Combined OPEB Executive Summary

Executive Summary

The City of Fort Lauderdale (the “City”) OPEB Trust returned 5.37% (net of mutual fund fees) in the 4th quarter of 2019, outperforming its policy benchmark return of 5.15% by 0.22%. Year-to-date and in the trailing 12 months, the portfolio returned 17.88%, underperforming its 20.53% benchmark return by 2.65%. In dollar terms, the portfolio gained $1,825,207 in return on investment over the quarter, and gained $4,811,242 year-to-date.

The City’s OPEB Post Retirement Pay Steps Plan returned 5.17% (net of mutual fund fees) in the 4th quarter of 2019, performing relatively in line with its policy benchmark return of 5.15%. In dollar terms, the portfolio gained $75,784 in return on investment over the quarter, and gained $80,400 year-to-date.

The S&P 500 Index (S&P) posted a return of 9.1%, in a quarter, helped by better-than-expected economic data and continued resolution of trade tensions between the U.S. and China through the announcement of a Phase 1 deal. Markets outside of the U.S., as measured by the MSCI ACWI ex U.S. Index, slightly lagged their domestic equity counterparts and returned 8.9% for the fourth quarter. The U.S. bond market, represented by the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Index, was relatively flat for the fourth quarter, gaining just 0.2%.

Most leading economic indicators combined with accommodative central banks around the world continue to support the equity markets. However, we are mindful of potential risks, including lingering trade tensions and policy uncertainty arising from the upcoming U.S. elections. Most importantly, the City’s portfolio continues to be invested in compliance with its investment policy statement guidelines with a focus on the long-term preservation and growth of purchasing power.

THE ECONOMY

- In line with slowing growth expectations, U.S. Gross Domestic Product (GDP) for the fourth quarter of 2019 is projected to grow at an annual rate of 1.9%, based on the median nowcast for a set of leading GDP estimates. This is down slightly from 2.1% in the third quarter of 2019.
- The U.S. labor market added 145,000 jobs in December, extending the current streak of payroll gains to 10 years. The unemployment rate held steady at 3.5% for most of the fourth quarter, matching a 50-year low. Private-sector wage growth rose 2.9% from a year ago, which is slightly disappointing given the employment situation. Overall in 2019, the economy added approximately 2.11 million jobs versus 2.68 million in 2018. The slower pace of hiring reflects employers' difficulty finding workers, global trade tensions and the fading effects of the 2018 tax cuts. The labor-force participation rate held steady at 63.2%, well below pre-recession levels.
- Inflation cooled heading into 2020 after peaking during the late summer months. November's core personal consumption expenditures (PCE) reading fell to 1.6% from 1.7% in the two previous months. Muted inflation pressures, including tentative wage growth, have led the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) to estimate a 2020 core PCE inflation rate of 1.9%.
- Globally, many economists see a smoother 2020 with easing trade tensions and monetary policy playing a major role. The World Bank has forecast global economic growth to edge higher this year to 2.5%. Growth in developed economies is projected to fall to 1.4% in 2020, while emerging markets are anticipated to grow 4.1%. Downside risks in 2020 revolve around trade uncertainty, the World Bank says, though the fourth quarter of 2019 lessened those concerns.

QUARTERLY MARKET SUMMARY

WHAT WE'RE WATCHING

- The U.S. and China agreed to “Phase 1” of a trade deal in December, and the two sides plan to sign the agreement in Washington, D.C. in mid-January. The deal was made just before additional tariffs were due to take effect on Chinese imports on December 15. The agreement reduces tariffs on both Chinese and American goods, increases the amount of agricultural purchases China will make and includes commitments from China on intellectual property security.
- The U.S., Mexico and Canada Agreement (USMCA) was ratified in the House of Representatives after gaining overwhelming bipartisan support. Initial concerns from Democrats on environmental protections and labor provisions were addressed by the White House, and the deal is ready for a vote in the Senate. The deal replaces the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and includes improved labor laws, country of origin rules and improvements for U.S. farmers, among other changes.
- Brexit continues apace as conservatives claimed a large majority in the UK Parliament after general elections were held in December. Prime Minister Boris Johnson wasted no time committing to an exit from the European Union (EU) by January 31 and vowed to abstain from an extension of the standstill period – an attempt to ensure that the UK will have a complete withdrawal by the end of 2020. A comprehensive trade deal with the EU will be more difficult to negotiate in such rushed circumstances, but the results of the general election have led to greater certainty around Brexit.
- Tensions are rising in the Middle East after a U.S. drone strike killed a top Iranian General. Oil prices rose at the possibility of a disruption in the region's oil supply, but markets generally held steady after an initial decline following the news of the strike. Both sides have backed away from any further escalation after a measured retaliation by Iran.

DOMESTIC EQUITY

- The S&P 500 Index (S&P) posted a return of 9.1% for the quarter, helped by better-than-expected economic data and continued resolution of trade tensions between the U.S. and China through the announcement of a Phase 1 deal.
- Within the S&P, IT and Healthcare were the best performing sectors and returned 14.4% each. The IT sector continued to rally by returning 50.3% for the year, compared to 31.5% for the index. Real Estate and Utilities were the worst performing sectors for the quarter, returning -0.5% and 0.8%, respectively. For the year, Energy was the worst performing sector, despite the rally in energy names in December.
- Value stocks, as represented by the Russell 1000 Value Index, returned 7.4%, and underperformed growth stocks, as represented by the Russell 1000 Growth Index, which returned 10.6%. While the year saw pockets of value outperformance, growth stocks continued to outperform value stocks in 2019.
- Small-caps, as represented by the Russell 2000 Index, returned 9.9% during the quarter and outperformed mid- and large-caps. The outperformance was wider when compared to mid-caps, as represented by the Russell Mid-Cap Index, returned 7.05%. For the year, large-caps outperformed both mid- and small-caps.
- For the quarter, according to FactSet Earnings Insight as of January 3, 2020, the expected earnings growth for fourth quarter of 2019 for the S&P is -1.5%. Earnings growth in 2019 was lower as trade tensions, slowing global growth expectations and slowing manufacturing activity loomed large. Analysts expect earnings growth to improve in 2020, with projected earnings growth of 9.6% and projected revenue growth of 5.4% for the year.

- Global markets received positive news in December, which mitigated near-term concerns of a global slowdown. Clarity into the U.S. and China trade war improved with the approval of a Phase 1 trade deal. Within Europe, the majority win of the Conservative Party in the UK eases concerns around a no-deal Brexit.
