Run, and Pine Island Ridge. Attractive and functional structures like The 110 Tower Office Complex, Broward Financial Centre, Embassy Suites Hotel, and the 17th Street Marina & Hotel, are just a few of his achievements.

Joel was nominated and honored with the Lifetime Achievement Award by the National Association of Industrial and Office Properties. His nomination included these words:

"Mr. Gustafson has sustained a vital presence in the South Florida real estate community for three decades. He is so intrinsically involved in the strata of life in Broward County that it would be difficult to find a real estate development or local organization in which Mr. Gustafson has not been involved in some way. He has positively affected the fabric of the economy and the heart of his community and made a difference in the lives of so many."

Joel's firm was merged into the prestigious international firm of Holland & Knight, LLP in 2000, where Joel enjoyed the status of senior partner in the area of administrative, governmental, and land use law. Joel mentored many young athletes and students. Often, he mapped out plans for additional education, or coached them in their sports and studies. He even encouraged his long-time legislative aide into law school, and thereafter she became a respected member of the judiciary of the 17th Judicial Circuit. She called upon him to give her investiture speech, which he gave with humor and humility.

3. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

Joel's unexpected passing in August, 2021, saddened both the legal and charitable community in Fort Lauderdale. Inside the hearts of his family and friends, feelings of security, optimism, and enthusiasm dwindled. He was their patriarch and their example of goodness and good cheer. Joel donated his time, limitless energy, talents, and generosity to this Community and to his family for six decades. Although he cannot be with us to enjoy this award, Joel's proud family, friends, and colleagues will appreciate a commemorative paver to represent Joel's contributions to the City and community—contributions impossible to repeat in our ever-changing hometown.

Horner Equipment, now called Team Horner, started as a local swimming pool supply distributor, and over the years through Bill's business acumen he searched and negotiated acquisitions and business line expansions to benefit the Team. His commitment to Fort Lauderdale didn't stop with his employees. He has been involved with the International Swimming Hall of Fame since 1988 and through the years has been instrumental in the promotion of the venue throughout the world, celebrating its history of aquatics, promoting swimming as an essential life-skill, and developing educational programs and events related to water sports. It is his passion for this Team Culture that convinced him the transferring of ownership to the Team was the clear and only plausible prudent long-term plan for the company. He has always believed Teammates should have a shared fate in the profitability of the Team. At Team Horner this is evident through the company which includes a discretionary Profit-Sharing Bonus, 401k Match, and Profit-Sharing Contribution. This Team Culture of shared fate and working together for the greater good of not only the Team but also the community is something he wants to continue on even with the transfer of the Team's ownership.

To this end, Bill has created a charitable foundation which is being funded by the proceeds of the ESOP sale and intends to donate the entirety of those proceeds to charitable works. The Bill Kent Family Foundation has provided financial support to over 40 different charities.

Providing a positive outlook for the future of our youth
Known as the "Mother of Fort Lauderdale," Ivy Julia Cromartie Stranahan checks all of the boxes to be selected posthumously for the Fort Lauderdale Wall of Fame. Her impact on Fort Lauderdale and South Florida, as the first schoolteacher here and then for her philanthropic efforts that included her work supporting the rights of the Seminole Indians and aiding them in moving to an Indian reservation. She is closely associated with the Friends of the Florida Seminoles, an organization through which she sought to support the education of Seminole children, build homes and eventually to support themselves fully. She became heavily involved in Seminole affairs with local government and became the chair of the Indian Affairs Committee of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. Although she had petitioned for a permanent Indian reservation for the Seminoles, when it was granted in 1917, it was her rival Minnie More-Wilson who received most of the credit through her Friends of the Florida Seminoles organization.

By 1924, Fort Lauderdale was expanding rapidly and there was pressure for the Seminoles to move to the approved area set aside as a reservation. Ivy entered their existing camp and convinced members of the group to join her on an expedition to the Dania Reservation. Ivy arranged for the Seminoles to be paid to make the reservation habitable and began transporting work parties to and from the location. She arranged for timber to be delivered courtesy of the Indian commissioner at Fort Myers and by the end of the year several homes, a school and an administrative building had been built on the site and all the Seminoles had moved.

Ivy promised that once moved, the Seminoles would not need to move again. However, within 10 years, this promise was broken as the government was looking to move the Seminoles to a different reservation. Ivy fought that order, and it was eventually revoked. She continued to work on introducing Christianity into the Seminoles and successfully integrated them into the Southern Baptist Convention. This was following the foundation of a new Friends of the Florida Seminoles organization, which was often confused with the former under Minnie More-Wilson. The new version of the organization named Ivy as secretary-treasurer, and she would remain involved with the group for the rest of her life. Together they sought to stem the growing alcohol issue in the Seminoles by educating the women about the problems it could bring.

When the government withdrew its support of the Seminoles in 1954, Ivy and her Friends society helped the Seminoles set themselves up as a business, allowing them to organize themselves as the Seminole Tribe of Florida, Inc. in 1957.

When her beloved husband, Frank, passed away, it was an incredible blow to Ivy. She wore black, not for a year, as was the custom, but for more than 10 years. But Ivy had an iron will, and once she was able, she re-entered the fray, determined to make Fort Lauderdale a better community.

Encouraging people to visit Fort Lauderdale as a destination of choice

Encouraging people even then to visit Fort Lauderdale as a destination of choice, she lent rooms to tourists and rented the ground floor of her home to a restaurateur. Today, the Historic Stranahan House Museum entertains, educates and enlightens tourists from around the world with Fort Lauderdale's history.

Contributing to the quality of life for our citizens

Ivy invested in the community, continuing the work she and Frank had begun. She collected her meager rents and then gave them to just causes, personal and civic. During the Great Depression, Ivy watched as non-payment of taxes resulted in foreclosures. Her neighbors' homes were being lost on the courthouse steps. She and her supporters started a movement that resulted in Florida's Homestead Exemption law.

Making Fort Lauderdale a place to live, work and play

In the mid-1930s, Ivy turned her energies toward establishing a hospital for the black community. She championed such diverse concerns as family planning and the "Campfire Girls," housing for the elderly and the Garden Club. Ivy's interests, her causes and concerns, seemed limitless. If it needed to be done, she would see that it was. Ivy began advocating on behalf of the Seminole tribe from her first days on the New River, and she never stopped. She fought for land, education, health care dignity, to all of which she felt the tribe was entitled to.

Contributing to the quality of life for our citizens

Ivy and Frank Stranahan were the pioneer business and social leaders of the fledgling town of Fort Lauderdale. Their efforts were extraordinary and their generosity immense.

In 1901-1902, near the site of his original trading post, Frank constructed a larger two-story, wood-frame structure made of sturdy Dade County pine. He gave it broad porches around its two floors, so that the Seminoles would have a place to sleep when they came to trade.

The "new" Stranahan Trading Post quickly evolved into a post office, community center and town hall.

Frank became Fort Lauderdale's first banker and leading businessman. It was not long before dances and community gatherings were held on the upper floor of the house. In 1906, it also became the Ivy and Frank's personal residence. The house and the Stranahan's enjoyed busy and productive lives, with their home as the center of activity for the growing community.

3. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

Fostering the spirit of our community

Ivy Julia Cromartie Stranahan was a true philanthropist and pioneer in Fort Lauderdale and South Florida. Her impact is legendary. As the area's first teacher, serving five families and nine pupils in a small one room schoolhouse, she provided a positive outlook for the future of youth in the community, that lives on today as the Historic Stranahan Museum serves tens of thousands of students annually.

Fostering the spirit of community and contributing to the quality of life for the area's citizens, Ivy was devoted to the plight of the Seminole Indians, helped them to adjust to a newly created reservation in Dania, that she arranged. She worked to create income-producing systems for Seminole women and introduced their first sewing machines.

Ivy lived at the Indian Trading Post on the New River, where she served as an intermediary between the Seminoles and the white society growing around them. In addition, Ivy was active for women's voting rights. She served as president of the state suffrage league in 1917 and lobbied in Tallahassee.

The role the Stranahan's played in the founding of Fort Lauderdale is profound. They were visionaries, compassionate and never flamboyant or class conscious. In March 1917, Frank and Ivy testified before the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Investigation of The Indian Service about the desperate conditions of the Seminole Indians in South Florida.

Fort Lauderdale became a better place to live, work and play thanks to Ivy Stranahan.

4. Please provide a brief biography, resume or any other background information about the nominee including contact information.

Ivy Julia Cromartie was born in White Springs, Florida, to August and Sarah Cromartie on February 24, 1881. Her father was a teacher based in Central Florida. During the development of the southern part of the state, the Cromartie family continued to move further south. The family moved to Lemon City where Ivy completed her schooling. She sought to become a teacher immediately and trained through the summer following graduation. She was assigned to work at the school in Fort Lauderdale and arrived prior to the completion of the school building and stayed with a school trustee and his family for several months. The one-room school opened in 1899 to serve the six families.

There she met Frank Stranahan, who had opened a trading post in 1893 to trade with the local Seminoles and also held the local contract for mail delivery. In 1900 they married and settled back in Fort Lauderdale, building Pioneer House, which today is the Historic Stranahan House Museum.

This philanthropist and pioneer wrote a history of the Seminole Indians and formed "Friends of the Seminoles," serving as its spokesperson for 50 years.

Ivy died in her home on August 30, 1971. She and Frank are buried in Evergreen Cemetery in Fort Lauderdale. Upon her death, her historic and beloved home was left to the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. In 1973, the house was placed on the National Register of Historic Places and in 1979, it was sold to the Fort Lauderdale Historical Society. After a complete restoration, Stranahan House, Inc. was incorporated in 1981 to preserve and manage the property. Stranahan House, now the Historic Stranahan House Museum, still stands on its original location on the New River in downtown Fort Lauderdale. It is the site most closely associated with the founding of the city and its economic and social development.

Ivy was active for women's voting rights, served as president of the state suffrage league in 1917 and lobbied in Tallahassee. Ivy has also been inducted into the Florida Women's Hall of Fame.

The Greater Fort Lauderdale Alliance Foundation partnered with the Florida Blue Foundation to build a coalition of business, nonprofit and faith-based leaders to research the local impact of opioid abuse, identify the types of treatment and resources available within the community and develop an actionable strategy to reduce opioid deaths in our community. The opioid epidemic surged during the COVID-19 pandemic at an alarming rate. The spike is related in part to the isolation and economic hardships exacerbated by the stress of job loss, threat of evictions and the consequences of stay-at-home policies. In December 2021, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement released a report that showed drug-related deaths increased by 17% in 2020. Fort Lauderdale topped the list of fentanyl related deaths in the state - 642 people with fentanyl in their system died last year in the greater Fort Lauderdale area. The impact Strum, his co-chairs and the Alliance have will bring positive recognition to the city, locally and nationally.

Accomplishments:

During his tenure as Gov. DeSantis’ chief of staff and his current role as Broward Health’s CEO, Strum has played a critical role in the health and well-being of the Greater Fort Lauderdale community.

COVID-19

Widespread Testing

Strum’s experience working in public healthcare was the was invaluable in guiding the state-run response during the early stages of the pandemic. While serving as chief of staff to Florida Governor Ron DeSantis, he brought an insider’s perspective into the complex innerworkings between government and healthcare. They crucial connections Strum made while previously serving as senior vice president of Memorial Healthcare System were instrumental with helping steer the administration tackle the enormous task of rolling out testing site throughout the state.

He ensured a swift roll-out of large-scale testing sites throughout Broward County, more than 45,000 residents were tested during those critical first few months.

Roll-out of stand-up vaccine sites

Although stationed in Tallahassee during the first few months when vaccines became available to the public, Strum was able to pivot and provide critical resources which directly supported local efforts. His powerful connections in Tallahassee and influential connections in the medical field led to vast resources being directly shipped to multiple Broward Health and state-run vaccination sites in Broward County. His assistance with securing resources and funding allowed Broward Health to roll out a large-scale vaccination site in conjunction with the City of Fort Lauderdale, InterMiami CF and the Florida Department of Emergency Management. The site at InterMiami CF Stadium vaccinated up to 2,000 patients daily. In total, 115,000 vaccinations were administered. Then, along with state officials, local officials, and community leaders, Broward Health was in a position to open additional mobile sites to better serve Broward County's most underserved and high-risk populations

Monoclonal Antibody Therapies

Broward Health was also at the forefront of administering monoclonal antibody therapies soon after the U.S. Food and Drug Administration authorized emergency use for both Eli Lilly's and Regeneron's antibody treatments. Studies suggested that the new therapies reduced the risk of hospitalization and death among recently diagnosed people with elevated risk factors. Broward Health went on to open clinics during the surge, transitioning patients directly from the Emergency Department to the infusion clinic to prevent unnecessary illness and free space in the ER for critically ill patients.

ADDRESSING GREATER HEALTHCARE NEEDS

Investment in Lifesaving Capital Improvement Projects

Under Strum's leadership, Broward Health completed a $52 million expansion of the Salah Foundation Children's Hospital NICU that will enhance the immediate and long-term outcomes of infants born at risk. Designated as a Level III Regional Perinatal Intensive Care Center, this is one of only 11 RPICC sites in Florida, and the only location in Fort Lauderdale, where a comprehensive team of board-certified neonatologists, nursing specialists and pediatric specialists provide comprehensive, multi-disciplinary care for critically ill newborns.

Broward Health Imperial Point in Fort Lauderdale and Broward Health Coral Springs opened new cardiac catheterization labs and interventional radiology suites to provide patients with access to critical life-saving cardiac procedures close to home. Each state-of-the-art suite includes procedure rooms, pre-and-post-procedure patient care bays, an isolation room, a room devoted to echo cardiograms, diagnostic stress lab stations and an expansive waiting room equipped with the latest patient monitoring technology. Broward Health, which has made a multi-million-dollar investment in cardiac service line upgrades, has a more than 50-year history in advanced cardiac care.

Preparing Doctors for Fort Lauderdale's Future

During 2021, Broward Health expanded its Graduate Medical Education Program across all four of its hospitals as the system continues to serve the community as an academic center of excellence in training. New training programs were launched in general surgery, internal medicine, and emergency medicine at Broward Health North and psychiatry at Broward Health Imperial Point, bringing the number of programs at Broward Health to 13. As Broward Health North transitions to an academic hospital, the GME general surgery residency there allows the hospital to help fill the physician shortage and the critical need for doctors in the state and locally, bringing positive recognition to the city, locally and nationally.

Introducing New Technology

Strum prioritized investment in new robotic technologies which provide the best possible care for orthopedic, oncologic, bariatric, urologic, gynecologic and pediatric patients at Broward Health. Additional investments were made in expanded genomics, as well as medical and operational technologies. This past year, advanced technologies, which provide precision medicine and personalized care, were added:

WATCHMAN FLX: Broward Health Medical Center was the first hospital in Broward County to offer patients with non-valvular atrial fibrillation (NVAf) an alternative to long-term blood thinners with the next-generation WATCHMAN FLX Left Atrial Appendage Closure (LAAC) implant. The WATCHMAN FLX, which was approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, may reduce the risk of stroke in patients with NVAf who need an alternative to oral anticoagulation therapy.

Stereotaxis: This global leader in innovative robotic technologies for the treatment of cardiac arrhythmias partnered with Broward Health Medical Center to establish a robotic electrophysiology robotics lab to expand access to advanced minimally invasive treatment of heart rhythm disorders in Florida. Broward Health Medical Center was the only hospital in South Florida offering robotic technology to treat patients suffering from arrhythmias and is the first in Florida, and among the first in the nation, to adopt the latest Genesis Robotic Magnetic Navigation system.

eICU: Broward Health's Intensive Care Units were integrated with Philips eICU, the largest tele-ICU network in the U.S., offering centralized, remote clinical surveillance by medical professionals, proprietary algorithms that provide early warnings for proactive care and continuous programmatic improvement. This transformational critical care tele-ICU program provides 24/7/365 remote monitoring for the vitals of patients in ICU, using artificial intelligence to provide the best medical counsel to bedside caregivers. Integrating A/V technology, predictive analytics and data visualization with advanced reporting capabilities equates to better outcomes, faster discharges and a better patient experience.

Prioritizing Health

Through regular rounds at the hospitals, Strum works side by side with frontline health care workers. He also speaks with and listens to patients. He learned many patients were reluctant to schedule regular appointments for cancer detection screenings due to the pandemic. The consequences have been dire, resulting in a surge in delayed cancer diagnoses which can potentially be deadly. Strum made this a priority and launched a new multi-media educational campaign called I Beat Cancer with Broward Health to encourage people to resume screenings and seek treatment if needed.

2. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

Strum is a champion of Fort Lauderdale and encourages people to not only visit the region but make it their home and place of business. He is at the forefront of new and innovative ways to shape the present, improve the future and enhance access to high quality health care for all. His ambitious and bold vision and a unique ability to form collaborative relationships with industry and community partners is leading to real change.

Not an easy year to be a new leader of a health system, Strum did so with courage, vision and integrity. His leadership throughout the pandemic has been instrumental in this community. He works tirelessly to ensure Broward Health and its dedicated frontline workers continue to serve Fort Lauderdale's diverse population.

During Strum's time serving as chief of staff to Florida Governor Ron DeSantis, he was involved in the complex innerworkings between government and healthcare, especially in times of crisis. That experience provides him with a unique perspective and better understanding of who the key influencers are and how public hospitals systems, such as Broward Health, can secure funding for research and more, which is necessary to ensure a next generation approach for the residents of Fort Lauderdale and beyond.

Strum's legacy of public service has spanned nearly 30 years. During that time, he has led initiatives that have lowered costs of prescription drugs, expanded telehealth services, improved transparency and quality in healthcare, and increased awareness of mental health and substance abuse issues throughout the state, again contributing to the quality of life for our citizens.

Strum is a highly visible presence in the community. He doesn't just show up, he rolls up his sleeves and pitches in, doing whatever it takes. In November 2021, Broward Health Community Health Services hosted its annual Healthcare for the Homeless Thanksgiving Luncheon at the Bernard P. Alicki Health Center in Fort Lauderdale. Along with members of Broward Health's leadership team and caregivers, he helped distribute more than 600 pre-packaged Grab & Go Thanksgiving holiday meals for the homeless. Broward Health also donated bags which included a blanket, hand sanitizer, masks, a flashlight and homeless informational materials.

Strum committed $250,000 worth of PPE and medical supplies on behalf of Broward Health to support earthquake relief efforts in Haiti in early fall 2021. About 60 pallets of supplies, including face masks, surgical gloves, ponchos, sanitizers, isolation gowns and other items that can be used for health care, COVID mitigation and preservation of health and wellness, were shared with community partners for distribution in Haiti.

Through Broward Health's commitment to the highly effective Vaccinate Broward and Mobilize to Immunize campaigns, more than 800 children across Broward County were vaccinated this year.

Always striving to improve the quality of life for Fort Lauderdale residents, Strum's priorities for the future include continuing to further innovate and ensure quality healthcare is offered in underserved communities. Broward Health has acquired property to grow its footprint and increase access to care for local residents.

2. Please describe the nominee's accomplishments or contributions to the community, paying particular note to the Walk of Fame selection criteria. Provide any examples of civic responsibility, financial contributions, volunteer service, projects accomplished, or other achievements.

Water Taxi is quintessential Fort Lauderdale, thanks primarily to Bill Walker's leadership since 2007. He took the concept of a "taxi" along the water to a new level, building strong partnerships with businesses, restaurants, hotels and community events, along the beach, New River and Intracoastal Waterways in Fort Lauderdale. This creates a "must-do" on every tourist's list and a hassle-free way to get to popular festivals for locals and visitors. His multi-faceted approach to positioning Water Taxi as an integral part of Fort Lauderdale is based on these strong relationships. A few of these examples include:

- o Winterfest: he has devoted his personal time to this annual community hallmark, becoming the 2022 Chair. Water Taxi vessels are used by the City of Fort Lauderdale police to create a safe event for the community. Donated vessels are donned with lights for local charities participating in the parade, including Broward College and the American Lung Association's Turquoise Takeover.
- o Charters for Charities: Water Taxi donates (estimated value) more than $50,000 in private charters to local charities each year. Among the many beneficiaries are the American Lung Association, Leadership Broward, Leadership Fort Lauderdale, Winterfest, Riverwalk, and the Children's Diagnostic and Treatment

o Visit Fort Lauderdale: Bill and his team work closely with all tourism entities to help elevate the city as a choice destination and ensure visitor experiences are positive and unique. For example, Water Taxi sponsors a “Cruise and Save Program” with more than 70 Fort Lauderdale businesses. This project alone generates more than $1 million a year for local businesses.

3. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

Fort Lauderdale wouldn't be Fort Lauderdale without its waterways. The waterways would not be as accessible nor as popular without Water Taxi. Time has come to honor the company's humble, yet fiercely generous and dedicated, leader with the City's Hall of Fame Award.

In addition to the charitable contributions listed above, Bill and his executive team are actively involved in local business and community organizations. Broward College, Marine Industries Association, Marine Advisory Council, City of Fort Lauderdale Marine Advisory Board, the Fort Lauderdale Beach Council and the Las Olas Association are just a few examples.

From the Riverside Hotel to Margaritaville in Hollywood, Bill works closely with local businesses to create mutually beneficial promotions and service. Major events, such as the Fort Lauderdale International Boat Show, PRIDE festival, Tortuga Music Festival, Wine and Food Festival, all include the added benefits of Water Taxi access and support. Even visitors to Birch State Park have access to Water Taxi and its pleasant way to travel to the community's most popular sights. During the holidays, tickets quickly sell out for the Water Taxi's popular Holiday Lights cruises.

Fort Lauderdale is world famous for its pristine waterways, made all the more accessible and enjoyable, thanks to Water Taxi.

4. Please provide a brief biography, resume or any other background information about the nominee including contact information.

Bill Walker, the owner of Water Taxi, is originally from Marblehead, Massachusetts. He moved to Fort Lauderdale in 2014 after several years of commuting from New England.

He earned a bachelor's degree in marine transportation from Massachusetts Maritime Academy and has proudly spent his entire career in the marine industry.

In 2007, Bill purchased Water Taxi of Fort Lauderdale. This multi-stop system of boats helps to alleviate street traffic while providing residents and visitors with a unique perspective of Fort Lauderdale and Hollywood. Since Bill took over the helm, Water Taxi has grown to serve more than one million passengers per year, most of whom travel to enjoy local restaurants, businesses and community events. Tourists and locals alike choose Water Taxi for fun and easy transportation to destinations of choice, with the added benefit of gorgeous waterfront views of luxury homes and the downtown skyline. Water Taxi vessels also are available for private and corporate charters.

Bill is currently involved with the Marine Industries Association, the Marine Advisory Council, City of Fort Lauderdale Marine Advisory Board, the Fort Lauderdale Beach Council and the Las Olas Association. He is the incoming chair of the famed Winterfest Boat Parade. In his spare time, he enjoys offshore sailboat racing, snorkeling, recreational boating and skiing.

Bill is the proud father of a daughter, who works in the medical field, and a son, who works in project construction.

3. Why is the nominee deserving of this award?

John believed and, even during his illness, constantly supported with his personal exhaustive efforts, the following ideas: Children are the catalyst for positive change for future generations. Today's children are tomorrow's leaders. All children should be given an opportunity to thrive AND experience the holiday season.

John recruited, cajoled, and strong-armed people & companies all across Broward & Fort Lauderdale to give to the kids. When he moved to the beach in 2007, his neighbors in Las Olas Beach Club, became the biggest toy drive supporter. After collecting thousands of toys every year, he and his wife personally went out to distribute to the children. Of course, by this time, they knew the toy drive was growing leaps and bounds, and the Toy Drive has become a significant community event. John was known for building an elaborate Christmas village which became the centerpiece for their toy drive. It was displayed in the lobby of the Hilton Fort Lauderdale Beach for several years.

It was John's involvement with the Central Beach Alliance as a board member first and then as the President and Dr. King's Suits, Stilettos and Lipstick Foundation that really propelled their toy drive to become what it has grown to be today. Because of John Weaver's life's mission and because of the generosity of people in Fort Lauderdale, his legacy is making a huge impact in our community.
